mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For hee that selleth, shall not returne to that which is sold, although they were yet alive: for the vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, and they returned not, neither doth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field, shall die with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountaines, like the doves of the valleyes: all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie.

17 All hands shall be weake, and all knees shall fall away as water.

18 They shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall be vpon all faces, and baldnesse vpon their heads.

19 They shall cast their siluer in the streetes, and their gold shall be cast farre off: their siluer and their gold cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfie their soules, neither fill their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie.

20 He had also set the beauty of his ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the handes of the strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my secrete place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it.

23 Make a chaine: for the land is full of the iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of cruelty.

24 Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their holy places shall be defiled.

25 When destruction commeth, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall bee vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Law shall perish from the Priest, and counsell from the Ancient.

27 The king shall mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people in the land shall be troubled: I will doe vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

1 An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. 6 The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

And in the sixt yeere, in the sixt moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sat in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sat before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

2 Then I beheld, and loe, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of fire, to looke to, from his loynes downward, and from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

3 And hee stretched out the likenesse of an hand, and tooke me by an hairie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee by a Diuine vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of indignation, which prouoked indignation.

4 And behold, the glorie of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw in the field.

5 Then said hee vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward, at the gate of the altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie.

6 Hee said furthermore vnto mee, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? euery great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from my Sanctuary: but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And hee caused mee to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, beholde, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, beholde, there was a doore.

9 And he said vnto mee, Goe in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and behold, there was euery similitude of creeping things, and abominable beasts, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

11 And there stode before them seuentie men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stode Iazaniias, the sonne of Saphan, with euery man his censor in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like a cloude.

12 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Again hee sayd also vnto mee, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And hee caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and behold, there fate women mourning for Tammuz.

15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And hee caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lords house, and beholde, at the doore of the Temple of the Lorde, betweene the porch and the altar were about fise and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne, toward the East.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the land with cruelty, and haue returned to prouoke me: and loe, they haue cast out p styke before their noses.

18 Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of the citie. 4 They that shall be saved, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

HE cried also with a loud voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the citie drawe neere, and every man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

2 And behold, fixe men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the North, and every man a weapon in his hand to destroy it, and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers inke-horne by his side, and they went in, and stood beside the brazen altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon hee was, and stood on the doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers inke-horne by his side.

4 And the Lord sayd vnto him, Goe thorow the mids of the citie, even thorow the mids of Ierusalem, and set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that mourne, and crie for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe ye after him thorow the citie, and limite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.

6 Destroy utterly the old, and the young, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touch no man vpon whom is the g marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they beganne at the ancient men, which were before the house.

7 And hee sayd vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slaine, then goe forth: and they went out, and slew them in the city.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cried, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then sayd he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching mee also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither wil I haue pitie, but wil recompense their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linnen, which had the inke-horne by his side, made report, and sayd, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the man that tooke hote burning coales out of the middle of the wheeles of the Cherubims. 8 A rehearsal of the vision of the wheeles, of the beasts, and of the Cherubims.

And as I looked, beholde, in the firmament that was aboue the head of the Cherubims there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.

2 And hee spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and said, Go in betweene the wheeles, even vnder the Cherub, and fil thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer the citie. And he went in my sight.

3 Nowe the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord went vp from the Cherub, and stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glory.

5 And the found of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of the Almighty God, when he speaketh.

6 And when hee had commaunded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then hee went in, and stood beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen, who tooke it, and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims; one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a Chrysolite stone.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.

11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went.

12 And their whole bodie, and their rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, even in the same foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: this is the beast that I saw at the riuier Chebar.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselves vp also: for the spirit of the beast was in them.

18 Then the glory of the Lorde departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were besides them, and euery one stood at the entry of the gate of the Lords house at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

20 This is the beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the riuier Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I saw by the riuier Chebar.

CHAP. XI.

Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 19 Against these be prophesied, shewing them how they shall be dispersed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart cometh of God. 21 He strengtheneth them that leave unto their owne counsell.

Moreouer, the Spirit lift mee vp, and brought mee vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entrie of the gate were five & twenty men: among whom I saw Iazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischief, and denise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 For they say, * It is not neere, let vs build houses: this citie is the <sup>b</sup> caldron, and wee be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophesie against them, sonne of man prophesie.

5 And the Spirit of the Lord fel vpon me, and sayd vnto me, Speake, Thus sayth the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye sayd, and I know that which riseth vp of your mindes.

6 Many haue ye nurtered in this citie, and ye haue filled the stretes thereof with the flaine.

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, They that ye haue flaine, and haue laid in the middes of it, they are <sup>c</sup> the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.

8 Ye haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, sayth the Lord God.

9 And I wil bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliuer you into the <sup>d</sup> hands of strangers, and will exocate iudgements among you.

10 Ye shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of <sup>e</sup> Israel, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This citie shall not be your caldron, neither shall ye bee the flesh in the middes thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the manners of the heathen that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah <sup>f</sup> died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loud voyce, and sayd, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Again the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy <sup>g</sup> brethren, even thy brethren, the men of thy kined, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whom the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue sayd, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreys, yet will I be to them as a little <sup>h</sup> Sanctuary in the countreys where you shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus sayth the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, & assemble you out of the countreys where you haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thicher, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 * And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a new Spirit within their bowels, & I will take the <sup>i</sup> stony heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh.

20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

21 But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, saith the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheelles besides them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

23 And the glory of the Lord went vp from the mids of the citie, and stood vpon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke mee vp, and brought mee in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea, to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were <sup>k</sup> led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

The parable of the captiuitie. 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

The word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the middes of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see <sup>l</sup> not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, <sup>m</sup> prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, and goe forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight, as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that go forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou thorow the wall in their sight, and carie out thereby.

6 In their sight thou shalt beare it vpon thy shoulders, and carie it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face, that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a <sup>n</sup> signe vnto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was commaunded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged thorow the wall with mine hand, & brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said vnto thee, What <sup>o</sup> doest thou?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, This <sup>p</sup> burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefe that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe

<sup>a</sup> Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, and therefore haue themselves still to their pleasures.

<sup>b</sup> We shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the house of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sod.

<sup>f</sup> It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgement of God toward the rest of the people.

<sup>g</sup> They that remained still at Ierusalem, thus reproached them that were gone into captiuitie, as though they were cast off and forsaken of God.

<sup>h</sup> They shall be yet a little Church, shewing that the Lord will euen haue some to call vpon his Name, whom I will preferre and restore, though they be as at me afflicted.

goe forth: they shall digge through the wall to cary out thereby: he shall couer his face, that hee see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall hee not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward euery winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys.

16 But I will leaue a little number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

17 Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse, 19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eat their bread with carefulnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the land shall bee desolate from her abundance, because of the cruelty of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall bee left void, and the land shall be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged, and all visions shall faile?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vte it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand, and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall bee any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that hee seeth, is for many dayes to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are afarre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, All my words shall no longer be delayed, but the thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The word of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsel of their owne hearts.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the Prophets of Israel, that prophesie, and say thou vnto them, that prophesie out of their owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy Prophets are like the foxes in the waste places.

5 Yee haue not risen vp in the gaps, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanitie, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophesie.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? yee say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue spoken vanitie & haue seene lies, therefore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God.

9 And mine hand shall be vpon the Prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not bee in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel: neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceived my people, saying, Peace, & there was no peace: and one built vp a wall, and behold, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great shoure, and I will send hailstones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be layd vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will raise a stormie wind to breake forth in my wrath, and a great shoure shall be in mine anger, and hailstones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discouered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the mids thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus wil I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, 16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sow pillowes vnder all arme holes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: wil ye hunt the soules of my people, and will ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and to giue life to the soules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I wil haue to doe with your pillowes, where-b Warching to destroy the vineyard.

c He speakeh to the gouernours and true ministers that should haue refuted them.

d Yee promised peace to this people, and now yee see their destruction, so that it is manifest that ye are false prophets.

e That is, in the booke of life, wherein the true Israelites are written.

f Reader 1er. 4. 1. Whereas the true Prophets prophesied the destruction of the citie to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary, and flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet sayd, which is here called the building of the wall, another false prophet would affirme, though hee had neither occasion nor good ground to backe him.

g Whereby is meant whatsoever man of himselfe setteth forth vnder the authority of Gods word.

h These superstitious women for socke would prophesie, and tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillowes to leane vpon, & kerchiefs to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

k Will ye make my word to serue your bellies?

l These forerunners make the people beleene that they could preserve life or destroy it, and that it should come to euery one according as they prophesied.

d Where the king shall thinke so: I will not him in my name, Chap. 17. 16 and 17. 2.

e Which should beare his Name, and should be his Church, Chap. 11. 16.

f Because they did not immediately see the prophecies accomplished, they contemned them as though they should neuer be fulfilled, or else none at all.

g That is, it shall come to passe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it, thus the wicked say about Gods patience and benignitie.

a He sheweth the hypocrite of the idolaters, who will defende to know the Prophet of God, though in their heart they follow nothing less than their adoration, and also how by one means or other, God hath discovered them.

b They are not only idolaters in heart, but also worship their idols openly, which leads them in blindness, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods favour, so that he will not touch them when they call vpon him, reads here, 10. 15.

c As the abominations hath discovered, that they shall be led with lies, according as he deluded them in 8. Thes. 10.

21 Your vailles also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shall bee no more in your handes to bee hunted, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies, yee haue made the heart of the * righteous sad, whom I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that hee should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life, 23 Therefore yee shall see no more vanity, nor diuine diuinations; for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

a The Lord findeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people, 22. He reproveth a small portion for his Church.

Then came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and sat before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idols in their * heart, & put the stumbling blocke of their iniquity before their face: should I, being required, answer them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Every man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to the * Prophet, I the Lord will answer him that commeth, according to the multitude of his idols:

5 That * I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idols.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idols, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from mee, and setteth vp his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answer him for my selfe.

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the mids of my people, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be * deceived, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceived that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the middes of my people of Israel.

10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shall bee euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of Israel may go no more astray from mee, neither bee polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may bee my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

12 The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land sinneth against me by committing a trespass, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, * and will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.

14 Though these three men, * Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their * righteousness, saith the Lord God.

15 If I bring noysome beasts into the land and they spoyle it, so that it be desolate, that no man may passe through because of beasts, 16 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they only shall be deliuered, but the land shall be waste.

17 Or if I bring a sword vpon this land, and say, Sword, goe through the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they only shall be deliuered themselves.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and poure out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast, 20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the mids of it, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousness.

21 For thus sayth the Lord God, How much more when I send my * foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, even the sword, and famine, and the noysome beast and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet behold, therein shall bee left a remnant of them that shall be caried away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and yee shall see their way, and their enterprises: and yee shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, even concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises: and yee shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

a The vnsufferable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shall be burnt.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the * trees of the Forrest?

3 Shall wood bee taken thereof to doe any worke? or will men take a pail of it to hang any vessell thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the mids of it is burnt. Is it meet for any worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meet for no worke, how much lesse shall it be meet for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the Forrest, which I haue given to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one * fire, and another fire shall consume them: and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Jerusalem. 1. 5
Their unkindnesse. 4. 6 He iustifieth the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Jerusalem. 4. 9 The cause of the abominations, into which the Sodomites fell. 6. 6 Mercy is promised to the repentant.

Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Jerusalem to know her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Jerusalem, Thine habitation and thy kindred is of the laud of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy nativitie when thou wast borne, thy nauell was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swaddled in cloutes.

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compulsion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open fieldes to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiplie as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments:
thy breasts are fashioned, thine heart is growen, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vp-on thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spred my skirts ouer thee, and couered thy filthines: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I s anoint-ed thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also w broidered worke, and shod thee with badgers skin: and I girded thee about with fine linnen, & I couered thee with silk.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautiful crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with gold and siluer, and thy rayment was of fine linnen, and silke, and broidered worke: thou didst eate fine floure, and bony and oyle, and thou wast very beautiful, and thou diddest grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spred among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfite through my beauty which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Now thou didst trust in thine owne beau-tie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy re-nowme, and hast powred out thy fornications on every one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou didst take thy garments, & deck-edst thine hie places with diuers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my gold and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookest thy broidered garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meate also, which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oyle and hony, wherewith I fed thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete saour:
thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Moreouer thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to bee denoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my children, and de-liuered them to cause them to passe through fire for them?

22 And in al thine abominations and where-domes thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside al thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, saith the Lord God)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in every street.

25 Thou hast built thine hie place at every corner of the way, and hast made thy beauty to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feet to every one that passed by, and multiplied thy where-dome.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast increased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

27 Beholde, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and will diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a presumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of every way, and makest thine hie place in every street, and hast not bene as an harlot that despiseth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue gifts to all other whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on every side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shalt thou see after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the worde of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lorde God, Because thy name was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, and

Thou hast converted my vessels and instruments,

38 And I will iudge thee after the maner of them that are harlots, and of them that shead blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath, and ielousie.

39 I will also giue thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine hie place, and shall breake downe thine hie places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shal also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

41 And they shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgments vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembred the daies of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue brought thy way vpon thy head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

44 Behold, all that vse prouerbs, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the nother's so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and thy young sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very litle thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was y iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, b Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenes was in her, & in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore and needie.

50 But they were haughtie, and committed abomination before me: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed halfe of thy finnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast justified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy finnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe their captivity, with the captivity of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captivity of Samaria, and her daughters, euen the captivity of thy captiues in the middes of them.

54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest bee comforted in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abominations, saith the Lord.

59 For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when thou diddest despise the oath, in breaking the couenant.

60 Neuertheless, I will remember my couenant made with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will confirme vnto thee an euerlasting Couenant.

61 Then shalt thou remember thy wayes, and be ashamed, when thou shalt receiue thy sisters, both thy elder & thy younger, and I will giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not by thy couenant.

62 And I will stablish my Couenant with thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Eagles.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, put forth a parable and speak a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great eagle with great wings, and long wings, and full of fethers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and took the highest branch of cedar,

4 And brake off the toppe of his twigge, and caried it into the land of Merchants, and set it in a cite of merchants.

5 He tooke also of the seed of the land, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: hee placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, and was like a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the roots thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her roots toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that she might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soyle by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare beare fruit, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall hee not pull vp the roots thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Behold, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither? when the East wind shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say now to this rebellious house, Know ye not what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the king of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken the king thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel.

13 And hath taken one of the kings seed, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken an oath of him: hee hath also taken the princes of the land.

14 That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But hee rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape that doth such things? or shall he breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the mids of Babel, in the place of the king that had made him king, whose oath hee despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mightie host, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the oath, and broken the couenant (yet loe, hee had giuen his hand) because hee hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I will surely bring mine oath that he hath despised, and my couenant that he hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 * And I will spread my net vpon him, & hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, & wil enner into iudgment with him there for his trespass: that hee hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his host, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine shall bee scattered toward all the winds: and yee shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the top of this high cedar, and will set it, and cut off the top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an high mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the high mountaine of Israel wil I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughs, and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birds, and euerie fowle shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I the Lord haue brought down the high tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

CHAP. XVIII.

He sheweth that euery man should beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that amen death is punishment. 22 Death is prophe-sed to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

The word of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying,

2 What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers haue eaten fower grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lord God, yee shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne, are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawfull, and right,

6 And hath not eaten vpon mountains, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath defiled his neighbors wife, neither hath lien with a menstruous woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his debtour: hee that hath spoyled none by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungrie, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen soorth vpon vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawn his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgment betweene man and man, 9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truly, he is iust, hee shall surely liue, saith the Lord God.

10 ¶ If hee beget a sonne, that is a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if he do any one of these things,

11 Though he doe not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needie, or hath spoyled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen forth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers finnes, which hee hath done, and feareth, neither doth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungrie, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawn his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, hee shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shall surely liue.

18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen hee dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 * The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousness of the righteous shall 10 Nowe I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, * which if a man doe, he shall liue in them.

12 Moreover I gaue them also my * Sabbaths to bee a signe betweene mee and them, that they might knowe that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, & they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them * in the wilderness to consume them,

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not bee polluted before the heathen in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuerthelesse, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and honie, which was pleasant aboue all lands, 16 Because they cast away my iudgements, & walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuerthelesse, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wilderness, Walke yee not in the ordinances of your fathers, neither obserue their manners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and do them, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall bee a signe betweene mee and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to do them, which if any man do, he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Neuerthelesse, I withdrew mine hand and had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreys, 24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, & their eyes were after their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue.

26 And I polluted them in their owne gifts in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the end that they might knowe that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grievously transgressed against me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they sawe euery hie hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweet sauour, and powred out there their drinke of frings.

29 Then I sayde vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto yee goe? And the name thereof was called Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are yee not polluted after the manner of your fathers, and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answer you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will not answer you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that bee done that commeth into your mind: for yee say, we will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood and stone.

33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mightie hand, & with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 34 And wil bring you from the people, & wil gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, & with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I will bring you into the wilderness of the people, and there wil I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so wil I pleade with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I wil cause you to passe vnder the rod, and wil bring you into the bond of the covenant.

38 And I wil chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, Go you, & serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts & with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, & all in the land, serue me: there wil I accept them, and there wil I require your offerings and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I wil accept your sweet sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And yee shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shall yee remember your wayes, and all your works, wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils that ye haue committed.

44 And yee shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O yee house of Israel.

CHAP. XXI.

3 Hee threatneth the sword, and destruction to Ierusalem. 25 He sheweth the fall of King Zedekiah. 28 He is commanded to prophesie the destruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to destroy Zedekiah, nezzar.

The word of the Lord came to mee againe, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel,

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, and will draw my sword out of the sheath, and cut off from thee both the b righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous & wicked, therefore shall my sword goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North,

5 That all flesh may knowe that I the Lord haue drawn my sword out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more.

6 Mourn therefore thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy d reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answer, Because of the bruit: for it commeth, and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be weak, and all minds shall faint, and all knees shall fall away, as water: behold, it commeth, and shall be done, saith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sword, a sword both sharpe and fourbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a fore slaughter, & it is fourbished that it may f glitter: how shall we reioyce? for it condemneth the rod of my sonne, as h all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be fourbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharp, & is fourbished, that he may giue it into y hand of the slayer.

12 Cry, and howle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the princes of Israel: the terrors of the sword shall be vpon my people: h smite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For u is a trial, and what shall this be, if the sword contemne euen the rodde? It shall bee no more, saith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophesie and smite u hand to hand, and let the sword bee doubled: let the sword that hath killed, returne the third time: is the sword of the great slaughter entering into their priue chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah, it is made bright, and it is dressed for the slaughter.

16 Get thee a alone: goe to the right hand, or get thy selfe to the left hand, whither soeuer thy face turneth.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, & will cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee two wayes, that the sword of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one land, and chuse a place, & chuse it in the corner of the way of the cite.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and p to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong cite.

21 And the King of Babel stood at the p parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he consulted with idoles, and looked in the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voice with shouting, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fortresse.

23 And it shall be vnto them a false diuination in their fight for the othes made vnto them: but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because yee haue made your iniquitie to be remembered in discouering your rebellion, that in all your works your finnes might appeare: because I say, that yee are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou u prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an end.

26 Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the diadem, and take off the crowne: this shall be no more the same: I will exalt the humble, and will abase him that is high.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall be no more vntil he come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou, sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawn fourth, and fourbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering.

29 Whiles they see vanity vnto thee, & prophesied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come, when their iniquitie shall haue an end.

30 Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, euen in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation vpon thee, & will blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beastly men, and skilfull to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood shall be in the mids of the land, and thou shalt be no more remembered: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

n Preclude hereby selfedestruction that the Gods place of all persons the country.

z Though the Iewes and Ammonites would not believe that they should win, the Iewes should come vpon them, and said, that the Prophet, which threatened Iudah, was yet there, as if they came, as though they were already vpon their necks.

1 Jerusalem is reproved for cruelty. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priests, and of their unfaithful counsaile. 27 The tyrannie of rulers. 29 The wickedness of the people.

Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody city? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus sayth the Lord God, The cite sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her time may come, and maketh idoles <sup>c</sup> against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, & hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, & art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in name, and sore in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel every one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the middes of thee <sup>c</sup> haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carie tales to shedde blood: in thee <sup>are they</sup> that eate vpon the mountaines: in the middes of thee they commit abomination.

10 <sup>a</sup> In thee haue they disconered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, sayth the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue <sup>f</sup> smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnes, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lorde haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I wil scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy <sup>h</sup> filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine <sup>i</sup> inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 <sup>g</sup> And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as <sup>k</sup> drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, and lead in the middes of the furnace: they are <sup>euen</sup> the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because yee are all as drosse, behold, therefore I will gather you in the middes of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and lead, and tinne into the middes of the furnace, to blow the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you <sup>there</sup> and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall be melted in the middes thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the midst of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the middes thereof, and ye shall knowe that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vncleane, <sup>m</sup> and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 <sup>n</sup> There is a conspiracie <sup>a</sup> of her prophets in the middes thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the middes thereof.

26 Her Priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy and prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane and the cleane, and haue hid their <sup>o</sup> eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in <sup>p</sup> the middes thereof <sup>are</sup> like wolues, rauening the pray, to shed blood and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her <sup>p</sup> prophets haue daubed them with vntempered mortar, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus sayth the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should <sup>q</sup> make vp the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

31 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendered vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one <sup>a</sup> mother.

3 And they committed fornication in <sup>b</sup> Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teates of their virginities.

4 And the names of <sup>a</sup> them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: & they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot <sup>d</sup> when <sup>d</sup> she was mine, and she was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blew filke, both captains and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon haifes.

† Elv. vnder me. d When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsooke God and put their trust in the Assyrians.

I Meaning hereby that the godly should be hated, and the wicked destroyed.

m Thou art like a barren land which the Lord plagueth with drought.

n The false prophets haue conspired together to make their doctrine more probable.

o They haue neglected my seruice.

p They which should haue reprov'd them, flattered them in their vices, and couered their doings with lies, Chap. 13. 10.

q Which would shew himselfe zealous in my cause by resisting vice, Isa. 59. 16. & 49. 5. and also pray vnto me to withhold my plagues, Psal. 106. 33.

a Meaning, Israel and Iudah, which came both out of one familie.

b They became idolaters after the manner of the Egyptians.

c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in her selfe, meaning Samaria, which was the royall city of Israel: and Aholibah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby is meant Ierusalem where Gods Temple was.

7 Thus she committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whom she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they e lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginity, and powdered their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discovered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and flew her with the sword, and she had an evil name among women: for f they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah saw this, she marred her selfe with inordinate loue, more then shee, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers suites, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant young men.

13 Then I saw that shee was defiled, and that they were both after one sort,

14 And that she increased her fornications: for when shee saw men g painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loines, and with diademes vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their natiuitie)

16 Asloone, I say, as shee saw them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them, into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discovered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet shee increased her whoredome more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth wherein shee had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For shee doted vpon their seruants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednesse of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God; Behold, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, h Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant young men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horses.

24 Euen these shal come against thee with charrets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shal set against thee buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and i I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shal iudge thee according to their ii iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shal deale cruelly with thee: they shal cut off thy i nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shal fall by the sword: they shal carry away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shal be denoured by the fire.

26 They shal also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them, whom thou hatest: euen into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shal handle thee despitefully, and shal take away all thy k labour, and shal leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications l shalbe discovered, both thy wickednesse, and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore wil I giue her m cup into thine hand, 32 Thus sayeth the Lorde God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorn and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with n drunkennesse and sorow, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breasts: for I haue spoken it, sayeth the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behind thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreover vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, & blood o in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto mee, to passe by the fire to be their p meate.

38 Moreover, thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the mids of mine house.

40 And how much more q is that they sent for men to come from r farre, vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whom thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And latest s vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: & with the men to make the company great, were brought men of t Saba from the wilderness, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I said vnto her that was old in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an end.

i They shall destroy the palace and priests with the rest of thy people.

k All thy treasure and riches which thou hast gotten by labour.

l All the world shall see thy shame, full forsaking of God to serve idoles.

m I will execute the same judgement and vengeance against thee, and that with greater severity. n Meaning, that the affliction should be so great that they should leave their senses and reason.

o That is to be sacrificed to their idoles. see Chap. 16. 20.

p They sent into other countries to have such as should teach the service of their idoles. q He means h the altar that was prepared for the idoles.

r Which should teach the manner of worshipping their gods.

e The holy Ghost vnto these images which some stige to chaffe carres, to cause this wicked vice of idolatry to be abhorred, that verily any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned. f Meaning the Assyrians.

g This declareth that no words are able sufficiently to expresse the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghost here compares them to those which in their raging loue do vpon the images and paintings of them after whom they lust.

h These were the names of certaine princes and captaines vnder Nebuchad. nezar.

i Blot. I will giue iudgements before thee. Or, I will.

44 And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so they went to Abolah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shal indge them after the maner of harlots, and after the maner of murderers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoyle, 47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shal slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickednes to cease out of the land, that all women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse.

49 And they shall lay your wickednesse vpon you, and yee shall beare the finnes of your idoles, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Itt sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiel's wife being dead.

Gaineth in the ninth yeere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

1 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

2 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

3 Gather the peeces thereof into it, euen euery good peece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

4 Take one of the best sheepe, and burne also the bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and see the bones of it threin,

5 Because the Lord God sayth thus, Woe to the bloody citie, euen to the pot, whose skumme is therein, & whose skumme is not gone out of it: bring it out peece by peece: let not fall vpon it.

6 For her blood is in the mids of her: she set it vpon an high rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to coner it with dust,

7 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an hie rocke that it should not be couered.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Woe to the bloody city, for I will make it burning great.

9 Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

10 Then set it empty vpon the coales thereof, that the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skumme of it may be consumed.

11 She hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great skumme went not out of her: therefore her skumme shall be consumed with fire.

12 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse and wickednesse: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

13 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither wil I spare, neither will I repent according to 14 I haue sent my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thy wayes, and according to thy works shall they iudge thee, sayth the Lord God.

15 Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, behold, I take away from thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shalt thy teares runne downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shooes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, & eate not the bread of men.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, behold, I will pollute my Sanctuary, euen the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And yee shall doe as I haue done: yee shall not couer your lippes, neither shall yee eate the bread of men.

23 And your tyre shall be vpon your heads, and your shooes vpon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, yee shall doe: and when this cometh, yee shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shal it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honor, the pleasure of their eyes, and the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, 26 That he that escapeth in that day, shal come vnto thee to tell thee that which hee hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth bee opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, & be no more dumbe, and thou shalt bee a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

The worde of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem, 8 Against Moab and Seir, Judaea and the Philistines.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus sayth the Lord God, Because thou saydest, Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Indah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall sett their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke:

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a shepecote, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feet, and m The citie had flattered her selfe in vain, as I haue showed her.

and rejoiced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to bee destroyed out of the countreies, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, beholde, I will open the side of Moab, even of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-ieshmoth, Baal-meon, and Kariatthaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute indgements vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lorde God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, & they shall do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselves with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 He propheseth that Tyrus shall be overthrowen because it rejoiced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wounding and astonishment of the merchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

And in the eleuenth yeere in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus had sayd against Ierusalem, Ah, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate: I shall be replenished.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee; as the sea mounteth vp with waues.

4 And they shall destroy the wallles of Tyrus and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoile to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sworde, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, a king of kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the fildes, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp thy buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engines of warre before him against thy wallles; and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy wallles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheelles, and of the charets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hooes of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streetes: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoile thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy wallles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 ¶ Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall? & at the crie of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murdered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come down from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments, and shall clothe themselves with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground and be astonied at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, Howe art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renowned city which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to bee on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, when I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people of olde time, and shall set them in the lowe parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the lande of the liuing.

21 I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Tyrus,

3 And say vnto Tyrus, that is situate at the entrie of the sea, which is the mart of the people for many yles, Thus saith the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfite beautie.

4 Thy borders are in the middles of the sea, & thy builders haue made thee of perfite beautie.

5 They haue made all thy ship boards of fire trees of b Shenir: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make mastes for thee.

6 Of the okes of Bathan haue they made thine ores: the company of the Alfyrians haue made thy banks of yuorie, brought out of y yles of Chittim.

7 Fine linen with broidered worke, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to be thy faile, blew silke and purple, brought from the yles of E-lisbah, was thy couering, 8 The inhabitants of Zidon, and Aruad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: the wise men that were in thee, they were thy pilots.

9 The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy calkers, all the shippes of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupy thy merchandise.

10 They of Persia, and of Lud and of Plut were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shield and helmet in thee, they set forth thy beauty.

11 The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon the walles round about, and the Gammadims were in thy towres: they hanged their shields vpon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beautie perfite.

12 They of Tarshish were thy merchants for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, yron, tinne, and leade, which they brought to thy faires.

13 They off Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy merchants, concerning the liues of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy merchandise.

14 They of the house of b Togarmah brought to thy faires, horses and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants: & the merchandise of many yles were in thine hands: they brought thee for a present, i homes, bones, teeth, and peacocks.

16 They of Aram were thy merchants for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied in thy faires with emeraudes, purple, and broyred worke, and fine linen, and corall, and pearle.

17 They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy merchants: they brought for thy merchandise wheate of k Minnith, and Painag, and hony and oyle, and balme.

18 They of Damascus were thy merchants in the multitude of thy wares, for y multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy merchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy merchants in precious clothes for the charets.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes and goates: in these were they thy merchants.

22 The merchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy merchants: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, & with all precious stones and gold.

23 They of Haram and Cannah and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Ashtur and Chilmad were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in all sorts of things, in raiment of blew silke, and of broidered worke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with cordes: chaines also were among thy merchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish were thy chiefe in thy merchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the mids of the sea.

26 Thy robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the East winde hath broken thee in the mids of the sea.

27 Thy riches and thy faires, thy merchandise, thy mariners and pilots, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of warre that are in thee, & all thy multitude which is in the mids of thee, shall fall in the mids of the sea in the day of thy ruine.

28 The m suburbs shall shake at the sound of the cry of thy pilots.

29 And all that handle the oare, the mariners & all the pilots of the sea shall come downe from their ships, and shall stand vpon the land.

30 And shall cause their voice to bee heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, and wallow themselves in the ashes.

31 They shall plucke off their haire for thee, & gird them with a sackcloth, and they shall weepe for thee with sorow of heart & bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning, they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What cite is like Tyrus so destroyed in the mids of the sea!

33 When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people, & thou diddest enrich the Kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy merchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by y seas in the depth of the waters, thy merchandise and all thy multitude which was in the mids of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the yles shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kings shall be sore afraid and troubled in their countenance.

36 The merchants among the people shall hisse at thee: thou shalt bee a terror, and neuer shalt be any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The word of God against the king of Tyrus for his pride. 21 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promiseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is exalted, & thou hast said, I am a god, I sit in the seat of God in the mids of y sea, yet thou art but a man & not God, & t though thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God,

3 Behold, thou art wiser then b Daniel: there is no secrete that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisdom & thine ynderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and siluer vnto thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisdom and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches.

I am his that none can come to hurt me, as God is in heauen.

Though thou see thine heart in the heart of God.

Thus he speaketh by derision: for Daniel had declared notable signes of his wisdom in Babylon, when Ezekiel wrote this.

f I did thee this honour: to make thee one of the builders of my Temple, which was when Hiram sent vnto Salomon things necessary for the worke.

g To wit, among my people Israel, which shal be as precious stones.

h Which was when I first called thee to this glorie.

y The enemy shall come against her with the sword on every side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

z The enemy shall come against her with the sword on every side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, ~~and~~ the terrible nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beautie of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightnesse.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in the mids of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say then before him that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no god, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the cyncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the King of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of wisdom, and perfect in beautie.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God; euery precious stone was in thy garment, rubie, the topaze and the diamond, the chrysolite, the onyx, and the iasper, the saphir, lemeraude, and the carbuncle and golde: the workmanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed Cherub that couereth, and I haue set thee in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the mids of the stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy waies from the day that thou wast created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they haue filled the middes of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub, from the mids of the stone of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the ground: I wil lay thee before Kings that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I wil bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shalbe astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it,

22 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shalbe sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, & blood into her streetes, and the slaine shall fall in the mids of her: the enemy shall come against her with the sword on every side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shalbe no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of al that are round about them, & despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus sayeth the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shalbe sanctified in them in the fight of the heathen, then shal they dwell in the land, that I haue giuen to my seruant Iakob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, & shall build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

He prophesieth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promisseth that hee will restore Egypt after fortie yeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of king Nebuchad-nazzar for the labour which he tooke against Tyru.

In the tenth yere, and in the tenth moneth in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon, that lieth in the mids of his riuers, which hath sayd, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put hookes in thy iawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will draw thee out of the midft of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not bee brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shal know that I am the Lord, because they haue bin a staffe of reed to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake and rent all their shoulder: & when they leane vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to stand vpright.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shalbe desolate, and wast, & they shal know that I am the Lord: because he hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it,

10 Behold therefore, I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, & I will make the land of Egypt vtterly waste & desolate from the towre of Seueneh, euen vnto the borders of the blacke Moores.

11 No foote of man shall passe by it, nor foote of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fortie yeres.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the midft of the countries, that are desolate, and her cities shalbe desolate among the cities that are desolate, for forty yeres: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, At the ende of forty yeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered,

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there a small kingdome.

a He sheweth what cause God will ascribe his Church, and perseuerance: full though he destroy his enemies: so wit they they should praise him, & give thanks for his great mercies.

17 ¶ In the i seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel caused his army to serue a great seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made bald, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, nor his armie for Tyrus, for the seruice that hee serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, & spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shalbe the wages for his army.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that hee serued against it, because they wrought for me, sayth the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to grow, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the mids of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt and the cities thereof.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, propheticie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howle and cry, Wo be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, and it shalbe the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall bee in Ethiopia, when the flaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shalbe broken downe.

5 Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lorde, They also that main- teine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towre of Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shalbe desolate in the mids of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lorde, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shalbe destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers goe forth from mee in ships, to make the carelesse Moores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall bee brought to destroy the land: and they shall drawe their swordes against Egypt, and fill the land with the flaine.

12 And I will make the riuers dry, and sell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I wil make the lande wast, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of No.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorow, and No shalbe destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorrowes daily.

17 The yong men of Auen, and of Phibeseeth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captiuitie.

18 At Tahaphnehes the day shall restraine his light, when I shall breake there the barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloudes shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and loe, it shall not bee bound vp to bee healed, neither shall they put a roule to bind it, and so make it strong to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh King of Egypt, and will breake his arme that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shal cast out fightings, as the fightings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall know, that I am the Lord, when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shal stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countreys, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He propheseth a like destruction to them both.

And in the eleuenth yere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughs, and shot vp very hie, and his top was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted exalted him on his with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her little riuers vnto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted about all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the field bring forth their young, and vnder his shadowe dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches: and the cheffnut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppes among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, 11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the mightiest among the heathen: hee shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue lift him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadowe, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shal all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the field shalbe vpon his branches,

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters, shalbe exalted by their height, neither shal shoote vp their toppes among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stande vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether partes of the earth in the middes of the children of men among them that goe downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I covered the deepe for him, and I did re-streine the floodes thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether partes of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hel with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword, & his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadowe in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt.
2 He prophesieth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

And in the twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh King of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a lion of the nations and art as a dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers and troubledst the waters with thy feete, and stanpedst in their riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, * I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all the beasts of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill thy valleys with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou swimdest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shalbe full of thee.

7 And when I shall put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: * I will couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring darkness vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreys which thou hast not knowne.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shall be astonied with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at every moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swordes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shal destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed.

13 I will destroy also the beastes thereof from the great waters side, neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beast trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oile, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shalbe laid wast: when I shal smite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shal lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 In the twelfth yeere also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt,

Egypt, and <sup>1</sup> cast them downe, <sup>2</sup> even them and the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that go downe into the pit.

19 Whom dost thou passe <sup>1</sup> in beautie? goe downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.

20 They shall fall in the middes of them that are slaine by the sword: <sup>2</sup> she is deliuered to the sword: draw her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The most mightie & strong shal speake to her out of the mids of hel with them that helpe her: they are gone downe, and sleepe with the vncircumcised that be slaine by the sword.

22 As hur is there and all his company: their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword.

23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing.

24 There is <sup>1</sup> Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: all they are slaine & fallen by the sword, which are gone down with the vncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselves to be feared in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with all his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sword: though they haue caused their feare in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are layd in the mids of them, that be slaine.

26 There is <sup>1</sup> Meshech, Tubal, & all their multitude: their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sword, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not lie with the valiant of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue laid their swords vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall be vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mightie in the land of the liuing.

28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the middes of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are laide by them that were slaine by the sword: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit.

30 There be all the princes of the North, with all the Zidonians, which are gone down with the slaine; with their feare they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that are slaine by the sword, & beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and hee shall bee comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

32 For I haue caused my <sup>1</sup> feare to be in the land of the liuing: and hee shall be laide in the mids of the vncircumcised with them, that are slaine by the sword, even Pharaoh & all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The office of the gouernours and ministers. 14 He strengtheneth them that despair and bolden: h them with the promise of mercie. 30 The word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

A Gaine, the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

1 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man <sup>1</sup> from among them, and make him their watchman,

3 If when hee seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, and wanie the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not bee warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall bee vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not bee admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiueh warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people bee not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them. hee is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Neuerthelesse, if thou warne the wicked of his way to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, hee shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speake and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes be vpon vs, and wee are consumed because of them, how should wee then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, if I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that hee returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that hee sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that hee shall surely liue, if hee trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall be no more remembered, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Again when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death. If hee turne from his sin, and doe that which is lawfull and right, 14 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, hee shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that he hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that

Or, of their confessions. He sheweth that the people ought to haue continually gouernours and teachers which may haue a care ouer them, and to warne them euery of the dangers which are at hand.

Signifying, that the wicked shall not escape punishment, though the watchman be negligent but if the watchman blow the trumpet, and then he will not obey, he shall deserve double punishment.

Which teacheth that he that receiveth his charge at the Lords mouth, is a spie, and not a true watchman. The watchman must answer for the blood of all that perish through his negligence.

Thus the wicked when they heare Gods iudgements for their sinnes, despaire of his mercies and murmure.

that, which is lawfull &amp; right, he shal surely liue.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, * The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and do that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of our i captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and sayd, The citie is smitten.

22 Now the hand of the Lord had bene vpon me in the evening afore hee that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth vntil he came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my mouth, I was no more dumme.

23 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, and sayd, 24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shalbe giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye eate with the blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shead blood: should ye then possesse the land?

26 Ye leane vpon your sword: ye worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be in the forts and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the pompe of her strength shall cease: and the mountaines of Israel shalbe desolate, and none shall passe through.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue laide the land desolate and waste, because of all their abominations, that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that talke of thee by the wals and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is word that commeth from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people vnto a seer: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy words, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

32 And lo, thou art vnto them, as a ieking song of one that hath a pleasant voice, &amp; can sing well: for they heare thy words, but they doe them not.

33 And when this commeth to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

C H A P. XXXIIII.

Against the shepheards that despised the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord saith that he will visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 Hee promisseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepheards of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepheards, * Woe bee vnto the shepheards of Israel, that feede themselves: should not the shepheards feede the flockes?

3 Ye eate the fat, and ye clothe you with the wooll: ye kill them that are fed, but yee feede not the sheepe.

4 The weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue ye sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: and when they were disperfed, they were deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered throw all the mountaines, and vpon euerie hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered throw all the earth, and none did seeke or searce after them.

7 Therefore ye shepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the field, hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fedde themselves, and fedde not my sheepe, 9 Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lorde, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus saith the Lorde God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheepe at their handes, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feed themselves any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bin among his sheepe that are scattered, so wil I seeke out my sheepe and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bin scattered in the cloudie and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the country.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the high mountaines of Israel shal their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will bind vp that which was broken, and wil strengthen the weake, but I will destroy the fat and the strong, and I will feede them with iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, thus saith the Lord God, behold, I iudge betweene sheepe, and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good pasture, but yee must treade downe with your feet the residue of your pasture?

19 And my sheepe eat that which ye haue trodden with your feete, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feet.

20 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God vnto them, Beholde, I, euen I will iudge betwene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because ye haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pusht all the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shal no mote be spoiled, and I wil iudge betwene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shall feed them, euen my seruant h Dauid, he shall feed them, and he shalbe their shepheard.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shall be the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euil beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, euen round about my mountaine: and I wil cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall bee raine of blessing.

27 And the h tree of the field shall yeelde her fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruit, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the coards of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the handes of those that serued themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoiled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a h plant of renowne, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their h iniquity had an end,

6 Therefore, as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shal pursue thee: except thou h hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hills, and in thy valleys, and in all thy ripers shall they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not h returne, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, These two nations, and these two countreys shall be mine, and wee will possesse them (seeing the Lord was h there)

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will euen doe according to thy g wrath, and according to thine indignation, which thou hast vfed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe knowen among h them when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against me, and haue multiplid your wordes against me: I haue heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt bee desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shal know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promisseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their desertings. 26 God reneweth our hearts that we may walke in his commandments.

Also thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the h mountaines of Israel, and say, Yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, because the h ene- my hath said against you, Aha, euen the *h*ie places of the world are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lips and h tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people,

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines, & to the hills, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste, and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken, which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which h haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with despightfull minds to cast it out for a pray.

6 Prophesie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hills, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because yee haue suffered the h shame of the heathen.

about you, shall beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall shoot forth your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For behold, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shall be tilled and sowne.

10 And I will multiplie the men vpon you, euem al the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiplie vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase, and bring fruit, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestow benefits vpon you more then at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon you, euem my people Israel, and they shall possesse you, and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth deprime them of men.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waste of the people, 14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people hencefoorth, saith the Lord God.

15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou heare the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fal any more, saith the Lord God.

16 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were disperfed thorow the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 * And when they entred into the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holy Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I do not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreies, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 There will I powre cleane water vpon you, and ye shall be cleane: yea, from all your filthines, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 * A new heart also will I giue you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and will take away the stony heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keepe my iudgements and do them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for a coine, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiplie the fruit of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, & shall iudge your felues worthy to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it known vnto you that I do not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall be tilled, where as it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they said, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste, and desolate, and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will do it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I wil yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solenne feasts, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He prophesieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captivity. 16 He sheweth the vision of the ten tribes with the two.

T He hand of the Lord was vpon me, and caried me out in the spirit of the Lord, and set mee downe in the mids of the field, which was full of bones.

2 And he led me round about by them, and beholde, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very dry.

3 And he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Again he sayd vnto me, Prophecie vpon these bones, and say vnto them, O ye drie bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Beholde, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh grow vpon you, and couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophesied, as I was commanded: and as I prophesied, there was a noyse, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, loe, the sinewes, and the flesh grew vpon them, and aboue, the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then sayd he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde:

Under the shadowe of temporal benefits he concludeth the spiritual graces.

Ye shall come to true repentance, & shalke your felues worthy to be of the number of Gods creatures, for you ingratulate against him.

He declareth that it ought not to be referred to the sole or plene fulnesse of the earth, that any country is rich, and abundant, but only to Gods mercies, as in plagues and curses declare, when he maketh a barren.

Or, really.
He sheweth by a greater miracle, that God hath power, and also will deliuer his people from their captivity, in as much as he is able to giue life to the dead bones, and bodies, and raise them vp againe.

wind: prophecies, sonne of man, and say to the wind, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe vpon these flaine, that they may liue.

10 So I prophesied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he said vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecies, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israel.

13 And yee shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchres.

14 And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

16 Moreover, thou sonne of man, take thee a peece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take another peece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions.

17 And thou shalt ioine them one to another into one tree, and they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answer them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree of Ioseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and wil put them with him, euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be one in mine hand.

20 And the pieces of wood wheron thou writest, shall be in thine hand, in their sight.

21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, where they bee gone, and wil gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, vpon the mountains of Israel, and one king shall be king to them all: and they shall be no more two peoples, neither bee diuided any more henceforth into two kingdomes.

23 Neither shall they bee polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I wil saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And Dauid my seruant shall be king ouer them, and they all shall haue one shepheard: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.

25 And they shall dwell in the land, that I haue giuen vnto Iakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, euen they, and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid shall bee their prince for euer.

26 Moreover, I will make a covenant of peace with them: it shall be an eneuelling covenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my Sanctuary among them for euermore.

27 My tabernacle also shall be with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall know, that I the Lord doe sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuary shall be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

He prophesied that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against a Gog, against the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophecies against him,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I will destroy thee, and put bookes in thy iawes, and I wil bring thee forth, and all thine host both horses, and horsemen, all clothed with all sorts of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers, and shields, all handling swords.

5 They of Paras, of Cush, and Phut with them, euen all they that beare shield and helmer.

6 Gomer and all his bands, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, & all his bands, and much people with thee.

7 Prepare thy selfe, and make thee readie, both thou, and all thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their safegard.

8 After many dayes thou shalt be visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bene destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountains of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come vp like a tempest, and shalt bee like a cloud to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy mind, and thou shalt thinke euill thoughts.

11 And thou shalt say, I will goe vp to the land that hath no walled towres: I will goe to them that are at rest and dwell in safetie, which dwell all without wals, and haue neither barres nor gates,

12 Thinking to spoyle the pray, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattell and goods, and dwell in the mids of the land.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the marchants of Tarshish with all the Lyons thereof shall say vnto thee, Art thou come to spoyle the pray? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a bootie? to carrie away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoyle a great pray?

14 Therefore, sonne of man, prophecies, and say vnto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwell safe, g That is to molest and destroy the Church.

h Meaning, Israel, which had now bene destroyed, & was not yet built againe: declaring hereby the simplicitie of the godly, who seeke not so much to fortifie themselves by outward force, as to depend on the providence and goodness of God.

i One enemy shall enuie another because every one shall thinke to haue the spoyle of the Church.

j Shall not thou speeke thine oration to come against my Church when they suspect nothing?

shalt thou not know it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mightie armie.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloud to couer the land, thou shalt be in the latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my land, that the heathen may know mee, when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whome I haue spoken in olde time, by the hands of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophecied in those dayes and yeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation, and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel,

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beastes of the field, and all that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall be ouerthrowne, and the staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sward against him throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will plead against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people that are with him, a sore raine, and hailestones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Gog, and Magog. 11 The graues of Gog and his hoste. 17 They shall be deuoured of birds and beasts. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

Therefore thou sonne of man, prophecie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee, and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will finite the bow out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds and to euery feathered foule and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, & among them that dwell safely in the Isles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name known in the mids of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the holy one of Israel.

8 Behold, it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel shall goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shields, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, & vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staves in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog a place there for a buriall in Israel, euen the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stop their noses, and there shall they burie Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-Gog.

12 And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall burie them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to goe continually through the land with them that trauaile, to burie those that remaine vpon the ground, and cleanse it: they shall search to the ende of seuen moneths.

15 And the trauailers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, til the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall be Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, Thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh, and drinke blood.

18 Yee shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullocks, euen of all fat beasts of Bashan.

19 And ye shall eat fat till ye be full, and drinke blood till yee be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glorie among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue laid vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and forth.

23 And the heathen shall know, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of the enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their uncleaneesse, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 There-

k Meaning, in the last age, and from the coming of Christ vnto the end of the world.

l Signifying that God will be satisfied by maintaining his Church, and destroying his enemies, as Chap. 36. 27. and 37. 28.

m Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church whereof they haue not bene aduertised aforetime, to teach them to indure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath so ordeined.

n Al means whereby man should thinke to saue him selfe, shall faile, the affliction in those dayes shall be so great, and the enemies destruction shall be so terrible.

o Against the people of Gog and Magog.

p Chap. 36. 23. and 37. 28.

q Or destroy thee with fire plagues, as Chap. 38. 2.

r Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods word the enemy shall be destroyed where-soeuer he afflicteth his Church.

s That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, seems they neuer so iarre lepara.

That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsell, and cannot be changed.

t After this destruction the Church shall haue great peace and tranquillitie, and burne all their weapons, because they shall no more feare the enemies.

u This is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christs kingdom, when by their head Christ, all enemies shall be overcome.

v Which declareth that the enemies shall haue no hostile fall.

w For the finish of the carkeles.

x Or, the multitude of Gog.

y Meaning a long time.

z Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God haue, euen to their enemies.

aa Or multitude.

k Whereby he signifie h the terrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.

l That hee shall know that they overcome not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weapons of mine armie, but that this was for my peoples sinnes.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubits, and the height of the gate thirteene cubits.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubit on this side, and the space was one cubit on that side, and the chambers were fixe cubits on this side, and fixe cubits on that side.

13 Hee measured then the gate from the roote of a chamber to the toppe of the gate: the breadth was fixe & twentie cubits, doore against doore.

14 Hee made also posts of threescore cubites, and the posts of the court, and of the gate, had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubits.

16 And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, & in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went round about within: and vpon the postes were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court round about, and thirty chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubits Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fixe and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looked toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seven steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood ouer against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubits.

24 After that, hee brought mee toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to those measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fixe and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seven steppes to goe vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them, and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the poste thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to those measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof rounde about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fixe and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches rounde about were fixe and twentie cubites long, and fixe cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Again he brought mee into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to those measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fiftie cubites long, and fixe and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After hee brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, 36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fixe and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And every chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and a halfe broad, and one cubite hie: whereupon also they layd the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the fingers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

47 So he measured the court, an hundreth cubites long, and an hundreth cubites broad, even foure square: likewise the Altar that was before the house.

48 And hee brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, five cubites on this side, and five cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and he measured the length thereof forty cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went he in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie fixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seven cubites.

4 So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he said vnto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, hee measured the wall of the house, fixe cubites, and the breadth of every chamber foure cubites round about the house, on every side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for 7 chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastened therein, and not bee fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting vpward to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpward, round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the hieft by the mids.

Verf. 11. The doores of the chambers on the North side, opened toward the North V, and they on the South side toward the South R, for there was an alley of fixe cubites round about the Temple V Z, and was so aloof with a wall 11.

Verf. 22. The altar V which was three cubites high Y X and two cubites long Y Z.

8 I saw also the house hie round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of fixe great cubites.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was fixe cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And between the chambers was the wide-nesse of twentie cubits round about the House on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fixe cubites round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fixe cubites thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundreth cubits long, and the separate place and the building with the wallles thereof were an hundreth cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundreth cubites.

15 And hee measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundreth cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, field with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were field.

17 And from aboue the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was field according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about.

20 From the ground vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The posts of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuary.

22 The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said vnto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the wallles, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke planks.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, & the holy things.

Then brought hee me into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and hee brought mee into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubits, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubits broad.

3 Ouere against the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubits wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Now the chambers about were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubits: and lo, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites.

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court toward the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the maner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then said he vnto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approach vnto the Lord, shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people.

15 Now when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought me fourth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rodde, fixe hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

17 He measured also the Northside, fixe hund-

18 And he measured the South side five hundredth reedes with the measuring reede.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured five hundredth reedes with the measuring reede.

20 He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, five hundredth reedes long, and five hundredth broad to make a separation between the Sanctuary, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

Hee seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 Hee mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed, and brought to nought. 9 Hee is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

Afterward he brought me to the gate, even the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel, came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noise of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the vision which I saw was like the vision, even as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the cite: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the riuer Chebar, and I fell upon my face.

4 And the glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the spirit tooke me vp and brought mee into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto mee out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for euer, & the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornications, nor by the carkeises of their kings in their hie places.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, & the carkeises of their kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for euer.

10 Thou sonne of man, shewe this House to the house of Israel, that they may bee ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of al that they haue done, shew them the forme of the House, and the paterne thereof, and the going out therof, and the comming in therof, and the whole fashion therof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion therof, & all the ordinances therof, and do them.

12 This is the description of the house, it shall be vpon the top of the mount: all the linaitis thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites, the cubite is a cubite, and a hand breadth, even the bottome shall be a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about shall be a span: and this shall be the height of the altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shall be two cubites: and the breadth one cubite, and from the little piece to the great piece shall be foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shall be foure cubites, and from the altar vppward shall be foure hornes.

16 And the altar shall be twelue cubites long and twelue broad, and foure square in the foure corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall be fourteen cubites long, and foureteene broad in the fouresquare corners thereof, and the border about it shall be halfe a cubite, & the bottome thereof shall be a cubite about, & the steps thereof shall be turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering theron, & to sprinkle blood theron.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reprooueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

Then hee brought mee toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate shall be shut, and shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the Prince himselfe shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: hee shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought he mee toward the North gate before the House: and when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

5 And the Lord sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, mark wel & behold with thine eyes, & heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, & all the lawes thereof, and marke wel the entring in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euens to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue enough of all your abominations.

7 Seeing that yee haue brought into my Sanctuary <sup>b</sup>strangers vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, euens fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations.

8 For yee haue not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set o<sup>r</sup>ther to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

10 Neither yet the <sup>d</sup>Leuites that are gone back from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from mee after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquity, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquity, 13 And they shall not come neere vnto mee to doe the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Levites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer mee the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, & no wool shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, & within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loines: they shall not gird theselues in the sweating places.

19 But when they go forth into the vtter court, euens to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherin they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments.

20 They shall not also shau their heads nor suffer their locks to grow long, but roue their heads.

21 * Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither shall they take for their * wiues a widow, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discern betweene the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

25 * And they shall come at no dead perion to defile theselues, except at their father, or mother, or sonne, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: in these may they be defiled.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shall reckon vnto him seuen dayes.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are there separate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priests and to the Temple, the second to the Levites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of first weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

Moreouer, when yee shall diuide the lande for inheritance, yee shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an holy portion of the lande, five and twentie thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad : this shalbe holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twentie thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand : and in it shalbe the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the lande shall bee the Priests, which minister the Sanctuary, which came neere to serue the Lord : and it shall bee a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the five and twentie thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Levites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.

6 Also ye shal appoint the possession of the citie, five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion : it shalbe for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince of the one side, and on that side of the oblation on the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euery before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the city from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shalbe by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shal be his possession in Israel : and my princes shal no more oppress my people, and the rest of the land shal they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel : leaue off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice : take away your exactions from my people, sayeth the Lord God.

10 Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equall : a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer : the equalitie thereof shalbe after the Homer.

12 * And the shekel shalbe twentie Gerahs, and twentie shekels, and a fine and twentie shekels and fiftene shekels shall be your Maneh.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye shal offer, the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shal giue the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euery of the Bath of oyle, yee shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths are an Homer : for ten Baths fill an Homer)

15 And one Lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, sayeth the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shal giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shalbe the princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meate offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts and in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the hie feastes of the house of Israel : he shall prepare the sinne offering, and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus saith the Lorde God, In the first moneth, in the first day of the moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and cleanse the Sanctuary.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering, and put it vpon the posts of the house, and vpon the foure corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seventh day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred, and for him that is deceived : so shall you reconcile the house.

21 * In the first moneth in the foureteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seven dayes, and ye shall eat vnleavened bread.

22 And vpon that day, shall the prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the lande, a bullocke for a sinne offering.

23 And in the seven dayes of the feast he shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, euery of seven bullockes, and seven rammes without blemish daily for seven dayes, and an hee goate daily for a sinne offering.

24 And he shall prepare a meate offering of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

25 In the seventh moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he doe the like in the feast for seven dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oyle.

shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after he shall goe forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall bee fixe lambes without blemish, & a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meate offering shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meat offering for the lambes a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

6 And in the day of the new moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, & fixe lambes and a ramme: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offering, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ram, and for the lambes according as his hande shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

8 And when the prince shall enter, hee shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feastes, he that entreteth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreteth by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in, but they shall goe forth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the mids of them: he shall goe in, when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feastes, and in the solemnitie the meate offering shall bee an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, & to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Nowe when the prince shall make a free burnt offering, or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as hee did on the Sabbath day: after he shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere, without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the fixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine floure: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering, and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sons, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if hee giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall be his to the c yere of libertie: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

18 Moreouer the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherite of his owne possession, that my people bee not scattered euery man from his possession.

20 Then sayd he vnto mee, This is the place where the Priesttes shall seeche the trespass offering and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, & to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he brought mee forth into the vtter court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourty cubites long, and thirtie broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

C H A P. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 12 The costs of the land of promise, and the division thereof by tribes.

Afterward hee brought mee vnto the doore of the house: and beholde, a waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house floode toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, & brought mee through the waters: the waters were to the knees: again he measured a thousand, & brought me through: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a river, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a river that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the river.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the river were very many trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then sayd hee vnto mee, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the waters shall be wholesome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, wherefoeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall bee wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the river cometh.

19 And the Southside shalbe toward Teman, from Tamar to the waters of Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shalbe the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part.

21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you, as borne in the country among the children of Israel, they shall part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, sayeth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Levites, of the citie and of the Princes are rehearsed.

Now these are the names of the tribes. From the Northside, to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the Eastside to the West shall be a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the Westside, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh, from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part shalbe the offering which they shall offer of five and twentie thousand reedes broade, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuary shalbe in the mids of it.

9 The oblation that yee shall offer vnto the Lord, shalbe of five and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priests shalbe this holy oblation, toward the North five and twentie thousand long, and toward the West, ten thousand broad, & toward the East ten thousand broade, and toward the South five and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lorde shalbe in the mids thereof.

11 It shalbe for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests the Levites shal haue five and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shalbe five and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first frutes of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the five and twentie thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the mids thereof.

16 And these shalbe the measures thereof, the North part five hundred and foure thousand, and the South part five hundred and foure thousand, and the East part five hundred and foure thousand, and the West part five hundred and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the citie shalbe toward the North two hundred & fiftie, and toward the South two hundred and fiftie, and toward the East two hundred and fiftie, and toward the West two hundred and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shalbe ten thousand Eastward, and tenne thousand Westward: and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shalbe for food vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

The tribes after they entered into the land vnto Iordan, diuided the land among themselves, as is here set forth by this vision.

d Every way it shall be five and twentie thousand.

20 All the oblation shall be five and twentie thousand with a fine and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the citie.

21 And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other for the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the five and twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the five and twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer against shall be for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the middes thereof.

22 Moreover, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the mids shall be the princes: betweene the border of Iudah, and betweene the border of Benjamin shall be the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part, Benjamin shall be a portion.

24 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward Temath, the border shall be enen from Tamar, vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the brier, that runneth into the maine sea.

29 This is the lande, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the boundes of the citie, on the Northside five hundred, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the Eastside five hundred and foure thousand, and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, five hundred and foure thousand measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side, five hundred and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eightene thousand measures, and the name of the citie from that day shall be, † The Lord is there.

f Which is here taken for Iordan g Which was the riche the citie of palme trees. h Meaning, that runneth into the Sea, called Meribath.

† Ebr. Iehonah. Iehonah.

DANIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

The great providence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most lively here set forth, who neuer leaueh his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophecie, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy spirit, that Daniel above all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last ende of the world, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because hee should be the accomplishment thereof: moreover he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring everlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah. 4 The king chuseth certaine young men of the Iewes to learne his law. 5 They haue the kings ordinance appointed, 8 But they abstaine from it.

a Reside 1. King. 24 1. & iere 25 1. b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon. c Who was as master of the wardes. d He collecteth them Eunuches whom the King nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countreys afterward.

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shew himselfe victorious, and also by their good instruction and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him than the Iewes, and so to be able to serue him as gouernours in their land; moreover by this means the Iewes might be better kept in subjection, fearing otherwise to procure hurt to these noblemen.

IN the 3rd yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which hee caried into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, & he brought his vessels into his gods treasure.

3 And the King spake vnto Asphenaz the master of his Eunuches, that he should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the kings seede, and of the princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well fauoured, and instruct in all wisdom, and well seene in knowledge, and able to viter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them prouision euerie day of a portion of the kings meate, and of the wine, which he dranke, so nourishing them three yeere, that at the end thereof, they might stand before the king.

6 Now among the fewere certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah.

praise, that hee esteemed learning and knewe that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by. g That they might forget their owne religion, and countrey (which was the better to his purpose: yet it is not to bee thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refused the meate which the king appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things, and superstition, inasmuch that they would not eate the meate which the king appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things, b That by their good entertainment they might learne to forget the maner of their owne people, i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maner of the Chaldeans, and also their tongue. k Aswell to serue at the table, as in other offices.

1 The King wanted three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be wise and learned, and that they should be of a strong and comely stature, that they might do him better seruice: this he did for his owne commodity, therefore it is not to praise his liberality: yet in this hee is worthy

1. That they might forget their religion: for the lawe gave them all dreames, which might put down in rememberance of some point of religion:
therefore this was a great temptation and a signe of seruile which they were not able to resist.
2. That hee thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke (for afterward hee did eat) but because the king should not intire him by this inueresion to forgoe his religion and acknowledge soberie-ty, and that in his meate and drinke
he might daily remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth him in to shew how God from the beginning afflicted him with his spirit, and as length called him to be a Prophet.
3. He supposed they did this for their religion which was contrary to the Babylonian, and therefore herein he reprehended them, which are of no religion: for neither he would condemne their normaltie in his owne.
4. Meaning, that within this space he might haue the full Land that no man should be able to discern it:
and thus he spake,
being moued
by the Spirit of God.
5. Not that it was abominable to eat drinke meate, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but that they should haue thereby bene wounde to the King and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accused. 6. This bare feeding and that of Moses, when hee fled from the court of Egypt, & claret that wee must liue in such sobriety as God doth call vs vnto, seeing hee will make it more praisable vnto vs, then all dainties: for his blessing onely sufficeth. 7. Ebr. faster in flesh.
8. Meaning, in the liberrall sciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magi-call artes which are forbidden, Deut. 18. 11. 9. So that he onely was a Prophet and none of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Num. 12. 6. 10. Of the three yeeres above mentioned vers. 5. 11. That is, hee was detained in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that common wealth stood.

7 Vnto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for he called Daniel, Belshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishach, and Azariah, Abednego.
8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.
9 (Now God hath brought Daniel into fa-uour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eu-nuches.)
10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the king.
11 Then sayd Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hana-niah, Misael, and Azariah, 12 Proue thy seruants, I beseech thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs pulse to eat, and water to drinke.
13 Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that ate of the portion of the kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy ser-uants.
14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.
15 And at the end of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fayrer, and in better liking then all the childrens, which did eat the portion of the kings meate.
16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.
17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning and wisdom: also he gaue Daniel vnderstand-ing of all visions and dreames.
18 Now when the time was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchadnezzar.
19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Misael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.
20 And in all matters of wisdom, and vnderstanding that the king enquired of them, hee found them tenne times better then all the inchanters and astrologians, that were in all his realme.
21 And Daniel was vnto the first yeere of king Cyrus.

¶ Thereby bene woun-
de to the King and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accus-

of Moses, when hee fled from the court of Egypt, & claret that wee must liue question. 24. Daniel is brought vnto the King, and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 25. Of the continuing kingdom of Christ.

And in the second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar dreamed dreames wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him.
2 Then the king commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians, and the sorcerers, and the Caldeans for to shewe the king his dreames: so they came and stood before the King.
3 And the king said vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, & my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.
4 Then spake the Caldeans to the king in the Aramites language, O king, liue for euer: shewe thy seruants thy dreame, and wee shall shew the interpretation.
5 And the king answered and saide to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from mee. If yee will not make mee vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, yee shall bee drawen in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iakes.
6 But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, yee shall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shewe mee the dreame and the interpretation of it.
7 They answered againe, and sayde, Let the king shew his seruants the dreame, and wee will declare the interpretation thereof.
8 Then the king answered, and sayd, I know certainly that yee would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.
9 But if yee will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for yee haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time bee changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.
10 Then the Caldeans answered before the king, and sayd, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor Prince nor lord that asked such things at an inchanter, or astrologian or Cal-dean.
11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.
12 For this cause the king was angry and in great fury, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.
13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wife men were slaine: and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.
14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisdom to Arioch the kings chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.
15 Yea, hee answered and sayd vnto Arioch the Kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.
16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would giue him leifure, and that he would shew the king the interpretation thereof.

a The father and the sunne were both called by this name: so that this is meant of the sonne, when hee reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort with his father.
b Not that hee had many dreames but because many matters were contained in this dreame.
c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame that he had not had the like.
d He was so brayn with sleepe that he began to sleepe againe. Some reade, and his sleepe was broken from him.
e For all these Astrologers and sorcerers called themselves by this name of honour, as though all the wisdom & knowledge of the country depended vpon them: & that all other coun-treys were voides of the same.
f That is, in Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldean, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the speake it: as the lewish writers doe to this day.

ward of their arrogance which varied of themselves that they had the knowledge of all things: that they should be prooued foolish, and that to their perpetuall shame and confusion.
h Heretofore appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their brags, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except hee entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend know-

17 ¶ Then

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house, and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heaven for grace in this secret: that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret revealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heaven, 20 And Daniel answered and said, ¶ The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisdom and strength are his.

21 And he changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisdom vnto the wise, & vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 He discouereth the deepe and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darknesse, & the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisdom and strength, and hast shewed mee now the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the king had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and said thus vnto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew mee the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in heaven that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the king Nebuchadnezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy mind, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reuealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As for me, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisdom that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shew the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O King, thou sawest, and behold, there was a great image: this great image whose glorie was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine gold, his breast, and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighes of brasie.

33 His legs of yron, and his feet were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it til a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasie, the siluer and the gold broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the summer floures, and the wind carried them away, and no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we wil declare before the king, the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ O king, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glorie.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome inferior to thee, of siluer, and another third kingdome shall be of brasie, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall bee strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruise all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and bruise all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall bee divided, but there shall bee in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feete were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome bee partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselves with the seede of men: but they shall not ioine one with another; as yron cannot bee mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which shall neuer bee destroyed: and this kingdome shall not bee giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest, that the stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasie, the clay, the siluer, and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the king, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fel vpon his face, and bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meate offerings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the king answered vnto Daniel, and

God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdome at the beginning should be small and without beaume to mans iudgement, but should at length growe and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verse 34. And this kingdome, which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof, shall bee eternall: for the promise that is in them, is in eternall, Rom 8.10. b Though this mounting of the king seemed to denote commendation, yet because he needed Gods honour with the Prophet, it is to be regarded, and Daniel herein erred if he iudged it: but it is credible that Daniel admitted him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

¶ Psal. 113. 2. and 115. 18. k He sheweth that man hath neither wisdom nor knowledge, but very darke blindness, and ignorance of himselfe, for if he knoweth onely of God, that man vnderstandeth any thing l To whom thou madeest thy promise, and I who liued in the flesh: whereby he excludeth al o his gods m Meaning, power to interpret etc n Whether appeareth that many were slain as verse 13. and the rest at Daniels offer were preserved on condition I nor that Daniel fauoured the wicked profession, but that he had resped to equite because the king proceeded according to his wicked alidion, & not considering if their science were lawfull or no o He saith methat man by reason and art is not able to aua ne to the cause of gods fcre s but the vnderstanding onely therof must come of Gods whereby he smeth the king with a certaine fear & reuerence of God, that hee might be the more apt to receive the his mysteries, whar should be reueiled p B caufe he had said that God onely must reuele the signification of this dreame, the King mig t haue asked, why Daniel did enterpr to so interpret it and therefore he sh w e hich he was but Gods minister, and hath no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory q By gold siluer, brasie and yron, are meant the Caldean, Persians, Macedonians, and Romane kingdomes, which should successively rule all the world till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last; and this was to assure the Iewes, that their affliction should not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the coming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth monarchie.

¶ Daniel fauoured cut the kingdome of the Assyrians, which was broken the Babylonians, both because it was no a monarchie and general empire, and also because it would declare the things that were to come to the coming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect among themselves, vnderstanding the Babylonians kingdome the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet a part of it was wicked and cruel. l Meaning, the Persians, which were not in power in diuine power, and rich, but were wont to show ambition, cruelty, and make a deal of violence, shewing that the world shall grow worse and worse, till it was reformed by Christ. t That is, of the Macedonians, which be a brasse, and leading to the downfall thereof, but to the vnderstanding in respect of siluer. u That is, the Romanes, emperors shall subdue all the other states, and which after Alexander were divided into the Macedonians, Seleucians, Syrians, and Egyptians. x They shall have civil wars, and divisions all discord among themselves. y They shall be warring, and all nations shall be at warre, and shall be strong: yet shall they neuer be united in heart. z His purpose is to shew, that all the kingdomes of the world are transitory, & that the kingdome of Christ shall endure for euer. a Meaning Christ, who was sent of aid, I <sup>1</sup> Asaw of a truth that your <sup>2</sup> God is a God of gods, and the Lord of Kings, and the reuealer of secrets, seeing thou couldst open this secret.

48 So the King made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great <sup>3</sup> giftes. He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel <sup>4</sup> made request to the King, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel <sup>5</sup> sate in the <sup>6</sup> gate of the King.

CHAP. III.

1 The King <sup>1</sup> set vp a golden image. 8 Certain are accused because they despised the Kings commandment, and are put into a burning ouen. 23 By belief in God they are delivered from the fire. 24 Nebuchad-nezzar causeth the power of God, after the sight of the miracle.

Nebuchad-nezzar the King made <sup>1</sup> an image of gold, whose height <sup>2</sup> was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof six cubites: hee set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellours, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the <sup>3</sup> dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the <sup>4</sup> King had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes & dukes, the iudges, the receauers, the counsellours, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp: & they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, Be it knowen to you, O people, <sup>5</sup> nations, and languages,

5 That when yee heare the sound of the corner, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King hath set vp.

6 And whosoever falleth not downe & worshippeth, shall the same houre bee cast into the middes of an hote fire fornaice.

7 Therefore as soone as all the people heard the sound of the corner, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musicke, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason wherof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grievously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and said to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer.

10 Thou O King, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sound of the corner, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dul-cimer, and all instruments of musicke, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hote fiery fornaice.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, <sup>13</sup> Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, haue not regarded thy commandment, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in <sup>14</sup> his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, so these men were brought before the King.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 ¶ Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the corner, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I haue made? for if yee worship it not, ye shall be cast immediately into the mids of an hote fiery fornaice: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego answered and saide to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we are not carefull to answer thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serue, is <sup>18</sup> able to deliuer vs from the hote fiery fornaice, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King.

18 But if not, be it knowen to thee, O King, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar ful of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commanded that they should heate the fornaice at once seuen <sup>20</sup> times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his army, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fiery fornaice.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their hosen, & their clokes, with their <sup>22</sup> other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fire fornaice.

22 Therefore, because the Kings commandment was strait, that the fornaice should bee exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego:

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fel downe bound into the mids of the hote fiery fornaice.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonished and rose vp in haste, and spake, and said vnto his Counsellors, Did not we cast three men bound into the mids of the fire? Who answered and said vnto the king, It is true, O king.

25 And he answered, and said, Lo, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the <sup>26</sup> sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fiery fornaice, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego,

O o

¶ It seemeth, that they named not Daniel because he was greatly in the Kings fauour, thinking if these three had bin destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declared that this policie of casting this image was increased by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, who they accused of rebellion and ingratitude. ¶ Signifying, that he would receive them to grace, if they would move in the length of his desires. ¶ For they should haue done iniurie to God, if they should haue doubted in thine holie cause, and therefore they sayd that they are resolute to die for Gods cause. ¶ They ground on two points, first on the power, and prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and to make open confession, that they will not somuch as outwardly consent to idolatrie. ¶ This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more writie they shew themselves in inuening strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whom he giueth patience and constancie to abide the crueltie of their punishments: for either he deliuereth them from death, or els for this life giueth them a better. ¶ For the Angels were called the fauours of God, because of their excellencie: therefore the King called the Angel whom God sent to comfort his in the fire: as torments, the sonne of God.

<sup>1</sup> This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this furnace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him forth. <sup>m</sup> He was moved by the greatnesse of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to convert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned without the which there can be no faith. <sup>n</sup> If this heathen King moved by Gods Spirit would not see blasphemie unpunished, but made a lawe and set a punishment to such transgressors, much more ought all they that profess religion, to take order that such impietie reigne not, lest according as their knowledge and charge is as his dominion the seruants of the hie God, goe forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came forth of the middes of the fire.

<sup>27</sup> Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counsellours came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smelle of fire came vpon them.

<sup>28</sup> Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said, <sup>m</sup> Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, and yielded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, save their owne God.

<sup>29</sup> Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, shall be drawn in pieces, & their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort.

CHAP IIIII.

Nebuchad-nezzar being at <sup>a</sup> rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

<sup>3</sup> Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wife men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

<sup>5</sup> Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was <sup>d</sup> Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying.

<sup>6</sup> O Belteshazzar, <sup>e</sup> chiefe of the enchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell mee the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

<sup>7</sup> Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed, And behold, I saw <sup>a</sup> tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great.

<sup>This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not only to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God. <sup>e</sup> Which also was a great griefe to the Prophets to be numbered among the sorcerers and men whose practices were wicked and contrary to Gods word. <sup>f</sup> By the tree is signified the dignitie of a king whom God ordaineth to be a defence for all kind of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind.</sup>

<sup>9</sup> The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meat for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, and the foule of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

<sup>13</sup> Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

<sup>14</sup> The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoever he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

<sup>15</sup> This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wife men of my kingdome are not able to shewe me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

<sup>16</sup> Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) helde his <sup>k</sup> peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and sayd, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

<sup>18</sup> Whose leaues were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beasts of the field dwelt, and vpon whole branches the fowles of the heauen did sit,

<sup>19</sup> It is thou, O King, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth.

<sup>20</sup> Whereas the King sawe a watchman, and an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the roots thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron & brasse <sup>h</sup> binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, <sup>l</sup> till seuen times passe ouer him,

<sup>g</sup> Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is ever ready to doe Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is ever holy: and in that that he commandeth to cut downe this tree, he knew that it should not be cut downe by man, but by God. <sup>h</sup> Hereby he meant that Nebuchad-nezzar should not only lose a time of his kingdome, but be like a beast. <sup>i</sup> God had decreed this judgement, & the whole armie of heauen knew as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselves against God.

<sup>k</sup> He was troubled for the great judgement of God which he saw decreed against the King: and so the Prophet vnto the one part to depower Gods judgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods judgements if he did not regard them with pitié.

22 That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou know, that <sup>a</sup> the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoever he will.

23 Whereas they saide, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt know, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and <sup>b</sup> breake off thy finnes by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: loe, let there bee a <sup>c</sup> healing of thine error.

25 All these things shal come vpon the King Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the King spake, and said, Is not this great Babel that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the word was in the kings mouth, a voice came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nabuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that <sup>d</sup> the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoever he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his haire was grown as egles feathers, and his nailes like birds claws.

31 And at the end of these daies I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I praised and honoured him, that liueth for euer, whose power is an euermlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto mee, and my counsellers and my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Nowe therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar praise, and extoll and magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abate.

CHAP. V.

5 Balthazar King of Babylon seeth an handwriting on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the King, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slain. 38 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

King Balthazar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand.

2 And Balthazar while hee tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the King and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine and praised the gods of gold, and of siluer, of brasie, of yron, of wood and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wal of the kings palace, and the King saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the King cried loude, that they should bring the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayd to the wise men of Babel, Whosoever can read this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of gold about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the Kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Balthazar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 Now the Queene by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and said, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding, and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whom the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and soothsayers,

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for he did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were found in him, euen in Daniel, whom the King named Belteshazzar: nowe let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake and saide vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vn-a Daniel reciteth this historie of King Balthazar Enlumerodachs sonne, to shew Gods iudgements against the wicked for the deliniance of his church and how the prophecy of Ieremias was true, that they should be delivered after seuentie yeeres.

b The kings of the East parts then vied to sit alone commonly, & claimed that any should fit in their company: and now to shew his power, and how little he set by his enemies, which then besieged Babylon, he made a slemme banquet, and vied excels in their company which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute, and negligent when their destruction is at hand.

c Or, overcome with wine. d Meaning, his grandfather. e In contempt of the true God they praised their idols, not that they thought, that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue, and power in them to doe them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters.

f That it might the better be scene. g So that before contemned God, was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements.

h Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who draw them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions.

i To wit, his grandmother Nabuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

k odious vnto him, and among them when all was at God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of proph-ie, and vnderstanding came of them.

standing, and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise men and Astrologians have bene brought before me, that they should reade this writing, and shew mee the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, and dissolve doubts: now if thou couldest reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, then shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt have a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt bee the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and said before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I wil reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom he would he set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was driven from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the heauen, till he knew, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoever he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things.

23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of silver and gold, and brasie, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hande thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbered thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found || too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of gold about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yeeres old.

1 Daniel is made ruler over the gouernours. 2 He is put into a den of lions by the commandement of the King. 3 He is deliuered by faith in God. 4 Daniels accusers are put into the lions. 5 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

1 I pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome a hundred and twentie gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the king should || haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could find none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then said these men, We shall not find an occasion against this Daniel, except we find it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, & said thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirty dayes saue of thee, O King, he shall be cast into the denne of Lions.

8 Now, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praised his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplications vnto his God.

12 So they came and spake vnto the King, concerning the Kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that every man that shall make request to any God or man within thirty dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of Lions? The King answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and saide vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and let his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and he laboured till the Sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and said vnto the King, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth,

1 Before he read the writing, he declared to the King his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moved to giue him the glory, considering his wondrous full worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that he doeth not faine of ignorance, but of malice.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

n This word is twice written for the certaintie of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God both appointed a time for all his glories, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselves against him.

o Cyrus his sonne in law gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

a Trade this, Chap. i.

Or, not to be troubled.

b This sentence King prefered Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others. c Thus the wicked cannot shide the graces of God in others, but take by all occasions to defame them: therefore against such wicked there is no better remedie then to walke uprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

d Herein is demonstrated the wickedness of the King, who would be set up as a god, and pulled at what wicked law he approached for the maintenance of the same. e Because he would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he let open his window toward Ierusalem, where he prayed: both to stirre up himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promise to his people, when they should pray toward that Temple, and also that other might see that he would not there consent to heart nor deede for these few dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

16 ¶ Then the King commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euē he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layd vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went into his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musick brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lions.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cryed with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel: and the king spake, and sayd to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whome thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O King, lue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lions mouthes, that they haue not hurt mee: for h my iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done i no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no manner of hurt was found vpon him, because he k beleued in his God.

24 And by the commandement of the King these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were l cast into the denne of lions, euē they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in al the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare m before the God of Daniel: for he is the n liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shalbe euerlasting.

27 He rescueth and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

¶ Daniel destroyed all superstition and idolatrie, and not onely giuen God the due place, but also haue *h*im vp, and caused him to be honoured according to his merit: that this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto hee was compelled by this wonderfull miracle. ¶ Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but in the euerlasting life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The tenne hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bedde: a then hee wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

¶ Daniel declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not bee a deliniance from all troubles: but a beginning, and therefore encouraged them to looke for a comfortfull Messiah: the Messiah be vnto d and reucaled, by whom they should haue a full deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

2 Daniel spake and sayd, I saw in my vision by night, and behold the foure winds of the heauen stroue vpon h the great sea:

3 And foure great beasts came vp from the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a lion, & had egles wings: I beheld, til the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a beare, and stood vpon the l one side: and he had three ribs in his l mouth between his teeth, & they said thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a leopard, which had vpon his backe i foure wings of a fowle: the beast had also foure heads, and k dominion was giuen him.

7 After this, I saw in the visions by night, and beheld, the l fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had m great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces, and stamped n the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had o tenne hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another little p horne, before whom there were q three of the first hornes pluckt away: and behold, in his horne were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld till the r thrones were set vp, and the t Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheelles, as burning fire.

10 A fiery streame issued, and came foorth from before him: thousand thousands ministrd vnto him, and tenne thousand u thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the x bookes opened.

¶ which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the leste, Cassander and alter him Antipater was King of Macedonie, and Ptolemus had Egypt. k It was not of himselfe, nor of his owne power that hee gaue all these countreys: for his armie contained but thirty thousand men, and hee ouercame in one battell Darius, which had tenne hundred thousand, when he was so beuie with sleepe, that his eyes were scarce open, as the Floris report: therefore this power was giuen him of God. l That is, the Romane Empire which was a monster and could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. m Signifying the tyranny and greedinesse of the Romanes. n That which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countreys, they would giue it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which libertie is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete. o That is, sundry and diuers prouinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King. p Which is meant of Iulius Caesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero. &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernment: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them, and also in this prophetic the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the trueliue of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Anrichrist. q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of choosing the deputies to sende into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernement of certaine countreys to himselfe. r These Romane Emperours at the first vied a certaine humanity and gentlenesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls, and Senate, should beare the name of dignitie, so that they might haue profite, and therefore in elections and counsels would beate themselves according as did other Senatours: yet against their enemies and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here meant by the proud mouth. s Meaning the places where God and Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgement should beginne at the first coming of Christ. t That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory. u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandment. x This is meant of the first coming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly reuealed by his Gospel.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the worlde in all corners of the world, and at sundry times.
c Meaning the Assyrian and Caldean empires, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most soone come to their authoritie, as though they had had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.
d Meaning, the Persians which were barbarous and cruell.
e They were small in the beginning and were shut vp in their mountains and had no bruit.
f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable.
g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandment, who by this means punished the ingratitude of the worlde.
h Meaning, Alexander the King of Macedonie.
i That is, his foure chiefe captaines,

y Meaning, that he was afflicted, when hee sawe these Emperours in such dignitie and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the coming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subject to men of other nations. x As the three former Monarchies had an end at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth have, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment shall enjoy the promises. z Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vp on him mans nature, neither was the sonne of David according to the flesh as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinity. b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine maiesty appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that he was our Mediator. c This is meant of the beginning of Christs kingdome when God the father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Messiah, so the intent that he should gouerne here his Church in earth continually till the time that he brought them to eternall life. d Though the strangeness of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10. f Because Abraham was appointed beire of all the worlde, Rom 4. 13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beasts or tyrants should inuade, and viorpe vntill the worlde were restored by Christ: and this was to consume them that were in rebellion, that their afflictions should haue an end at length. g That is, of the most high things, because God hath chosen them out of this worlde, that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth. h For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a King, and the Romane empire by Consuls; the Romanes changed their gouernours yearly, and the other Monarchies reigned them for terme of life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselves. i Reade verse 7. k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other. l Meaning the Romane Emperours who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles. m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his some rest, and so obtained a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God. n Read the exposition heere of, verse 8. o That is, shall make wicked decrees and proclamations against Gods word, and send throughout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe it.

11 Then I behelde, & because of the voice of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 As I beheld in visions by night, behold, one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euermlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 I Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so he told me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

18 And they shall take the kingdome of the Saints of the most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 After this, I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was so vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feet.

20 Also to know of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose looke was more stout then his felowes.

21 I beheld: and the same horne made battell against the Saints, yea, & preuailed against them.

22 Vntill the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saintes of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten Kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue three Kings.

25 And shall speake words against the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that he may change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hand vntil a time, and times, and the diuinding of time.

26 But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euermlasting kingdome, and all powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in mee: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

but at length he will assuage these troubles, and shorten the time for his church. Math 24. 22. which is here meant by the diuinding of time. Go: by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and to destroy this little horn, that it shall neuer rise vp againe. I He sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not fully enjoy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospel enjoy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these wordes: vnder the heauens and therefore hee here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in this worlde, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head. That is, some of euery sort that beare rule, a Though he had many motions in his heart which moued him to and fro to seeke out the matter curiously: yet he was content with that which God revealed, and kept in memory, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

C H A P. VIII.

A vision of a battell between a ramme and a goate. 20 The understanding of the vision.

IN the third yere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, euen vnto mee Daniel: a after that which appeared vnto mee at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuier of Vlai.

3 Then I looked vp and sawe, and behelde, there stood before the riuier a ramme which had two hornes, and these two hornes were hie: but one was higher then another, and the highest came vp last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no beasts might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behelde, a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an horn that appeared betwene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whome I had seene standing by the riuier, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horn was broken: & for it came vp foure that borne. h Alexander overcame Darius in two sondry battels, kingdome of the Medes and Persians. i Alexander great power was broken: for when he had overcome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so died by the way.

k appeared.

p These Emperours should consider that they haue their power of God, but that it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and man, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Odinus, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitian, &c. q God shall strike them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time & times, and the diuinding of time for his church. r That is, some of euery sort that beare rule, a Though he had many motions in his heart which moued him to and fro to seeke out the matter curiously: yet he was content with that which God revealed, and kept in memory, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

a After the general vision, he cometh to certain particular visions as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians, and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof. b That is, of Persia. c Which represented the kingdome of the Persians and Medes, which were joined together. d Meaning Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in law. e That is, no king or nation. f Meaning, Alexander that came from Grecia with great speed and expedition. g Though he came in the name of all Grecia yet he bare the title and dignitie of the general captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this. h And so had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians. i Alexander great power was broken: for when he had overcome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so died by the way.

h That is, which was the first of the space of three years. i That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. k That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. l That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. m That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. n That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. o That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. p That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. q That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. r That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. s That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. t That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. u That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. v That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. w That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. x That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. y That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes. z That is, the three years which were the three years of the monarchy which was divided to three parts, the first part was the reign of Antiochus, the second part was the reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, and the third part was the reign of Antiochus Sidetes.

9 And out of one of them came forth a little horne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.
10 Yea, it grew vp vnto the hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the host, and of the stars to the ground, and trode vpon them.
11 And extolled himselfe against the prince of the hoste from whom the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuary was cast downe.
12 And a time shall bee giuen him ouer the daily sacrifice for the iniquitie; and it shall cast downe the truth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.
13 Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the desolation to treade both the Sanctuary and the army vnder foote?
14 And he answered me, Vnto the evening and the morning, two thousand and three hundred: then shall the Sanctuary be cleansed.
15 Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.
16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the banks of Vlai, which called, and saide, Gabriel, make this man to vnderstand the vision.
17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell vpon my face: but he said vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for in the last time shall be the vision.
18 Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being asleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.
19 And he said, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last wrath: for in the ende of the time appointed it shall come.
20 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians.
21 And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first King.
22 And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength.
23 And in the end of their kingdom, when the rebellious shall be consumed, a king of fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.
24 And his power shall be mighty, but not in his strength: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mighty, and the holy people.
This horne shall abolish for a time the true doctrine, and so corrupt Gods service. Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whom he callith a certaine one, or a secret one, or a man of sin. x That is, the Tewes, which were cause of this destruction. y That is, which suppresseth Gods will, and his people. z Christ answered me for the comfort of the Church. a That is, for many natural dayes he past, which make fixe yeres three moneths, and an halfe for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophand. b Which is Christ, who in this manner declarith himselfe to the old fathers, how he would be God with men in flesh. c This power to command the Angel, declared that he was God. d The effect of this vision shall not yet appeare, but a long time after. e Meaning the great rage which Antiochus should shew against the Church. f That is, out of Grecia. g They shall not haue like power as had Alexander. h Nothing that this Antiochus was impudent and cruell, and also craftie that he could not be deceived. i That is, not like Alexanders strength. k Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Iewes.

25 And through his policie also, he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart. and by peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand vp against the prince of princes, but he shall be broken downe without hand.
26 And the vision of the evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many dayes.
27 And I Daniel was stricken and sicke certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the Kings businesse, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 4 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth vnto him the vision of the seuen weekes. 24 The anointing of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Darius the sonne of Ahasuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the realme of the Caldeans, 2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.
3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and fought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.
4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, O Lord God which art great and fearefull, and keepest couenant and mercie towards them which loue thee, and toward them that keepe they commandments,
5 We haue sinned and haue committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.
6 For wee would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.
7 O Lord, righteousnes belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs t open shame, as appeareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.
8 O Lord, vnto vs appertaineth open shame, to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.
9 Yet compassion and forgiveness is in the Lord our God, albeit wee haue rebelled against him.
10 For we haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which hee had laid before vs by the ministry of his seruants the Prophets.
11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Law, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the Law of Moses 13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the law of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord † made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doth: for we would not heare his voice.

15 * And now, O Lord our God, thou hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renoume, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly

16 O Lord, according to all thy * righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy city Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy servant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to † shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lieth waste for the m Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the cite where vpon thy Name is called: for we doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne * righteousness, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lorde heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lorde consider, and do it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy city, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And while I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God, 21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel, whom I had scene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of my supplications the commandment came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstande the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seuentie p weekes are determined vpon thy people, and vpon thine holy cite, to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the * sinnes, and so reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerslasting righteousness, and to seale vp the vision and prophetic, and to anoynt the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from the going forth of the commandment to bring againe the people, and to builde Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, shall be seuen c weekes and * threescore and two weekes, and which comprehend the time from the building of the Temple vnto the baptisme o Christ.

the streets shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a † troublous time.

26 And after threescore & two * weekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall y haue nothing, and the people of * the prince that shal come, shal destroy the cite and the Sanctuary, and the ende thereof shall be with a flood: and vnto the end of the battell it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And he * shal confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: & in the mids of the weeke hee shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to b cease, c and for the onespreading of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

out all hope of reuerie. a By the preaching of the Gospel, first, to the Iewes, and after to the Gentiles. b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection. c Meaning, that Ierusalem and the Sanctuary should be utterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolatry: as in time read, that the plague shall be so great, that they shall all be consumed at them.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linen, 11 which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

1 In the * third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reueiled vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was b long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in heauines for three weekes of daies.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, til three weekes of daies were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the c first moneth, as I d was by the side of that great river, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man e clothed in linen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of * V-phaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and sawe this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for f my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his wordes: and when I heard the voice of his wordes, I slept on my face, and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand g touched me, which let me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands, 11 And he said vnto mee, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the wordes that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when he had said this word vnto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou didst set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

¶ Or, governed vs, 7 Ebr. watched vpon the cull. * Exod. 14 28. herub 2, 11. k That is, according to all thy mercifull promise and the performance thereof. l Shew thy selfe favourable. m That is, for thy Christs sake in whom thou wilt accept all our prayers. n Declaring, that the godly see only vnto Gods mercies and renouance their owne workes when they seeke for remission of their sinnes. o Thus he could not content himselfe with any verbalitie of words: for he was so led with a fervent zeale considering Gods promise made to the cite in respect of his Church, and for the advancement of Gods glory. p Chap 8. 16. q He alludeth to Ieremiahs prophetic, who prophesied that their captivity should be seuentie yeeres: but now Gods mercie should beuen fold exceede his iudgement, which should be foure hundred and ninetie yeeres, euen to the coming of Christ, and so then it should continue for euer. r Meaning, Daniels vision, our whom he was carefull. s To shew mercie & to put sine out of remembrance. t That is, from the time that Cyrus gave them leave to depart. u These weekes make forty sine yeeres, whereof 46. are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and three to the laying of the foundation. v Counting from the first yeere of Darios, who gave the second commandment for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes, which make 434. yeeres, vnto the baptisme o Christ.

¶ He is in prison of time. s In this last weekes the twenty shall come and p end and offer death. y He shall come to haue no benediction, nor to be of any estimation, as in 1. 12. 3. z Meaning, that Vespasian, who should come and destroy both the Temple and the people with him, shall be confirmed by his death and resurrection. b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection. c Meaning, that Ierusalem and the Sanctuary should be utterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolatry: as in time read, that the plague shall be so great, that they shall all be consumed at them. a He noteth this third yeere, because at this time the building of the Temple began to be hindered by Canby, the Cyrus sonne, when the father made war in Asia minor against the Syrians, which was a discommoditie to the godly and a great feare to Daniel. b Which is so declare that the godly should not be streuen to much, but patiently abide the will of Gods promise. c Called Abis, which cometh to part of March and part o April. d Being called by the Spirit of prophetic to shew the fight of this vision. Tygris. e This with the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophetic that followeth. f Jer. 1. 12. g The word o's signifieth comfort, either benediction, so that for sure he was like a dead man for desolation. h Which death, with that when we are stricken down with the multitude of God's cannot sit, except he lift us up with his hand, which is his power.

13 But the prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood mee one and twentie dayes: but loe, Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the Kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shewe thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the vision is for many dayes.

15 And when he spake these words vnto mee, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 But behold, I one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said vnto him that stood before mee, O my Lord, by the vision my sorrowes are returned vpon me, and I haue retained no strength.

17 For how can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such one for as forme, straightway there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came againe and touched me, one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened mee, 19 And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: a peace be vnto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when hee had spoken vnto mee, I was strengthened, and said, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said hee, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: and there is none that holdeth with mee in these things, but Michael your prince.

Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, he doeth not immediately lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twise) but by little and little. p Meaning that hee would not onely himselfe but the rage of Cambyses, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander the King of Macedonia. q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head of the eol.

CHAP. XI.

A prophetic of the kingdomes, which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 of Greece, 5 of Egypt, 28 of Syria, 36 and of the Romans.

1 Lio I, in the first yere of Darius of the Medes, euen I a stood to encourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now wil I shew thee the truth. Behold, there shall stand vp yet three kings of Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches hee shall stirre vp e all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a mightie King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when he shall stand vp, his kingdome shall be broken, f and shall be diuided toward the foure windes of heauen: and not to his posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which hee ruled: for his kingdome shall be pluckt vp, euen to be for others besides those.

all the East countreyes to fight against the Grecians: and albeit hee had in his armie nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure battells hee was discomfited and fled away with shame. d That is, Alexander the great. e For when his armie was most flourishing, hee ouercame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a disorde: or as some write, was poysoned by Callander. f For his twelue chiefe princes first diuided his kingdome among themselves. g After this his kingdome was diuided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Callander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemus Egypt. h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and crueltie in causing his posteritie to be murdered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another. i None of these foure shall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander. k That is, his posteritie having no part thereof.

5 And the kinge of the South shall be mighty, and one of his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeres they shall be ioyned together: for the Kings daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but she shall not retain the power of the arme, neither shall she continue, nor his arme: but she shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and hee that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the bud of her rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as hee list, and shall preuaile,

8 And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of filer and of gold, and he shall continue more yeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come vnto his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one shall come, and ouerflow, & passe through them shall he returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse.

11 And the King of the South shall be angrie, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the king of the North: for he shall set forth a great multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall bee proude, and their heart shall bee lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not fall preuaile.

13 For the king of the North shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certain yeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall many stand vp against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of thy people shall exalt themselves to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.

16 But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as he list, and none shall stand against him: and he shall stand in the pleasant land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 Again he shall set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shall he doe, & he shall giue him the daughter of women, to destroy her: but sonnes of Callicus shall make warre against Ptolemus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus. y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine while the warres were preparing. z That is, Philopater when hee shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to invade Egypt. a For Antiochus had fixe thousand horsemen, and three score thousand footemen. b After the death of Ptolemus Philopater, who left Ptolemus Epiphanes his heire. c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip King of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with them. d For vnder Christ which falsly alleaged that place of Isa. 19. certaine of the Iewes taryed with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophetic: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the providence and counsell of God. e The Egyptians were not able to resist Stupas Antiochus captaine. f Hee sheweth that hee shall not onely afflicte the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof hee admeareth the multitude, that they may know that all these things come by Gods providence. g That was, the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolemus Epiphanes. h To wit, a beautifull woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter. i For hee regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

1 To wit, Ptolemus king of Egypt. m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall be more mightie: for hee should haue both Asia & Syria. n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemus Philadelphus shall be giuen in marriage to Antiochus the sonne, thinking by this alliance that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together. o That force and strength shall not continue: for some after Berenice and her young sonne after her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Callicus the sonne of Laodice: the lawfull wife of Antiochus but put away for this womans sake. p Neither Ptolemus nor Antiochus.

q Some reade, I seede, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice. r Some reade, she that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this marriage, were destroyed. s Meaning that Ptolemus Epiphanes since the death of his father Philadelphus should succede in the kingdome being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

t To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Callicus king of Syria.

u For this Ptolemus reigned fixe and fourtie yeres.

x Meaning Seleucus and Antiochus the Great, the sonne of Ptolemus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus. y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine while the warres were preparing. z That is, Philopater when hee shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to invade Egypt. a For Antiochus had fixe thousand horsemen, and three score thousand footemen. b After the death of Ptolemus Philopater, who left Ptolemus Epiphanes his heire. c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip King of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with them. d For vnder Christ which falsly alleaged that place of Isa. 19. certaine of the Iewes taryed with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophetic: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the providence and counsell of God. e The Egyptians were not able to resist Stupas Antiochus captaine. f Hee sheweth that hee shall not onely afflicte the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof hee admeareth the multitude, that they may know that all these things come by Gods providence. g That was, the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolemus Epiphanes. h To wit, a beautifull woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter. i For hee regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k. She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shall loose her hand, as her durtie requirith, and not seeke his destruction.

l. That is toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the Sea called Mediterra-neum: for the Iewes called all coun-treys yles which were diuided from them by sea.
m. For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romans, and put their ambassa-dours to shame in all places, Antilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n. By his wicked life, & obeying of foolish counsell.

o. For feare of the Romans hee shall flee to his holds.

g. For when at vander the pretence of powerie hee would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the countrey men flew him.

q. That is, Seleu-cus shall succede his father Antiochus.

r. Nor by forren enemies, or battell, but by treason.

f. Which was An-tiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleu-cus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell and fickering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vurped the kingdome without the consent of y<sup>e</sup> people.

c. Hee sheweth that great forreine powers shall come to helpe the yong sonne of Seleucus against his vnkle Antiochus: and yett shall bee ouerthrowen. u. Meaning Ptolemus Philometor Philopaters sonne, who was the chilles cousin germaine, and is here called the prince of the couenant, because he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct. x. For after the battell Philometor and his vnkle Antiochus made a league. y. For he came vpon him at vnwares, and when hee suspected his vnkle Antiochus nothing. z. Meaning, in Egypt. a. Hee will content himselfe with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chieftie.

b. He shall bee overcome with treason. c. Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him. d. Declaring that his souldiers should draff out and venture their liues to slay and to be slaine for the safeguard of their prince. e. The vnkle and the nephew shall take truce, and banquet together, yett in their hearts they shall imagine mischief one against the other. f. Signifying that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the prouidence of God, who ruleth the Kings by a secret bride, that they cannot doe what they list themselves. g. Which hee shall take of the Iewes in spoyleing Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is told them before to mooue them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods prouidence.

h. That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the Ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing hee obeyed although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage hee came against the people of God the second time. i. With the Iewes which shall forsake the couenant of the Lord: for fifth he was called against y<sup>e</sup> Iewes by Iason y<sup>e</sup> high Priest, & this second time by Menelaus, the shall not stand on his side, neither before him.

18 After this shall hee turne his face vnto the Iewes, & shall take many, but a prince shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon himselfe.

19 For he shall turne his face towards the forts of his owne land: but hee shall be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more found.

20 Then shall stand vp in his place in the glorie of the kingdome, one that shall raise taxes:
but after few dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand vp a vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by flatteries.

22 And the armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the couenant.

23 And after the league made with him, hee shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and ouercome with a small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: hee shall deuide among them the pray and the spoile, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his diuises against the strong holdes, euen for a time.

25 Also hee shall stirre vp his power, and his courage against the King of the South, with a great armie, and the King of the South shall bee stirred vp to battell with a very great and mightie armie: but he shall not stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie shall ouerflow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

27 And both these Kings hearts shall be to doe mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auaille: for yett the ende shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shall be against the holy couenant: so shall he doe and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed hee shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not bee as the first.

30 For the shippes of Chittim shall come against him: therefore hee shall be sorie and returne, and fret against the holy couenant: so shall hee doe, hee shall euen returne and haue intelligence with them that forsake thy holy couenant.

31 And armes shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuary of strength, and they shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable defoliation.

32 And such as wickedly breake the couenant, shall hee cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that doe know their God, shall preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yett they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoyle many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be hol-pen with a little helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto then faintly.

35 And some of them vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the king shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper, till the wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any God: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knewe not, shall he honour with golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: hee shall increase his glorie, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the ende of time shall the King of the South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlwinde with charets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and hee shall enter into the countreys, and shall ouerflow and passe through.

41 He shall enter also into the pleasant land, and many countreys shall be ouerflown: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom & Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hands also vpon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

ted the time: therefore wee must obey. f. Because the Angel the whole course of the perfection of the Iewes vnto the coming speake of the Monarchie of the Romanes which hee noteth by who were without all religion and contemned the true God. g. So long the tyrants shall prouaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but hee sheweth that it is but for a time. h. The Romanes shall obserue no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures yea, contemning them & pre-ferre themselves to their gods. i. Signifying that they should be without all hu-militie: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 13. 4.

y. That is, the God of power and riches. they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods and worship it. z. Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their citie with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that herebyall men should haue them in admiration for their power & riches. a. Although in their hearts they had no religion, yett they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, least they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gave any countrey they made others the rulers thereof, that the profit euer came to the Romanes. b. That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be overcome. c. The Angel forewarneth the Iewes that when they should see the Romanes invade them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, forasmuch as hee warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still perseuereth them.

k. A prediction of the wicked Iewes shall hold with Antiochus.

l. So called because the power of God was waking diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympi-us, and so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God.

m. Meaning such as bare the name of Iesus, but in deed were nothing lesse for they sought their soles and betrayed their brethren for gaine.

n. They that re-maine constant among the people shall teach others
by their example, and edifie many in the true religion.

o. Wee eue behorred y<sup>e</sup> godly to vnder the crose, as he did in the time of the Moabites shall be eues of this small number many hypocrites.

r. To wit, of them that feare God and will lose their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also that the Church must continually be tryed and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appoint. The Romanes shall obserue no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures yea, contemning them & preferre themselves to their gods.

u. Signifying that they should be without all humilitie: for the loue of women is taken for ship it.

w. Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their citie with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that herebyall men should haue them in admiration for their power & riches.

x. Although in their hearts they had no religion, yett they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, least they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches:
and when they gave any countrey they made others the rulers thereof, that the profit euer came to the Romanes.

And hearing that Cassius was slain, and Antonius discomfited.

For Augustus overcame the Parthians, and recovered that which Antonius had lost.

The Romans after this reigned quietly throughout all countreys, and from sea to sea, and in Indea;

The Angel here saith two things:
first that the Church shall be great although it be troubled as the Ark when God will to bring down the flood, whom he here calleth
Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.

Meaning all that are in the general resurrection, which shall be hereinafter, because the faithful should have respect to their life in the death there shall be no sure comfort.

44 But the tidings out of the East & the North shall trouble him: therefore he shall goe forth with great wrath to destroy & roote out many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace betwene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

After this reigned quietly throughout all countreys, and from sea to sea, and in Indea;

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliverance of the Church by Christ.

And at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one that shall be found written in the booke.

2 And many of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, and some to shame and perpetual contempt.

3 And they that be wise, shall shine, as the brightness of the firmament: and they that haue many to righteousnesse, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the words, and seale the booke till the end of the time: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.

5 Then I Daniel looked, and beholde, there were four.

Who haue kept the true feare of God, and next all be the ministers of Gods word, and next all be the true knowledge of God.
Though the most part despise this propheticall revelation, yet keepe thou it sure and esteeme it a treasure.

Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things: and then many shall run to and fro to fetch the knowledge of these mysteries which things they obtaine nowe by the light of the Gospel.

stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the river, and the other on that side of the brinke of the river.

6 And one said vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the river,
When shall be the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen which was vpon the waters of the river, when he held vp his right hand, & his left hand vnto heauen, and swore by him that liueth for euer, that a shaltarie for a time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 The I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: he said unto me, O my Lord, what shall be the end of these things?

9 And he said, Go thy way Daniel: for thy words are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white, & tried:
but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the daily sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there shall be a thousand, two hundred and ninety daies.

12 Blessed is he that waiteth & commeth to the thousand, three hundredth & three & thirty daies.

13 But goe thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the daies.

his Church.

ly should depart this

HOSEA.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked & subtil counsel of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, & in stead of his true seruice commanded by his word, worshipped him according to their own fantasies & traditions of men, giuing themselves to most vile idolatry & superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse & worse, and still abused Gods benefites. Therefore now when their prosperity was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea & Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah & Micah to them of Iudah) to condemn them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselves to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adul-terie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seventy yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings only, nor yet flatter themselves by the sweetnes of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall parts of the Law, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part hee directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, hee vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be goodly, or else by threatnings of his iudgements to fear them from vice: and at best that the whole Law containe these two points, yet the Prophets moreover note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the manner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 3 The calling of the Gentiles. 4 Christ is the head of all people.

He word of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, & in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Go, take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of for-nications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

The Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or as it was commanded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagoge, and of the people her children.

3 So he went, and tooke Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name Izreel: for yet a little, and I will visit the blood of Izreel vpon the house of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that day will I also breake the bow of Israel in the valley of Izreel.

because Israel did preiuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called israelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe cite of the ten tribes vnder Ahab where Iehu shed so much blood. 3. King. 10.
8. f I will be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glorie of God, as the end declared: for he built vp that idolatrie which he had destroyed. g When the measure of their iniquitie is full and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force.

they were all corrupt like rotten figs.

lites of the which name they boasted

g She

h That is, not obtaining mercy: whereby he signifies that Gods favour was departed from them.

i For the Israelites were punished after that they were taken captives by the Assyrians.

k For after their captivity he restored them miraculously by means of Cyrus king of Persia.

l That is, not my people. m Because they thought that God could not have his true in his promise except he had preferred them, he declared that though they were defiled, yet the true Israelites, which are the fruit of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Jews, and the Gentiles. n To wit, after the captivity of Babylon when the Jews were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be the head both of the Jews and Gentiles. o The calamitie and destruction of Israel shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

a Seeing I have pardoned you delinquency, it remains that you encourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I will have mercy. b God sheweth that the fault was not in him, but in their Synagogue, & their idolatries, that he forsakes them, Isa. 50. 1. c Meaning, that their idolatry was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16. 25. d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparel and dowrie & certain figures of his favour, but if they still continued, he would utterly destroy them. e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16. 4. f That is, buffards and begones in adulterie. g Meaning the idols which they served & by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance. h I will punish thee that then thou maist try whether these idols can help thee, and bring thee into such felicitie, that thou shalt have no need to play the wanton. i This he speaketh of the faithfull, which are truly converted, and also sheweth the use and profit of Gods rods. k Thus declaring that idolaters defiled God of his honour, when they attribute his benefits to their idols. l Signifying, that God will take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doth abuse them. m That is, all her service, ceremonies and inventions whereby she worshipped her idols.

5 She conceived yet againe, & bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitié vpon the house of Israel, but I will utterly take them away.

6 Yet I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and wil saue them by the Lord their God, and wil not saue them by bowe, nor by sworde, nor by battel, by horses, nor by horsemen.

7 Now when shee had waigned Lo-ruhamah, she conceived, and bare a sonne.

8 Then said God, Cal his name! Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people, therefore wil I not be yours.

9 Yet the number of the children of Israel shall bee as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor told: and in the place where it was sayd vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be sayd vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.

10 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint themselves one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the day of Izrael.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint themselves one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the day of Izrael.

CHAP. II.

1 The prophet called in repentance, & rebuketh their idolatry and sheweth them except they repent.

2 Say vnto your brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,

3 Plead with your mother: plead with her, for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband, but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, & her adulteries: from between her breasts,

4 Left I strip her naked, and fetter as in the day that she was borne, and make her as a wilderness, and leaue her like a drie land, and slay her for thirst.

5 And I will haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the children of fornications.

6 For their mother hath played the harlot: she that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my louers that giue mee my bread and my water, my wooll, and my flaxe, none oyle and my drinke.

7 Therefore beholde, I will stoppe her way with thornes, and make an hedge, that shee shall not find her path.

8 Though she follow after her louers, yet shall she not come at them: though she seeke them, yet shall she not find them: then shall shee say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

9 Now shee did not know that I gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

10 Therefore will I returne, and take away my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent, to ouer her shame.

11 And now will I discouer her lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

12 I will punish thee that then thou maist try whether these idols can help thee, and bring thee into such felicitie, that thou shalt have no need to play the wanton. i This he speaketh of the faithfull, which are truly converted, and also sheweth the use and profit of Gods rods. k Thus declaring that idolaters defiled God of his honour, when they attribute his benefits to their idols. l Signifying, that God will take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doth abuse them. m That is, all her service, ceremonies and inventions whereby she worshipped her idols.

1 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her new moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solenne feasts.

2 And I will destroy her vines and her fig-trees, whereof shee hath said, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them.

3 And I will visit vpon her the daies of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and she decked her self with her earerings & her jewells, and she followed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord.

4 Therefore behold, I will allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her.

5 And I will giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and she shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

6 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me Ishi, and shalt call me no more Baali.

7 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall bee no more remembered by their names.

8 And in that day wil I make a couenant for them with the wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will break the bow, and the sword and the battel out of the earth: and wil make them to sleepe safely.

9 And I will marry thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marrie thee vnto me in righteousness, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compassion.

10 I will euen marrie thee vnto me in faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord.

11 And in that day I wil heare, saith the Lord, I wil euen heare the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, 12 And the earth shall heare the come, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Izrael.

13 And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

14 hee will so blesse them that all creatures shall f nour them: that neuer shall bee broken. 2 Then shall the heauen desire which shall bring to orth for the use of man. Rom. 9.25. 1 pet. 2. 10.

CHAP. III.

1 The leues shall bee cast off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterward they shall returne to the Lord.

Then said the Lord to me, Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the leue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and loued the wine bottels.

2 So I bought her to mee for fifteen pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barley and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be to vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shall remaine and payed a small portion for her, lest shee perceiving the greatness of my love should haue abused mee and not bene vnder duetie: for fifteen pieces of siluer were but halfe the price of a slave, Exod. 21. 32. d I will trie thee a long time as in the wilderness whether thou wilt be mine or no. e Meaning, not only all the time of their captivity, but also vnto Christ.

n I will punish her for her idolatrie. o By destroying her harvests trim these vines to plant others, he declareth how the idolaters first a great part of their religion in decking themselves on their holidayes. p By my bowels in offering her grace & mercie, even in that place where she shall thinke her selfe dedicated to all helpe and comfort. q Which was a plentiful valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderness, so Isai. 44. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from sin and an entrance into life. r She shall then praise God as she did when she was delivered out of Egypt. s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyed to thee by an inuoluble couenant. t That is, my master: which name was applied to their idols. u No idolatrie shall once come into their mouth, but they shall from me truly according to my word. x Meaning, that with a constant raine for the earth.

Herein the Prophet representeth the perion of God, which loved his Church before hee called her, and did not withdraw the flame wherewith hee burnt her to himselfe to idols. b That is, gave themselves wholly to pleasures, and could not reuerge, as they that are given to drunkenness. c Yet I loved her.

many many dayes without a king & without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert and seeke the Lord their God, and shall feare the Lord and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

which was promised vnto David to be eternall, Psal. 72. 38.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people and priests of Israel.

Hear the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercie, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein shall be cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowles of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shall be taken away.

4 Yet let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were increased, so they finned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 They eate vp the finnes of my people, and lift vp their minds in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall be like people like a priest: for I will visit their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deedes.

10 For they shall eat, & not haue enough: they shall commit adulterie, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine take away their heart.

12 My people aske counsell at their stocks, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the tops of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hills vnder the oaks, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall bee harlots, and your spoues shall be whores.

14 I will not visit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spoues, when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 I will not visit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spoues, when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Indah sinne: come not yee vnto Gilgal, neither goe yee vp to Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord lieth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnuely heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, Bring yee.

19 The winde hath bound them vp in her wings, and they shall be ashamed of their sacrifices.

20 That is, the house of God, Beth auen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped. God will so disperse them, that they shall not remaine in any certaine place. They are so impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command me to bring them vnto them. To carie them haddely away.

CHAP. V.

Against the Priests and Rulers of Israel. 33 The helpe of man is in vaine.

O yee Priests, heare this, and hearken yee, O house of Israel, and giue yee eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because you haue bene a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They wil not giue their minds to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the mids of them, & they haue not knowne the Lord.

5 And the pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes, to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for hee hath withdrawn himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children: now shall a moueth deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blowe yee the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shauime in Ramah: criue out at Beth-auen, after thee, O Beniamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of re-buke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to know the truth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that remoued the bond: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the commandement.

12 Therefore wil I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sicknesse, and Indah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto Ashtar, and sent vnto king Tarib: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will bee vnto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lions whelp, to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoyle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke mee: in their affliction, they will seeke me diligently.

and did not rather follow God. In stead of seeking for remedie a Gods hand. Who was king of the Assyrians.

CHAP.

God complaineth that Iudah is left desolate, and wil letch them to learne by their example to returne in time. For albeith the Lord had honoured this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, he would not that his people should returne thither.

He calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth auen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped. God will so disperse them, that they shall not remaine in any certaine place. They are so impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command me to bring them vnto them. To carie them haddely away.

The Priests and Princes caught the poore people in their snares as the fowles did the birds, in these two high mountaines, notwithstanding they seemed to be given altogether to holines, and to sacrifices, which here hee calleth slaughter in contempt.

Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets, they boasted themselves not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.

Meaning their contemning of all admonitions. That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.

Their destruction is not farre off. That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place till they were destroyed.

By the success they shall knowe that I haue surely determined this. They haue turned upside downe all political orders, and all manner of religion.

To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement,

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 2 The wickednesse of the Propher.

Come, and let vs <sup>a</sup> returne to the Lord: for he hath spoyled, and hee will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will bind vs vp.

<sup>2</sup> After two dayes will <sup>b</sup> he reuiue vs, and in the third day will he raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his fight.

<sup>3</sup> Then shal we haue knowledge, & endeavour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, & he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

<sup>b</sup> Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.
<sup>c</sup> You seeme to haue a certaine holinesse and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden, and as a morning cloud.
<sup>d</sup> I haue still laboured by my prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meat to feed them, but a sword to slay them.
<sup>e</sup> My doctrine which I taught them, was most euident.
<sup>f</sup> He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the love of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.
<sup>h</sup> Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, and which should haue bene best instructed in my word.
<sup>i</sup> That is, doth imitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken graffe of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 2 Of their punishments.

Vhen I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt faulily: and <sup>a</sup> the thiefe commeth in, and the robber spoylth without.

<sup>7</sup> They are al hote as an ouen, and haue deuoured their iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

<sup>a</sup> Meaning, that there was no one kinde of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open.
<sup>b</sup> They esteeme their wicked king Ierobeam shone God, and seeke but now to flatter and please him.
<sup>c</sup> He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leauened and raised.
<sup>f</sup> That is, he counterfeited the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other, that is, neither thorow hote, nor thorow colde, but partly a Iew, and partly a Gentile.

he knoweth it not: yea, <sup>g</sup> gray haire is here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

<sup>10</sup> And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

<sup>11</sup> Ephraim also is like a dowe deceived, without <sup>h</sup> heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Ashur.

<sup>12</sup> But when they shall go, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastise them as their Congregation hath heard.

and passe not what they speake against mee and my seruants, Psalm 73.9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Jffrael, because of their idolatrie.

Set the trumpet to thy <sup>a</sup> mouth: he shall come as an eagle against the House of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, & trespassed against my Law.

<sup>4</sup> They haue set vp a <sup>c</sup> king, but not by me: they haue made princes, & I knew it not: of their silver and their gold haue they made them idols: therefore shall they be destroyed.

<sup>6</sup> For it came euen from Israel: the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shalbe broken in pieces.

<sup>8</sup> Israel is deuoured, now shal they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein is no pleasure.

the Lord, but hee accepteth no seruice, which hee himselfe hath not appointed.

<sup>h</sup> That is, vnto all iudgements, they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleave onely to God, or to take the helpe of man.
<sup>i</sup> According to my curtesie made to the whole Congregation of Israel.
<sup>k</sup> That is, in some times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.
<sup>l</sup> When they were in affliction, and cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe.

<sup>a</sup> God encourage the Prophet to signifye the speedy coming of the enimie against Israel, which was once the people of God.
<sup>g</sup> They were asse, but run to the fire to secke louers.
<sup>h</sup> That is, I will tribute which the king and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meaneth the Law which to bring them to repentance.
<sup>i</sup> Thus the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inuention.
<sup>j</sup> Saying that they offer it to me, but they offer it to me not appointed.

14 For Ifrael hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Ifrael.

Reiocye not, O Ifrael for ioi<sup>a</sup> as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued<sup>b</sup> a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 The floore, and the wine presse shall not feede them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer<sup>d</sup> wine to the Lorde, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof shall be polluted: for their bread<sup>e</sup> for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will ye do<sup>f</sup> then in the solemne day and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from g destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their filuer, and the thorne shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the daies of recompence are come: Ifrael shall knowe it: the Prophet is a foole: the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim<sup>i</sup> should be with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hated in the house of his God.

9 They<sup>k</sup> are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes.

10 I found Ifrael like<sup>l</sup> grapes in the wilderness: I sawe your fathers as the first ripe in the figgetree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselves vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth<sup>m</sup> and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will deprive them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I saw, is as a tree<sup>n</sup> in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murderere.

14 O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a barren wombe and drie breasts.

15 All their wickednesse is in q Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednes of their inventions, I will cast them out of mine Houfe: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vpe they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

CHAP. X.

Against Ifrael and his idoles. 14 His destruction for the same.

Israil is an<sup>a</sup> emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the<sup>b</sup> goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is<sup>c</sup> diuided: now shall they be found faulcie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, We haue no<sup>d</sup> King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King doe to vs?

4 They haue spoken words, swearing falsly in making<sup>e</sup> a couenant: thus<sup>f</sup> iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall g feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the<sup>h</sup> Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glorie thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall bee also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto king Iareb: Ephraim shall receive shame, and Ifrael shall bee ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the some vpon the water.

8 The high places also of<sup>i</sup> Auen shall be destroyed, euen the sinne of Ifrael: the thorne and the thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, Couer vs, and to the hilles, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Ifrael, thou hast<sup>k</sup> sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they<sup>l</sup> stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not<sup>m</sup> touch them.

10 It is my desire<sup>n</sup> that I should chastice them, and the people shall bee gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two<sup>o</sup> furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delight in<sup>p</sup> threshing: but I will passe by her q faire neck: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plow, and Iacob shall breake his clods.

12 Sow to your selues in righteousness: reape after the measure of mercie: breake vp your fallow ground: for it is a time to seeke the Lord, til hee come and raine righteousness vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednesse: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men,

14 Therefore shall a tumult rise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as<sup>r</sup> Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day your malicious wickednesse: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefit of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

When Israel was a childe, then I loved him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cordes of a man, even with bandes of loue, and I was to them, as he that takeh off the yoke from their iawes, and I layed the meate vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Asshur shall be his King, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though they called them to the most hie, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as Adamah? how shall I fer thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me: my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not enter into the citie.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: he shall roare like a lion: when he shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 They shall feare as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a dove out of the land of Asshur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

number who shall walke after the Lord. 1 The Egyptians and the Assyrians shall be asid when the Lord maintaineth his people. 1 Gouernment

CHAP. XII.

Hee admonisheth by Jacobs example to trust in God, and not in man.

Ephraim is fed with the wind, and followeth after the East winde: he increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Asshur, and oyle is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with Iudah, and will visite Iakob, according to his wayes: according to his workes, will he recompense him.

3 Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength hee had power with God.

4 And had power over the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and prayed vnto him: he found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

1 God found Iakob as he lay sleeping in Beth-el, Gen. 28. 10. and so spake with him there: that the fruit of that speech appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

5 Yea the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 He is Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.

8 And Ephraim saide, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found mee out riches in all my labours: they shal find none iniquitie in me, they were wickednesse.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet wil I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in the dayes of the solemne feast.

10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I maue multiplied visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets.

11 Is there iniquity in Gilead? Surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 Iakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Iakob serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.

13 And by a Prophet the Lord brought Irael out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reserued.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with high places: therefore shall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord reward him.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 and cause of their destruction.

When Ephraim spake, there was a trembling: he exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, and is dead.

2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftsmen:
they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a man, Let them kisse the calves.

3 Therefore they shall bee as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the smoake that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but mee:
for there is no Sauour beside me.

5 I did know thee in the wildernesse, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will be vnto them as a very lion, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur.

8 I will meet them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lion:
the wilde beast shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 I am: where is thy king that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy iudges, of whome thou saidest, Give me a king and princes?

tooke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is bound vp: his sinne is hid.

13 The forrowes of a traouiling woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwife sonne, els would he not stand still at the time, even at the breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O death, I will be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though hee grew vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, even the winde of the Lord shall come vp from the wilderness, and dry vp his veine, and his fountaine shall bee dried vp: he shall spoile the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth praise and thanks.

Samaria shalbe desolate: for shee hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shall bee dashed in pieces, and their women with child shall be ript.

2 O Israel, a returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

Take vnto you words, & turne to the Lord: and say vnto him, Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so will we render the calues of our lips.

4 Asbur shall not saue vs, neither will wee ride vpon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

5 I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will be as the dewe vnto Israel: hee shall grow as the lillie and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwell vnder his shadow, shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idols? I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruit found.

c Declaring, that this is the true sacrifice, that the fowles can offer, even thanks and praise, Heb. x. 13. d We will leaue off all vaine confidence and pride. e He declarerh how ready God is to receiue them that doe repent. f Whose ioye themselues to his people, shalbe blessed. g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare his, when they repent, and to offer himselfe, as a propitiacion, & safeguard vnto them, as a most sufficient fruit and profe. h Signifying, that the true wisdom & knowledge consisteth in this, even to rest vpon God.

IOEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly he threatneth greater plagues, because they grew deeply to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly hee exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must bee earnest, and proceede from the heart, because they had grievously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his covenant that he made with their fathers, but wil send his Christ who shal gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and liberty, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophete against the Iewes. 2 Hee exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting for the iudgement that was at hand.

He word of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Bethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O Elders, and hearken yee all inhabitants of the land, whether such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grasshopper eaten, and the residue of the grasshopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake ye drunkards, & weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, a nation commeth vpon my land, mighty, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and hee hath the iawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pillerth off the barks of my figtree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Monne like a virgin girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth.

9 The meate offering, and the drinke offering is cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: g the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husbandmen: howle. O ye vine dressers for the wheate and for the barley, because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figtree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palme tree, and the apple tree, even all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 Girdle your selues and lament, ye Priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, yee ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assemblie: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lorde your God, and crie vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seed is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne! the herds of cattel pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

Blowe the trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A day of darknesse, and of blacknesse, a day of cloudes, and of obscurity, as the morning spread upon the mountaines, so is there a great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it, unto the yeeres of many generations.

3 A fire deuoureth before him; and behinde him a flame burneth up: the land is as the garden of Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne.

5 Like the noise of chariots in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blacknesse.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe up to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths.

8 Neither shall one thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sword, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall run to and fro in the citie: they shall run vpon the wall: they shall climbe up vpon the houses, and enter in at the windowes like the thiefe.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the sunne & the moone shall be darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

11 And the Lord shall utter his voice before his host: for his host is very great: for he is strong that doeth his word: * for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also now the Lord saith, Turne you vnto mee with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, 13 And rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for hee is gracious and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repenteth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth if hee will returne and repent and leaue a blessing behind him, euem a meat offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation: gather the elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegrome goe forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Priests, the ministers of the Lord weepe betwene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare the people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproche that the heathen should rule ouer them. * Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord bee ielous ouer his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answer and say vnto his people, Behold, I will send you come and wine, and oyle, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen, 20 But I will remoone farre off from you the Northerne armie, & I will driue you into a land, barren & defolate with his face toward the East sea, and his ende to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come up, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himselfe to do this.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness are greene: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figge tree and the vine doe giue their force.

23 Beglad then, yee children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God, for hee hath giuen you the raine of righteousness, * and hee will cause to come downe for you the raine, euem the first raine, and the latter raine in the first month.

24 And the barnes shall be full of wheate, and the presses shall abound with wine and oyle.

25 And I will render you the yeeres that the grasshopper hath eaten, the canker worrne and the caterpillar and the palmer worrne, my great host which I sent among you.

26 So you shall eate and be satisfied and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt maruellously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Ye shall also know that I am in the mids of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterward will I powre out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes & your daughters shall prophesie: your olde men shall dreame & dreames, and your yong men shall see visions.

29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maides in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.

30 And I will shew wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

For behold, in those dayes and in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem,

2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them downe into the valley of Iehoshaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they haue cast lottes for my people,

4 Yea, and what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon and all the coasts of Palestina? will yee render me a recompence? and if yee recompence me, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompence vpon your head:

5 For yee haue taken my siluer and my gold, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

6 The children also of Iudah & the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

7 Beholde, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head,

8 And I wil sel your sonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they shall sell them to the Sabaeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let all the men of warre drawe neere and come vp.

10 Breake your plowshares into swords, and your sitches into speares: let the weake say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all ye heathen & gather your selues together round about: there shall the Lord cast downe thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen be weakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your h fishes, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the winepresses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne and moone shall be darkened, and the starres shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voice from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then shall Ierusalem bee holy, and there shall no strangers goe thorow her any more.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines drop downe new wine, and the hilles shall flowe with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall runne with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt shall be waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanse their blood, that I haue not clenfed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

h Thus he shal encourage f enemies wht the wickednesse is full ripe to destroy one another, which he calleteth the valley of Gods iudgements, i God shal with his againt al troubles that when he destroyeth his enemies, his children shal be deliuered, k The strangers shall no more destroy his Church: which if they doe it is the people, which by their sinnes make the breach for the enemy. l He promise. h to his Church abundance of graces, trade Ezek. 47. 1. which should water & comfort the most barren places, Amos 9. 13. m The malicious enemies shall haue no part of this grace. n He had suffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthinesse, but now he promiseth to cleanse them and to make them pure vnto him.

AMOS.

THE ARGUMENT.

Among many other Prophets, that God raised up to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednes and idolatry, hee stirred up Amos, who was an herdman or shepheard of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and constancie to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by unfained repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfect deliuerance and saluation.

5 And offer a thanksgiuing f of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offerings: for this g liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you h cleannes of teeth in all your cities, & scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue yee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three i moneths to the haruest, & I caused it to raine vpon one cite, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another city: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandred vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were k not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildewe: your great gardens & your vineyards, and your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue yee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the manner of l Egypt: your young men haue I slaine with the sword, & haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stinke of your tents to come vpon you into your nostrils: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

11 I haue ouerthrowe you, as God ouerthrew Sodom & Gomorah: & yee were as a m firebrand plucked out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore, thus wil I do vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to n meete thy God, O Israel.

13 For loe, hee that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darknesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes u his Name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

Hearre ye this word, which I lift vp vpon you, Heuen a lamentation of the house of Israel.

2 The a virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: she is left vpon her laude, and there is none to raise her yp.

3 For thus saith y Lord God, The city which went out by a thousand, shal leaue b an hundredth: and that which went forth by an hundredth, shal leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lorde vnto the house of Israel, Secke ye me, and ye shal liue.

5 But seeke not to Beth-el, nor enter into c Gilgal, & go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall goe into captiuitie, & Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Secke the Lord, and yee shal liue, leaft he breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, & there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turne d iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteounesse in the earth.

8 Hee e maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and hee turneth the shadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord u his Name.

9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortress.

10 They haue hated him, f that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading u vpon the poore, and g ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwel in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mightie finnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewardes, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore h the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Secke good & not euill, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shall be with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lord God of hosts wil be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hosts, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shalbe in all streets: and they shal lay in all the hie ways, Alas, alas: & they shal call the i husbandman to lamentation, & such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines shalbe lamentation: for I will passe through thee, saith the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you, that k desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darknesse and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, & a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord bee darknes, and not light? euen darknes and no light in it?

21 I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solemne assemblies.

22 Though ye offer me burnt offerings & meat offerings, l I will not accept them: neither wil I regard the peace offerings of your fat beastes.

23 Take thou away from mee the multitude of thy songes (for I will not heare the melodie of thy viols.)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as m waters, and righteounesse as a mightie riuer.

25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel?

b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be found.

c In these places they worshipped new idoles, which aforetime serued for the true honor of God: therefore he saith that these shal not save them. d In steade of iudgement and equitie they execute crueltie and oppression. e He describeth the power of God, Job 9. 9.

f They hate the Prophet, which reprooue them in the open assemblies. g Ye take both his money & also his fowle wherewith he should liue.

h God will so plague them that they shal not suffice the godly once to open their mouths to admonish them of their faultes.

i So that all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plague. k Thus he speaketh because the wicked and hypocrites sayd they were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Iere 30. 7. ioe. 2. 2. 12. zeph. 1. 15.

l Because ye haue corrupt my true seruice & remaine obstinate in your vices, I sa. 1. 11. m Do your dutie to God & to your neighbour, & so ye shal feele his grace plentifully: if you shew your abundant afflictions according to Gods word, <sup>a</sup> That idols which you esteemed as your king, and cared about, as you did Chinn, in the which images you thought that there was a certaine diuinitie.

<sup>b</sup> These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites, and seeing before time they did nothing auail them that were there borne, why should you looke that they should save you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions? <sup>c</sup> If God haue destroyed these excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straitnesse, then yours yet a, thinke you to bee better or to escape?

<sup>d</sup> Ye that continue still in your wickednesse & thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand but giue your selues to all idleness, wantonnesse and riot.

<sup>e</sup> As he caused diuers kindes of instruments to be made to serue Gods glorie, so these did contend to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lusts.

26 But you haue borne <sup>a</sup> Siccuth your King, and Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues.

27 Therefore will I cause you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lorde, whose Name is the God of hostes.

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: bee <sup>c</sup> they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border.

3 Ye that put farre away the <sup>d</sup> euill day, and approach to the seate of iniquitie?

4 They lie vpon beddes of yuorie, and stretch themselves vpon their beddes, & eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall.

5 They sing to the founde of the viole: they inuent to themselves instruments of musick like <sup>e</sup> Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and anoynt themselves with the chiefe ointments, but no man is <sup>f</sup> sorie for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and <sup>g</sup> the sorow of them that stretched themselves, is at hand.

8 <sup>h</sup> The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre: the excellencie of Iakob, and hate his pallaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vncle <sup>i</sup> shall take him vp & burne him to cary out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by the <sup>l</sup> sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, <sup>m</sup> Hold thy tongue: for wee may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the litle house with clefts.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the grasse of the land, then I sayd, O Lorde God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iakob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord <sup>c</sup> repented for this. It shall not be, sayth the Lord.

4 <sup>d</sup> Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, & beholde, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, <sup>d</sup> and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. Thus also shall not be, sayth the Lord God.

7 <sup>e</sup> Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stoode vpon a wall made by line <sup>e</sup> with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord sayd vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Beholde, I will set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the hie places of Ishak shall bee defolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I wil rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 <sup>f</sup> Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no <sup>i</sup> Prophet, neither was I a prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wilde figs.

15 And the Lord tooke mee as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Goe, prophetic vnto my people Israel.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, <sup>i</sup> Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be deuoid by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captiuitie forth of his land.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Jidumeans which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundry kindes of cruelty, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and misery, God raised up his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

a God hath certainly reuiled to his Prophet: a that he will raise vp the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is now published, Iere. 49. 14.

b Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.

c Which despise all others in respect of thy selfe, & yet sit but an handfull in comparison of others, and art that vp among the hills as separate fro the rest of the world.

d God will so destroy them that he will leaue none, though the ones when they come, take but till they haue ynough, and they that ga her grapes, euer leaue some behind them, Iere. 49. 9.

e They in whom thou diddest trust for to haue helpe and friendship of them, shalbe thine enemies and destroy thee.

f That is, thy familiar friends and guests haue by secret practices destroyed thee.

g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharply punished to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom he now comforteth by punishing their enemies.

h When Nebuchad nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioyndst with him, and hadst part of the spoile, and so didst reioyce when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldst haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

I he vision of Obadiah: Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, We haue heard a rumor fro the Lord, and an ambassador is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Behold, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

3 The pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

5 Came theeues to thee or robbers by night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stolne, til they had ynough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue some grapes?

6 How are the things of Esau fought vp, and his treasures teached?

7 All the men of thy confederacie haue driuen thee to y borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, & preuailed against thee: they that ate thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because euery one of the mount of Esau shal be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy cruelty against thy brother Iacob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

11 When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day y the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldst not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a stranger, neither shouldst thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldst not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldst not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their destruction, neither shouldst thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layd hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldst thou haue stood in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldst thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day k of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as ye haue drunk vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shal drinke and swallow vp, and they shall be as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shalbe deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iacob shall possesse their possessions, 18 And the house of Iacob shalbe a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shalbe no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shal possesse the South side of the mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shal possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Benjamin shal haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the p Canaanites, shal possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shal possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they q that shall saue, shal come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shalbe the Lords.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Ionah had long prophesied in Israel and had little profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe, and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe cite of the Assyrians, because he had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mighty power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lorde for so many Prophets and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Iosh, and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 But Ionah rose vp to flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to Tapho: and he found a ship going to Tarshish: so he payed the fare therof, and went downe into it, that he might goe with them vnto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into he should nothing at all profit there, seeing he had done so for his owne people, Chap. 4. 2. e Which was the hauen, and port to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe. f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, d Whereby he declared his weaknesse, that would not promptly follow the Lords calling, but gave place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that all good among his people, God had called him, a After that he had preached a long time in Israel and so Ezekiel, after that for a time he had prophesied in Iuda, he had visions in Babylon, Ezek. 1. 1. b For seeing the great oblation of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe cite of the Assyrians. c For as authentic writeth, it contained in circuit about eight and forty mile, and had a thousand and five hundred towers, and at this time there were an hundred and twentie thousand children therein, Chap. 4. 1. 1.

the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cryed euery man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they sayde euery one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? What is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that hee fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall wee doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought, and was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you; for I know that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, Let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lorde, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vows.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the belly of the fish three dayes, and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

Then Ionah prayed vnto the Lorde his God

2 And sayde, I cried in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voice.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottome in the midst of the sea, and the floods compassed mee about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I sayde, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed mee round about, and the weeds were wrapt about mine head.

6 Considering the neglect of his vocation, and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the end faith gave the victory.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within mee, I remembered the Lorde: and my prayer came vnto thee into thine holy Temple.

8 They that wait vpon lying & vanities, forsake their owne mercie.

9 But I wil sacrifice vnto thee with the voice of thanksgiving, and I will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the king of Nineueh.

And the word of the Lord came vnto a Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, go vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose, and went to Nineueh, according to the worde of the Lord: now Nineueh was a great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and he cried, and said, Yet fortie dayes, and Nineueh shall be ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh beleueed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For worde came vnto the king of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed and said thorow Nineueh, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and cry mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their works that they turned from their euill wayes: and God repented of the euill that he had said that he would do vnto them, and he did it not.

of his owne conscience, he doubted whether God would shew them mercy, which did proceed of faith, which was the ministerie of his Prophet. i Reade Ierem. 18 8.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

Therefore it displeased a Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And hee prayed vnto the Lord, and sayd, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lorde, take, I beseech thee, my life from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.

blasphemed, as though hee sent his Prophets forth to denounce vaine.

d Thon hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish, and all the dangers, as it were raising me from death to life. e They that depend vpon any thing saue on God alone. f They refuse their owne felicitie, and that goodnesse which they should else receiue of God.

a This is a great declaration of Gods mercy, that hee remembereth him againe and tendereth him forth as his Prophet, which had before shewed fo great infirmities.

b Read Chap. 1. 3. c He went forward one day in the city, and preached, and so he continued till the city was converted.

d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

e Not that the dumb beasts had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be admonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hangeth ouer all creatures.

f He willed that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercy. g For partly by threatening of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of mercy. h That which God had planned.

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God, which hee preached, should be blasphemed. b Reade Chap. 1. 3.

c Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing lest Gods Name by this forgone, might be his iudgements in vaine.

4 Then

g As one that would have cast off his care and sollicitude, by seeking rest and quietness.

h As they had called on their idols, which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certainty but in their wiles, which they cannot sell to whom.

i Which declareth that the matter was in great suspense and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them, for the trial of the scales; and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

k This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certain feare to shed mans blood, whereas they know no manifest signe of wickednesse.

l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God, by whose they saw themselves so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare, and not of pure heart and affection neither according to Gods word.

m Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was enioyned him.

n Being now swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedie to escape, his faith brast out vnto the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliuer him.

o For hee was now in the fishes belly as in a grave or place of darkness.

p This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured between hope and despair, considering the neglect of his vocation, and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the end faith gave the victory.

r For hee was now in the fishes belly as in a grave or place of darkness.

s This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured between hope and despair, considering the neglect of his vocation, and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the end faith gave the victory.

d Wilt thou be judge when I doe things for my glory and when I doe not? e For he doubted
as yet whether God would shewe them mercy or no:
and therefore after fortie dayes he departed out of the citie looking what issue God would send, f Which was a further meanes, to couer him from the heat of the sun, as he remained in his booth.

4 Then said the Lord, Doeſt thou well to be angry?
5 So Ionah went out of the citie, and ſate on the Eaſt ſide of the citie, and there made him a booth, and ſate vnder it in the ſhadow e till hee might ſee what ſhould be done in the citie.
6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might bee a ſhadowe ouer his head, and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourd.
7 But God prepared a worme when the morning roſe the next day, and it ſmote the gourd, and it withered.
8 And when the ſunne did ariſe, God prepared alſo a ſeruent Eaſt winde: and the ſunne beat vp on the head of Ionah, that he fainted, and wi-ſhed in his heart to die, and ſaid, It is better for me to die then to liue.

9 And God ſaid vnto Ionah, Doeſt thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he ſaid, I do well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then ſaid the Lord, Thou haſt had pity on the gourd for the which thou haſt not laboured, neither madeſt it grow, which came vp in a night,
and periſhed in a night,

MICAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah ſerued in the worke of the Lord concerning Iudah and Ifrael at the leaſt thirty yeeres: at what time Iſaiah prophecied. He declareth the deſtruction, firſt of the one kingdome, and then of the other, becauſe of their manifold wickedneſſe, but chiefly for their idolatry. And to this end he noteth the wickedneſſe of the people, the cruelty of the princes and gouer-nours, and the permiſſion of the falſe prophets, & the delighting in them. Then he ſetteth forth the com-ming of Chriſt, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah which reſiſted Ahab and all his falſe prophets, as 1. King. 22.8. but another of the ſame name.

CHAP. I.

i The deſtruction of Iudah and Ifrael becauſe of their idolatrie.

He word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the <sup>a</sup> Ma-raſhite in the dayes of Io-tham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, which hee ſawe concerning Samaria, and Ieruſalem.

2 Heare, <sup>b</sup> all ye people:
hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lorde God be witneſſe againſt you, <sup>c</sup> euens the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come e downe, and tread vpon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines ſhall melt vnder him (ſo ſhall the valleys cleaue) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downeward.

5 For the wickedneſſe of Iaakob is all this, and for the finnes of the houſe of Iſrael: what is the wickedneſſe of Iaakob? Is not <sup>d</sup> Samaria? and which are the high e places of Iudah? Is not Ieruſalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cauſe the ſtones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will diſcouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof ſhall be broken, and all the f giftes thereof ſhall be burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I deſtroy: for ſhee gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they ſhall returne g to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lacheles as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, ſo are they vilely and ſpeedily ſpent.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ieruſalem.

10 Declare ye it not at <sup>h</sup> Gath, neither weepe ye: for the houſe of i Aphrah roule thy ſelfe in the duſt.

11 Thou that dwelleſt at <sup>k</sup> Shaphir, goe together naked with ſhame: ſhe that dwelleth at Zaa-

Beth-ezel: the enemy ſhall i receiue of you for his ſtanding.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for gate of Ieruſalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachiſh, binde the charet to the beaſts <sup>n</sup> of price: ſhe <sup>o</sup> is the beginning of the ſinne to the daughter of Zion: for the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael were found in thee.

14 Therefore ſhalt thou giue preſents to Moreſheth <sup>p</sup> Gath: the houſes of Achzib ſhalbe as a lie to the kings of Iſrael.

15 Yet will I bring an <sup>q</sup> heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Maſeſhah, he ſhall come vnto Adul-lam, <sup>r</sup> the glory of Iſrael.

16 Make thee bald: and ſhaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldneſſe as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

n To flee away: for Saneherib layde ſiege firſt to that citie, and remoued themſelues i Meaning, Ierusalem, where the Lords flocke was gathered.

k The four thinge of the kingdome, as it was vnder David and Solomon, which thing was accomplished to the church by the coming of Christ.

l In the same season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and temptations when they saw themselves neither to have king nor counsell. m He sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by the bignes and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance. n God gathereth his Church this victorie, so oft as hee ouercometh their enemies; but the accomplishment thereof shalbe at the last coming of Christ.

Mount Zion, from hence forth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O towre of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shal it come, euen the first dominion, and kingdome shal come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why dost thou cry out with lamentation? there no king in thee? is thy counsellor perished? for sorow hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou go forth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and shalt go into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lorde shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Nowe also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they know not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shal gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

13 Arise, and thresh, O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I wil consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

14 He sheweth his Church this victorie, so oft as hee ouercometh their enemies; but the accomplishment thereof shalbe at the last coming of Christ.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-leem.

Now assemble thy garifons, O daughter of garifons: he hath laid siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art little to be among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall he come forth vnto me, that shalbe the ruler in Israel, whose goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that she which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And he shall stand, & feed in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, & they shal dwell still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he shall be our peace when Asshur shal come into our land: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shal we raise against him seuen shepherds, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy Asshur with the sword, & the land of Nimrod with their sword: thus shall he deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee cometh into our land, and when he shall tread within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Iakob shalbe among many people, as a dew from the Lord, and as the shewres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, a He forewarneth them of the dangers that shal come before they enioy these comforts, shewing that forasmuch as Ierusalem was accustomed with her garifons to trouble others, the Lord would now cause other garifons to vex her, and that her rulers should be smitten on the face most contemptuously. b For the Lewes diuided their country that for every thousand there was a chiefe captaine: and became Beth-leem was not able to make a thousand, he collecteth it little, but yet God will raise vp his captaine & gouernour therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefite, as Mathe. 2. 6.

c He sheweth that the coming of Christ and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie. d He compareth the Lewes to women with child, who for a time should haue great sorowes, but at length they should haue a comfortable deliuerance, Ioh. 16. 21. e That is, Christs kingdome shall be stable and euerlasting, and his people, as well the Gentiles as the Lewes shall dwell in safetie. f This Messiah shalbe a sufficient safeguard for vs, and though the enemy invade vs for a time, yet shall God stirre vp many which shall be able to deliuer vs. g These whom God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians and Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time. h By these gouernours will God deliuer vs when the enemy cometh into our land. i This remnant or Church which God shall deliuer shall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doeth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man.

not hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iakob shalbe among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the Lion among the beastes of the forest, and as the Lions whelp among the flocks of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall be lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shalbe cut off.

10 And it shal come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut off thine horses out of the mids of thee, and I will destroy thy charrets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrow all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanter out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more fourthayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the mids of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I wil plucke vp thy groues out of the mids of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath & indignation vpon the heathen, which they haue not heard.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumbe creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being unkind. 6 What manner of sacrifices doe please God.

Hearken yee now what the Lord sayth, Arise thou, and contend before the mountaines, and let the hilles heare thy voice.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarell, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lorde hath a quarell against his people, and hee will plead with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieved thee? testifie against mee.

4 Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may know the righteousnesse of the Lord.

6 Wherewith shal I come before the Lord, and bowe my selfe before the high God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with caues of a yeere old?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my first borne for my transgression, euen the fruit of my body, for the sinne of my soule?

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lorde requireth of thee: surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercy, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voice crieth vnto the city, and the man of wisdom shal see thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

11 The Prophet in fewe wordes cilleth them to the obseruation to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to doe this. h Meaning, that when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his maiestie, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatening, but God that sendeth it.

k I will destroy all things which thou vntill thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatrie, and so will helpe thee. l It shalbe so terrible that the hilles hath not bene heard of.

a He taketh the high mountaines and hard rocks to witnesse against the obduracy of his people. b I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefites vpon thee. c That is, remember my benefites from the beginning how I deliuered you from Balams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab. d I brought you into the land promised. e That is, the truth of his promise and his manifold benefites toward you. f Thus the people by hypocritie shew how to please God, and are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their liues. g There is nothing so deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoid his anger: but they will neuer be brought to mortifie their owne affection, & to giue themselves willingly to serue God as hee commandeth.

h The second table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to doe this. h Meaning, that when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his maiestie, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatening, but God that sendeth it.

wickedest of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

WOe is me, for I am as a the Summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage:
there is no cluster to eat: my soule desired the first

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: b they all lie in waite for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euil of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudgeudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man hee speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is as a thorne, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge:
the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shall be their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counsellor: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lyeth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother, the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enimies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore s I will looke vnto the Lorde:

I will waite for God my Saviour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against me, O mine enemy:
though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in dark-nesse, the Lord shall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring mee forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.

10 Then see that is mine enemy, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said va-to mee, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her: now shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streetes.

11 This is the day that thy walles shall bee

13 Notwithstanding, the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of their inuentions.

14 Feede thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the 15 According to the dayes of thy coming

17 They shall lick the dust like a serpent:
they shall mooue out of their holes like wormes:
they shall be afraid of the Lord our God, and shall teare because of thee.

away iniquitie, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! Hee reteineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth

THE ARGVMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselves prompt and ready to receive the words of God at Jonahs preaching, and returned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselves to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vices, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Merodach-baladan king of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nazzar) enioyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth up his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation.
And as it seemeth, hee prophesied about the time of Hzekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write

HABAKKUK.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none ende. Therefore hee had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbornnes and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, hee comforteth them by this, that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shall bee at height: wherefore hee exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselves.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

He burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.

O Lord, how long shall I cry, & thou wilt not heare? euen cry out vnto thee for violence, and thou wilt not helpe.

Why doest thou shew me iniquitie, and cause me to behold sorow? for spoyling, and violence are before me: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.

Therefore the Law is dissolved, and iudgement doth neuer goe forth: for the wicked doeth compass about the righteous: therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth.

Behold among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and marueile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: & yee will not beleue it, though it be told you.

For loe, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the bredth of the land to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

They are terrible and feareful: their iudge-ment, & their dignitie shall proceed of themselves.

Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more ficere then the wolves in the evening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meat.

They come all to spoyle: before their faces shall be an Eastwinde, and they shall gather the captiuitie as the sand.

And they shall mocke the kings, and the princes shall be a scorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong hold: for they shall gather dust, and take it.

Then shall they take a courage, and transgresse and do wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

Art not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine holy One? we shall not die: O Lord, thou hast ordained them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not behold wickednesse: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked deuoureth the man, that is more righteous then he?

And makest men as the fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them?

So that the great deuoureth the small, and destroy all the world.

Zeph. 3.3.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net and not spare continually to slay the nations?

1 A vision. 5 Against pride, conceit, drunkenness, and idolatry.

I Will stand vpon my watch, and set mee vpon the towre, and will looke and see what he would say vnto me, and what I shall answer to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may run that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not faile.

4 Behold, hee that lifteth vp himselfe, his mind is not vpriight in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith.

5 Yea, indeed the proud man is as hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall hee not endure, because hee hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a taunting prouerb against him, and say, Hee that increaseth that which is not his? How long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoyلة thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, he that coueteth an euill couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou hast consulted shame to thine own house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the stone shall crye out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answer it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the Lord of hostes, that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall euen wearie themselves for very vanitye.

14 For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour to drinke: thou ioyneest thine hear, & makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame for glory: drinke thou also, and bee made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall bee turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shall be for thy glory.

17 For the crueltye of Lebanon shall couer thee: to shall the spoyles of the beastes, which made them afraid, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though hee that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumbe idoles.

19 Wo vnto him that sayeth to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: behold, it is layed ouer with gold and siluer, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

For they were but blockes or stones, made here. 20. 8. q If thou art, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

3 A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ignorances.

1 O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraid: O Lord, reuise thy worke in the mids of the people, in the middes of the yeeres make it known: in wrath remember mercie.

2 God commeth from Teman, and the holy One from mount Paran, Selah. His glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise.

3 And his brightnesse was as the light: hee had hornes comming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

4 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coles went forth before his feet.

5 Hee stood and measured the earth: hee beheld & dissolved the nations, and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hills did bow: his wayes are euerlasting.

6 For his iniquity I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

7 Was the Lord angrie against the rivers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride vpon thine horses? thy charrets brought saluation.

8 Thy bowe was manifestly reuealed, and the othes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah. thou diddest cleaue the earth with rivers.

9 The mountaines saw thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water passed by: the deepe made a noise, and lift vp his hand on high.

10 The sunne and moone stood still in their habitation: p at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

a Wherein thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt desire of the same cup with others in thy turne. b Because the Babylonians were cruell not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God which meant by Lebanon, & the beastes thereof, he sheweth that the like crueltie shall be executed against them. c He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could do nothing more, than to consider what

THE ARGVMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he denounceth the great iudgment of God, which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should be utterly destroyed, and they carried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithful he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistines, Moabites, Assyrians, and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so be exhorted the godly to patience: and to trust to find mercy by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide til God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatry.

He word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of Iosiah, the sonne of Amon king of Iudah.

- 2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.
- 3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruine shall be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.
- 4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the Priests.
- 5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by Malcham,
- 6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.
- 7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his gifts.
- 8 And it shall be in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visit the princes and the kings children, add al such as are clothed with strange apparell.
- 9 In the same day also will I visit all those that dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by cruelty and deceit.
- 10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noise, and cry from the fishgate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

- 11 Howle yee inhabitants of the lowe place: for the company of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off.
- 12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with lights, & visite the man that are frofen in their dreggs, and say in their hearts, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.
- 13 Therefore their goods shall be spoiled, and their houses waste: they shall also builde houses, but not inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.
- 14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and hasteth greatly, even the voyce of the day of the Lord: the strong man shall cry there bitterly.
- 15 That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darknesse, a day of cloudes and blacknesse.
- 16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against strong cities, and against the hie towres.
- 17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dounge.
- 18 Neither their siluer nor their gold shall be able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the whole land shall be deuoured by the fire of his ielousie: for hee shall make euen a speedie riddance of all them that dwel in the land.

4 For Azzah shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall driue out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall be rooted vp.

5 Woe vnto the inhabitants of the sea & coast: the nation of the Cherethims, the worde of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the land of the Philistines, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the sea coast shall be dwellings and cottages for shepherds and sheepfolds.

7 And that coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Iudah, to feede thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visit them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vbraided my people, and magnified themselves against their borders.

9 Therefore, as I liue, saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall bee as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, euen the breeding of nettles and salt pites, and a perpetuall desolation: the residue of my folke shall spoile them, and the remnant of my people shall possesse them.

10 This shal they haue for their pride, because they haue reproched, and magnified themselves against the Lord of hostes people.

11 The Lord will be terrible vnto them: for he wil consume all the gods of the earth, and euery man shal worship him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen.

12 Ye Morians also shalbe slaine by my sword with them.

13 And he wil stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Ashur, and will make Nineueh desolate, and waste like a wilderness.

14 And flockes shall lie in the middes of her, and all the beastes of the nations, and the pelican and the owle shall abide in the vpper posts of it: the voice of birds shall sing in the windows, and desolation shalbe vpon the postes, for the cedars are vncouered.

4 Against the gouernours of Ierusalem. 8 Of the calling of all the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the residue of Israel.

Woe to her that is filthie and polluted, to the robbing citie.

2 Shee heard not the voyce: she receiued not correction: she trusted not in the Lord: she drew not neere to her God.

3 Her princes within her are as roaring lions: her iudges are as wolues in the euening, which leaue not the bones till the morow.

4 Her prophets are light, and wicked persons: her priests haue polluted the Sanctuary: they haue wrested the Law.

5 The iust Lord is in the middes thereof: he will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doth hee bring his iudgement to light, he faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed.

6 I haue cut off the nations: their towers are desolate: I haue made their streetes waste, that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man, and without inhabitant.

6 I sayd, surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling should not be destroyed howsoeuer I visited them, but they rose early, and corrupted all their workes.

8 Therefore wait ye vpon me, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise vp to pray: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, euen all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be deuoured with the fire of my ielousie.

9 Surely then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lord, to serue him with one consent.

10 From beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, the daughter of my dispersed, praying vnto me, shal bring me an offering.

11 In that day shalbe thou not be ashamed for all thy works, wherein thou hast transgressed against mee: for then will I take away out of the middes of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proud of mine holy Mountaine.

12 Then will I leaue in the middes of thee an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord.

13 The remnant of Israel shal do none iniquitie, nor speake lies: neither shal a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth: for they shalbe fed, and lie downe, and none shall make them afraid.

14 Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Israel: be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem.

15 The Lorde hath taken away thy iudgements: he hath cast out thine enemy: the king of Israel, euen the Lord is in the middes of thee: thou shalt see no more euill.

16 In that day it shalbe said to Ierusalem, Feare thou not, O Zion, let not thine hands be faint.

18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the reproch for it.

19 Behold, at that time I will bruiſe all that afflict thee, and I will saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise and fame in all the lands of their shame.

THE ARGUMENT.

When the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie prophesied by Ieremiab, was expired, God raised up Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi, to comfort the Iewes, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declarerh that that plague of famine, which God sent then among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforterh them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, so farre as the Lord will finish the worke that hee hath begun, and send Christ, whom hee had promised, and by whom they should attaine to perfect ioy and glorie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. & An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the second yeere of king Darius, in the sixt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come that the Lords House should bee builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your d sieled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 Ye haue sown much, and bring in little: ye eat, but ye haue not enough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Go vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this House, and I will be fauourable in it, and I will be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to litle, and when ye brought it home, I did blow vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dew, and the earth stayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, & vpon the wine, & vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, with all the remnant of the people, heard the voice of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp I the spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a Prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lord of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

Here sheweth that the glorie of the second Temple shall exceede the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the sixt moneth, in the second yeere of king Darius.

2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that sawe this House in her first glorie, and how doe you see it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparision of it as nothing?

5 Yet now bee of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and bee of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you; saith the Lord of hostes;

6 According to the word that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, c Yet a litle while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the drie land:

8 And I will moue all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glorie, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The siluer & mine, and the gold & mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

10 The glorie of this last House shall be greater then the first, saith the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue peace, saith the Lord of hostes.

11 In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Aske now the Priests concerning the Law, and say, 13 If one beare holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch the bread or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered and said, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vnclane? And the which of it telle is good, cannot make another thing so: and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrarie hee that is vnclane and not pure in heart doth corrupt those things and make them detestable vnto God, which else are good and godly.

a For the people according to his 32. and Ezekiel 4. 1. had prophesied, though this Temple should haue become more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Priests mean the spirituall Temple, the Church of Christ.

b That is, go forward in building the Temple.

c He exhorted them to patience: though they see not as yet the Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ by whom all things should be renewed.

d Meaning, Christ whom all ought to looke for and desire: or by desire, he may signifie all precious things as riches, & such like.

e The store when his time cometh, he can make all the treasure of the world to serue his purpose: but the glorie of the second Temple doth not stand in materiall things: neither can be built.

f Meaning, all spirituall blessings, and that is vouchsafed by Christ Phil 4. 9.

g That is the flesh of the sacrifices whereby he signifieth that the thing which of it telle is good, cannot make another thing so: and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrarie hee that is vnclane and not pure in heart doth corrupt those things and make them detestable vnto God, which else are good and godly.

a Who was the sonne of Hysaias and the high king of the Persians, as some think.

b Because the building of the Temple began to cease, by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had not to be stirred up, and admonished of their duties, what shall we think of other generations, whose duties are either against God, or very cold in his cult?

c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred publicke and private profit to religion, being content with small beginnings.

d Shewing that they sought not to do their duties, but their owne pleasures: because Gods honour, a Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your pleasures to his religion, and because ye seeke not him full of all.

e Meaning that they should leave off their owne commodities, and go forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in perfecting forth his religion.

f That is, I will heare your prayes according to my promise, 2 Kings 21. 33.

g That is, my presence shall be with you.

h And in doing it to nothing, k This declareth that God was the author of the doctrine, and that he was but the minister, as Exodus 13. 1, 16. 7. 20. 2. 25. 5. 28.

i Which declareth that men are vnprofitable and dull to serue the Lord: neither can they do any thing at his bidding, because God restored their hearts and gave them new spirits, John 6. 44.

h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.
i That is before the building was begun.
k From the time they began to build the Temple e promise that God would bless them: and their was yet the fruit was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should have plenty.

Priests answered and said, It shall be vncleane.
15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, such the Lord: and so are all the works of their hands, and that which they offer here is vncleane.
16 And now, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this day, and afore, euen afore a stone was laide vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:
17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the wine presse, for to draw out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.
18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.
19 Consider, I pray you, in your minds, from this day, and afore, from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laide:

consider it in your minds.
20 Is the seed yet in the barn? as yet the vines, and the figge tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you.
21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,
22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I will shake the heauens and the earth, 23 And I will ouerthrow the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charers, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euerie one by the sword of his brother.
24 In that day, saith the Lord of hosts, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hosts.

i Herewith they to punish, and to shew the harvest time, & then they shall see Gods blessing. I will make a change and renew all things in Church, of whom Zerubbabel be e is a figure.
m Hereby he sheweth that there shall be no let or hinderance, when God will make this wonderful restitution of his Church. o Signifying that his dignity should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

Two moneths after that Haggai had begunne to prophesse, Zachariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore, hee putteth them in remembrance, for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue, from death and sinne by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednesse, and coldnesse to set forth Gods glorie, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, hee rebuketh them most sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he ouer mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes bee prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

C H A P. I.

2 He exhorteth the people to turne to the Lords, and to eschew the wickednesse of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

a Who was the sonne of Hysiaspis.
b This was not that Zachariah, whereof is mention, 2 Chron. 24. 20, but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah as he was, because he came of those progenitors, as of Isaias or Berechiah and Iddo.
c He speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements, that they should not provoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grievously punished.
d Let your fruits decaye that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his spirit, and mortified you: for else man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ierem. 31. 18. Iam. 1. 12. 2. 8. and 31. 6. and 44. 21. e Ierem. 3. 12. ezech. 8. 30. hof. 14. 2. ioe. 2. 12. f Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought still to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for eu. 2 Pet. 1. 19. g Seeing ye saw the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe not ye feare the threatnings contained in the same, and declared by my Prophets? h As men afflicted with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

In the eight moneth of the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zachariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying, 2 The Lorde hath bene displeased with your fathers.
3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord of hosts, Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hosts.
4 Bee not as your fathers, vnto whom the former Prophets haue cryed, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord of hosts, Turne yee nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith the Lord.
4 Your fathers, where are they? and do the Prophets liue for euer?
6 But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants the Prophets, take holde of your fathers? and yet they returned, and said, As the Lord of hosts hath determined to do vnto vs according to our owne wayes, and according to our works, so hath he dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which in the moneth Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zachariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,
8 I saw by night, and behold, a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrrhe trees, that were in a bottome, & behind him were there red horses speckled and white.
9 Then said I, O my Lorde, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, said vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.
10 And the man that stood among the myrrhe trees, answered and saide, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe through the world.
11 And they answered the Angell of the Lord that stood among the myrrhe trees, and said, We haue gone through the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.
12 Then the Angell of the Lorde answered and saide, O Lord of hosts, how long wilt thou bee vnmmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?
13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable wordes.
12 So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus sayth the Lord h Which cometh part of Ieremie and part of Ezechiel.

i This vision signifieth the restitution of the Church: but as yet it should not appear to mens eyes which is here meant by the night, by the bottome, and by the myrrhe trees which are blacke, and giue a dark shadow: yet hee compareth God to a King, who hath his postes and messengers about by whom he shall worketh his purpose and bringeth his matters to pass. k Who was the chief among the rest of the hostes.
l These signified the diuers officers of Gods Angells, whom God sometime punisheth, sometime comforteth, and bringeth forth his wordes in diuers sort. m That is, Christ the Mediatour prayer for the Church, which was now troubled when all the countreys about them were at rest.

Lord of hostes, I am jealous over Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale.

15 And am greatly angry against the carelesse heathen: for I was angry but a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie: mine house shall be builded in it, saith the Lord of hosts, and a line shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crie yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, My cities shal yet be broken with plenty: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shal yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes and sawe, and behold 4 foure hornes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And hee answered mee, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure <sup>1</sup>carpenters.

21 Then said I, What come these to doe? And he answered, and said, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne over the land of Iudah to scatter it.

will send, but shall even breake for fulnesse. e Which signified the Church, East, West, North, South. f These Carpenters or Artificers, which with their mallets and hammers breake these stones, which would overthrow the Church, and declare that none strong, but God hath a hammer to breake it in pieces,

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Jerusalem and Judah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe, and looked, and behold, a man with a measuring line in his hand,

2 Then said I, Whither goest thou? And hee said vnto mee, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And behold, the Angel that talked with me went forth, and another Angel went out to meete him.

And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this yong man, and say, <sup>c</sup> Ierusalem shalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of fire round about, and will be the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, come forth, & flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure gwindes of the heauē, saith the Lord.

7 <sup>h</sup> Save thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, After this glory hath hee sent mee vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the k apple of his eye.

saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall bee ioynted to the Lord in that day, and shalbe my people: and I will dwel in the mids of thee, & thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherit Iudah his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord : for hee is raised vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdom.

AND hee shewed me Iehoshua the hie Priest, standing before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the Lord said unto Satan, The Lord reprove thee, O Satan: even the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprove thee. Is not this a brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Jehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And vnto him he sayd, Behold, I haue caused thine iniquity to depart from thee, & I wil clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I said, Let them set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus faith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also <sup>b</sup> iudge mine House, and shalt also keepe my <sup>i</sup> courtes, and I will giue thee place among <sup>a</sup> these that stand by.

8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they be monstrous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the <sup>m</sup> Branch my servant.

9 For loe, the stone that I haue laid before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shalbe seuen eyes: behold, I wil cut out the grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shal ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the vine, and vnder the figge tree.

Church. f Hee sheweth of what apprell hee speakeeth, which is when our filthynesses are taken away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirittuall reformation. g The Prophet prayeth that besides the raiment, the Priest might also have tie for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignity of the Priesthood might bee perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and hence all such are condemned that can content themselves with any measure of reformation in religion, fearing the Prophet deserveth the perfection, and oblation. h That is, base rule and government in my Church, as thy predecessors have had. i Whereby hee meaneth to have the whole charge and ministry of the Church. k That is, the Angels, who represented the whole number of the Church: signifying that all the godly should willingly receive him. l Because they follow any word they are contemned in the world, and esteemed as monsters, as Mat. 8. 18. m That is, Christ, who did so humble himself, that not only he became the servant of God, but also the servant of men: and therefore in him they would have comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Ihs. 1. 1. l. ier. 9. 5. and 33. 14. 15. n Hee sheweth that the ministers cannot build before God by the first house, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because hee shined light unto all others, and that all ought to feele light at him, Chap. 4. 10. o That is, will make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of GOD. Though I have punished this land for a time, yet I will even now bee pacified, and visit their sinnes no more. p q Ye shall then live in peace and quietness, that is, in the kingdom of Christ, Ihs. 2. micah. 4. 3. laggai. 5. 10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlesticks, and the two olive trees.

And the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked me, as a man that is rayled out of his sleepe.

And said vnto me, What seest thou? And I sayd, I haue looked, and behold, a candlestick all of golde with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen pipes to the lampes which were vpon the top thereof.

And two olive trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

So I answered and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, and he shall bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

The handes of Zerubbabel haue layed the foundation of this house: his handes shall also finish it, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

For who hath despised the day of the Lord? but they shall reioice, and shall see the scope of tinnie in the hand of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two olive trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What bee these two olive branches, which thorow the two golden pipes empty themselves into the golde?

And he answered me, and sayd, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I sayde, No, my Lord.

Then said he, These are the two olive branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

Though the enemies thinke to say this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto GOD that hee would continue his grace and fauour towards the Temple.

Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building and preservation of my spirituall Temple.

Signifying that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple. Whereby hee signifieth the plummet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which presented Christ, should goe forward with his building to the joy and comfort of the godly, though the world bee against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye.

That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continuall providence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can doe about or bring any thing to hinder his worke, Chap. 3. 9. Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred forth oyle into the lampes; signifying, that God will continually maintaine and preserve his Church, and indoe it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of idleness, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6. By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

Then I turned mee, and lifted vp mine eyes and I looked, and behold, a flying booke.

And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twenty cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

Then sayd he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for every one that stealeth, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that: and every one that sweareth, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that.

I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

Then the Angel that talked with me, went forth, and sayd vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

And I sayde, What is it? And hee sayde, This is an Ephah that goeth forth. Hee sayde moreouer, This is the flight of them through all the earth.

And beholde, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the middes of the Ephah.

And he sayd, This is wickednesse, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a stork) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

Then sayd I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

And he sayd vnto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

as in the next verse. i. Signifying, that Satan should not haue such power against the lawes to tempt them, as hee had in time past, but that God would thence vp inquiry in a measure as in a prison. k. Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the means of weak and infirme men. l. To remoue the iniquitie and affliction that came for the same from Iudah, to plant it in euery in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the four chariots he describeth the four Monarchies.

Again I turned and lift vy mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came foure chariots out from betweene two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of bras.

In the first chariot were red horses, and in the second chariot blacke horses,

And in the third chariot white horses, and in the fourth chariot, horses of diuers colours, and reddish.

Then I answered, and sayd vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What are these my Lord?

And the Angel answered, and saide vnto mee, These are the foure spirites of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

That with the blacke horse went forth into the great cruelty and persecutions that the Church had endured.

Signifying that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians.

These represented their fate vnder the Persians which restored them to libertie. Which signified that God would sometime give his Church rest and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as hee did in destroying Ninus, and Babylon, and other their enemies. Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his inchangeable counsell be caused to appeare among all the world.

a Decree? b. Had pronounced Gods plagues by concerning the word and calling off all indgements and equities, hee sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would sende some sinning the Caldees and their former enemies.

b. That is, with any injury toward his neighbour.

c. Meaning wherefore hee be in the world.

d. Hee that trusteth in the flesh table, and seeth not Gods might, but abasheth Gods Name.

e. Which was a measure in weighing containing about tenne poe.

f. That is, the wickedness of the world y is in Gods sight, which hee keepeth in a measure, and can shut it or open it at his pleasure.

g. To cover the measure.

h. Which representeth iniquities.

i. By chariots here, as by horses above, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute his will.

b. By the four mountaines here, he meaneth the eternal counsell, and providence of God, whereby hee hath from before all eternity decreed what shall come to passe, and that which shall come to passe shall come to passe.

c. Which signified vnder his enemies.

d. These represented their fate vnder the Persians which restored them to libertie.

e. Which signified that God would sometime give his Church rest and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as hee did in destroying Ninus, and Babylon, and other their enemies.

g. Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his inchangeable counsell be caused to appeare among all the world.

h That is toward Egypt, and other counties thereabout.

i That is, say of authority among the Iewes, and doctors of the religion of the kingdome, and of the priesthood, and others by their example.

m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law, therefore it followeth that help of man.

o Which declareth that none could build this Temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but only Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall. Haggai. 2. 10.
p Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadow. q The two offices of the kingdome, and Priesthood shall be so Ioynt together, that they shall be no more diuised, f Who was also called Heldai. t He was also called Ioshiah. u That they may acknowledge their iniquitie which looked that all things should haue bene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelity these two crownes shall remaine in remembrance. Ad. 1. 6. x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel, shall hike toward the building of this spirituall Temple. y If ye will beleue and obey in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

And in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the word of the Lorde came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in a Chisleu.

2 For they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the Lord.

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lorde of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I weep in the fift mo-neth, and separate my selfe as I haue done these so many yeeres?

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Iere. 41. 2. c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vied in their fasting. d That is, presently my selfe with all deuotion to this fast. e Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed.

to the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the South country.

7 And the reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe through the world, and he said, Go passe through the world. So they went thorowout the world.

8 Then cried he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Behold, these that goe toward the North country, haue pacified my spirit in the North country.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee,
saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Hel-dai, and of Tobijah, and Iedaiah which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house of Ioshiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer, and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest,

12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and faith, Behold, the man whose name is the Branch, and he shall growe vp out of his place, and he shall build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen hee shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shall be a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betweene them both.

14 And the crownes shall be to Helem, and to Tobijah, & to Iedaiah, and to Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and yee shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto
you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will obey the voice of the Lord your God.

to the Priests, and say, When ye fasted, & mourned in the fift & seventh moneth, euen these seuen-tie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? & do I approue it?

6 And when ye did eate, and when yee did drinke, did ye not eate for your felues, and drinke for your felues?

7 Should ye not heare the wordes which the Lord hath cried by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, & the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shew mercie and compassion, every man to his brother,

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fa-therles, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euil against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, least they should heare the Lawe and the wordes which the Lord of hostes sent in his spirit by the ministerie of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they laid the pleasant land waste.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercie of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

Again the worde of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and wil dwell in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a citie of truth, and the Mountaine of the Lorde of hostes, the holy Mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, There shall yet old men and old women dwel in the streetes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streetes of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vn-possible in my sight, saith the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East country, and from the West country.

God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme to man, Rom. 4. 20. Gen. 18. 14.

f For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted as touching this conue-rsie, besides them which as yet remained in Calde-a, and seasoned of as of one of the chiefe points of their religion.
g For they thought they had detracted toward God because of this fast, which they inuen-
ted of themselves:
and though asking
of it selfe be good,
yet because they thought it a seruit toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reprobred.
h Did ye not eate & drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie, and so likewise ye did abstaine according to your owne fantasia, and not after the prescript of my Law. i Hereby he condemned their hy-pocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God and by such things as they invented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded. k He sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for an hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked the offices of charitie, which should haue declared that they were godly, Math. 23. 23. l And would owne, which was heauie and grievous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Neh. 9. 29. m Which declared that they rebelled not only against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them. n That is, after they were caried captiue. o By their

a I loved my citie
with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should do her any iniurie.
b Because she shall be faithfull, and loyall toward me her husband.
c Though their enemies did grea-tely molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them,
and so preterme them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and increase their children in great abundance.

standeth, that is,
to beleue that never so vnpossible be in blame: for pany his promise,

ity shall be sure

vate commodities neither counsel of others, nor fear of enemies discourage you in the going onward with the building fit of their labour.

reth, that man can not come to God till he change manner by his Spirit, and so begin to do well, which is to pardon his finnes, and to give him
his graces.
2 Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, and was the first fast of these four: and here
the Prophet sheweth, that if the Jewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shall have no more occasion to fast, or to show signes of bewinednes: for God will send them joy and gladnesse.
3 He declareth
the great zeale that God should glue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to joyne with the Jewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ.

2 Jo. 2.2. mich. 4.7.

a Whereby he meaneth Syria.
b Gods anger shall abide vpon their sinful citie, & not spare so much as that.
c When the Jewes shall convert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies. d That is, Damascus: meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be vanquished the same red and plague.

8 And I will bring them, & they shall dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, & they shall be my people, & I will be their God in truth, & in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Let your hands be strong, yee that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for man nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, every one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not intreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seed shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dew, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O House of Iudah, and house of Israel, so wil I deliuer you, & ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not.

15 So againe haue I determined in these daies to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall do. Speake ye every man the truth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly & vprightly in your gates.

17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, & the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous hie feastes: therefore loue the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come 1 people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one city, shall go to another, saying, Vp, let vs go & pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hosts: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Jew, and say, We will goe with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatening of the Gentiles. 2 The coming of Christ.

The burthen of the word of the Lord in the land of Hadrach: and Damascus shall be his rest: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

3 And Hamath also shall border thereby:

Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp silver as the dust, and golde as the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and he will smite her power in the Sea, and she shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and he shall be as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall be as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now I haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly O daughter of Zion: shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, the King commeth vnto thee: he is iust and saved himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the charrets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall be broken, and hee shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his domirion shall be from sea vnto sea, and from the River to the end of the land.

11 Thou also shalt be saved through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the strong hold, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a bow for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shall be seene ouer them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlewindes of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as thorow wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall be able to let this kingdome of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word. p That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syriacum and by those places which the Jewes know, he meant an infinite space & compass out the whole world. q That is, from Emphraies. r Meaning Ierusalem, or the Church which is founded by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and in here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the lease that he bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, & secure them to great. t That is, into the holy land where the citie & the Temple are, where God will defend you. u Meaning the faithfull, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on every side, and yet lined in hope that God would restore them to libertie. x That is, double comfortes, and prosperitie in respect of that which your fathers enjoyed from Damascus to the captiuitie. y I will make Iudah & Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which he here meaneth by the Grecians. z He promisseth that the Jewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance, and exercise of all things, as there is abundance on the star when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to moue them to intemperancie, but to sobrietie, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberallitie.

mountain shall be compelled to hall the high hill and the high mountain.

CHAP. X.

a The vanitie of Idolarie. 3 The Lord promisseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

ASKE you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lord make white clouds, and giue you shoures of raine, and to e-uery one graffe in the field.

2 Surely the b idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the soothsayers haue seene a lye, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepherd.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shep-herds, and I did visite the d goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as e his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the mayle, out of him the bow of bat-tell, and out of him e-uery g appoynter of tri-buice also.

5 And they shalbe as the mightie men, which treade downe their enemies in the myre of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shalbe confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preferue the h house of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pittie them: and they shalbe as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall bee as a gyant: and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and bee glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will i hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall increase, as they haue increased.

9 And I will k sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreyes: and they shall liue with their children and l turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Le-banon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And hee m shall goe into the sea with affi-ction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depths of the riuer shall drie vp: and the pride of Asshur shalbe cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

if he can call them from all places suddenly. k Though they shall yet be scattered and seeme to bee lost, yet it shalbe profitable vnto them: for then they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospel, among whom it was first preached. l Not that they should returne from their countrey, but bee gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel. m Hee alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, wher-as the Lord smote the floods and tyners.

CHAP. XI.

a The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grievous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

OPen thy doores, O a Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Houle, b firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: howle yee, O oaks of Bashan, for the c defended forrest is cut downe.

3 There is the voyce of the howling of the shepheard: for their d glorie is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the e slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slaye them f and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, g Blessed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their own shepherds spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but loe, h I will deli-uer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his i king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the k poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me l two stauies: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 m Three shepherds also I cut off in one mo-neth, and my soule lothed n them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feede you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that periheth, let it pe-rish: and let the remnant eat, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, *eu*en Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanul my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and to the o poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me my p wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the q potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, *eu*en the Bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhood be-tweene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord said vnto mee, Take to thee yet r the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that s standeth vp, but he shall cate flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole shepheard that leaeneth the flocke: the sword shalbe vpon his t arme, & vpon his right vanitie, and therefore hee breaketh both the one and the other. s Some reade, for Bands Destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed. m Whereby he shew-eth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great loue. n Meaning, the people, because they would not acknowledge the great benefites of God. o Hee sheweth that the Israel part euery profit by Gods iudgements. p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednesse, which did not onely forget his benefites, but esteemed them as things of nought. q Shewing that it was too litte to pay his wages, which could scarce suffice to make a fewe tyles to count the Temple. r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kind of regiment, and outward shewe of governments: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be wolves, and deuouring beasts in stead of shepherds. s And it is in health and sound. t By the same hee signifieth strength, as he doth wisdom and iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

a Because it was thought that the fire should be sent by reason of this mountain, that no enemy could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth that when God sendeth the ene-mies, it shall shew it selfe ready to receive them. b Shewing, that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist. c Seeing that Le-banon was de-stroyed, which was the strongest ma-nition, the weakest places could not thinke to hold out. d That is, the re-sonance of Iudah and Israel should perih. e Which being now destitute to be slaine were de-liuered as out of the Lyons mouth. f Their gover-nors destroy them without any re-morse or consci-ence, or yet thin-king that they doe right. g He setteth the hypocrites, which ever haue the Name of God in their mouths, though in their life and doings they denie God, attri-buting their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the people of his brethren. h I will cause one to destroy another. i Their gouernors shall execute cru-eltye over them. k That is, the small remnant, whom he thought worthe to shew mercie vnto. l God sheweth his great benefites to-ward his people to compasse them of greater ingra-titude, which would neither be re-warded by his most beauti-ful order of go-uernment, neither continue in the bands of brotherly love ready, for Bands Destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed. m Whereby he shew-eth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great loue. n Meaning, the people, because they would not acknowledge the great benefites of God. o Hee sheweth that the Israel part euery profit by Gods iudgements. p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednesse, which did not onely forget his benefites, but esteemed them as things of nought. q Shewing that it was too litte to pay his wages, which could scarce suffice to make a fewe tyles to count the Temple. r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kind of regiment, and outward shewe of governments: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be wolves, and deuouring beasts in stead of shepherds. s And it is in health and sound. t By the same hee signifieth strength, as he doth wisdom and iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the word of the Lord vpon Israel, saith the Lord, which spred the heauens, and laide the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a <sup>b</sup> cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will hee be in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lord, I will smite euerie horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euerie horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the Princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The <sup>e</sup> inhabitante of Ierusalem shalbe my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In this day wil I make the princes of Iudah like coales of fire among the woode, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euē in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preferue the <sup>d</sup> tents of Iudah, as aforetime: therefore the glorie of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shalbe as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I wil powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of <sup>e</sup> grace and of compalsion, and they shal looke vpon me, whome they haue: <sup>f</sup> pierced, and they shall lament for <sup>g</sup> him as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and bee sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne.

11 In that day shal there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the <sup>h</sup> mourning of <sup>i</sup> Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the <sup>k</sup> land shall bewaile euerie family apart, the family of the <sup>m</sup> house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart.

13 The family of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the family of <sup>n</sup> Shemei apart, and their wiues apart.

14 All the families that <sup>o</sup> remaine, euerie family apart, and their wiues apart.

1 Which was the name of a towne and place nere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine, 2 Chron. 35. 22. <sup>k</sup> That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine. <sup>l</sup> Signifying, that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremonie: but euerie one touched with his owne griefe, shall lament. <sup>m</sup> Vnder these certaine families hee containeth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the King and the Priests had by their sinnes pierced Christ. <sup>n</sup> Called also Simeon. <sup>o</sup> To wit, which were cleb by grace, and preserved from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatry. 3 The reule of Gods house against false prophets.

IN that day there shall bee a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse.

2 An in that day, saith the Lord of hostes, I will cut off the <sup>b</sup> names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will cause the <sup>c</sup> prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet <sup>d</sup> prophesie, his father and his mother that begate him, shal say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lyes in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, <sup>e</sup> shall thrust him through, when he prophesieth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets <sup>f</sup> bee ashamed euerie one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But hee shall say, I am no <sup>g</sup> Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to bee an heardman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these <sup>h</sup> wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 <sup>i</sup> Arise, O sword, vpon my <sup>j</sup> shepherd, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hostes: smite the shepherd, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, sayeth the Lord, <sup>k</sup> two parts therein shal be cut off, and die: but the third shalbe left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part through the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, and wil trie them as gold is tried: they shal call on my name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

1 They shall confesse their former ignorance and become to labour for their liuing. <sup>h</sup> Hereby hee sheweth that though their parents and friends dealt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false Prophets, that the marks and signes should remaine for euer. <sup>i</sup> The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should bee an horrible disipation among the people: for their gouernours and pastours should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Evangelist applyeth this to Christ, because hee was the head of all Pastours, Matth. 26. 31. <sup>k</sup> The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enioy them, shalbe tried with great afflictions, so that it shall be known that onely Gods power and his mercie doe preserve them.

CHAP. XIII.

8 Of the doctrine that shall proceede out of the Church, and of the restoration thereof.

Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy spoyle shall bee <sup>a</sup> diuided in the middes of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battel, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoyle, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shal go into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then the Lord shall goe forth, and fight against those nations, as when he <sup>b</sup> fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feet shall stand in that day vpon the <sup>c</sup> mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the middes thereof toward the East and toward the West there shalbe a very great valley, & halfe speech the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how hee will as it were by miracle saue it. <sup>d</sup> So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this hee meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalem the Church.

<sup>a</sup> That is, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefits in deliuering their brethren, and had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to turne home when God called them.

<sup>b</sup> Ierusalem shall be defended against all her enemies: so shall God defend all Iudah also, and shall destroy the enemies.

<sup>c</sup> Euerie captaine, that had many vnder him afore, shall now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shalbe sufficient to defend them against all enemies because the Lord is among them.

<sup>d</sup> The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preferred by my power, then if they were vnder their king, (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in the defended cities.

<sup>e</sup> They shall haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I haue compulsion on them.

<sup>f</sup> That is, whome they haue continually vexed with their obstinacie, and grieved my Spirit, Job. 19. 37. where it is referred to Christs body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.

<sup>g</sup> They shall turne to God by true repentance, whome before they had so grievously offended by their ingratitude.

<sup>c</sup> Meaning, the false prophets and teachers, who are the corruptors of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vaine spirits.

<sup>e</sup> He sheweth what zeale the godly shall haue vnder the kingdom of Christ, Deut. 19. 3. 4.

<sup>f</sup> God shall make them ashamed of their errors and lyes, and bring them to repentance, and they shall no more weare Prophets apparell to make their doctrine seeme more holy. <sup>g</sup> They shall confesse their former ignorance and become to labour for their liuing. <sup>h</sup> Hereby hee sheweth that though their parents and friends dealt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false Prophets, that the marks and signes should remaine for euer. <sup>i</sup> The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should bee an horrible disipation among the people: for their gouernours and pastours should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Evangelist applyeth this to Christ, because hee was the head of all Pastours, Matth. 26. 31. <sup>k</sup> The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enioy them, shalbe tried with great afflictions, so that it shall be known that onely Gods power and his mercie doe preserve them.

<sup>a</sup> He warneth the godly against the great temptation that should come, before they enioyed these promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers should come, they might know that they were warned of them afore.

<sup>b</sup> As your fathers, and you haue had experience both at the red sea, and at all other times.

<sup>c</sup> By this manner of speech the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how hee will as it were by miracle saue it. <sup>d</sup> So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this hee meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalem the Church.

of the mountaine shal remoue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And yee shall flee vnto the valley of the mountaines for the valley of the mountaines shal reach vnto Azal: yea, yee shall flee like as yee fled from the earthquake, in the daies of Vzziah king of Iudah: and the Lord; my God shal come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day shall there bee no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there shall bee a day (it is knowen to the Lord) neither day nor night, but about the evening time it shalbe light.

8 And in that day shall there i waters of life go out from Ierusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the vtermoſt sea, and shalbe, both in summer and winter.

9 And the Lord shall bee king ouer all the earth: in that day shall there be one Lord, and his Name shall be one.

10 All the land shall bee turnrd i as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the towre of Hananiel vnto the kings winepresses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Ierusalem shalbe safely inhabited.

12 And this shalbe the plague wherewith the Lord wil smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shal consume in their mouth.

13 This new Ierusalem shall be seene through all the world, and shall excell the first in excellencie, wealth and greatness.

13 But in that day a great tumult of Lord shalbe among them, and every one shal take the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered round about, with gold and silver, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camell and of the asse and of all the beastes that be in these tents as this plague.

16 But it shall come to passe that every one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yere to yere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so wil not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raine.

18 And if the family of Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. Thus shalbe the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shalbe the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shal there be written vpon the bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the spots in the Lords house shall be like the bowels before the altar.

21 Yea, every pot in Ierusalem and Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and seeth therein: and in that day there shalbe no more the Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hostes.

m God will not only raise vp wars without, but sedition at home to trie them. n To hurt and oppress him. o The enemies are rich, and therefore shall not come for a pray, but to destroy and shed blood. p As the men should be destroyed, ver. 12.

q By the Egyptians, which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles. r Signifying, that to what service they were put now (whether to labour or to serve in warre) they were now holy, because the Lord had sanctified the. s As precious the one as the other, because they shall be sanctified. t But all shall be pure and cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, nor any that shall corrupt the true service of God.

MALACHI.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more untill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more feruent desires looke for the coming of Messiah. Hee confirmeth the same doctrine that the two former doe, but chiefly bereproueth the Priests for their couetousnes, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescription of his word. He also noteth certayne peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous an many wives, murmurings against God, impatience and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promise made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the covenant should be accomplished, whose coming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and joy to the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel, and chiefly the Priests.

He a burden of the words of the Lord to Israel by the ministerie of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, sayeth the Lord: yet yee say, Wherein haſt thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iakobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loued Iakob.

3 And I hated Esau, & made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, We are impouerished, but we will returne and build the desolate places, yet saith the Lord of hostes, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shal call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry for ever.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hostes vnto you, O Priests that despise my Name? and ye say, Wherein haue wee despised thy Name?

7 Yet greater evils. He noteth their grosse hypocrisie, which would but most impudently copened them, and so were blind guides.

4 Though Edom say, We are impouerished, but we will returne and build the desolate places, yet saith the Lord of hostes, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shal call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry for ever.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hostes vnto you, O Priests that despise my Name? and ye say, Wherein haue wee despised thy Name?

7 Yet greater evils. He noteth their grosse hypocrisie, which would but most impudently copened them, and so were blind guides.

d Besides the rest of the people he condemneth the Priests chiefly, because they should haue reprobated others for their hypocrisie, and obſtinacie against God, and not haue hardened them by their example to not see their faults.

7 Yet

o He speaketh of the temple in i. which could not stand, but should be rebuilt. p As they might build them among the mountaines. q Reader Amos i. 8 Because they did not credit the Prophets words he turneth to God, and comforteth himselfe in that he knew that the things should come and sayth, Thus saith God, in other angels will come to performe the great thing, he signifying, that there should be great trouble in the Church, & that the time hereof is in the Lords hands yet it light (which is here meant by the coming) God would send comfort. i That is, the spiritual graces of God, which should cause comfort in most sinners. k All idolatrie & superstition shall be abolished, and there shall be one God, one faith, and one world, and shall

Which declarer their great ignorance that did not acknowledge this bene, which was to be sent, in that hee called Abraham from out of all the world, and sent Iakob the younger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the Elder. For beside that the signes of mine hatred appeared euen when he was made seruant vnto his younger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterward in that he was put from his birthright, yet euen now before your eyes the signes hereof are manifest, in that his country lyeth waste, and hee shall neuer returne to inhabit it: whereas ye my people, whom the enemy hated more then them, are by my grace and love toward you delivered, read Rom. 9. 13.

f Ye receive all manner of things: for your owne greedinesse, and do not examine whether they be according to my Law, or no. h Nor that they said thus, but by their doing they declared so. i You make so fault: whereby hee condemneth them that thinke it sufficient to serve God: yet as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantasie, & to come not to a puritie of religion, which hee requirith, and therefore in reproch he sheweth them that a mortal man would not be content to be so strait. i He denieth the Priests who bare the people in hand that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these evils came vpon the people. k Will God consider your office and state, seeing you are so covetous and wicked? l Because the Levites who kept the doores, did not trie whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God wisteth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receive such as were not perfect. m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true service shall bee the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and heere the Prophet that was vnder the Lawe framed his wordes to the capacities of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice hee meaneth the spirituall service of God, which should bee vnder the Gospell, when an ende should bee made to all these legal ceremonies by Christs onely sacrifice. n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was well content with the lame, as with the fatter: but in the meane season they showed not this obedience to God, which hee required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and contumacie. o The Priests and people were both weary with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and service they gave to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord. p That is, hath ability to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will serve him according to his countour mind.

k Will God consider your office and state, seeing you are so covetous and wicked? l Because the Levites who kept the doores, did not trie whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God wisteth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receive such as were not perfect. m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true service shall bee the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and heere the Prophet that was vnder the Lawe framed his wordes to the capacities of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice hee meaneth the spirituall service of God, which should bee vnder the Gospell, when an ende should bee made to all these legal ceremonies by Christs onely sacrifice. n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was well content with the lame, as with the fatter: but in the meane season they showed not this obedience to God, which hee required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and contumacie. o The Priests and people were both weary with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and service they gave to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord. p That is, hath ability to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will serve him according to his countour mind.

a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, be: vnder them he containeth the people also. b To serve me according to my word. c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits. d Your seedfowen shall come to no profit. e You boast of your holinesse, sacrifices and feasts, but they that turne to your shame and be as vile as dung, reprooche them, but he must speake against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth, that the office is nothing slandered when these vilenesses and doings are called by their owne names.

7 Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is not to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it now vnto thy prince: wil he be content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of hostes?

9 And now I pray you, pray before God, that he may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath been by your meanes: wil he reward k your persons, saith the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you, that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shall be offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayth the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye said also, Behold, it is a wearinesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame, and the sicke: thus ye offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke p a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

15 Both the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God wisteth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receive such as were not perfect. m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true service shall bee the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and heere the Prophet that was vnder the Lawe framed his wordes to the capacities of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice hee meaneth the spirituall service of God, which should bee vnder the Gospell, when an ende should bee made to all these legal ceremonies by Christs onely sacrifice. n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was well content with the lame, as with the fatter: but in the meane season they showed not this obedience to God, which hee required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and contumacie. o The Priests and people were both weary with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and service they gave to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord. p That is, hath ability to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will serve him according to his countour mind.

Threatnings against the Priests, being seducers of the people.

And now, O ye a Priests, this commandment is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory b vnto my Name, saith the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and will curse your c blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because ye doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt d your seede, and cast dung vpon your faces, euen the d dung of your solemne feasts, and you shall be like vnto it.

4 And ye shall knowe, that I haue f sent this commandment vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Levi, might stand, saith the f The Priests obiected against the Prophet that he could not speake against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth, that the office is nothing slandered when these vilenesses and doings are called by their owne names.

Lord of hostes.

5 My s couenant was with him of life and peace, and I b gaue him feare, and he feared me, and was afraid before i my Name.

6 The law of t truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priestes l lippes should preferre knowledge, and they should seeke the Law at his mouth: for he is the m messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: ye haue broken the couenant of Levi, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye keepe not my waies, but haue bene partiall in the Law.

10 Haue we not all one a father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of o our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holines of the Lord, which hee loued, and hath married the p daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iakob, and him that q offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue ye done againe, and r couered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet ye say, f Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet is she thy t companion, and the wife of thy u couenant.

15 And did not x he make one? yet had he y abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because hee sought a godly z seede: therefore keepe your selues in your s spirit, and let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, b put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet hee couereth c the iniurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and transgresse not.

17 Ye haue d wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that doeth e euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he deliteth in them. Or where is the God of f iudgement?

because that God doeth not regard their sacrifices, so that they come to inuidie in vaine. f This is another fault, whereof hee accuseth them, that is, that they broke the lawes of marriage. t As the one halfe of thy selfe. u Since that was sayed to thee by a solemne couenant, and by the iurisdiction of Gods name. x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many? y By his power and vertue hee could haue made many women for one man. z Such as shoulde be borne in lawfull and moderate marriage, where in is no exesse of lusts. a Couertise your selues within your bonds, and bee sober in minde, and bridle your affections. b Not that hee doeth allowe diuorcement, but of the two faultes hee sheweth, which is the lesse. c Hee thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit hee take others, and so as it were couereth his fault. d Ye command against God, because hee heard not you as soone as ye called. e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and haue no respect to them that serue him. f Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iustice, because hee indigued according to their fantasies.

BEhold, I will send my <sup>a</sup> messenger, and he shall prepare the way before mee: and the <sup>b</sup> Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedily come to his Temple: euen the <sup>c</sup> messenger of the Couenant, whom ye desire: behold, hee shall come, sayth the Lord of hostes.

2 But who <sup>d</sup> may abide the day of his coming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And hee shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: he shall euen fine the sonnes of <sup>e</sup> Leui and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteoufnesse.

4 Then shall the offrings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time and in the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witnesse against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vex the widow, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, sayth the Lord of hostes.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and yee sonnes of Iacob <sup>f</sup> are not confumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept <sup>g</sup> them: <sup>g</sup> returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, sayth the Lord of hostes: but ye said, Wherein shall we returne?

8 Will a <sup>h</sup> man spoyle his gods? yet haue yee spoiled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoiled thee? In <sup>i</sup> tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoiled me, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meate in mine house, and proue mee now herewith, sayth the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing <sup>k</sup> without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the <sup>l</sup> deuourer for your sakes, and hee shall not destroy the fruite of your ground, neither shall your vine be barren in the field, sayth the Lord of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, sayth the Lord of hostes.

13 Your words haue bene stout <sup>m</sup> against me, sayth the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Ye haue sayd, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his commandment, and that wee walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore wee count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are <sup>n</sup> deliuered.

16 <sup>o</sup> Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a <sup>p</sup> booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shall be to mee, sayth the Lord of hostes, in that day <sup>q</sup> that I shall do <sup>thū</sup>, for a flock, and I will <sup>r</sup> spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betwene the righteous and wicked, betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

tion, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercie to all penitent sinners. <sup>q</sup> When I shall restore my Church according to my promise, they shall be as mine owne proper goods. <sup>r</sup> That is, forgive their finnes, and gouerne them with my Spirit.

C H A P. III.

The day of the Lord before the which Elias should come.

For behold, the day cometh that shall <sup>a</sup> burne as an ouen, and all the proud, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall bee stubble, and the day that cometh, shall burne them vp, sayth the Lord of hostes, and shall leaue them neither roote nor branch.

2 But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the <sup>b</sup> summe of righteoufnesse arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and ye shall <sup>c</sup> go forth, and grow vp as fat calves.

3 And yee shall tread downe the wicked: for they shall bee dust vnder the soles of your feete in the day that I shall doe <sup>thū</sup>, sayth the Lord of hostes.

4 <sup>d</sup> Remember the Law of Moses my seruant, which I commaunded vnto him in Horeb for all I Israel with the statutes and iudgements.

5 Beholde, I will send you <sup>e</sup> Elijah the Prophet before the coming of the great and <sup>f</sup> fearefull day of the Lord.

6 And he shall <sup>g</sup> turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and <sup>h</sup> smite the earth with cursing.

image of God. <sup>c</sup> Yee shall bee set at libertie, and increase in the ioy of the Spirit. <sup>d</sup> Because the time was come that the Iewes should bee destitute of Prophets vntill the coming of Christ, because they shoulde with more seruent minde desire his coming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselves diligently in studying the Lawe of Moses in the meane season, whereby they might continue in the true religion, and also bee armed against all temptations.

<sup>e</sup> This Christ expoundeth of Iohn Baptist, Matth. 11. 13. 14. who both for his zeale, and restoring of religion, is spely compared to Elijah. <sup>f</sup> Which as it is true for the wicked, so doeth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance.

<sup>g</sup> Hee sheweth wherein Iohns office shoulde stand in the turning of men to God, and turning the father and children in one voice of faith: so that the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is conuerted to Christ, and the sonne shall embrace the faith of the true fathers, Abraham, Izhak, and Iacob. <sup>h</sup> The second point of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ.

<sup>a</sup> They are not onely preferred to honour, but also deliuered from dangers.

<sup>o</sup> After these admonitions of the Prophet, some were lively touched, and encouraged others to feare God.

<sup>p</sup> Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercie to all penitent sinners.

<sup>a</sup> He prophesieth of Gods iudgements against the wicked, who would not receiue Christ, when as God should send him for the restoration of his Church.

<sup>b</sup> Meaning Christ, who with his wings or beames of his grace shoulde lighten and comfort his Church, Ephes. 1. 14 and he is called the summe of righteoufnesse, because in himselfe he hath all perfection and also the iustice of the Father dwelling in him: whereby he regenerateth vs into righteousness, cleanness from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the ioy of the Spirit.

<sup>c</sup> That is, Christ by whom the couenant was made and ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant because he reconciled vs to his Father, and is Lord or King, because he hath the gouernment of his Church.

<sup>d</sup> He sheweth that the hypocrites which with so much for the Lords coming will not abide when hee shal come neere: for he will consume them, and purge vs and make the Church cleane.

<sup>f</sup> They murmured against God, because they saw not his helpe to defend them: and therefore hee accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not daily conformed, it is a token, that hee doeth will defend them, and to his mercie toward them neuer changeth.

<sup>h</sup> These are none of the heathen so barbarous, that will defend their gods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with them.

<sup>i</sup> Whereby the service of God shoulde haue bene maintained, and the Priests and the people in an abundance: so that yee shall lacke place to put my blessings.

<sup>l</sup> The Prophet condemneth them of double blasphemie against God: first, in that they sayd, that God had no respect to them that serued him, and next, that hee were more in his fauour then the godly.

¶ The end of the Prophets.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

T Hese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the Newe Testament, are called Apocrypha, that is, bookes, which were not receiued by a common consent to bee read and expounded publicly in the Church, neither yet serued to prooue any poynt of Christian Religion, saue in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonickall to confirme the same, or rather whereupon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the advancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the history, and for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare, that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not utterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messias, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatened by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

CHAP I.

I Josias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Pasche. 7 Of setting for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Levites. 23 The upright life of Josias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Iachaz appointed King. 53 The destruction of Jerusalem.

And Josias kept the * Pascheouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Pascheouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appoynted the Priestes according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Levites the holy Ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the House, which Salomon the sonne of King Dauid had built,

4 And said, Yee shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid King of Israel, and according to the Maiesty of Salomon his son, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Levites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Pascheouer, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Pascheouer after the Lords Commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Josias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kids, with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the Kings possessions according to the promise to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias and || Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Pascheouer, two thousand fixe hundredth sheep, and seuen hundredth calues.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and || Sabias and || Chielus, and || Ioram captaines gaue to the Levites for the Pascheouer fise thousand sheep, and seuen hundredth calues.

10 And when all these things were done, the Priests and the Levites stood in order, hauing vbleauened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people, to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Pascheouer with fire, as * apperteined, and they sodde their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots, 13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterwarde they prepared for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offred the fat vnto the evening, and the Levites did make ready for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy fingers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, & Azarias, and || Edlinus, which was of the Kings appointment.

16 And

Or, Chorbai.

* Exod. 12. 8.

Or, Jeduthun.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull, that any should passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Leuites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Pascheouer.

18 And offer sacrifices vpon the Altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of king Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Pascheouer and the feast of vneleavened bread seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a Pascheouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the Kings of Israel did not offer such a Pascheouer, as did Iosias, and the Priests, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this Pascheouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpriight before his Lord with a heart full of godlinesse.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, about euery nation & kingdome, and grieved him with all sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

25 ¶ Nowe after all these actes of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaoh King of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O King of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lorde God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lord hasteneth mee forward: depart from mee, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But hee set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megeddo, and the princes came downe to King Iosias.

30 And the king saide to his seruants, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gate vp on his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem hee changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours and their wiuues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kindred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the Kings of Iudea, and euery one of the actes that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the Law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things now rehearsed are registred in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke Ioaquaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in stead of his father Iosias, when hee was three and twentie yeere old.

35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt depose him from reigned in Ierusalem.

36 He taxed also the people of an hundred talents of siluer, and one talent of gold.

37 And the King of Egypt made Ioaquim his brother King of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And he bound Ioaquaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and five yeere olde was Ioaquim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, who when hee had bound him with a chaine of brasce, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, and set them in his temple at Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings.

43 And Ioaquim his sonne reigned for him: and when hee was made King, he was eightene yeere olde.

44 And hee reigned three moneths and tenne dayes in Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yeere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And hee made Sedecias King of Iudea and Ierusalem, when hee was one and twentie yeere old, and he reigned eleuen yeeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did hee feare the wordes spoken by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that hee was tworne to King Nabuchodonosor, he forswore himselfe by the Name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the Lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, & polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuerthelesse, the God of their fathers sent his messengers to call them backe, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that he being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, commanded the Kings of the Caldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man nor maiden, neither old man, nor child among them.

54 But hee deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and caried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake down the wals at Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

57 They consumed also all the precious things thereof.

¶ Or, by was shipping sensible creature.

thereof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sword, he carried away into Babylon.

57 And they were servants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Jeremias, 58 And that the land might enjoy her Sabbaths all the time that it was desolate, till seventy yeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gave leave to the Jewes to returne. 10 Hee sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their adversaries did let their building, and the kings letters for the same.

IN the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias,

2 The Lord raised up the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and he made proclamation thoroughout all his kingdome, even by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, even the most high Lord, hath made me king over the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there be any therefore, of you of his people, let the Lord, even his Lord be with him, and let him go vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwel in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with golde and siluer,

7 With gifts, with horses, and cattell, and other things, which shall be brought according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the Priests and Levites, and all whose mind the Lord had mooued to goe vp, and build an house to the Lord in Ierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and gold, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose minds were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had carried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, he deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whom they were given to || Abassar the gouernour of Iudea.

13 Whereof this was the number: A thousand golden cups, and a thousand siluer cnps, basins of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twenty viols, of gold thirtie, & of siluer two thousand, foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of gold and siluer, which they carried away, were five thousand, foure hundred three score and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, Belenus, and Mithridates, & Tabelius, and Rathumus, & Beeltethmus, and Semellius the secretary, & others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them that dwelt in Iudea and Ierusalem. TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OUR LORD.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretary, and the rest of their counsell and the Iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowne to our lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build them market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this city be built, & the walles be finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, goe forward, we thought it not meet to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this city did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the king, we declare it, that if this citie be built and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passing into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, and to Semellius the secretary, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria, & Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which you sent to me: therefore I commaunded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this city hath alwayes practised against kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and how that mighty kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the city, and that it be taken heed that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretary and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which king Artaxerxes had written, they mooued their tents with speed to Ierusalem, with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

Ethiopia of an hundred and seven and twentie provinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drinke, and were satisfied, they departed, & king Darius went into his chamber, & slept, till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the gard, keepers of the kings body, said one to another,

5 Let every one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shall ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser, then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare purple and to drinke in golde, and to sleepe in gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, and an head tirc of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he shal sit next to Darius for his wife-dome, and shalbe called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence, & sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of king Darius,

9 And sayd, when the king rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the king and the three Princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victory be giuen as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but Truth ouercommeth all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings, and gaue them to him, and he read them,

14 And sent, and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours, and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls,

15 And sate them downe in the counsell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he sayd vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writing. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And sayd on this maner, O ye men, how strong is wine! it deceiueh all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the mind of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bond man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorow, nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by || talents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no mind to loue either friends or brethren, and a litle after they draw out swords.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O ye men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and he held his peace, when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. II.

Of the strength of a king 13 Of the strength of women. 24 Of the strength of truth, which sentence is approved, 47 and his position granted.

Then the second, which had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say,

2 O ye men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, & is lord of them, so that they do all things which hee commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if hee send them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaynes, and walles, and towers.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commaundement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, as well the spoiles as all other things.

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battel, but til the earth; for when they haue sowed it againe, they reape it, & bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if hee bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if hee bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people & all his armiees obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth and drinketh, and sleepeth.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one go & do his owne businesse, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, how should not the King be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed! so he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the truth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O ye men, neither y mighty king, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them, or hath dominion ouer the? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the king and all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments and make men honourable, neither can men bee without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together golde and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Doe they not leaue all those things, and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gaze, and gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then golde, or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father, which hath nourished him, and his owne countrey, and is ieyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he iopardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother, nor countrey.

22 Therefore by this ye may knowe that the women beare rule ouer you: doe yee not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword, & goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to taile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a lion, and goeth in darknesse, & when he hath stollen, ranshed and spoiled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruantes for them.

For pounds.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Now therefore doe you not beleue me? is not the King great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Apame, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King.

30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if shee laughed at him, he laughed: and if shee were angry with him, he did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.

32 How then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the King & the Princes looked one vpon another, & he began to speake of the trueth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is high, and the Sunne is swift in his course: for he turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not he great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater & stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken & tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but shee doeth the things which are iust, and absteineth from vniust, and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and shee is the strength and the kingdom and the power, and the maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So he ceased to speake, and then all the people cryed and said, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the King sayd vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and we wil giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue liberty to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he said to the King, Remember the vow that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdom.

44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when hee made a vowe to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And now, O lorde the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 Then king Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards and lieutenants, and captains, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, & build the city with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they held,

51 And that euery yere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntill it were built,

52 And to mainteine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuateene) other ten talents euery yeere.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the city, should haue libertie, aswell they as their posteritie, and all the Priests that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges & the Priests garments, wherein they should minister.

55 And he wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the cite.

57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoeuer Cyrus had commanded to doe, he also commanded to doe it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, hee lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the King of heauen, 59 Saying, Of thee is the victory, and of thee is wildome, & of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed be thou which hast giuen me wildome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So he tooke the letters and went out and came to Babylon, and tolde all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedome and liberty.

63 To goe vp and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioy, seuen dayes.

After these things, the chiefe of the houses of their fathers were chosen after their tribes, and their wiues, and their sonnes, & their daughters, and their seruants, and their maydes, and their cattell.

2 And Darius sent with them a thousande horsemen, till they were restored to Ierusalem in safetie, and with muscical instruments, with tabrets and flutes.

3 And all their brethren played: thus he caused them to goe vp together with them.

4 ¶ And these are the names of the men that went vp after their families, by their tribes, and after the order of their dignitie.

two hundred, fourtie and five: || beastes that bare the yoke, five thousand, five hundred, twentie and five.

44 And there were of the gouernours after their families, when they were come to the Temple in Ierusalem, vowed to build the house in his owne place according to their power, 45 And to giue to the treasure of the works, a thousand pound in gold, and five thousand pound in siluer, and an hundred Priestly garments.

46 And the Priestes and the Leuites and the people dwelt in Ierusalem and in the country, and the holy singers and the porters and all Israel in their || villages.

47 ¶ But * when the seueneth moneth was neere, and when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosedec and his brethren the Priestes, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made ready the altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moyse the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they dressed the altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and euening.

51 They kept also the feast of Tabernacles, as it is * ordeined in the Lawe, and offered sacrifices euery day, as was requisite, 52 And afterward, the continual oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths and of the new moneths and of all holy feasts.

53 ¶ And all * they which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seueneth moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workmen, and meat and drinke with gladnesse, 55 And charrets to the Sidonians and to those of Tyrus to bring cedar wood out of Libanus, which should be brought by flotes to the haven of Ioppe according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.

56 And in the second yere and second monerh came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, and their brethren, and the Priestes, and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Ierusalem, 57 And * laide the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yere after their returne into Iudea and Ierusalem.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yere old ouer the works of the Lord, and Iesus and his sonne, and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Ioda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes, and brethren, euery all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the works in the house of God: thus the workmen build the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priestes stood clothed with their long garments with muscull instruments and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymballes, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

61 And they sung with loud voyce songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and glorie is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cried with loude voyce, praising the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priestes and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had seene the former house,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets, and joy cryed with loud voyce, 65 So that the people coulde not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noyse of trumpets it was,

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families, said vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For wee obey your Lorde, as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of || Asbafareth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel said to them, It doth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an house to the Lord our God.

71 For we alone will build it to the Lord God of Israel, as it becommeth vs, and as * Cyrus the king of the Persians bade vs.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Iudea, and letted them to build the worke, and by their ambushments and seditions and conspiracies hindred the finishing of the building, 73 All the time of king Cyrus life: so that they were let from the building two yere, vntill the reigne of Darius.

BVt * in the second yere. of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Ado the Prophets prophesied to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Iudea and Ierusalem, in the name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called † vpon.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec stood vp, and beganne to build the house of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sifinnes the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan with his companions came vnto them,

4 And said vnto them, By whose commandement build you this house and this building, and enterprife all these other things? and who are the builders that enterprife such things?

8 It may please the king our master plainly to vnderstand, that when wee came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the citie of Ierusalem, we found in the citie of Ierusalem the Ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie.

9 Building an house to the Lord, great and new, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already laid vpon the walles.

10 And these works are done with great speed, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it will bee finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then we asked their Ancients, saying, By whose commandement build you this house, and lay the foundation of these works?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notify them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, Wee are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

14 And * this house was built vp many yeeres agoe by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen, * he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house at Ierusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the King tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to || Sanabassar ruler.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should cary away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Ierusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should bee built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassar, being come hither, laide the foundations of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Now therefore if it please the king, let it bee sought vp in the kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem hath bene done by the consent of king Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the lord our king, let him make vs answer concerning these things.

23 Then king Darius commanded to search in the kings libraries, that were in Babylon, & there was found in Ecbatane, which is in a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were laid vp for memorie.

24 In the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded the house of the Lord at Ierusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites with three rowes of hewen stones, and one rowe of newe wood of that countrey, and that the costes should bee payde out of the house of king Cyrus,

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of golde as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Ierusalem, and brought into Babylon, should bee restored to the house, which is in Ierusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also he commanded that Sisinnes, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan, and their companions, and those which were constitute captaines in Syria and Phenice, should take heed to refrain from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to builde it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to help them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished,

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice should be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lorde, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oile continually euery yeere without faile, as the Priestes, which are in Ierusalem shall testifie to bee spent euery day, 31 That offerings may bee made to the high God for the King, and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded that whosoever should transgresse any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should bee taken out of his possession, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods should be the Kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose Name is there called vpon, destroy euery King and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or doe euill to that House of the Lorde which is in Ierusalem.

34 * I Darius the King haue ordained that it should be diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sisinnes and his companions follow the kings commandement, and helpe the Iewes to builde the Temple. 5 The time that it was build. 10 They keepe the Pascheuer.

Then Sisinnes the * gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan, and their companions, obeying king Darius commandements, 2 Assisted diligently the holy works working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuary.

3 And the holy workes prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophesied.

4 So they finished all things by the commandement dement of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus, and Darius, & Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy house was finished in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the first yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priests and the Levites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyfes.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambs,

8 And twelve goats for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chief of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests, and the Levites stood according to their kinreds, clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyfes, and also the porters in euerie gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered the Passeeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Levites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie, were not sanctified together, but all the Levites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passeeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for themselves.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vnleavened bread seven dayes, reioicing before the Lord, 15 Because hee had turned the counsell of the king of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their hands in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Esdras cometh from Babylon to Jerusalem. 10 The copie of the commission, giuen by Artaxerxes. 29 Esdras giueth thanks to the Lord. 32 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confession.

And after these things, when Artaxerxes king of the Persians reigned, Esdras the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Ezerias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salum,

2 The sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Ezias, the sonne of Memeroth, the sonne of Zaraias, the sonne of Sauias the sonne of Boccas, the sonne of Abilum the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleasar, the sonne of Aaron was the high Priest.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a Scribe well taught in the law of Moyfes, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the king gaue him great honour, and he found grace in his sight in all his requests.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Levites, and of the holy fingers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem.

6 In the seventh yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the fifth moneth: this was the seventh yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speed in their journey.)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that hee would let nothing passe that was in the law of the Lord, and in the commandements, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the commission written by king Artaxerxes was giuen Esdras the Priest & reader of the Law of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 Forasmuch as I consider things with pitie, I haue commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priests and Levites which are in our kingdome, should goe with thee into Israel.

12 Therefore as many as bee willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my seuen friends the counsellors,

13 That they may visit the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord,

14 And carry the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friends haue vowed: also all the gold and siluer, which shalbe found in the country of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Ierusalem,

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, aswell siluer as gold, for bulles, and rammes, and lambs, and things therunto pertaining,

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoeuer thou and thy brethren wilt doe with the gold or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things soeuer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the Kings treasure.

20 And I also king Artaxerxes haue commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that what soeuer Esdras, the Priest and Reader of the Law of the highest God, shall send for, they should giue it him with all speed, euen to the summe of an hundred talents of siluer, 21 And likewise vnto an hundred cores of corne, and an hundred pieces of wine, and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things bee done to the highest God according to the Law of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the king and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priests or Levites, or holy fingers, or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workmen of this Temple, no tribute nor taxe bee taken, nor that any haue power to taxe them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wisdom of God, ordeine Iudges & gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Law of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shal transgresse the Law of God and the king, be diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the Scribe said, Blessed bee the onely Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the king to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honored me before the king and the counsellors, and all his friends and gouernors.

28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe vp with me.

29 These are the guids after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the king.

30 Of the sonnes of Phinees, Gersom, of the sonnes of Ithamar, Gamael, of the sonnes of Dauid, Lettus.

31 Of the sonnes of Sechenias, of the sonnes of Phares, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundredth and fiftie men.

32 Of the sonnes of Salomon, Abeliacnias the sonne of Zacharias, and with him two hundredth men.

33 Of the sonnes of Zachoe, Sechenias the sonne of Iezolus, and with him three hundredth men: of the sonnes of Adin, Obeeth sonne of Ionathas, and with him two hundredth and fiftie men.

34 Of the sonnes of Elam, Iefias sonne of Getholias, and with him seuentie men.

35 Of the sonnes of Saphatias, Zarias sonne of Michael, and with him seuentie men.

36 Of the sonnes of Ioab, Badias sonne of Iezelus, and with him two hundredth & twelue men.

37 Of the sonnes of Banid, Affelimoth sonne of Iofaphias, and with him an hundredth & threescore men.

38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Bebai, and with him twentie and eight men.

39 Of the sonnes of Aftath, Iohannes sonne of Acatan, and with him an hundredth and ten.

40 Of the sonnes of Adoniam the last: and these are the names of them, Eliphalet, Ieouel and Maias, and with him seuentie men: of the sonnes of Bagouthi sonne of Ifacacourus, and with him seuentie men.

41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbred them.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites, 43 I sent to Eleazar, and behold, there came Maafman, and Aluathan, and Samaian, and Ioribon, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian, and Mofollam the chiefe, and best learned.

44 And I bad them to goe to Dadeus the captaine, which was in the place of the tresurie, 45 With charge to bid Dadeus and his brethren & y tresurers that were there, to send to vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hand of our Lord, learned men of the sonnes of Moli, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, Cisebebran and his sonnes, and his brethren being eighteene.

47 And Afebia, and Annon, and Ofaian his brethren of the sonnes of Canaanien with their sonnes, twentie persons.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundredth and twentie, of whom all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And there I proclaimed a fast for the yong men before the Lord to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the king footmen, or horsemen, or conduct for safegard against our enemies:

51 Because wee had said to the king, that the power of our Lord should bee with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lord againe, according to these things, who we found fauorable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, Efbrias and Affanias, and with them teane of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the siluer & the gold, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them fixe hundred & fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundredth talents, and an hundredth talents of gold, 56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of brasfe, of fine brasfe shining like gold.

57 And I said to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold, and the siluer is a vow to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch & keepe them, til that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the siluer and the gold, and the vessels, and caried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lord with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the gold was deliuered in the house of our Lord to Marmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri, 62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iofabad the sonne of Iefus, and Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, ~~enue~~ twelue buls for all Israel, rammes fourescore and sixteene, 65 Lambs threescore and twelue, twelue goats for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandements of the king to the kings stewards, and to the gouernors of Coelolyria and Phenice, who honored the people, and the Temple of God.

67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priestes, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites, & Chetites, and Pherefites, & Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seede is mixed mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernors and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednes from the beginning of the thing, 70 And alsoone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and pulled the haire off my head, and off my beard, and fate me downe sorowfull and very sad.

71 Then also they that were moued with the word of  $\S$  Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I fate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes toire, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, *O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our sinnes are increased about our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers we are in a great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers we with our brethren, with our kings & Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercy bene, O Lord, that there should bee left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reuile to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, & giue vs meat in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when wee were in bondage, wee were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shall we say, hauing these things? for wee haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

82 *Because the land which ye goe to inherit, is a land polluted by the pollution of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse, 83 Therefore now ye shall not ioine their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes.

84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may bee made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked works, and for our great sinnes: yet Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but wee againe haue turned backe to transgresse the Lawe, and to mixe vs with the vncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs roote, nor seed, nor name?

88 But, O Lorde of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Behold, we are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we endure before thee for these things.

90 ¶ And *as Esdras prayed and confessed, and wept, & lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him, out of Ierusalem of men and women, and yong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Iechonias the sonne of  $\parallel$  Ieel of the sonnes of Israel crying out, said, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: wee haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land

92 And now all Israel is doubtful: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lorde to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to al them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, & made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests & Leuites of all Israel to fweare, that they would do thus: and they fware.

C H A P. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the Law for the strange wiues, 10 They promise to put them away.

Then * Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Ioannan the sonne of Eliasib,

2 And being lodged there, he did eat no bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem,

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and he cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda and Benjamin, came together within three dayes into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude fate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and said to them, Ye haue sinned: for yee haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

8 Nowe therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cried out, and sayd with a loud voyce, We will do as thou hast sayd.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that wee cannot stand without, and the work is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wiues of our familie, tarie:

13 And let the Priests and iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

14 Then Ionathas Asaels sonne, and  $\parallel$  Ezecias sonne  $\parallel$  of Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mofollam and Sabbateus did helpe them.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

18 And there were found of the Priests, which had married strange wiues,

19 Of the sonnes of Ielus, the sonne of Iosedec, and of his brethren, || Mathelas, and Eleazar, and Ioribus, and || Tonadan.

20 Who also gaue their hands to cast out their wiues, and offered a ramme for their reconciliation in their purgation.

35 And of the sonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Inel, Banaias.

36 All these married strange wiues, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Priests and the Leuites dwelt in Ie-rusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seventh moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.

38 ¶ Then all the multitude asssembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, 39 And spake to Esdras the Priest and reader, that hee should bring the Law of Moyse, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

40 Then brought Esdras the chiefe Priest, the Law to all the multitude both man and woman, and to all the Priests, that they might heare the Law the first day of the seventh moneth.

41 And hee read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Law.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law, stood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there stood by him || Matgathias, Sammus, Ahanias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezeccias, Balafamus at his right hand, 44 And at his left hand || Phaldaius, and Sail, Melchias, Aothasaphus, Nabarias.

45 Then Esdras tooke the booke of the Lawe before the multitude (for hee sate honourably before them all.)

46 And they all stood vpright when hee expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mighty God of hostes.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

48 Then Iesus and || Anus, and Sarabias, and Adimus, and Iacobus, Sabataias, Auranas, Manianias, and Calitas, Azarias, & Ioazabbus, and Ananias, and Biatas the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fel downe on the ground, and worshipped the Lord, 49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and stood also earnestly vpon the reading.

50 Then said || Aththarates to Esdras the chiefe Priest and reader, and to the Leuites that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fat meates, and drinke the sweet drinks, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord and be not sorry: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eate and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheere.

55 For they were yet filled with the words wherewith they were instructed, when they were asssembled together.

II. ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

The people is reprobated for their unfaithfulness. 30 God will haue another people if they will not be reformed.

He second booke of the Prophet * Esdras, the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sadanias, the sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob,

1 The son of Achias, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Heli, the sonne of Amerias, the sonne of Asie, the sonne of Marimuth, the sonne of Arua, the sonne of Ozias, the sonne of Borith, the sonne of Abisei, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar,

2 The sonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Leui) which Esdras was prisoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artaxerxes king of Persia.

3 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Goe,

Ezra 7. 2.

* 1/2. 38. 1.

5 Goe, and shew my people their finnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against mee, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the finnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked mee vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Law, but they are a rebellious people.

9 How long shal I forbear them, vnto whom I haue done so much good?

10 * Many Kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharaos with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: * I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countreys Tyrus and Sidon, and haue slaine all their enemies.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord, 13 * I haue led you thorow the Sea, and haue giuen you a sure way since the beginning: * I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

14 * I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, The quails * were a token vnto you: I gaue you tents for safegard, wherein ye murmured:

16 And ye triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmured still.

17 Where are the benefites, that I haue done for you? when ye were hungry in the wilderness, * did ye not cry vnto me, 18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wilderness, to kill vs? It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this wilderness.

19 I had pity vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eat: * so ye did eate Angels foode.

20 * When yee were thirstie, did not I cleaue the stone, and waters did flow out to satisfie you? from the heate I couered you with the leaues of the trees, 21 And I gaue you fat countries: I cast out the Canaanites, the Pherefites, and Philistims before you: * what shall I doe more for you, saith the Lord?

22 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, * When ye were in the wilderness at the bitter waters, being athirst, and blaspheming my Name, 23 I gaue you not fire for the blasphemies, but cast a tree into the water, & made the riuers sweet.

24 What shall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob? thou * Iuda wouldst not obey: I wil turne me to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my Lawes.

25 Seeing ye haue forsaken me, I will also forsake you: when ye aske mercie of mee, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

26 * When ye call vpon mee, I will not heare you: for yee haue defiled your hands with blood, and your feete are swift to commit murder,

27 Although ye haue not forsaken me, but your owne felmes, saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her yong babes, 29 That ye would be my people, as I am your God, and that yee would be my children, as I am your Father?

30 * I gathered you together as a henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what shall I doe vnto you? I wil cast you out from my sight.

31 * When you bring gifts vnto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solenne feast dayes, your new moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets, whom yee haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I wil reuenge, saith the Lord.

33 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Your house shall bee desolate: I wil cast you out as the wind doth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commandement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleue me though they heare me not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall do the things that I command them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shal they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I wil declare the grace that I will do for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnes, and though they haue not seene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glory, and see the people that come from the East.

39 Vnto whom I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Ioel, Abdias, Ionas, 40 Naum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias (which is called also the messenger of the Lord.)

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

¶ Thus sayth the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandements by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorow and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: go ye, O my children, and aske mercy of the Lord.

5 And thee, O father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my covenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoile, that their kinned be not continued.

7 Let their names be scattered among the heathen: let them bee put out of the earth, for they haue despised my covenant.

vnrighteous in thee: O wicked people, remember * what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorah,

9 Whose land is mixed with cloudes of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ie-rusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I wil get me glory by them, and giue them the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life smelling of ointment: they shall neither labour nor be wearie.

13 Go ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feet as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead, wil I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esay and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue san-ctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits,

19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, and seuen mightie mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widow: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: cloth the naked.

21 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blind come into the light of my cleerenesse.

22 Keepe the old and the yong that are within thy walles.

* 2nd. 1. 17, 18, 19.

23 * Wherefoeuer thou findest the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse:
stablish their feet.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not wearie: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse commeth, other shall weepe and be sorrowfull, but thou shalt bee merrie and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shall doe nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Bee ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shew mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shew mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile,

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I should goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Waite for your shepherd, who shall giue you euerlasting rest: for he is neere at hand, that shall come in the ende of the world.

35 Be readie to the reward of the kingdome:
for the euerlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadow of this world: receiue the ioy of your glorie: I testifie my Sauour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thanks vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise, and stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord.

39 Which are departed from the shadow of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bin called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 * I Esdras saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, & they all prayed the Lord with songs.

* Reul 7. 9.

43 And in the mids of them there was a yongman higher in stature then them all, and vpon eue-ry one of their heads he set crownes, & was higher then the others, which I marueiled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and sayd, Who are these, my Lord?

45 Who answered, and sayd vnto me, These be they, that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then sayd I vnto the Angel, What yongman is it, that setteth crowns on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered and sayd vnto mee, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then beganne I greatly to commend them, that stand so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel sayd vnto me, Go thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

C H A P. III.

4 The wonderful works which God did for his people, are recited.
31 Esdras marueileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule over his people, which yet are sinners also.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to my heart.

2 Because I sawe the defolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was fore mooned, so that I began to speake fearefull wordes to the most High,
and sayd,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

5 * And a bodie vnto Adam, without soule, who

* Gen. 2. 7.

who was also the workmanship of thine handes, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liueth before thee.

6 And ledst him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth brought forth.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediately thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people and kinreds out of number.

8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy Commandements.

9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them,

10 So that by the flood that came to euery one of them, which came by death to Adam,

11 Yet thou leftest one, euens * Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiply, and the number of the children, people and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, * thou didst choose thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham.

14 Whom thou louedst, and to whom onely thou shewedst thy will,

15 And madest an euerlasting Couenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seed.

16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Iacob and Esau, * and didst choose Iacob, and cast off Esau, and so Iacob became a great multitude.

17 And when thou ledst his seed out of Egypt, * thou broughtest them vp to the mount Sina, 18 And enclinedst the heauen and bowedst downe the earth, and didst moue the ground, and cause the depthes to shake, and didst astonish the world.

19 And thy glory went throw foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Iacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy law might bring forth fruit in them.

21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was overcome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weaknesse ioyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickednes of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, & the yeres were brought to an end, * till thou diddest raise thee vp a seruant called Dauid, 24 * Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeres, the inhabitants forooke thee,

26 Following the wayes of Adam and all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and sawe their wicked deedes without number (for this is thirtieth yere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I sawe, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and persecuted thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue howe this commeth to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleued thy testimonies, as Iacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruite: for I haue gone here and there thorowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy Commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednes now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shalbe found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy Commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

The Angel repraueh Esdras, because hee seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

And the Angel that was sent vnto mee, whose name was Vriel, answered,

2 And said, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the Highest.

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord, And he answered mee, and said, I am sent to shew thee three wayes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee.

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way, that thou desirest to see, and I will shewe thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I saide, Tell on my Lord, Then said he vnto me, Go thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winde, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and sayde, What man is borne that can doe that, which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto mee, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the middes of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peradventure thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But nowe haue I asked thee but of fire and wind, & of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and fro the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet thou canst giue me none answer of them.

10 Hee sayd more ouer vnto mee, These owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 Howe should thy vessell then bee able to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, and nowe outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption, corruption that is euident in my sight?

12 Then saide I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that we should liue in wickednes, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And he answered mee, and sayd, * I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees helde a counsell.

14 And said, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsel and said, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrey for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floodes of the sea: for the sand stood vp, and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and saide, Verily it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and sayd, Thou hast giuen a right iudgment: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea for his floods, so they that dwel vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are about the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and sayde, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thine hid things, but of such as wee daily meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the Lawe of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world as the grasshoppers, and our life is a very feare, and we are not thought worthy to obtaine mercie.

25 But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he me, and saide, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt maruel: for the world hasteth fast to passe away.

27 And cannot comprehend the things, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrighteousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euil is sownen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euil now that is sownen be not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euil is sownen, passe not away, then cannot the thing come that is sownen with good.

30 For the corne of euill seed hath bene sownen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath hee brought vp vnto this time? and how much shall he bring forth vntil the haruest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruite of wickednes the corne of euill seed bringeth forth.

32 And when the stalkes shall be cut downe, which are without number, how great an haruest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and sayd, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Hastenot to be about the most High: for thou labourest in vaine to be about him, though thou endeour neuer so much.

35 Did not the foules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when commeth the fruit of my barme and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and sayd, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for he hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, & they shal not be moued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne.

39 And for our sake peraduenture the haruest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sin of them that dwell vpon the earth.

40 So he answered me, and said, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when she hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then said I, No, Lord, shee cannot. And he said vnto mee, In the graue the places of foules are like the wombe.

42 For as she that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauell, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall bee shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meete therefore, 45 Shew me whether there bee more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come I know not.

47 And he sayd vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stood, and beholde, a hote burning onen passed before mee: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and behold, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before mee a wattrie cloud, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the droppes came after.

50 Then saide he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the droppes, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the drops, and the smoke were much.

51 Then I praied, and said, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered mee, and saide, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

In the latter times trush shall be hid. 10 Vnrighteousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 21 Israel is reiectid and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all things in season.

N Euerthelesse, concerning the tokens, behold, the time shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shall be taken in a great number, and the way of the truth shall be hid, and the land shall be barren from faith.

2 And iniquity shall be increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past.

3 And it shall come to passe, that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God grant thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpeter, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, and the moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voice, and the people shall be mouued.

6 And he shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the fowles shall change place.

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, make an noise in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall all heare the voice thereof.

8 There shall be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters,

9 And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chaniber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall vnioulesse and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorowe thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weepe as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, and my mind was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with mee, held mee, comforted me, and let me vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueh his flocke in the hands of the cruell wolues.

19 Then said I vnto him, Go thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning & weeping, as Vriel the Angel had commanded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grievous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe,

23 And sayd, O Lord, Lord: of euery forest of the earth, and of all trees that thou hast chosen thee our only vineyard.

24 And of all lands of the worlde thou hast chosen thee one pit, and of all the floures of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lily.

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the fowles that are created, thou hast named thee one dowe, & of all the cattel that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a Law, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine only people among many.

29 They tread them downe, which haue withstood thy promises, and beleue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou didst so much hate thy people, they should haue bene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these words, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I wil teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I said, Speak on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better then he doeth that made them?

34 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my reines pain me euery houre, while I labor to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I sayd, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers womb then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Iacob, and the griefe of the flocke of Israel.

36 And he said vnto me, Number vnto me the things that are not yet come, or gather mee the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, & bring mee forth the windes, that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voice, and then will I declare thee the thing that thou askest, and labourst to know.

38 And I sayd, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not find out my iudgement, nor the least benefit that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they do that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he said vnto mee, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slackenes of the last, so there is no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and sayd, Coudest thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are now, & those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then

44 Then answered he me, The creature, sayd he, can not present the Creator, neither can the world holdethem at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy servant that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also coustaine all men at once.

46 And he said vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I sayde, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then sayd he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times, when seede is sown vpon it.

49 For as a yong child begeth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordained the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceed to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast told me is yong, draweth she nere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that trauelleth, and she will tell thee, 52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And shee shall answer thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that yee are lesse of stature, then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then ye, as the creatures which now beginne to be old, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shew thy servant, by whom doest thou governe thy workmanship.

CHAP. VI.

God hath foretold all things in his secret counsell, and is without shadow, and hath created them for his children. 15 The felicity of the age to come.

And he sayd vnto me, In the beginning when the round world was made, and before the borders of the worlde were set, and before the windes blew one against another:

1 Before the noyse of thunders founded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were layd:

2 Before the faire flowres did appeare, before the moueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

3 Before the heights of the ayre were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimneys in Sion were hight:

4 Before the present yeeres were sought out, and before the affections of them that now sinne, were turned away, and they that haue layd vp the treasure of faith, were sealed,

5 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me also they shall be ended, and by none other.

6 Then answered I, and sayd, What shall be the duration of times? or what shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

7 And he said vnto me, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Iacob and Esau were borne of him,

8 On the hand he held fast the heels of Esau.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Iacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, Esdras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, and said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an ende to shew thy servant thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst mee part the last night.

13 So he answered me, and said, Stand vp vpon thy feet, and heare a mighty founding voyce.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be moued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, be not afraid: for of the ende shall be the worde, and of the foundation of the earth shall it bee vnderstood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my feet, and hearkened, and behold, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:

18 And it sayd, Behold, the dayes come, that I will come and enquire of them that dwell vpon the earth.

19 And when I begin to inquire of them, who by their vnrigheteousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled,

20 And the world, that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the books shall be opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yeere old shall speake with their voices: the women with child shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall liue that are raised vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sown places appeare as the vn-sown, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies, & the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the wells shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not run.

25 Whosoever remaineth from all these things that I haue told thee, shall be saved, and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall be changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shall be quenched, 28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shall be overcome, and the trueth which hath bene so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And when he talked with me, behold, I looked a litle vpon him before whom I stood.

30 And these words said he vnto me, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen daies more, I will tell thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard thee in the day.

32 For thy voice is heard before the Highest: surely the mighty hath seen thy righteous dealing: he hath seen also thy chastity, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 There

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, & to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not.

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe & fasted seuen dayes in like manner, that I might fulfill the three weeks which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen and the earth should bee made, and the worke followed thy word.

39 And then was there the spirit, & the darkness was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voice as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly aire, and commandedst it, that going betwene, it should make a diuision betwene the waters, that the one part might remaine above, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commandedst, that the waters should bee gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: fixe parts diddest thou drie, and kept them to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, being sowne of God and tilled.

43 As soone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediately great & innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, and flowers of vchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderful smell, and these things were created the third day.

45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the sunne, & of the moone, and the order of the starres, 46 And gauest them a charge, to doe * seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saydest vnto the seventh part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beasts, as fowles & fishes: and it was so.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life, brought forth liuing things at the commandment of God, that the nations might praise thy wonderous works.

49 Then didst thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst || Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leviathan.

50 And diddest separate the one from the other: for the seventh part, where the water was gathered, could not holde them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Leviathan thou gauest the seventh part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the sixt day thou gauest commandment vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whom thou madest lord ouer all the works, which thou hast created, of him come we all, and the people also whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth frō a vessell.

57 And now, O Lord, beholde, these heathen, which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the only begotten, and thy seruent louer) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then be created for our sakes, why haue we not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall we suffer these things?

C H A P. VII.

8 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God aduertiseth all in time. 28 The coming and death of Christ. 33 The resurrection and last iudgement, 43 after the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercie and goodnesse of God.

And when I had made an end of these wordes, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had bene sent downe to me the nights afore.

2 And he layd vnto me, Vp Eldras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I said, Speake on, my God. Then said he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers.

5 Who could goe into the sea to looke vpon it, & to rule it? if he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwene the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrow, full of sorow and trauell: they are but few, and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore-world were wide and sure, and brought immortall fruit.

14 If then they that are liuing labour not to enter by these straight and brittle things, they can not attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou mooued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

* Gen. 1. 14.

* Gen. 1. 14. and 15. Gen. 4. 19.

* Gen. 1. 30.

|| Gen. 1.

17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, *seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Lawe, that the righteous should inherit these things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly & suffer straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he sayd vnto me, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should do to haue life, and what they should obserue, to auoid punishment.

22 Neuerthelesse, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselues by their wicked deeds, & denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Eldras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Behold, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue told thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and shee shall come forth, and be seene, that is now vnder the earth.

27 And whosoever shall escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shal appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundred yerres.

29 After these same yeeres, shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the old silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore-iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seat of iudgement, and miseries shal vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an end.

34 Iustice only shall continue: the truthe shal remaine, and faith shal be strong.

35 The worke shall follow, & the reward shall be shewed: the good deeds shall be of force, and vnrighteousnesse shall beare no more rule.

36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and * Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wildernesse, 37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz, and Samuel,

38 And * David for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuary,

39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 40 * And Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered me, and said, This present life is not the end, oft times honour is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shal be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortality to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shall be cut off: righteousness shal grow vp, and the verity shall spring vp.

45 Then shal no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first & last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee should not haue sinned:

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in heauinesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? *for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortall life, when we doe the workes that bring death?

50 And that an eneralting hope should bee promised vs, seeing that we be tied our selues to deadly vanity?

51 And that there should bee appointed vs dwellings of health and safety, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall Paradise should bee shewed, whose fruit remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safety and health, if we will not enter into it?

54 (For we haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places)

55 And that the faces of them which haue abstained, should shine more then the starres, if our faces be blacker then darkenesse?

56 For while we liued, we did not remember when we did varighteously, that we should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the maner of the battell, which man, that is borne in the earth, shall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he should suffer as thou hast said: but if he get the victory, he should receiue the thing that I said.

59 For this is the life whereof Moyses spake vnto the people, while he liued, saying, * Chuse thee life that thou mayest liue.

60 Neuerthelesse, they beleened him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue sayd vnto them, 61 That heauinesse should not so be to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whom saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered then, & said, I know Lord, that the most High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world,

63 And that he hath pity on those that walke in his Law,

64 And that<sup>a</sup> he is patient: for he long suffereth those that haue sinned as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberrall: for he will giue as much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercy: for heouercommeth in mercy those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 He pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they which haue done euil, might be relieued from their wickednesse, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine aliue.

69 And if hee, being Iudge, forgauē not those that he healed with his word, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peraduenture be very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

<sup>a</sup> The number of the godly is small. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayer for him & for his people. 39 The promise of saluation to the iust. 55 The destruction of the uniuers.

And he answered mee, saying, The most High made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I wil tel thee a similitude, O Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shal say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pots, but little dust that golde commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.

3 * There be many created, but few shall bee sauēd.

4 Then answered I, and said, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule, and deuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may intreate thee, that thou mayest giue seede vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set himselfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, & we all are one workmanship of thine hands, as thou hast said.

8 For when the body is fashioned now in the wombe, and thou hast giuen it members, the creature is preferred by fire & water, and the worke, created by thee, doeth suffer nine moneths the creature, which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that containeth, & that which is contained, shall both bee preferred, and when time is come, the wombe, being preferred, deliuereth the thing that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commaunded the members, euen the breasts, to giue milke vnto the fruit appointed to the breasts, 11 That y<sup>e</sup> thing, which is created, may be nourished for a time, til thou disposest it to thy mercy.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousness, nourerest it in thy law, and reformat it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou slayest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoynt by thy Commandement, that the thing also which is made, might be preferred.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I wil speake (as touching men in generall thou shalt rather prouide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am sorie,

16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whom I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieved.

17 For them will I pray before thee, as wel for my selfe, as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the sudden comming of the Iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voice, & vnderstand my words, which I wil speake before thee. The beginning of y<sup>e</sup> words of Esdras, before he was taken vp.

20 O Lord, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whose throne is inestimable, and his glory incomprehensible, before whom the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in wind and fire, whose word is true, & sayings steadfast: whose commandement is strong, and gouernment terrible,

23 Whose looke drieth vp the depths, & wrath maketh the mountains to melt away, as the thing beareth witnesse, 24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answere.

26 Look not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not be thy wil to destroy them, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beastes, but loue them that alway put their trust in thy righteousness and glory.

31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sickenesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towards vs: which haue no works of righteousness.

33 For the righteous, which haue layd vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortal generation, that thou shouldest be so grieved towards it?

35 * For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any y<sup>e</sup> doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousness, & thy goodnes shall be praised, if thou be mercifull vnto them, which haue not y<sup>e</sup> substance of good workes.

37 ¶ Then answered he me, & said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy words it shall be.

38 For I wil not verely consider the works of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But * I wil reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation and the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shal it come to passe.

41 For

* 1. King. 8. 46.
2. Chron. 6. 36.

* Gen. 4. 4.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sowed, commeth not vp in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be sau'd.

42 I answered then and sayd, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seed perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man, which is created with thine handes, and thou art called his paterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, & haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, and said, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off that thou shouldest loue my creature about mee: but I haue oft times drawn neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art marueilous before the Higheft, 49 In that thou hast humbled thy self, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among y<sup>e</sup> righteous.

50 For many miseries and calamities remaine for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plentifulnes made ready: the city is builded, & rest is prepared, perfect goodnesse & absolute wisdom.

53 The roote of euil is sealed vp from you: the weakenesse and noth is destroyed from you, and into hell flieth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had liberty, they despised the most High: they contemned his law and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreover, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 * Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die.

59 For as y<sup>e</sup> thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish.

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the Name of him that made them, and are vnthankfull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and sayd, 63 Behold now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this world haue a beginning and an end, 10 Towners for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The lawes ingratitude. 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

He answered me then, and sayde, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visit the world which he made.

3 Therefore whē there shall be seene an *earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people,

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest,

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, & shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleueed,

8 Shall be preferred from the said perils, & shall see my saluation in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept me holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pitie of themselves, which now haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast thee out despitefully, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefits, and haue not known me,

11 But haue abhorred my law; while they were yet in liberty, and when they had yet leisure of amendment, and would not vnderstand, but despised it,

12 They must be taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more careful, to know how the vngodly shall be punished, but inquire how the righteous shall be sau'd, and whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore said that which I say now and will speake it hereafter, that there bee many moe of them which perish, then of them that shall be *sau'd,

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the maners of the that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seede, and by a Law, whereout they cannot rid themselves.

20 So I considered the worlde, and beholde there was perill, because of the deuises, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuertheless, if thou wilt cease seuen dayes moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eate only of the floures of of the field, and ate no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely, 25 And pray vnto the most High continually) then I will come, and talke with thee, 26 So I went my way, as hee had commanded me, into the field, which is called Ardath, & there I sate among the flowers, and did eat of the herbs of the field, and the meat of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seven dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, & mine heart was vexed within me, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and to say,

29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shew thy selfe vnto vs, *thou declaredst thy self vnto our fathers in y wilderness, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

30 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare mee, O Israel, and marke my wordes, thou seed of Iacob.

31 For beholde, I sowe my Lawe in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our Fathers which received the Lawe, kept it not, neither observed thine ordinances, neither did the fruite of the Lawe appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 *For they that receiued it, perished because they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seed, or the sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drinke, if that perish wherin a thing is sown, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sown, or is put therein, & the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Law, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it.

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, & vpon the right side *I saw a woman which mourned sore, and lamented with a loud voice, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And sayde vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in mind?

41 And she said vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorow: for I am sore vexed in my mind, and brought very low.

42 Then I sayde vnto her, What aileth thee? tell me.

43 And shee said vnto mee, I thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no child, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And euery houre, and euery day these thirtie yeeres, I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard mee thine handmaid, and looked vpon my miserie, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honor vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great tranell.

47 So when he grewe vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

Esther and the woman that appeareth vnto him, communt together.

BUt when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrewe the lights, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fled, and am come into this field as thou seest,

4 And am not purposed to return into the city, but to remaine here, and neither to eat nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast, vntill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and sayd, 6 Thou foolish woman aboute all other, seest thou not our heauines, & what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all woful, and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing we be all now in heauines, and make our mone (for we be all forowfull) art thou sorie for one sonne?

9 Demand the earth, and shee shall tell thee that it is shee which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and beholde, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shalbe destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, shee that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sorie but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruit of my wombe, which I brought forth with heaumeffe, and bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauell, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withhold thy sorow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt bee commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto mee, I will not, I will not go into the city, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and sayd, 20 Doe not so, but be counselled: for how many falles hath Sion? Be of good comfort because of the sorow of Ierusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuary is layde waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:

22 Our psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, & the light of our candlestick is quenched, and the Arke of our couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priestes are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoiled, and our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought into bondage, and our strong men are become weake,

5 f 3 23 And

23 And which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for shee is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put away the multitude of sorowes, that the Almighty may bee mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beauty shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraide of her and muted what it might be.

26 And behold, immediatly she cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto mee no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cried with a loude voice, and said, 28 Where is Viel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for he hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and hee tooke mee by the right hand and comforted mee, and set mee vpon my feete, and said vnto me, 31 What ayleth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorie?

32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done * according vnto thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heere that I doe not know.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doth my mind, being hauty, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I will informe thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most High hath reueiled many secret things vnto thee.

39 He hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sorry continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a little while ago.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganest to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likenesse of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a city builded.

43 And where as she tolde thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solation,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, she is Sion: and whereas she tolde thee (euen shee which thou seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that she saide vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirtie yeres wherein there was no offering offered in her,

46 But after thirtie yeres, Salomon built the city, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas she tolde thee, that shee nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem.

48 But whereas shee told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when shee came into her chamber, that is the sal that is come to Ierusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganest to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the most High seeth, that thou art sorry in thy mind, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clearenesse of her glory, and the fairenesse of her beauty.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knewe that the most High woulde shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building can not stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but goe in, and see the beauty and greatnesse of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed about many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morow at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High wil do vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another, as he had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an eagle coming forth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a lyon coming out of the forest.

Then saw I a dreame, and beholde, there came vp from the sea an eagle, which had twelue feathered wings and three heads.

2 And I saw, and behold, she spred her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blew on her, and gathered themselves.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became litle feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the middes was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreover, I sawe that the eagle flew with his feathers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I sawe that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the eagle stode vp vpon her claws, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not altogether: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preferred for the last.

10 Neuertheless, I saw that the voice went not out of her heads, but from the mids of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and beheld, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp, & reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voice vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more,

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third & reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, & behold in proceffe of time the feathers that followed, stood vp on the right side, that they might rule also, & some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and behold, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the egles bodie, but two heads that rested, and fixe wings.

24 Then sawe I also that two wings diuided themselves from the fixe, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnder wings thought to set vp themselves, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselves to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads y were at rest, which was in the middes: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I saw, that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And beholde, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnderwings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare & bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, & it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had beene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the mids, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, & ouer those y dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe the head vpon the right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voice which said vnto me, Look before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I saw, and behold as it were a Lion that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that hee sent out a mans voice vnto the egle, and spake, and said,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that that of the foure beastes remainest whom I made to reign in my world, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath overcome all the beasts that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulness, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast not iudged y world with truth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued liars, & destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and hast cast downe the wals of such as did thee no harme, 43 Therefore is thy wrongful dealing come vp vnto the most High, & thy pride vnto the mighty.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proud times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou egle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heauis, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine bodie, 46 That all the earth may bee refreshed, and come againe as one deliuered from thy violence, and that thee may hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

C H A P. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

And when the Lion spake these words to the Egle, I saw,

2 And behold, the head that had the vpper band, appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselves to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproares.

3 And I saw, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the egle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. The I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my mind, and from the great feare, and said vnto my spirit,

4 Lo, this hast thou done vnto me in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High,

5 Loe, yet am I wearie in my mind, and verie weake in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now I wil beseech the most High that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer indeede become vp before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruant the interpretation & difference of this horrible sight, that thou maiest perfectly comfort my soule,

9 Seeing thou hast iudged me worthy to shew me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The egle, whom thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the * kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Behold, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shal be feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after another, 15 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

17 As for the voice that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not goe out from the heads, but from the middes of the bodie thereof, this is the interpretation, 18 That after the time of that kingdome there shall arise great strife, and it shall be in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder wings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight Kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yeeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the midde time commeth, there shall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may bee ended, but two shall be kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation,

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe about all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Egles:

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last end.

26 And wheras thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last hee shall fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnderwings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 These are they whom the most High hath preferred for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood & roaring, and speaking vnto the eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the words that thou hast heard, 32 This is the wind which the most High hath kept for them, and for their wickednesse vnto the end, and hee shall reprove them, and cast before them their spoiles.

33 For hee shall set them aloue in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For hee wil deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preferred vpon my borders, and hee shall make them ioyful, vntil the coming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, & these are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely hast bene meet to know this secret of the most High.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene in a booke and hide them, 38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seven dayes more, that it may be shewed thee whatsoever it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceined, that the seven dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto mee, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee? or what euill haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as an haueu or ship preferred from the tempest.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it bene for vs, that we had bene burnt alto as Sion was burnt?

45 For wee are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a lowd voice. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and bee not heauie, thou house of Isakob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed fro you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, & I might seeke mercie for the low estate of your Sanctuarie.

49 And now goe your way home euerie man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them:

51 But I remained stil in the field seven dayes, as he had commanded me, and did eat onely of the flowers of the field, and had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a wind coming forth of the sea, 3 which became a man. 5 His propertie and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

And after the seven dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a wind from the sea, and it moued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, & behold, there was a mighty man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voice went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voice, as the earth faileth when it feelth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure winds of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and behold, hee graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene y countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I saw after these things, and behold, all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuertheless when hee saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, hee lifted not vp his hand: for he held no sword nor any instrument of warre.

10 But only, as I saw, he sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the wind of the flame, and out of his tongue hee cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And

11 And they were all mixt together, even this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and fel with violence vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust, and sinell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afayd.

12 ¶ Afterward, sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with joyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offred: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and sayd, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted mee worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shewe me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, Wo vnto them that shalbe left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauinesse.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are layd vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet it is easier that hee that is in danger should fall into these, and foresee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloud out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered hee mee, and sayd, The interpretation of the vision will I shew thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation, 23 He that shall beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith toward the most Mighty.

24 Know therefore, that they which be left behinde, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, Whereas thou sawest a man comming vp from the mids of the sea, 26 The same is hee whom the most High hath kept a great season, who by his own selfe shall deliuer his creature, and he shall order them that are left behind.

27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came a blast with fire and storme,

28 And that hee neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse hee destroyed the whole multitude that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,

29 Behold, the dayes come that the most High will beginne to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And hee shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, and place against place, and nation against nation, and realme against realme.

32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my sonne be reuealed, whom thou sawest go vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man shall in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that bee willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But he shall stand vpon the top of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shalbe shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen forth without any hands.

37 And this my sonne shall rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shall be tormented: and without any labour will hee destroy them, euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were caried away captiues out of their owne land, in the time of Oseas the King, whom Salmanasar the King of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and caried them beyond the riuer: so were they brought into another land.

41 But they tooke this counsel to themselves, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and go forth into a further countrey, where neuer mankind dwelt,

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they passed in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates.

44 For the most High then shewed them signes, and stayed the springs of the blood til they were passed ouer.

45 For thorow the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yeere and an halfe, and the same region is called || Asareth.

46 Then dwelt they there vntil the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The most High shall holde still the springs of the riuer againe, that they may goe thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that bee left behind of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when he destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, hee shal defend the people that remaine, 50 And then shall he shew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then sayd I, O Lord, Lord, shew mee this, wherfore haue I seene the man comming vp from the middes of the sea?

52 And he said vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon the earth see my Sonne, or those that bee with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine own Law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and fought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisdom, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewards with the most High: and after three other dayes I will

* 2. King. 17. 3.

* Exod. 14. 21.
Ios. 3. 15, 16.

Or, Ararat.

* Mal. 3. 4-7.

I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praising the most High for the wōders which he did in time.

58 Which hee gouerneth, and such things as come in their seasons: and there I fate three daies.

CHAP. XIII.

3 How God appeared to Moyses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The magnitude of Israel. 35 The resurrection and iudgement.

Vpon the third day I fate vnder an Oke, and behold, there came forth a voice vnto me out of the bush, and sayd, Eldras, Eldras.

2 And I sayd, Here am I, Lord, and stood vp vpon my feete.

3 Then sayd hee vnto me, * In the bush I reuealed my selfe, and spake vnto Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt:

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long season,

5 And I told him many wōders, and shewed him the secrets of the times and the end, and commanded him, saying,

6 These words shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.

7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the things that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine henceforth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, vntill the times bee ended.

9 For the world hath lost his youth, and the times begin to waxe old.

10 For the world is diuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature, 14 And set aside thy most grievous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater euils then those which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the euils be increased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the trueth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and said before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I wil go as thou hast commanded mee, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall bee borne after ward, who shall aduise them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenes, and they that dwell therein are without light.

21 For thy Lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that shalbe done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into mee, and I will write all that hath bene done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy Law, that men may find the path, and that they which wil line in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Go, and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fourtie dayes,

24 But prepare thee many box tables, and take with thee these five, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly,

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not bee put out till the things bee performed, which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfitt men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as hee commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and said, 28 Heare these words, O Israel.

29 * Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered;

30 And receiued the Lawe of life, * which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes which the most High commanded you.

32 And for so much as he is a righteous Iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that hee had giuen you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, yee shal be kept aliue, and after death shall ye obtaine mercy.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when we shall liue again: and then shal the names of the righteous be manifest, and the works of the vngodly shalbe declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fortie dayes.

37 So I tooke the five men, as he commanded me, and we went into the field, & remained there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called mee, saying, Eldras, * open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, hee reached mee a full cup, which was full as it were with water, but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had drunk it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisdom grew in my brest: for my spirit was strengthened in memorie, 41 And my mouth was opened, & shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the five men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fourtie dayes they wrote two hundredeth and foure bookes.

45 And when the fourtie dayes were fulfilled, the most high spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it.

46 But keepe the seuenthy last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among the people.

47 For in them is the treise of vnderstanding, and and the fountaine of wisedome, and the river of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophecies of Esaias u certain. 5 The euils that shall come vnto the world. 9 The Lord will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition, 20 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 33 God is the reuenger of his elect

Behold, speake thou in the eares of my people the words of prophesie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulness of speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithful shall die in his vnfaithfulness.

5 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death, and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked works are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold,* the innocent and righteous blood crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

9 I wil surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto mee all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Beholde, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt, 11 But I will bring them out with a mightie hand, and stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, & wil destroy al the land therof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall bee smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their feedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Woe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sword, and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swords in their hands.

16 For there shall be sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regard their king, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to goe into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall be afraid, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall be spoyled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them, and to repay the things that they haue done to then.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their bosome: thus saith the Lord God,

22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw, that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandments, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuarie.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and destruction.

27 For nowe are the plagues come vpon the world, & ye shall remaine in them: for God wil not deliuer you because ye haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision commeth from the East,

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charrets, and the multitude of them shall be caried as the wind vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the bores of the forest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, & shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemy besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their host shall be feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Behold cloudes from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of stars vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shall be from the sword vnto the belly.

36 And the dongue of man vnto the camels litter.

37 And there shall bee great fearefulness and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shall be afraid, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, & part from the West.

39 And from the East shall windes arise, and shall open it with the cloud, which he raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West winde, shall be destroyed.

40 As the great and mighty cloudes shall bee lift vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraid, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery hie place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation, 41 As fire & haile, and flying swords, and many waters, that all fields may be full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake down the cities and walles, and mountaines, and hills, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the medowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall goe with a straight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraid.

44 They

44 They shal come to her, and besiege her, and shal powre forth the constellation, & al the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, & all they that be about her, shal bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shal doe seruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glory in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast folowed her that is hated in all her works, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God, 49 I wil send plagues vpon thee, widowhood, pouerty, and famine, and the sword, & pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glory of thy power shalbe dried vp as a flower when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mighty and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine handes, and said ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set forth the beautie of thy countenance?

55 The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto thy chosen, sayeth the Lord, so will God do vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shalbe broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountaines shal die of hunger, and eat their owne flesh, & drinke their own blood for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as vnhappie, shalt come thorow the sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine citie, and shal root out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glorie, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast down, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shal be to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land and thy mountaines: all thy woods, and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shal they carie away captiue, and shal spoyle thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia and Egypt and Syria. 18. 38 Of beawils that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to go-uern themselves in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselves to the Lord. 55 Whose mightie providence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WOe to thee, Babylon and Asia: woe to thee Egypt and Syria,

2 Girde your selues with sacke & hairecloth, and mourne your children, and bee forie: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can drive them away?

5 May any man drive away an hungrie Lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mightie Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can drive them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 Hee shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? hee shal thunder, and who shal not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not vtterly bee broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord, and the glorie of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bow: his arrowes that he shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to bee shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shal not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shot of a mighty archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shalbe sent vpon earth, shal not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who wil deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine and great death: the beginning of wars, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, & all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor be alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, vitailles shalbe so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselves to bee in good case: but then shall the euils bud forth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall bee cast out as dongue, and there shall bee no man to comfort them: for the earth shall bee wasted, and the cities shall bee cast downe.

20 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shalbe ripe, but who shall tread them? for al places shalbe desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie they shall be ten left, and two of the fieldes, which shall hide themselves in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaineth three or foure oliues in the place where oliues grow, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shalbe three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

26 And the earth shalbe left waste, & the fieldes thereof thereof shall waxe olde, and her wayes and all her pathes shall growe full of thornes because no man shall trauell therethrough.

37 The virgins shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

38 In the warres shal their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

39 But, yee seruants of the Lorde, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Beholde the word of the Lorde, receiue it: beleue not the gods of whom the Lord speaketh: behold, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a traouelling woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the childe commeth to the birth, they tary not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues bee slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my worde: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that wil lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as he that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein:

36 He that soweth, as one that shall not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marrie, as they that shall get no children: and they that marrie not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore, they that labour, labour in vaine:

39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spoile their goods, & ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more wil I be angry against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when he shall come that shall bridle the author of all sinne vpon the earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shall bee taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lorde God and his glory.

46 Behold, the Lord knoweth all the workes of men, their imaginations, their thoughts & their hearts.

47 *For assoone as he saide, Let the earth bee made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he knoweth the number of them.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the creatures thereof: hee hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 He hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 Hee spreadeth out the heauen like a vauce: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the toppe of the mountaines, to powre out floods vpon the high rocks to water the earth.

53 He made man, and put his heart in the mids of the body, and gaue him breath, life and vnderstanding.

54 And the Spirit of the Almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when yee sinne and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lorde searched and sought out all his workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sins are brought forth before men, ye shall be confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What wil ye doe, or how will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Beholde, God himselfe is the iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, & meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God lead you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heare of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meat to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision and in reproch, and troden vnder foote.

62 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shalbe great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shalbe like maddemen: they shal spare none: they shall spoile, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the trial of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tryed by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord, behold, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not ye afraide: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my Commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselves vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and covered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, and the path thereof covered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

THe booke of the wordes of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Adiel, the son of Gabael, of the seed of Asael, and of the tribe of Nephthalim,

<sup>3</sup> I Tobias haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren which were of my nation, and came with me to Niniue into the land of the Assyrians.

<sup>4</sup> And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Israel, being but yong, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fell from the house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all y<sup>e</sup> tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the tabernacle of the most High was consecrated, and built vp for all ages.

<sup>5</sup> * Nowe all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

<sup>6</sup> But I (as it was ordeined to all Israel by an euerlasting decree) went alone often to Ierusalem, at the feastes * bringing the first frutes, and the tenth of beastes, with that which was first shorne, and offered them at the altar to the Priestes of the children of Aaron.

<sup>7</sup> The first tenth part I gaue to the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Ierusalem: the other tenth part I sold, and came and bestowed it euery yeere at Ierusalem.

<sup>8</sup> The thirde tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meete, as Debora my fathers mother had commaunded mee: for my father left me as a pupill.

<sup>9</sup> Furthermore when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of mine owne kined, and of her I begate Tobias.

<sup>10</sup> ¶ But when I was led captiue to Nineue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kined, did eate of the bread of the Gentiles.

<sup>13</sup> Therefore the most High gaue me grace and fauor before Enemessar, so that I was his purueior.

<sup>14</sup> ¶ And I went into Media, & I deliuered ten talents of siluer to Gabael the brother of Gabrias in the land of Media.

<sup>15</sup> But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.

<sup>16</sup> ¶ But in the time of Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, & gaue my bread to them which were hungry, <sup>17</sup> And my clothes to the naked: and if I sawe any of my kined dead, or cast about the walles of Nineue, I buried him.

<sup>18</sup> And if the King Sennacherib had slaine any when he was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them priuily (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the King.

<sup>19</sup> Therefore when a certaine Niniuite had accused me to the King, because I did burie them, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

<sup>20</sup> Then all my goods were spoiled, neither was there any thing left me besides my wife Anna and my sonne Tobias.

<sup>21</sup> Neuertheless * within fife and fiftie dayes, two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Arrarath, and Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accompts and ouer all his domestical affaires Achiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

<sup>22</sup> And when Achiacharus had made a request for me, I came againe to Nineue: now Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouersaw the accompts: so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and hee was my brothers sonne.

NOW when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto me with my son Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I fate downe to eate.

<sup>2</sup> And when I saw abundance of meat, I said to my sonne, Go, & bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt find of our brethren which doeth remember God, and loe I will tarie for thee.

<sup>3</sup> But he came againe, and said, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out into the market place.

<sup>4</sup> Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the Sunne.

<sup>5</sup> Then I returned and washed, and ate my meate in heauinesse, <sup>6</sup> Remembring that prophecie of * Amos, which had said, Your solemne feastes shalbe turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wailing.

<sup>7</sup> Therefore I wept, & after the going downe of the Sunne I went and made a graue and buried him.

<sup>8</sup> But my neighbours mocked mee, and said, Doth he not feare to die for this cause, who * fled away, and yet, loe, he burieth the dead againe?

<sup>9</sup> The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house, because I was polluted, and hauing my face vn-couered, <sup>10</sup> And I knew not that sparrows were in the wall, and as mine eyes were open, the sparrows cast downe warme doung into mine eyes, and a whitenesse came in mine eyes, and I went to the Physitions, but they helped mee not. Moreouer, Achiacharus did nourish mee, vntill I went into Helimais.

<sup>12</sup> And when shee had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gaue a kid.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angel Raphael sent.

Then I, being sorowfull, did weepe, and in my sorow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy works, and all thy wayes are mercy & trueth, & thou iudget truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember me, & looke on me, neither punish me according to my finnes or mine ignorances or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandments: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs* for a spoile and vnto captiuitie, & to death, & for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed, and now || thou hast many and iust causes

5 To do with me according to my finnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy commandments, neither haue walked in truth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, & command my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, & become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, & am very sorowfull: command therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day that in Ec-batane a city of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maids,

8 Because she had bene married to seuen husbands, whom Asmodeus the euil spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doeſt thou not know, said they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had nowe seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doeſt thou || beat vs for them? if they be dead, go thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When she heard these things, she was very sorowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And she said, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I do this, I shal slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorow.

11 Then shee prayed toward the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy works praise thee for euer.

12 And new, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee.

13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath he any manchild to be his heire, neither any || neere kinsman or childe borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, and why should I liue?

But if it please not thee that I should die, command to looke on me, and to pitie me that I doe no more heare reproch.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the Maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenes of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Asmodeus the euil spirit, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe fro her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

IN that day Tobit remembered *the siluer which he had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a cite of Media,

2 And sayd with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore do I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonish him before I die.

3 And when he had called him, he said, My son, after that I am dead, bury me, and despise not thy mother, but *honour her all the daies of thy life, and do that which shal please her, & anger her not.

4 Remember, my sonne, how many dangers she susteined when thou wast in her wombe,

5 And when she dieth, bury her by me in the same graue.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to sinne, or to transgresse the commandments of God. Doe vp-rightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrighteousnesse, for if thou deale truely, thy doings shall prosperously succed to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

7 Giue *almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye bee enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 *Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraid to giue a litle almes.

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessity, 10 *Because that almes doeth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darkenesse.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most Hie to all them which vie it.

12 Beware of all *whoredome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seed of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for we are the children of the Prophets. Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kinred, and were blessed in their children, and their seed shall inherit the land.

13 Now therefore, my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, & much trouble, and in fiercenesse is scarcity, and great po-uerty: for || fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the *wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tary with thee, but giue him it our of hand: for if thou serue God, he wil also pay thee: be circumspect my sonne, in all things that thou doeſt, & be wel instructed in all thy conuersation.

15 *Do that to no man which thou hateſt: drink not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkenesse

20 Furthermore, I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

21 And feare not, my sonne, forasmuch as we are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, & flee from all sinne, and doe that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

C H A P. V.

Tobias sent to Rages. 4 Hee meeteth with the Angel Raphael which did conuict him.

Tobias then answered, & said, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, & said vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and goe and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and said vnto him, May I goe with thee into the land of Media? and knoweth thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel said, I wil go with thee, for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tary for me, till I tell my father.

8 Then he sayd vnto him, Goe, and tary not: so hee went in and sayd to his father, Beholde, I haue found one, which will goe with mee. Then he sayd, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit sayd vnto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and familie thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doeft thou seeke a stocke or familie, or an hired man to go with thy sonne? Then Tobit sayd vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then he sayd, I am of the kindred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit said, Thou art welcome, brother: be not now angry with mee, because I haue inquired to know thy kindred and thy family: for thou art my brother, of an honest & good stocke: for I know Ananias and Ienathas, sonnes of that great Samarias: for wee went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenths of the fruits, and they were not deceiued with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tell me, What wages shall I giue thee?

with thee a great day and things necessary, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea, moreouer if ye returne safe, I will adde something to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, & goe you on Gods Name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father sayd, Goe thou with this man, & God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, & the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both and departed, and the dog of the yong man with them.

17 But Anna his mother wept, and sayd to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

18 Would to God we had not laid money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Be not careful, my sister: he shall returne in safety, and thine eyes shal see him.

21 For the good Angel doth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then she made an end of weeping.

2 Tobias deliuered from the fish. 7 Raphael sheweth him certaine medicines. 10 He conuicteth him toward Sarra.

And as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and their abode.

2 And when the yong man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man tooke the fish, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel sayd, Cut the fish, and take the heart and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

5 So the yong man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had rosted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the yong man sayde to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he sayd vnto him, Touching the heart, and the liuer, if a deuill or an eul spirit trouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and he shalbe no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoint a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shalbe healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come nere to Rages,

10 The Angel said to the yong man, Brother, to day we shal lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: he also hath one only daughter named Sarra: I wil speak for her that she may be giue thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doth the right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred,

12 And the maide is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, & I wil speak to her father, that we may make the mariage when we are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel can not marry her to another according to the law of Moses: els he should deserue death, because the right doeth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maide hath bene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the mariage chambers;

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Doeſt thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou ſhouldeſt marry a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore heare me, O my brother: for ſhe ſhall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill ſpirit: for this ſame night ſhall ſhe be giuen thee in marriage.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the houſe of Raguel: & Sarra mette them, and after they had ſaluted one another, ſhe brought them into the houſe.

2 Then ſaide Raguel to Edna his wife, Howe like is this young man to Tobit my couſin!

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they ſaid, that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Then he ſaid to them, Doe ye know Tobit our kiſman? And they ſaid, We know him. Then ſaid he, Is he in good health?

5 And they ſaid, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias ſaid, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, and kiſſed him, and wept,

7 And bleſſed him, and ſaid vnto him, Thou art the ſonne of an honeſt & good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blind, he was ſorowfull and wept.

8 And likewiſe Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreover they receiued the with a readie mind, and after that they had killed a ram of the flocke, they ſet much meate on the table. Then ſaid Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth thoſe things whereof thou ſpakeſt in the way, that this buſineſſe may be diſpatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel ſaid to Tobias, Eate, and drinke and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou ſhouldeſt marrie my daughter: neuertheleſſe, I will declare vnto thee the truth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to ſeuen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheleſſe be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias ſaid, I will eate nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and betroth her to me.

12 Raguel ſaid then, Marry her then according to the cuſtome: for thou art her couſin, and ſhe is thine. God which is mercifull, make this propitious to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and ſhe came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, ſaying, Beholde, take her after the * lawe of Moyſes, and leade her away to thy father: and he bleſſed them,

14 And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a booke, and wrote a contract, and ſealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and ſaid vnto her, Siſter, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which whē ſhe had done, as he had bidden her, ſhe brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares, 18 And ſaide vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy ſorow: be of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill ſpirit. 4. He prayeth to God with his wife. 11. Raguel prepareth a grave for his ſonne in lawe. 16. Raguel bleſſeth the Lord.

AND when they had ſupped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as he went, he remembered the wordes of Raphael, and tooke coles for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fiſh thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which ſmell when the euill ſpirit had ſmelled, he fled into the ¶ vmoſt parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

4 And after that they were both ſhut in, Tobias roſe out of the bed, and ſaid, Siſter, ariſe and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to ſay, Bleſſed art thou, O God of our fathers, and bleſſed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens bleſſe thee, and all thy creatures,

6 Thou madeſt Adam, and gaueſt him * Eva his wife for an helpe, & ſay: of them came mankind: thou haſt ſaide, It is not good, that a man ſhould be alone: let vs make vnto him an aide like vnto himſelfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my ſiſter for fornication, but vprightly: therefore grant me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And ſhe ſaid with him, Amen.

9 So they ſlept both that night, and Raguel aroſe, and went and made a graue,

10 Saying, Is not he dead?

11 But when Raguel was come into his houſe,

12 He ſaid to his wife Edna, Send one of the maids, and let them ſee whether hee be aliue: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

13 So the maid opened the doore, and went in, and found them both aſleepe, 14 And came forth, and told them that hee was aliue.

15 Then Raguel praized God, & ſaid, O God, thou art worthy to be praized with all pure and holy praife: therefore let thy Saints praife thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praife thee for euer.

16 Thou art to be praized, O Lord: for thou haſt made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I ſuſpected: but thou haſt dealt with vs according to great mercie.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

Raguel praizeth God for Tobias.

Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

Tobias ſuſpecteth Raphaels daughter to be dead.

17 Thou art to be praised because thou hast had mercy of two that were the only begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercy, O Lord, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercy.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And he kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an othe, that hee should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the marriage were expired.

21 And then hee should take the halfe of his goods & returne in safetie to his father, & should haue the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias marriage.

Then Tobias called Raphael, and saide vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tarry long, he will be very sory.

5 So Raphael went out & came to Gabael and gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, & gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth Tobias and Sarra.

Now Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the daies of the iourney were expired, and they came not.

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore he was very sory.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarryeth: and she began to bewaile him, and said,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace: bee not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead, and she went out euery day by the way which they went, neither did she eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias vntill the fourteene daies of wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that he should tarry there. Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8. But his father in law said vnto him, Tarry with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me goe to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, & cattel, and money, 11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honor thy father, and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and hee kissed them. Edna also saide to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, & grant that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Beholde now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not entreate her euill.

CHAP. XI.

The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How he was received. 10 His father hath his sight restored and praised the Lord.

After these things Tobias went his way, praying God that he had giuen him a prosperous iourney, & blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest brother, how thou diddest leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

5 Now Anna sate in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whom when she saw comming, she said to his father, Beholde, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receive his sight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rub and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and saide vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke hold of his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke,

14 And he wept and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged me, & hast had pity on me: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad went in, & tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in law, reioicing and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him goe, maruelled, because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before the all, that God had had pitie on him. And when he came nere to Sarra his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God bee blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seven daies with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him. 5 The which hee would recompence. 11. 15. Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

* Chap. 5. 17.

Raguel giueth Tobias, and his wife leave to depart.

Sarra is instructed by her parents.

The Angels come to Tobias.

Then Tobit called his sonne Tobias, & said vnto him, Prouide, my sone, wages for the man, which went wth thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And he sayd vnto him, O father, it shal not grieue me to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought mee againe to thee in safety, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the old man said, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, and said vnto him, Take halfe of all that yee haue brought, and goe away in safetie.

6 But he tooke them both apart, and said vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, & praise him for the things which hee hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shew forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a king, but it is honourable to reueale the workes of God: doe that which is good, & no euil shal touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteousness. A litle with righteousness is better then much with vnrighteousnesse: it is better to giue almes then to lay vp gold.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousness, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that siane, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I sayde it was good to keepe close the secret of a king, but that it was honourable to reueale the workes of God.

12 Now therefore when thou diddest pray, and Sarra thy daughter in law, I did bring to memory your prayer before the Holy one: and when thou diddest bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deede was not hid from me: but I was with thee.

14 And now God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael one of the seuen holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he said vnto them, Feare not, for it shal goe well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

19 * Al these daies I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eat nor drinke, but you saw it in visio.

20 Now therefore giue God thanks: for I goe vp to him that sent me: but write al things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull workes of God, & how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiving of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

Then Tobit wrote a prayer of reioicing, and said, Blessed be God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome.

2 * For he doeth scourge, and hath pity: hee leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoyd his hand.

3 Confesse him before y<sup>e</sup> Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God, and our Father for euer.

5 He hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercy againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whom we are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vprightly before him, then will he turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but yee shall see what he wil doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, and praise the Lord of righteousness, and extoll the euerlasting King. I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power and greatnesse to a sinful nation. O ye sinners, turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercy, and haue pitie on you?

7 I will extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the King of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousness.

9 O Ierusalem the holy citie, he will scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but he will haue pity againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue prayse to the Lord duely, and prayse the euerlasting king, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

11 Many nations shal come from farre to the Name of the Lord God, with gifts in their hands, euen gifts to the King of heauen: all generations shall prayse thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are all they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioice, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shall be gathered, and shal blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorrowfull for al thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Ierusalem shal be built vp with sapphires, and emeralds, & thy walles with precious stones, and thy towres, & thy bulwarks with pure gold.

17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shal be paved with berall, and carbuncle, and stones of || Ophir.

18 And all her streetes shall say, || Halleluiahi, and they shall prayse him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled || it for euer.

CHAP. XIII.

3. Lesons of Tobit to his sonne. 4. He prophesiech the destruction of Ninene, 5. and the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13. The death of Tobit and his wife. 14. Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an end of praying God.

2 And hee was eight and fifty yeere olde, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yere, and he gaue almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and sixe of his sonnes sonnes, and sayd to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life)

5 Yet againe God* wil haue pity on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age bee fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne fro every place out of captivity, and build vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the House of God shalbe built in it for euer w a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, & feare the Lord God truly, and shall burie their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shal exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lord in truth & iustice, shal reioice, and those also which shew mercy to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the commandements, and shew thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And bury mee honestly, and thy mother with me: but tary no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of light he brought him into darknesse, and how he rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his reward: for he went downe into darknesse. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousness doth deliuer. When he had said these things, hee gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundredth & eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honourably.

12 And whē Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife & children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in law.

13 Where he became old with honour, and he buried his father & mother in law honorably, and he inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundredth and seuen and twenty yeere olde.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Asuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

IVDETH.

CHAP. I.

The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 12 Hee threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great city (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walles round about, of hewen stone, three cubites broad, and fixe cubites long, and made the height of the wall seventy cubits, and the bredth thereof fiftie cubits,

3 And made the towres thereof in the gates of it of an hundredth cubits, and the bredth thereof in the foundation threecore cubits,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on his seventy cubits, & the bredth of them fourty cubits, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen)

5 Euen in those dayes, king Nabuchodonosor made warre with king Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coasts of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him al they that dwelt in the mountains, & all that dwelt by Euphrates, & Tygris, & Hydaspes, & the country of Arioeh y king of the Elymeans, & very many nations assembled themselves to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galile, and the great field of Eldrelam, 9 And to all that were in Samaria, & the cities thereof, and beyond Iorden vnto Ierusalem, & Betane, & Chellus, and Cades, & the riuier of Egypt, and Taphnes, & Rameffe, & all the land of Gesem, 10 Vnto one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and to one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, & sware by his throne and kingdome, that he would surely be auenged vpon all those coasts of Cilicia & Damascus, and Syria, & that he would slay with the sword al the inhabitants of the land of Moab, & the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt, til one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then hee marched in battell aray with his power against king Arphaxad in the seuteenth yeere, and he preuailed in his battell: for he overthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horsemen, and all his chariots.

14 And he wan his citie, & came vnto Ecbatane, & tooke the towre, and spoyled the streetes thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him thorow with his dart, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So he returned after ward to Nineue, both he and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there hee passed the time, and banquetted, both hee, and his armie an hundredth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people should bee brought in subiection, 6 and to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes army. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

And

Or for hee failed him in the bed.

And in the eighteenth yere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that hee should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So hee called vnto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when hee had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King, the Lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt go forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen, an hundred and twentieth thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt goe against all the West country, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land & the water: for I will go forth in my wrath against them, & will couer the whole face of the earth with the feet of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoile vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shal fill their valleys, and their riuers, and the flood shall overflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captinitie to the utmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their country: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reuerse them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them wherefoeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdom, whatfoeuer I haue spoken, that will I doe by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commandements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to do them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernors, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Assur,

15 And hee mustred the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundred and twenty thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And hea set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And hee tooke camels and asses for their burdens a very great number, & sheepe, and oxen, and goats without number for their prouision, 18 And vitaille for euery man of the army, and very much gold and siluer out of the kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to go before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, & to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charrets, and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grasshoppers, and like the grauel of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three daies journey toward the country of Bethileth, and pitched from Bethileth neere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then he tooke all his army, his footmen and horsemen, and charrets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he destroyed Phind and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Rastles, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wickernesse at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then hee went ouer Euphrates, and went thorow Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntill one come to the sea.

25 And he tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Lapheth, which were toward the South and ouer against Arabia.

26 He compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheat harvest, and burnt vp all their fields, and destroyed their flocks and the heards, he robbed their cities, and spoiled their countrey, and smote all their yoong men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fel vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, & them that dwelt in Sur and Oeina, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. 8 Hee destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might only be worshipped.

So they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great king: we lie downe before thee: vse vs as shalbe good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheat, and our flocks, & our heards, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Behold, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he downe toward the sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garisons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them with crownes, with daunces, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was inioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that al nations should worship Nabuchodonosor only, & that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also he came against Esdraelon, neere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great strait of Iudea.

10 And he pitched betweene Geba, & a city of the Scythians, and there hee taried a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his army.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were affraide and defended their country. 6 Ioseph the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they shoulde forsifie themselves. 9 They cried to the Lord, and humbled themselves before him.

Now the childre of Israel that dwelt in Iudea, heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captivity, and of late all the people were assembled in Iudea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoro, and Belmen, and Iericho, and Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the toppes of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in victuals for the prouision of warre: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Also Ioachim the hie Priest which was in those daies in Ierusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Elsdraelon toward the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to kepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entry into Iudea, and it was easie to let them that woulde, come vp, because the passage was strait for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Ioachim the hie Priest had commanded them with the Ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Ierusalem.

9 Then cried euery man of Israel to God with great seruency, & their soules with great affliction.

10 Both they, and their wiues, and their children, and their cattel, and euery stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinked ashes vpon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar, 12 And cried to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoile, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many daies in all Iudea and Ierusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Ioachim the hie Priest, & all the Priests that stood before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loines girt with sackcloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering, with prayers and the free gifts of the people.

15 And had ashes on their miters, and cried vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Ierusalem.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the toppes of the hie hills, and had laid impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith hee was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast,

3 And he said vnto them, Shewe me, O vee sonnes of Canaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what king or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meet mee, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 Then said Achior the captaine of all the sons of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, & I will declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, nere where thou remainest: and there shal no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many daies.

9 Then their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with very much cattell.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linage.

11 Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them low with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues.

12 Then they cried vnto their God, & he snote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

13 And God dried the red sea in their presence,

14 And brought them into mount Sin and Cades barne, and cast forth all that dwelt in the wilderness.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esobon, and passing ouer Iordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Phereites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sichein, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many daies.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquity, was with them.

18 But when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, and were led captiues into a land that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, & haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there there be any fault in this people, so that they have sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there bee none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them: and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, al the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, wee feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O lord Olofernes, and they shall bee meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whome Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians crye vnto the Lord.

And when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell, was ceased, Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, said vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, because their God wil defend them: and who is God but Nabuchodonosor?

3 Hee will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants wil destroy them as one man: for they are not able to susteine the power of our horses.

4 For wee will treade them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall bee drunken with their blood, and their fields shall bee filled with their dead bodies, and their footesteps shall not bee able to stand before vs: but they shall vterly perish.

5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth, hath said, euen hee hath said, None of my words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these words in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vnrill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue me, passe thorow thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carrie thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the high cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou bee destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mynd, that they shall not bee taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commanded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: & they went out from the midst of the plaine into the mountaines, & came vnto the fountaines, where were vnder Bethulia

12 And when the men of the citie sawe them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the citie vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie.

15 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the sonne of Gothoniell, and Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the mids of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And hee answered and declared vnto them the words of the counsell of Olofernes, and al the words that he had spoken in the mids of the princes of Assur, and whatsoever Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cried vnto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercie on the basenesse of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, & made a feast to the Elders, & they called on the God of Israel al that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

Olofernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumaeans and others against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

The next day Olofernes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoue their camps against Bethulia, and that they should take al the streites of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their camps in that day, and the armie of the men of war was an hundreth thousand and seuentie footemen, and twelue thousand horsmen, beside the baggage and other men that were afoote among them, a verie great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spred abroad toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Efdraelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and said euerie one to his neighbour, Now will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the high mountaines nor the valleyes, nor the hills are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euerie one tooke his weapons of war, and burning fires in their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day, Olofernes brought forth all his horsmen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia.

7 And

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them, and set garrisons of men of warre ouer them, and remoued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, and said, 9 Let our captaine now heare a word, leaft an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore my lord, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the countrey, that cometh forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and we and our people will goe vp to the tops of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children shalbe consumed with famine, & before the sword come against them, they shall be ouerthrowne in the streetes where the dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these words pleased Olofernes and all his souldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, & with the fise thousand of the Assyrians, & they pitched in the valley, & took the waters, & the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, & camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of themselves toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the field, and ouered the whole laud: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cried vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, & there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the companie of Asur remained about them, both their footmen, chariots and horsemen, foure and thirtie dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wiues and yong men failed for thirst, & fell down in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cried with a lowde voice, and said before all the Elders,

24 The Lord iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that yee haue not required peace of the children of Asur.

25 For now we haue no helper: but God hath folde vs into their hands, that wee should bee throwen down before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a spoyle to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoyle vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will bee his seruants that we may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witnesse against you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers which punisheth vs, according to our sinnes and the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great cris of all with one consent in the middes of the assembly, and they cried vnto the Lord God with a lowd voice.

30 Then said Ozias to them, Brethren, bee of good courage: let vs waite yet fise dayes, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he wil not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these daies passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euerie one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towers of their citie, and sent their wiues & their children into their houses, and they were verie low brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parting, life and conversation of Judith 11 Shee rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernours. 12 Shee sheweth that they should not tempt God, but make vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

NOW at that time, Judith heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Ox, the sonne of Ioseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salafadai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stock and kindred, who died in the barley haruest.

3 For as he was diligent ouer them that bound sheaues in the field, the heat came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, and died in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Judith was in her house a widow three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And she made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackcloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And shee fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath, & the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feasts and solemne dayes of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodly countenance, and verie beautifull to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold and siluer, and men seruants, and maide seruants, and cattel, and possessions, where shee remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for shee feared God greatly.

9 Now when shee heard the euill words of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the words that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had s'worne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fise dayes)

10 Then shee sent her mayd, that had the gouernment of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris & Charmis the Ancients of the city.

11 And they came vnto her, and she sayd vnto the, Heare me, O ye gouernors of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your the words that ye haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which yee made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And now, who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now you seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can yee perceiue the things that hee thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, & know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he will not helpe vs within these fise daies, he hath power to defend vs whē he wil, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Do you not therefore bind the counsels of the Lord our God: For God is not a man that hee may be threatned, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and hee will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor city among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath bene aforetime.

19 For * the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoile, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust i he wil not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we shalbe taken, shal Iudea be so famous: for our Sanctuary shalbe spoiled, & he wil require the prophanatio therof at our mouth, 22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance will hee turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, wherefoeuer we shalbe in bondage, and we shalbe an offence and reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shal not be directed by fauour, but i Lord our God shal turn it to dishonor.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuary, and the House, and the altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs enen as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things hee did to * Abraham, and how he tried Isaac, and all that hee did to * Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, when he kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

27 For he hath not tried vs as he did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth he take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is knownen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knownen thy wisdom: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirsty, and compelled vs to do vnto them as we haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an othe which wee may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs rain to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will do a thing, which shalbe declared in all generations to the children of our nation.

33 You shal stand this night in the gate, & I wil go forth with mine handmaid: & within the daies that yee haue promised to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will visite Israel by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine act: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things be finished that I doe.

35 Then sayd Ozias and the princes vnto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth herselfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

Then Iudeth fell vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, & put off the sackcloth wherewith shee was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that euennig was offered in Ierusalem in the house of the Lord, Iudeth cried with a loud voyce, and sayd,

2 O Lord God of my father * Simeon, to whom thou gauest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the mayd, and defiled her, and discovered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou hadst commanded that it should not so be.

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gauest their princes to the slaughter, for they were deceiued and washed their beds with blood) and hast stricken the seruants with the gouernors, and the gouernors vpon the thrones.

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray, & their daughters to be captiues, and all their spoiles for a booty to the children that thou louedst: which were moued with thy zeale, & abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Beholde, wee are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknownen.

7 Behold, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselves with horses and horsemen: they glory in the strength of their footmen, they trust in shield, speare and bowe, and sling, and doe not know that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, & breake

CHAP. X.

NOW after she had ceased to crie vnto the God of Israel, and had made an ende of all these words,

2 She arose where she had fallen downe, and called her mayd, and went downe into the house, in the which she abode in the Sabbath dayes and in the feast dayes.

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherewith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, she washed her body with water, & anoynted it with much oynment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnes, wherewith shee was clad during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and sleeues, and rings, and eare rings, and all her ornaments, and she decked herselfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her mayd a bottel of wine, & a pot of oile, & filled a scrip with floure, and with drie figs, and with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together, and layd them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there, Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they sawe her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Command the gates of the citie to be opened vnto me, that I may goe forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they commanded the yong men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, she and her maid with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill she was gone downe the mountaine, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went streight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she sayd, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall be giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes the chiefe captaine of your army, to declare him true things, and I will shewe before him the way whereby he shall goe and winne all the mountaines, without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beautie, and sayd vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hastened to come down to the presence of our lord: nowe therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, & he wil intreat thee wel.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her mayd, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro, throughout the campe: for her comming was bruted among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for shee stood without the tent of Olofernes, vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beauty, & wondered at the children of Israel because of her, and euery one sayd vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good, that one man of them bee left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes gard went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was woven with purple & gold, and emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they caried lampes of siluer before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and she fell down vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants took her vp.

CHAP. XI.

THen sayd Olofernes vnto her, Woman, bee of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the King of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised mee, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselves.

3 But nowe tell mee wherefore thou art fled, fro them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come, for safegard: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue, from from this right, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreat thee well, as they do the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 The Iudeth sayde vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmayd to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the wordes of thy handmaid, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shalbe made subiect to him by thee, but also the beasts of the fields, and the cattel, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For we haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared thorow the whole earth, that thou only art excellent in al the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feats of warre marueilous.

9 Now* as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy counsel, we haue heard his words: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, reiect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sword preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore, lest my lord shoulde bee frustrate, and void of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may bee taken in their sinnes whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they do that which is not befeeming.

12 (For because their victuals faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eat by his Lawes.

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheat, & the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserved and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreover, they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate.)

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaid, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, & God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, wherof al the earth shall wonder, and whosoever shall heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshipeth the God of heauen day and night, & now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant go out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reuile vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes,

18 And I wil come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt go forth with all thine armie, and there shalbe none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will leade thee thorow the mids of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throne in the mids thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dog shal not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto mee according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her words pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they maruelled at her wisdom, and said, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisdom of words.

22 Likewise Olofernes saide vnto her, God || hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy words: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall bee my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt bee renowned thorowout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles.

5 She maketh her request that she might go out by night to pray.

11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

Then he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were layd, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth sayd, * I may not eate of them, lest there should be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

3 Then Olofernes said vnto her, If the things that thou hast should faile, how should wee giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then said Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmayd shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord work by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and shee slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thine handmaid may go forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commandes his guard that they should not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Olofernes made a feast to his own seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch who had charge ouer all that he had, Go and perswade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that she come vnto vs, and eat and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we do not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and sayd, Let not this faire faire maide make difficulte to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Iudeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I should gainesay my lord? Surely whatsoever pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So shee arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maid went, and spread forth her skinner on the ground ouer against Olofernes, which she had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vse, that she might sit and eat vpon them.

16 Now when Iudeth came and sate downe, Olofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was moued, and he desired greatly her company: for hee had waited for the time to deceiue her, from the day that he had seene her.

17 Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be merry with vs.

18 So Iudeth said, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

14 Then she tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things that her maid had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then he had drunken at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 Shee smiteth off Olofernes necke. 10 Shee returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

Now when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all wearie, because the feast had bene long.

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

3 ¶ Nowe Iudeth had commanded her maid to stand without her chamber, and to wait for her comming forth as shee did daily: for shee said, she would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth of her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine hands for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approached to the bed, and tooke hold of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day.

8 And shee smote twise vpon his necke, with all her might, and shee tooke away his head from him.

9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after shee went forth, and gaue Olofernes head to her maide,

10 And shee put it in her scrip of meat: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and preassing thorow the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then said Iudeth atarre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shew his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as hee hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voice, they made haste to go downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ranne all together both smal and great: for it was aboute their expectation, that she should come. So they opened the gate, and receiued her, and made a fire for light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 Then shee said to them with a lowd voice, Praise God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hand this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrip, and shewed it, and said vnto them, Behold the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and behold the canopie wherein hee did lie in his drunkenesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and hee hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villeny.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God aboue al the women of the earth, and blessed bee the Lord God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visit thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a strait way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes. 10 Achior signeth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your walles.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe down into the field toward the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before fore your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coastes of Israel, shall pursue them, and ouerthrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see, and knowe him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come and saw the head of Olofernes, in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, he fel downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, he fell at Iudeths feet, and reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in al the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name, shalbe astonished.

8 Nowe therefore tell me all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the mids of the people all that she had done from the day that she went forth, vntill that houre she spake vnto him.

9 And when she had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noise of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleeued in God vnfaignedly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 As soone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wal, and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straits of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chief captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent, and said to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lorde: for the slaues haue bene bold to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty cry, and rent his garments.

17 After he went into the tent of Iudeth where she vsed to remaine, and found her not: then hee leaped out to the people and cried, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednesse: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, & there was a cry and a very great noise throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraid and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioachim the hie Priest cometh to Bethulia to see Iudeth and to praise God for her.

AND when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the fight of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountains round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warrior among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chela, and to all the coastes of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Nowe when the children of Israel heard it, they all fel vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Ierusalem and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the camp of their enemies, & they that were in Galaad & in Galilee chased them with a great slaughter, vntill they came to Damascus and to the coastes thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountains and in the plain, had a great bootie: for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Ioachim the hie Priest, and the Ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefits that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is blessed therewith: blessed bee thou of the almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirty dayes, and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and she tooke it & laid it on her mules, and made ready her charets, and laid them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, & blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and she tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with Oliues, and her that was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth prayeth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lorde Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her continence, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

Then Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voyce.

2 And Iudeth said, Begin vnto my God with timbrels: sing vnto my Lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a Psalm: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his camp in the mids of the people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur

* Chap. 2, 11, 15.

4 After came from the mountains forth of the North: hee came with thousands in his armie, * whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, & their horsemen haue couered the valleys.

5 He said that he would burne vp my borders and kill my yong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, & make mine infants as a pray, and my virgines a spoile.

6 But the almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mighty did not fall by the yong men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the hie giants inuade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beauty of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound vp her haire in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie tooke his minde prisoner, and the fauchin passed through his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnesse, and the Medes were troubled with her hardinesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voyce and turned backe.

12 The children of maidens pearced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the bartell of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lord a song and praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, marueilous, and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirit, and he made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

15 For the mountains leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rockes melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art merciful to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweete sauiour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but hee that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kinred: the Lord almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feelee them and weepe for euer.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and as soone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Iudeth also offered all the stuffe of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopie which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuary, for the space of threemoneths, and Iudeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his own inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the dayes of her life after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to || his people.

23 But she increased more and more in honor, and waxed olde in her husbands house, being a hundred and fūe yeere olde, and made her maide free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seven dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were neere of kinred to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neere of her kinred.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the dayes of Iudeth, nor a long time after her death.

ESTHER.

Certaine portions of the story of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations.

Which follow the tenth Chapter.

Hen Mardocheus sayd, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther whom the King married, and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cried to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all these euils, and God hath wrought signes, and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, & another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, at the houres and times appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembered his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those daies shall be vnto them in the moneth of Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among the people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra Dositheus, who sayd hee was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolemeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of || Phurrai, which they sayd Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolemeus, which was at Ierusalem, interpreted,

|| Or, Iannes.

2 In the second yere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mardocheus the sonne of Iarus, & sonne of Semei, the sonne son of Cis of the tribe of Benjamin had a dreame, 3 A Iew dwelling in the City of Susis, a noble man, that bare office in the Kings court.

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon brought fro Ierusalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame. Behold a noise of a tempest with thunders, & earthquakes, and uproare in the land, 6 Behold, two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their cry was great, wherby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was ful of darkedesse and obscuritie, and trouble, & anguish: yea, aduersity, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amased, and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, y litle wel grew into a great riuer, & flowed ouer w great waters.

11 The light and the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.

12 Nowe when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, he awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the Kings court with Bagathas, and Thara, the kings eunuches, and keepers of the palace.

2 *But when he heard their purpose, and their imaginations, he perceined that they went about to lay their hands vpon the King Artaxerxes, and so he certified the king thereof.

3 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuches with tormentes, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the king caused to be put in the Chronicles. Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the King commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the court, & for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honor and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

THe copie of the letters was this, The great King Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentleness to gouerne my subiects, and wholly to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquility, that men might safely goe thorow on euery side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellors how these things might be brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisdomie, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway despised the commandements of kings, and so that this generall empire, that we haue begun, cannot be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing now we perceiue, that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue wee commanded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wiues and children bee destroyed and rooted out with the sword of their enemies without all mercy, and that none bee spared the foureteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,

7 That they which of old, and now also haue euer bin rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hel, to the intent that after this time our affaires may bee without troubles, and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all y works of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 O Lord, Lord, y king Almighty (for all things are in thy power) & if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man y can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heaven and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, & thou knowest, Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory, that I did this, and not bow downe to proud Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good wil for the saluation of Israel, to haue kist the sole of his feete, 14 But I did it, because I would not prefer the honor of a man aboue the glory of God, & would not worship any but only thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God and king, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy y inheritance that hath bin thine from y beginning.

16 Despise not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my praier, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorow into ioy, that we may liue, O Lord, and praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like maner cried most earnestly vnto y Lord, because y death was before their eies.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her and her people.

Queene Esther also, being in danger of death, resorted vnto the Lord,

2 And laid away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious ointment, she scattered ashes, & dongue vpon her head: & she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled she with the haire that she pluckt off.

3 And she praied vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our king, helpe me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

*Estr. x. v. 1. 62.

Ecceph. Antiq. lib. 1. cap. 6.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in  $\gamma$  kinned of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel fro among all people, & our fathers from their predecessors for a perpetuall inheritance, & thou hast performed that which thou diddest promise them.

6 Now Lord, we haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giue vs into  $\gamma$  hands of our enemies,

7 Because we worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuerthelesse, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie; but they haue stroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they wil abolish  $\gamma$  thing  $\gamma$  thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, & destroy thine inheritance; to shut vp the mouth of the that praise thee, & to quench the glory of thy Temple, & of thine altar,

10 And to open the mouths of the heathen, they may praise the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshly king for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy scepter to them  $\gamma$  be nothing, lest they laugh vs to scorne in our misery: but turn their deuise vpon theselues, & make him an example, that hath begun the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, & shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, & strengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Giue me an eloquent speech in  $\gamma$  mouth before  $\gamma$  Lion: turne his heart to hate  $\gamma$ emie, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs  $\gamma$  thine hand, & helpe me  $\gamma$  am solitarie, which haue no defence but onely thee, 15 Thou knowest all things, O Lord: thou knowest, that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shew my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe.

17 And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, & that I haue had no pleasure in the Kings feast, or drunke the wine of the drinke offerings, 18 And that I thine handmayde haue no ioy since the day that I was brought hither, vntil this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mighty God aboue all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to go in to the King and make intercession for her people. 9 And she performeth his request.

Mardocheus also bade Esther to go in vnto the king, & pray for her people, & for her countrey.

2 Remember, saith hee, the dayes of thy lowe estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the king hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, & speake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when she had ended her prayer, she layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell;

5 And deckt her selfe goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder & fauour of all things, and tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Vpon the one shee leant her selfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull and amiable, but her heart was sorowfull for great feare.

9 Then shee went in thorow all the doores, and stood before the king, and the king sate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold and precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then hee lift vp his face, that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leant her selfe vpon the head of the mayde that went with her.

11 Neuerthelesse, God turned the kings minde that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till shee came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and sayd,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come neere.

14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and laid it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and said, Talke with me.

16 Then said she, I saw thee, O lord, as an angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O Lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

The copie of the Letters of Artaxerxes, whereby he reuoketh those which be first sent forth.

The great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundredth and seuen and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnesse of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And indauour not only to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealch, do also imagine destruction against those that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankfulness away from men, but in pride & presumption, as they that bee vnmindfull of benefits, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oft times many, which be set in office, & vnto whom their friends causes are committed, by vaine intisements doe wrap them in calamities, that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie and gentlenesse of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not onely by old histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences, as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore we must take heed hereafter, that we may make the kingdome peaceable for al men, what change soeuer shall come.

9 And discern the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenesse.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus.

Joseph. Antiq. 11. chap. 6.

darius, being indeed a stranger from the Persians blood, & far fro our goodnes, was receiued of vs.

11 And hath procured the friendship that we beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, & was honoured of every man, as the next person vnto the King.

12 But hee could not vse himselfe soberly, in this great dignitie, but went about to deprime vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifolde deceit also hath he desired to destroy Mardocheus our preferuer, which hath done vs good in all things, & innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his mind was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we find that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man, & they might be destroyed) are no euil doers, but vse most iust lawes.

16 And that they be the children of the most High and Almighty & euermouing God, by whom the kingdome hath bene preferred vnto vs, and our progenitours in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall doe well, if ye doe not put in execution those letters, that Aman & sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For he that inuented them, hangeth at Susa before the gates with all his family, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deserving.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copie of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne Lawes.

20 And ye shall aide them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy & day wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreover, among other solemne dayes ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse.

23 That both now and in time to come, this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs, and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly be destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wild beasts and foules for euer.

THE WISE DOME OF SALOMON.

CHAP. I.

1 How we ought to search and enquire after God. 2 Who be those that find him. 3 The holy Ghost. 4. 11. We ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 12 Whereof death commeth. 13 Righteousnesse and vnrighteousnesse.

OVE righteousnesse, ye that be Iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

2 For hee will bee found of them that tempt him not, and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: & his power when it is tryed, reproveth the vnwise.

4 Because wisdom cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.

5 For the holy Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceite, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth.

6 For the Spirit of wisdom is louing, & will not absolue him, that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is witnesse of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lorde filleth all the world: and the same that maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voice.

8 Therefore hee that speaketh vnrighteous things cannot be hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shalbe made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the found of his words shall come vnto God for correction of his iniquities.

10 For the eare of ielousie heareth all things, and the noyse of the grudgings shall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, and restraîne your tongue from slander: for there is no word so secret, that shall goe for nought, & the mouth that speaketh lies, slayeth the soule.

12 Seeke not death in the error of your life: destroy not your felues thorow the works of your owne hands.

13 For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things, that they might haue their being: & the generations of the world are preferred, & there is no poyson of destruction in them, & the kingdom of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousnesse is immortal, but vnrighteousnesse bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly call it vnto them both with hands and words: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

5 The imagination and desires of the wicked, and their counsell against the faithfull.

FOR the vngodly say, as they falsly imagine with themselves, Our life is short and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouerie, neither was any knowen that hath returned from the graue.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and wee shall be hereafter as though wee had neuer bene: for the breath is a smoke in our nostrils, and the words as a sparke raised out of our heart,

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, & the Spirit vanisheth as the soft aire.

4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloud, & come to nought as the miste that is driuen away with the beames of the sunne, and cast downe with the heate thereof. Our name also shall be forgotten in time, and no man shall haue our workes in remembrance.

5 For our time is as a shadowe that passeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man commeth againe.

7 Let vs fill our selues with costly wine, & ointments, and let not the flower of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose buds afore they be withered.

9 Let vs all be partakers of our wantonnesse: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in every place: for this is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppresse the poore that is righteous: let vs not spare the widow, nor reuerence the white haire of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our strength be the Law of vnrighteousnesse: for the thing that is feeble, is reprooued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraud the righteous: for he is not for our profit, and he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending against the Law, and blameth vs as transgressors of discipline.

13 He maketh his boast to haue knowledge of God, & he calleth himselfe sonne of the Lord.

14 He is made to reprove our thoughts.

15 It grieueth vs also to looke vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.

16 He counteth vs as bastards, and hee withdraweth himselfe from our wayes as from filthinesse: he commendeth greatly the latter ende of the iust, and boasteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs see then if his wordes be true: let vs proue what end he shall haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the sonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.

19 Let vs examine him with rebukes & torments, that we may knowe his meekenesse, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs cōdemne him vnto a shameful death: for he shall be preserued as he himselfe saith.

21 Such things do they imagine, & go astray: for their owne wickednesse hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousness, nor can discern the honour of the soules that are faultlesse.

23 For God created man without corruption, & made him after the image of his owne likenesse.

24 Neuertheless, thorow enuie of the deuill came death into the world: and they that hold of his side proue it.

CHAP. III.

The conuersation and assurance of the righteous. 7 The reward of the faithfull. 11 Who are miserable.

But the soules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.

2 In the sight of the vnwise they appeared to die, and their end was thought grieuous.

3 And their departing from vs, destruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they suffer paine before men, yet is their hope full of immortalitie.

5 They are punished, but in few things, yet in many things shall they be wel rewarded: for God proueth them, & findeth them meete for himselfe.

6 He tryeth them as the gold in the furnace, and receiue them as a perfect fruite offering.

7 And in the time of their vision they shall shine, and runne thorowe as the sparkes among the stubble.

8 They shall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, & their Lord shall reigne for euer.

9 That they trust in him shall vnderstand the truth, and the faithfull shall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercy is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 But the vngodly shall be punished according to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisdom & discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, & their labours are foolish, and their workes vnprofitable.

12 Their wiues are vndiscree, & their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinful bed: she shall haue fruite in the visitation of the soules.

14 And the eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall be given the speciall gift of faith, & an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, & the roote of wisdom shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shall not be partakers of the holy things, and the seede of the wicked bed shall be rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, & their last age shall be without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

Butter is barrenesse with vertue: for the memoriall thereof is immortal: for it is known with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it go away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, yet they shall be shaken with the wind: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shall be rooted out.

5 For the vnperfit branches shall be broken, and their fruit shall be vnprofitable and sowe to eate, and meete for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witnesse of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous be preuented with death, ye shall be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisdom is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the old age.

10 He pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas he liued among sinners, he translated him.

11 He was taken away, lest wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his mind.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscureth the the things that are good, and the visited fastnesse of concupiscence peruertheth the simple minde.

13 Though he was soone dead, yet fulfilled he much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hastened he to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace and mercy is vpon his Saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus y<sup>e</sup> righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: & the youth y<sup>e</sup> is soone brought to an end, the long life of y<sup>e</sup> vnrighteous.

17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preferred him in safety.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne.

19 So that they shal fall hereafter without honour, & shal haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for wout any voyce shal he burst them and cast the down, & shake them from the foundations, so that they shal be vtterly wasted, & they shal be in sorow, and their memoriall shal perish.

20 So they baing afraid, shal remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednesse shal come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constancie of the righteous before their persecuters. 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull in vaine. 15 The blessednesse of the Saints and godly.

Then shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shall be vexed with horrible feare, and shalbe amased for his wonderfull deliuerance,

3 And shal change their mindes, and sigh for griefe of minde, and lay within themselves, This is he whom we sometime had in derision and in a parable of reproch.

4 * We fooles thought his life madnesse, and his end without honour.

5 How is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore we haue erred fro the way of truth, & the light of righteousnes hath not shined vnto vs: & the sun of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 Wee haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and we haue gone through dangerous wayes: but wee haue not knowen the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profit hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All these things are * passed away like a shadow, and as a poste that passeth by:

10 As a ship that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof canot be found, neither the path of it in the floods:

11 Or * as a bird y<sup>e</sup> flieth thorow in the ayre, & no man can see any token of her passage, but only heare the noise of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the aire through the vehemency of her going, & flieth on shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found:

12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the ayre, which immediatly commeth together againe, so that a man cannot know where it went thorow.

13 Euen so we, as soon as we were borne, we began to draw to our end, & haue shewed no tokē of vertue, but are consumed in our own wickednes.

14 For * the hope of y<sup>e</sup> vngodly is like the dust that is blowen away with the wind, & like a thin some y<sup>e</sup> is scattered broad wth the storme, and as the smoke which is disperfed with the wind, & as the remembrance of him passeth, y<sup>e</sup> tarieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, and the most High hath care of them.

16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shal he couer them, and with his arme shal he defend them.

17 He shal take his ielousie for armour, & shal arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shal put on righteousness for a brest plate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He wil take holines for an innincible shield.

20 He wil sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, & the world shal fight with him against y<sup>e</sup> vnwise.

21 Then shal the thunder-bolts go streight out of the lightnings, and shal fly to the marke as out of the bent bow of the clouds, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shal thick haile be cast, and the water of the sea shal be wroth against them, and the floods shal mightily ouerflow.

22 And a mightie wind shal stand vp against them, and like a storme shal scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shal bring all the earth to a wil-dernesse, and wickednesse shal ouerthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and Iudges, which are also exhorted to searce wisdom.

Hear therefore, O yee kings, and vnderstand: learne, ye y<sup>e</sup> be iudges of the ends of the earth.

2 Giue eare, yee that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of people.

3 For the rule * is giuen you of the Lord, and power by the most High, which will trie your works, and searce out your imaginations.

4 Because that ye being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked aser the will of God,

5 Horribly & suddely wil he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgemēt shal they haue y<sup>e</sup> beare rule.

6 For hee that is most low is worthy mercy, but the mighty shalbe mightily tormented.

7 For he that is Lord ouer al, wil spare no * person, neither shal he feare any greatnes: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike,

8 But for the mighty abideth the forer trial.

9 Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, doe I speake, that ye may learne wisdom, and not goe amisse.

10 For they that keepe holinesse holily, shal be holy, and they that are learned there, shal finde a defence.

11 Wherfore set your delight vpon my words and desire them, and ye shalbe instructed.

12 Wisdom shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, & found of such as seeke her.

13 Shee preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew her selfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shal haue no great trauaile: for he shal find her sitting at hi doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfect vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shal be soone without care.

20 Therefore the desire of wisdom leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your delight bee then in thrones, and scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisdom, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tell you what wisdom is, and whence it cometh, & wil not hide the mysteries from you, but wil seeke her out fro the beginning of her natiuity, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and wil not keepe backe the truth.

23 Neither wil I haue to do w consuming enuy: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisdom.

24 But the multitude of y wise is the preseruatiō of the world, & a wise king is y stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my wordes, and ye shall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisdom ought to be preferred aboue all things.

1 My selfe am also mortal & a man like al other, & I am come of him that was first made of y earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to be flesh in ten moneths: I was y brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that cometh with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common aire, & fel vpō the earth, which is of like nature, crying & weeping at the first as al other doe.

4 I was nourished in swaddling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherefore I praied, & vnderstanding was giue me: I called, & the spirit of wisdom came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all gold is but a litle grauell in respect of her, and siluer shalbe counted but clay before her.

10 I loued her aboue health and beauty, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11 All good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisdom was the authour thereof, and I knew not that she was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfaignedly, & communicated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto me, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things, that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisdom, and the director of the wise.

16 For in his hand are both we & our wordes, and all wisdom, and the knowledge of the works.

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the world was made, and the powers of the elements.

18 The beginning & the end, & the mids of the times, how y times alter, & the change of y seasons.

19 The course of y yere, the situatiō of the stars,

20 The nature of liuing things, & the furiousnes of beasts, y power of y winds, & the imaginatiōs of men, the diuersities of plats, & the vertues of roores.

21 And all things both secret and knowen do I know: for wisdom the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is y spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the only begottē, manifold, subtil, moueable, cleer, vndeiled, euident, not hurtful, louing the good, sharp, which cannot be letted, doing good.

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing thorow all intellectuall; pure, and subtil spirits.

24 For wisdom is nimbler then all nimble things: shee goeth thorow and attaineth to all things, because of her purenesse.

25 For she is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

26 For she is the brightnes of the euerlasting light, the vndeiled mirror of the maiesty of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being one, she can do all things, & remaining in herselfe, reneweth all, and according to the ages shee entreth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisdom.

29 For shee is more beautifull then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night cometh vpon it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisdom.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisdom.

1 Shee also reacheth from one ende to another mightily, & comely doeth she order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beauty.

3 In that she is conuersant w God, it comendeth her nobility: yea, the Lord of al things loueth her.

4 For she is the schoolemistres of the knowledge of God, and the chuser out of his works.

5 If riches be a posselliō to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, y worketh al things?

6 For if prudence worketh, what is it among all things, that worketh better then she?

7 If a man loue righteousness, her labours are vertuous: for she teacheth sobernesse and prudence, righteousness & strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, and discerne things to come: shee knoweth the subtilties of wordes, and the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that she would counsell mee good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, and honour among the Elders, though I be yong.

11 I shalbe found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall be marueilous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shal abide my lecture: when I speake, they shal heare diligently, and and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by her I shall obtaine immortallitie, and leaue an euertlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shall bee counted good, and mighty in battell.

16 When I come home, I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitternesse, and her fellowship hath no tediousnesse, but mirth and ioy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisedome is immortallitie, 18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the works of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudence, and glory by comming with her, I went about seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a witty child, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vnde- filed body.

21 Neuertheles, when I perceiued that I could not inioy her except God gaue her, (and that was a point of wisedome also, to knowe whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I sayd,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine wisedome.

O God of fathers, and Lord of mercy, which hast made all things with thy word,

2 And ordeined man through thy wisedome, that he should haue dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made,

3 And gouerne the world according to equity and righteousnesse, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

4 * Giue me that wisedome which sitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children.

5 For I thy * seruant, and sonne of thine hand- maid, am a feeble person, & of a short time, & yet lesse in vnderstanding of iudgement & the lawes.

6 And though a man bee neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisedome be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded.

7 * Thou hast chosen me to be a king of thy people, and the Iudge of thy sonnes & daughters.

8 Thou hast commanded me to build a temple vpon thine holy Mount, & an altar in thy city where in thou dwellest, a likenes of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared fro the beginning,

9 And thy * wisedome with thee, which knoweth thy works, which also, was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandements.

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, & send her from the throne of thy Maiesty, that she may be with me, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For she knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and she shall lead me soberly in my works, and preferue me by her glory.

12 So shall my works be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, & be meet for my fathers throne.

13 For * what man is he that can know the counsel of God? & who can think what the wil of God is?

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are feare- full, and our forecasts are vncertaine, 15 Because a corruptible body is heauy vnto the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth down the mind that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can we discern the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour find we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things which are in heauen?

17 Who can know thy counsell, except thou giue him wisedome, and send thine holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preferred through wisedome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisedome.

He preferred the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when hee was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

2 And * gaue him power to rule all things,

3 * But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his fury.

4 For whose cause the * earth was ouerflown, but wisedome preferred it againe, gouerning the iust man by a little wood.

5 Moreover, * when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, shee knewe the righteous, and preferred him faultlesse vnto God, and || kept him sure, because shee loued him tenderly as a sonne.

6 She preferred the righteous, * when the vn- godly perished, when he fled from the fire that fel downe vpon the five cities.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimony, and the trees that beare fruit that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisedome, had not onely this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memorial of their foolishnes, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisdom deliuered them that serued her.

10 * When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him the know- ledge of holy things, made him rich in his la- bours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the couetousnesse of such as defrauded him, she stood by him and made him rich.

12 She saued him from the enemies, & defended him from them that lay in wait, and she gaue him the prize in a mighty battell, that he might know that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 * When the righteous was sold, shee for- sooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: she went downe with him into the dungeon,

14 And failed him not in the bands, till she had brought him the scepter of the realme, and power against those that oppressed him, and them that had accused him, she declared to beliers, and gaue him perpetuall glory.

15 * She deliuered the righteous people & fault- lesse seed from the nations that oppressed them.

16 She entred into the soule of the seruant of the Lord, and stood * by him in wonders & signes

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their need.

6 For in stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnlooked for,

* Exod. 7. 20.

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time, * how thou hadst punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercy, they knewe how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous king, whe thou didst examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, & the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto the, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondered at him, whom afore they had cast out, denied and derided: for they had another thirst then the iust.

15 Or furious beastes newly created, and vnknown, which should breathe out blastes of fire and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoot horrible sparks like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not only destroy them with hurting, but also kil the with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue beene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strenght & might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme!

19 For as the smal thing that y balance weigheth, so is the world before thee, & as a drop of the morning dew, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon al: for thou hast power of al things, & makest as though thou sawest not the sins of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, and hatest none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou hadst hated.

22 And howe might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or how coulde any thing bee preferred, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of foules.

CHAP. XII.

1 The mercy of God toward sinners. 14 The works of God are vnreproucable. 19 God giueth leasure to repent.

Or thine incorruptible spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things, wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleuee in thee, O Lord.

* Deut. 9. 3. and 10.
20. and 18. 9, 12.

3 * As for those old inhabitant s of the holy land, thou diddest hate them.

4 For they committed abominable works, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying of their own children wout mercy, & eating of y bowels of mans flesh in baketting, where the raging Priests shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the soules destitute of all helpe, whome thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest aboue all other, might be a meete dwelling for the children of God.

* Exod. 33. 2. and 34. 22.

8 * Neuerthelesse, thou sparedst them also as men, and sendest the forerunners of thine hoste, euen hornets to destroy them by little and little,

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beastes, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by litle and litle, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing wel, that it was an vnrighteous nation and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seed from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

* Rom. 9. 20.

12 For who dare say, * What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men?

* 1. Pet. 3. 7.

13 For there is none other God but thou, * that carest for all things, that thou maiest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright.

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them whome thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserved to be punished.

* Job 10. 3, 4.

16 For

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfitt power, thou declarest thy power, and reproveest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgeth with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death with to great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednesse,

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine own childre, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne & made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercie.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked, & haue liued a dissolute life by their own imaginatiōs

24 *For they went astray verie far in the waies of error, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they should bee in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that wil not be reformed by those scornfull rebukes, shall feeble the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they did dained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they saw themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whom afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things bee vaine, except the knowledge of God: 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

2 Vrely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, * and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the worke, the work-master.

3 * But they thought the fire, or the winde or the swift ayre, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to bee gouernours of the world, and gods.

4 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet should they haue known how much more excellent is he that made them: for the first autour of beautie hath created these things.

5 Or if they marueiled at the power, & operation of them, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, how much he that made these things is mightier.

6 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

7 But yet the blame is lesse in these, & seeke God and would find him, & yet peradventure doe erre.

8 For * they goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discern the world, why doe they not rather find out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, golde, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by art, and the similitude of beastes, or any vaine stone that hath beene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 * Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by art maketh a vessel profitable for the vse of life.

12 And the things that are cut off of his worke, he bestoweth to dresse his meat to fill himselfe,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood, and full of knobs) he carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron

16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath need of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 He calleth on him that is weake for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requirerth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his journey, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires he requirerth furtherance of him, that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The detestation and abomination of images. 8 A curse of them and of him that maketh them. 12 Whence idolatrie proceeded 23 What evils come of idolatrie.

A Gaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorow the raging waues, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the ship that carieth him.

2 For as for || it, couetousnesse of money hath found it out, & the craftsman made it by cunning.

3 But thy providence, O Father, gouerneth it: * For thou hast made a way, euen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues,

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.

5 Neuertheless thou wouldest not, that the workes of thy wisdom should bee vaine, and therefore doe men commit their liues to a small piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormie sea in a ship, and are saued.

6 * For in the olde time also when the proude giants perished, the hope of the world went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and to left seed of generation vnto the world.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteousness commeth.

8 But that is cursed & is made with hands, * both it, & he & made it: he, because he made it, & it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

both like hated of God: so truly the worke and he that made it shalbe punished together.

10 Therefore shall there bee a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blockes vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feete of the vnwise.

11 For the inuention of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glorie of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an ende.

14 When a father mourned grievously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whom now he worshippeth as a god, and ordeined to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by proces of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a law, and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, & made a gorgeous image of a king, whom they would honor, that they might by al meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had beene present.

17 Again the ambition of the craftsman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For he peraduenture willing to please a noble man, laboured with all hie cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so thorow the beautie of the work the multitude was allured, & so tooke him now for a god, which a litle afore was but honored as a man.

20 And this was y deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in seruitude, through calamitie and tyrannie ascribed vnto stones and stocks the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreouer, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they liued in great warres of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

22 For either * they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or vied secret ceremonies, or raging dissolutenesse by strange rites, 23 And so kept neither life nor mariage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or els vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were al nixt together, blood, & slaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulnesse, tumults, periurie, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulnesse, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in mariage, adulterie and vndeanness.

26 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to bee named, is the beginning and the cause, and the end of all euill:

27 For either they be mad when they be merie, or prophesie lies, or liue vngodly, or els lightly forswear themselves.

28 For inso much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsly, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shal they iustly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, adding themselves vnto idoles, & because they sweare vniuistly to deceiue, & despise holines.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voice of the faithfull, praying the mercie of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

B<sup>V</sup>t thou, O our God, art gracious & true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercie.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is peris righteousness, and to know thy power, is the roote of immortalitie.

4 For neither hath y wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours,

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that hee coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things are worthe to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

7 The * potter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euerie vessel with labor to our vie: but of the same clay he maketh both y vessels, that serue to cleane vses, & the contrary likewise: but whereto euerie vessel serueth, the potter is the iudge.

8 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a vaine god of the same clay: euen he, which a litle afore was made of earth himselfe, & within a litle while after goeth thither againe, whence he was taken, * when he shal make account for the lone of his life.

9 Notwithstanding hee careth not for the labor he taketh, nor that his life is short, but he striueth with the goldsmiths and siluersmiths, and counterfeiteth the coppersmiths, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiueable things.

10 His heart is ashes, & his hope is more vile the earth, & his life is lesse worthy of honor then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euerie side, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Now he that of earth maketh fraile vessels & images, knoweth himself to offend aboue al other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that holde them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then the verie fooles.

15 For they iudge al the idols of the nations to bee gods, which neither haue eyesight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and hee that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing hee is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vnrighteous hands: he himselfe is better then they whom hee worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beautie to be desired, in respect of other beasts: for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

3 To the intent that they that desired meate, by the things which were shewed and sent among them, might turne away their necessary desire, and that they which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a new taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed tyrannie, should fall into extreme pouertie, and that to these onely it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

5 *For when the cruel fiercenes of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of the cruell serpents,

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a litle season, that they might be reformed, hauing a || * signe of saluation, to remember the Commandement of thy Law.

7 For he y turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Sauior of all.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from euill.

9 *For the biting of grasshoppers & flies killed them, and there was no remedy found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

10 But the teeth of the venomous dragōs could not overcome thy children, for thy mercy came to helpe them, and heal ed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy words, & were speedily healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulnesse, that they could not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe.

14 A man indeed by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can hee call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 *For the vngodly that would not knowe thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest that they could not auoyd, and were consumed with fire.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might do more then water, which quencheth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beasts which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: & that because they should see & know, that they were persecuted with y punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the mids of the water about the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.

20 *In the stead whereof thou hast fed thine own people with Angels food, & sent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it, and was meet for all tastes.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetnesse vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meet to that that euery man would.

22 Morouer, the * show and yce abode the fire and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the haile, & sparkling in the raine, destroyed the fruit of the enemies.

23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature which serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had need thereof.

26 That thy children, whom thou louest, O Lord, might know, * that it is not the increafe of fruites that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, which preferueth them that trust in thee.

27 For they which could not be destroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a litle with the sunne beames, melted, 28 That it might be known that we ought to preuent the sunne rising to giue thanks vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day-spring.

29 For the hope of the vthankeful shall melt as the winter yce, and flow away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

For thy iudgements are great, and cannot be expressed: therefore men do erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darkenesse, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the rooffe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.

3 And while they thought to be hid in their darke finnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulnesse, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them only a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afraid of this vision, || which they could not see, they thought the things which they saw, to be worse.

7 *And the illusions of the magical arts were brought downe, and it was a most shamefull reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.

8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beaults that passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents, so that they died for feare, and sayd they saw not the ayre, which by no meanes can be auoyded.

10 For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimonie: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the succours which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that

12 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hel, which is insupportable, sleepe the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometimes they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoever fell downe, hee was kept and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether hee was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, hee must suffer this necessitie, that he could not auoyd:

17 (For with one chaine of darknes were they all bound) whether it were an hissing winde of a sweete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water, 18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that could not be seene, or the noyse of cruell beastes, that roared, or the sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fel an heauy night, an image of that darkenes that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselves more grievous then darkenes.

3 The ferie pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliurance of the faithfull. 10 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sime of the people in the wilderness. 21 Aaron stood betwixt the liuing and the dead with his censer.

BVt thy Saints had a very great *light, whose voyce because they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enimitie.

3 *Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the vnknown way, and made the Sunne that it hurted them not in their honourable iourney.

4 But they were worthy to be depriued of the light, and to be kept in darknesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whome the vncorrupt light of the Law should be giuen to the world.

5 *Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one child that was cast out, and preserved to reprove them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them all together in the nighty water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuen credit, might be of good cheare.

7 Thus thy *people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, & made a Law of righteousness by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good and euil in like maner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

10 But a disagreeing crie was heard of the enemies, & there was a lamentable noyse for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the *master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the King.

12 So they had altogether innumerable that died with one kind of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to bury them: for in the twinkling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleue nothing, because of the enchantments, confessed this people to bee the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, & the night was in the midst of her swift course,

15 Thine Almighty word leapt downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of war in the middes of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnfaigned Commandement as a sharp sword, and stood vp and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the feareful dreames vexed them suddenly, & fearefulness came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Now tentations of death touched the righteous also, and *among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen praier, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an ende, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he subdued him that punished, alleaging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, he stood in the middes, and cut off the wrath, & parted it from comming to the liuing.

24 *For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diadem of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the end: for hee knew what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent, and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnes, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had cast out afore with prayer.

forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments.

5 Both that thy people might try a manuellous passage, and that these might find a strange death.

6 For every creature in his kind was fashioned of new, and serued in their owne offices inioyned them, that thy children might bee kept without hurt.

7 For the cloud ouershadowed their tents, and the dry earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, & the great deepe became a greene field,

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous maruells.

9 For they || neyed like horses, and leaped like lambs, praising thee, O Lord, which haddest deliuered them.

10 For they were yet mindfull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought forth flies in stead of cattell, and how the riuier scrawled with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

11 * But at the last they saw a new generation of birds, when they were intified with lust, and desired delicate meats.

12 * For the quails came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers.

13 For the one sort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things some would not suffer, that any regard should bee had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banquetting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict the with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of the * righteous, so that every one being compassed with darknesse, sought the entrance of his doore.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceived by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrarie vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Again, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beasts that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to be Ice, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortall meate.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euerie time and place.

THE WISDOME OF IESVS THE sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

This Iesus was the Sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and he liued in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as hee himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence and wisdom among the Hebrewes, who did not only gather the graue sentences of wise men that had bene before him, but hee himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdom. So this first Iesus died, and left that which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it, and put it in order in a booke, and called it W I S D O M E, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisdom to allure the Reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences and similitudes, with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, such of men that were approued of God, and certaine Prayers and Songs of the authour himselfe: moreover, what benefis the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was not lesse famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deed.

¶ The Prologue of the wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

Whereas many, and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which thinns Israel ought to be comended by the reason of doctrine & wisdom, whereby the readers ought not only to become learned themselves, but also may be able by the diligent study therof to be profitable vnto strangers both by speaking & writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other books of our fathers, & had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write something pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselves to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, & to take it in good worth, though we seeie to some in some things not able to attain to y interpretation of such words as are hard to be expressed: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselves then when they are translated into another tongue, & not only these things, but other things also, as y Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other books haue no final difference when they are spoken in their own language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt, vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copy full of great learning, & I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence gence and trauell to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and study I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published that they which remaine in banishment, & are desirous to learne, might apply themselves vnto good maners, & liue according to the Law.

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted, for hee beleueth not: therefore shall he not be defended.

15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, [and haue forsaken the right waye, & are turned backe into froward wayes:] for what will ye do when the Lord shall visit you?

16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his word: and they that loue him, will keepe his wayes.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall be fulfilled with his Law.

18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 [They that feare the Lord, keepe his commandements, and will be patient till he see them, 20 Saying, if wee doe not repent] we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, and nor into the hands of men.

21 Yet as his greatnesse is, so is his mercy.

CHAP. III.

1 To our father and mother ought we to giue double honor. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

[The children of wisdome are the Church of the righteous, and their off-spring is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord wil haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authority of the mother ouer her children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall be forgiven him, [and he shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his dayly desires.]

5 And hee that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his own children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 He that honoureth his father, shall haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lorde, shall comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, & doth seruice vnto his paréts, as vnto lords.

9 *Honour thy father and mother, in deed and in word [ & in all patience ] that thou maiest haue || Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioice not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

12 Seeing that mans glory commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.

13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreaty of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall bee a fortresse for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence, thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall bee founded for thee in righteousness.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy sins also shall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and he that angreth his mother is cursed of God.

18 ¶ My son, performe thy doings with meeknesse, so shalt thou bee beloued of them that are approued.

19 The greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things,] and thou shalt find fauour before the Lord.

20 Many are excellent and of renoune: but the secrets are reueiled vnto the meeke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

22 *Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things rashly which are too mighty for thee.

23 [But] what [God] hath commanded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his works:] for it is not needful for thee to see with thine eyes things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee about the capacite of men.

25 The medling with such hath beguiled many, and an euil opinion hath deceiued their iudgment.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubborne heart shall fare euill at the last, and he that loueth danger, shall perishe therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and he that is froward of heart shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proud is without remedie, and his steps shall bee plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken root in him, [and he shall not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentive eare is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will abstaine from sinne, and shall prosper in the works of righteousness.]

33 Water queneth burning fire, * & almes taketh away sinnes.

34 And he that rewardeth good deeds, will remember it afterward, and in the time of the fall, he shall find a stay.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Almes must be done with gentlenesse. 12 The studie of wisdom and her fruit. 20 An exhortation to eschew euill, and to doe good.

My sonne, defraud not the poore of his liuing, and make not the needy eyes to wait long.

2 Make not an hungry soule forowful, neither vex a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieved, and deferre not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in bitterness of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder,] and bowe downe thine head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bow downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy debt,] and giue him a friendly answer.

hand of the oppressour, and be not faint hearted

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto their mother, so shalt thou be as the sonne of the most High: and hee shall loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisedome exalteth her children, and recei-meth them that seeke her, [and wil go before them in the way of righteousness.]

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, & they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioy.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherite glory: for vnto whom she entreateth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the Holy one, and them that loue her, the Lord doeth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shal iudge the nations, & he that goeth vnto her shal dwell safely.

16 He that is faithful vnto her, shal haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first she wil walk with him by crooked waies, and bring him vnto feare, & dread, and torment him with her discipline, vntill she haue tried his soule, and haue proued him by her iudgments.

18 Then wil she returne the streight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousness.]

19 But if he go wrong, she wil forsake him, and giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.

20 [¶ My sonne,] make much of time, and eschew the thing that is euill,

21 And be not ashamed [to say the trueth] for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou be not confounded to thine owne decay, [¶ forbear not thy neighbor in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wisdom when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdom knownen, and learning by the words of the tongue, [and counsell, wisdom and learning by the talking of the wife, and stedfastnesse in the workes of righteousnesse.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of trueth, but bee ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy finnes, and resist not the course of the riuier.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mighty.

28 Striue for the trueth vnto death, [¶ defend iustice for thy life] and the Lorde God shall fight for thee [against thine enemy.]

29 Bee not hastie in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy workes.

30 Be not as a Lion in thine owne house, neither beate thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor op-presse them that are vnder thee.]

31 ¶ Let not thine hand be stretched out to receiue, and shut when thou wouldest giue.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may man put his confidence. 7 The riches of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

Trust not vnto thy riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: [for it shal not help in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

2 Follow not thine own mind, & thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart.

3 Neither say thou, [Howe haue I had strength] or who will bring mee vnder for my workes? for God the reuenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, & what euil hath come vnto me? for the Almighty is a patient re-warder, but he will not leaue thee vn Timer.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercy of God is great: he will forgiue my manifold finnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation commeth downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, & put not off from day to day: for suddenly shal the wrath of the Lord break forth, and in thy security thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shal not helpe thee in y day of punishment [¶ vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with every wind, and goe not into euery way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding [and in the way and knowledge of the Lord] and haue but one maner of word, [and follow the word of peace and righteousness.]

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou maiest vnderstand it, & make a true answer with wisdom.

12 ¶ Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answer.

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answer thy neighbor: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [lest thou be trapped in an vndiscrete word, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the thief, and an euil condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a back-biter, shal be hated, enuied, and confounded.]

16 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the propriety of a sinner to be euill tongued. 6 Offenship.
33 Desire to be taught.

Be not of a friend [thy neighbours] enemy: for such shal haue an euil name, shame & reproch, and he shal be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Bee not proud in the deuice of thine owne mind, lest thy soule rent thee as a bull,

3 And eat vp thy leaues, & destroy thy fruit, & so thou be left as a dry tree [in the wilderness.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweete talke multiplieth the friends: [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweete tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Hold friendship with many, neuertheless haue but one counsellor of a thousand.

7 If thou gettest a friend, proue him first, and be not hastie to credite him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enimity, and taketh part against thee, & in contention he

he will declare thy shame.

10 Againe some * friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction hee continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperity he will be as thou thy selfe, and will vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought lowe, he will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of gold and siluer] is not to be compared to the goodnesse [of his faith.]

16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] and they that feare the Lord, shall find him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou find wisdom [which shall endure] till thine olde age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, & soweth, and waite for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke: but thou shalt eate of her fruits right soone.

20 Howe exceeding sharpe is shee to the vnlearned? he that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one shee is as a fine touchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisdom, but there be but few that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that know her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue eare, my sonne, receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bowe downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not weary of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power, 28 Seeke after her, and search her, & she shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shall be turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] and her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her hands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt be taught, & if thou wilt apply thy mind, thou shalt be witty.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the Elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

36 * Desire to heare all godly talke, & let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou seeest a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy foote weare the steps of his doores.

38 Let thy mind be vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be continually occupied in his commandements: so shall he stablish thine heart, and giue thee wisdom at thine owne desire.

CHAP. VII.

¶ We must forsake euill, and yet not iustifie our selues. 23 The behaviour of the wife toward his wife, his friend, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

Do no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee. Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sowe not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnes, lest that thou reape them seven fold.

4 Aske not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the King the seate of honour.

5 * Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: [for he knoweth thine heart,] and boast not thy wisdom in the presence of the King.

6 Seeke not to be made a Iudge, lest thou be not able to take away iniquity, and lest thou, fearing the person of the mightie, shouldst commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a city, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 * Binde not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most High God, he will accept it.

10 Be not faint hearted when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauines of his soule: for [God which seeth all things] is hee that can bring downe, and set vp againe.

12 Sowe not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 Vse not to make any maner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many words when thou art among the Elders, neither repeat a thing in thy prayer.

15 Hate not laborious worke, neither the husbandry, which the most High hath created.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy mind greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wife and good woman, [that is fallē vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord:] for her grace is aboue gold.

20 ¶ Whereas thy seruant worketh truly, in treat him not euill, nor the hireling that bestoweth himselfe wholly for thee.

21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and defraud him not of libertie, [neither leaue him a poore man.]

22 * If thou haue cattel, looke wel to them, and if they be for thy profit, kteepe them with thee.

23 * If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, & hold their necke from their youth.

24 If thou haue daughter, keepe their bodie, and shew not thy face cheerefull toward them.

25 Marry thy daughters, and so shalt thou per forme a weighty matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy mind, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to the hatefull.

27 * Honour thy father from thy whole heart, and forget not the sorowes of thy mother.

28 Remember that thou wast borne of them, & how

CHAP. X.

Of Kings and Iudges. 7. Pride and couetousnesse are to bee abhorred. 18. Labour is praised.

A wise Iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are they that dwell therein.

3 * An vnwise king destroyeth his people, but where they that be in authoritie, are men of vnderstanding, there the citie prospereth.

4 The gouernment of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, hee will set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hande of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the scribes will he lay his honour.

6 * Bee not angry for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by iniurious practises.

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquitie.

8 * Because of vnrighteous dealing & wrongs and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdom is translated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proud, O earth and ashes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for such one would euen sell his soule, and for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyranny is of small endurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grievous to the physition.]

11 The physition cutteth off the sore disease, and he that is to day a king, to morow is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proud, seeing that when a man dieth, hee is the heire of serpents, beasts and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For priile is the original of sinne, & he that hath it, shal powre out abomination, till at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the persuations [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the end.

15 The Lord hath * cast downe the thrones of the [proud] princes, and set vp the meeke in their stead.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the [proud] nations, & planteth the lowly with glorie among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the landes of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: he causeth them to wither away, and destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to cease out of the earth.

18 [God destroyeth the memorial of proud, and leaeneth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man which is an honorable seede: the honorable seede are they that feare the Lord: there is a seede of man, which is without honour: the seede without honour, are they that transgresse the commaundements of the Lord: it is a seede that remaineth which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loueth him: but they are a seede without honour, that despise the law, and a deceiueable seede that breake the commaundements.

21 Hee that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lord in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lord causeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by crueltie and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glory aswell of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meete to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge and the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater, then he that feareth the Lord.

26 * Vnto the seruant that is wise, shall they that are free do seruice: * he that hath knowledge, will not grudge when he is reformed, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour.]

27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldest do thy worke, neither be ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

28 * Better is he that laboureth and hath plenteousnesse of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 My sonne, get thy selfe prayse by meekenesse, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deseruest.

30 Who wil count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him, that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 Hee that is honoured in pouertie, howe much more shall he be when he is rich? & he that is vnhoneft being rich, how much more will he be so when he is in pouertie?

5 Many tyrants haue sit downe vpon the earth, * and the vnlike hath worne the crowne.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and nigardship, and this is the portion of his wages, * Luke. 12. 19.

19 In that he saith, * I haue gotten rest, and now will I eate continually of my goods, yet hee considereth not, that the time draweth neere, that he must leaue all such things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, & exercise thy selfe therein, & remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Maruell not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue? & what good thing shall I haue hereafter?

* Chap. 18. 24.

25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to rewarde a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his workes are discovered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe known by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitful haue many traines, [and are like stomackes that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a patrich is taken vnder a basket, [and the hind is taken in the snare] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spy watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in wait and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy praise he will find some fault.

32 Of one litle sparke is made a great fire, [ & of one deceitfull man is blood increased: ] for a sinfull man layeth waite for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man, for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and he will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, & driue thee from thine owne.

C H A P. XII.

1 Vnto whom we ought to doe good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

W hen thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefits.

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt find [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High.

* Gal. 6. 10.
1. Tim. 5. 8.

3 He cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes, [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercy vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Do wel vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: hold backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, least he ouercome thee thereby: els thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and wil repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, & keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend cannot be knownen in prosperitie, neither can an enemy be vnknownen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieveth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemy: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, & thou shalt be to him as he that wipeth a glasse, & thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, least he destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, least hee seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and be pricked with my sayings.

14 * Bind not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be vnpunished.

* Chap. 7. 2. &amp; 25.

15 Who will haue pitie of the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the beasts? so is it with him that keepeth companie with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

17 * An enemy is sweet in his lips: he can make many good words, and speake many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eies, but in his heart he imagineth how to throw thee into the pit: and if he may find opportunitie, he will not be satisfied with blood.

* 1 Tim. 4. 16.

18 If aduersity come vpon thee, thou shalt find him there first, and though hee pretend to helpe thee, yet shal he vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clappe his handes, and will make many wordes, and disguise his countenance.

C H A P. XIII.

1 The companies of the proud and of berich are vnlike eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe companie with their like.

H e that toucheth pitch, shalbe defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proud, shalbe like vnto him.

* Rom. 13.

2 Burthen not thy selfe about thy power, whilest thou liuest, and companie not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for how agree the kettle & the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, and threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the rich man haue done wrong he must must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shall straightwayes be threatned.

4 If thou be for his profit, he vieth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, hee will liue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6 If he haue need of thee, he wil defraud thee, and will laugh at thee, & put thee in hope, & giue thee all good words, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will he shame thee in his meate, vntil he haue sutt thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last he will laugh thee to scorne: afterward, when he seeth thee, he wil forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [ Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou be not deceived in thine owne conceit, and brought downe by thy simple- nesse: [be not too humble in thy wisdom.]

10 ¶ If thou be called of a mighty man, absent thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.

11 Praise not thou vnto him, if thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speech, but beleue not his many words: for with much communication wil he tempt thee, and laughing- ly will he grope thee.

13 He is vnnmerciful and keepeth not promise: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, and take good heed: for thou wal- kest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord al thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 ¶ Euery beaust loueth his like, and euery man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man wil keepe company wth such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What fellowship hath hyena with a dog? and what peace is between the rich & the poore?

20 As the wild asse is the lions pray in the wil- dernesse, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the proud hate humilitie, so do the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp a- gain: but when the poore falleth, his friends driue him away.

23 If a rich man offend, he hath many helpers: he speaketh proude wordes, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, & though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue, and looke what he sayth, they prayle it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this? and if he doe amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience] and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his counte- nance, whether it be good or euill.

27 A chearefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to know the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is lost a vaine thing. 21 Happy is he that continueth in wisdom.

Blessed is the man that hath not fallen by [the] word of [ ] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorow of sinne.

2 Blessed is he that is not cōdemned in his con- science, & is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a niggard, and what should an enuious man doe with money?

4 He that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheare with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whom will he be good? for such one can haue no plea- sure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one en- uieth himselfe: and thus is as a reward of his wic- kednesse.

7 And if hee doe any good, he doeth it not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hath nener enough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A wicked eye enuieth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table.

11 My sonne, do good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due offerings.

12 Remember that death tarieth not, and that the covenant of y<sup>e</sup> graue is not shewed vnto thee.

13 ¶ Doe good vnto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine habilitie stretch out thine hand, and giue him.

14 Defraud not thy selfe of the good day, & let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauels vnto ano- ther, & thy labours for the diuiding of y<sup>e</sup> heritage?

16 Giue and take and sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousnesse before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

17 ¶ All flesh waxeth old, as a garment, & this is y<sup>e</sup> condition of all times, Thou shalt die y<sup>e</sup> death.

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some grow, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one commeth to an end, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.

20 [Euery excellent worke shalbe iustified, and he that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.

21 ¶ Blessed is the man that doth meditate ho- nest things by wisdom, [and exerciseth himselfe in iustice,] and he that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding, 22 Which considereth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secrets.

23 Goe thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lie in waite in her wayes.

24 Hee shall looke in at her windowes, and hearken at her doores.

25 He shal abide beside her house, & faste a stake in her walles: he shall pitch his tent besides her.

2 He gaue him the number of daues and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

3 He clothed them with strength, as they had need, and made them according to his image.

4 Hee made all flesh to feare him, so that hee had the dominion ouer the beasts and foules.

5 [* He created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe,] and gaue them discretion & tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and fixtly he gaue him a spirit, and sauently he gaue them speech to declare his works,

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euill.

7 Hee set his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble works,

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they should prudently declare his works, and that the elect should praise his holy Name together.

9 Besides this, hee gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the Lawe of life for an heritage, that they might know that they were mortall.

10 Hee made an euertlasting couenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes saw the maiesty of his glory, and their eare heard his glorious voyce.

12 And he sayd vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things. * He gaue euery man also a commandement concerning his neighbour.

13 Their wayes are euere before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their stony hearts cannot become flesh.

15 Hee appoynted a ruler vpon euery people, when he diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 * And he did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom hee nourished with discipline as his first borne, and giueth him most louing light, and doth not forsake him.

17 All their works are as the sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hid from him, but all their finnes are before the Lord.

19 And as hee is mercifull, and knoweth his worke, he doth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

20 * The almes of a man, is as a thing sealed vp before him, and he keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their sonnes and daughters.

21 * At the last shal he arise, and reward them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads.

22 * But vnto them that will repent, he giueth them grace to returne, and exhorteth such as faile, with patience, [and sendeth them the portion of the verity.]

23 * Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy finnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence.

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he will bring thee from darkenesse to wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Know the righteousness and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set loorth for thee, and in the prayer of the most high God, and goe in the parts of the holy world with such as be liuing and confesse God]

26 * Who can praise the most High in the hell, as doe all they that liue and confesse him?

27 [Abide not thou in the error of the vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.]

28 Thankfulnessse perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing, and he that is found of heart, praiseth the Lord, [and reioyceth in his mercy.]

29 How great is the louing kindnesse of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For all things cannot bee in men, because the sonne of man is not immortal, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse]

31 What is more cleare then the Sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euill, [shal be reprobued.]

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The maruailous works of God. 6.7 The miserie and wretchednesse of man. 9 Against God ought wee not so complaine. 21 The performing of vower.

HE that liueth for euere, * made all things together: the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and he remaineth a victorious king for euere.]

2 He ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the profane.

3 To whom hath he giuen power to expresse his works? who will seeke out the ground of his noble acts?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatness? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercy?

5 As for the woonderous works of the Lord, there may nothing bee taken from them, neither can any thing be put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, he must begin againe, and when hee thinketh to come to an end, he must go againe to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man? whereto serueth he? what good or euill can he doe?

8 * If the number of a mans dayes be an hundred yeere, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sand, so are a thousand yeeres to the dayes euertlasting.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and powreth out his mercy vpon them.

11 He saw and perceiued, that [the arrogancy of their heart, and their ruine is euill: therefore heaped hee vp his mercy vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousness.]

12 The mercy that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercy of the Lord is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, and nutureth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepherd his flocke.

13 He hath mercy of them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, re-proue not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shall not the dew assuage the heat? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Loe, is not a word better then a good gift?
but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproch churlishly, and a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousness before thou come to iudgement:] learne before thou speake, and vse physicke or euer thou be sicke.

19 * Examine thy selfe before thou be iudged, and in the day of iudgement thou shalt finde mercy.

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whilest thou maist yet sinne, shew thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vow in time, and deferre not vnto death to bee reformed:
[for the reward of God endureth for euer.]

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the * wrath that shalbe at the ende, and the houre of vengeance, when hee shall turne away his face.

24 * When thou hast enough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouerty and need.

25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Euery wise man knoweth wisdom, and knowledge, and praiseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in words: [they vnderstand the trueth and righteousnesse,] and powre out with modestie graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking, is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

30 ¶ Follow not thy lusts, but turne thee from thine owne appetites.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that envie thee, to laugh thee to scorn.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnesse, & intangle not thy selfe with such company.

33 Become not a begger by making bankets of that that thou hast borrowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse, else thou shouldest slanderously lie in wait for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and whoredoms bring men to pouerty. 6 In thy wordes vse discretion. 22 The difference of the wisdom of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayest know what is in man.

A labowing man that is giuen to drunkennesse, shall not bee rich: and he that contemneth small things, shall fall by litle and litle.

3 * Wine and Women leade wise men out of the way, [and put men of vnderstanding to re-proofe.]

3 And he that companieth adulterers, shal become impudent: rottennesse & wormes shall haue him to heritage, and he that is too bolde, shall be taken away, and be made a publike example.

4 * He that is hasty to giue credit, is light minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednesse, shall be punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life shalbe shortened, & hee that abhorreth babbling of words quencheth wickednesse:] but hee that resisteth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.

6 He that refraineth his tongue may liue with a troublesome man, and he that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Rehearse not to another that which is told vnto thee: so shalt thou not be hindred.

8 Declare not other mens maners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the faine appertaine not vnto thee, reueile it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, hee will hate thee.

10 * If thou hast heard a word [against thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and be sure, it wil not burst thee.

11 A foole trauelleth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

12 As an arrow that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

13 * Reproue a friend lest he do euill, and if he haue done it, that he do it no more.

14 Reproue a friend that hee may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that hee say it no more.

15 Tel thy friend his fault: for oft times a slander is raised, and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his wil: * and who is he that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threat-ten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisdom obtaineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruit of immortality.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wisdom, and the performing of the Law is perfect wisdom, and the knowledge of his almighty power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not do as it pleaseth thee, though afterward he hee do it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednesse is not wis-dome, neither is there prudence whereas the counsell of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice:
and the foole is void of wisdom.

23 He that hath final vnderstanding, & feareth
God, is better then one that hath much wisdom, and transgresseth the Law of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtilty that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest law: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that being about wicked purposes, doe bow downe themselves, and are sad, whose inward parts burne altogether with deceit:
he looketh downe with his face, and faineth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, hee will bee vpon thee to hurt thee.

28 * A mans garment, and his excessiue laughter, and going declare what person he is.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Uprising. 24 The theefe and the mouthpener. 28 Gifts blind the eyes of the wise.

There is some rebuke that is not comely: againe, some man holdeth his tongue, and hee is wise.

2 It is much better to reprove then to beare euill will: and hee that acknowledgeth his fault, shalbe preferred from hurt.

3 As when a gelded man through lust would defile a amide, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reprov'd, to shew repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilfull sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becommerh latefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because hee hath not to answer: and some keepe silence, waiting a conuenient time.

7 * A wife man will hold his tongue till hee see opportunitie: but a trifier and a foole will regard no time.

8 He that vseth many words, shall be abhorred, and he that taketh authoritie to himselfe shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and sometimes a thing that is found, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, & there is some gift, whole reward is double.

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humblenes listeth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a little price, for the which he payeth seuen times more.

13 * A wife man with his words maketh himselfe to be loued, but the merrie tales of fooles shall be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for he looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth little, and he vpbraideth much: hee openeth his mouth like a towne crier: to day hee lendeth, to morrow asketh hee againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole saith, I haue no friend, I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eate my bread, speake euill of me.

16 How oft, & of how many shal he be laughed to scorne? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pavement is verie sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence looseth grace when it cometh out of a fooles mouth: for hee speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieved when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his own soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons looseth it.

22 Some man promisseth vnto his friends for shame, and getteth an enemy of him for nought.

23 * A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A theefe is better, then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of lyars are vn honest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honour with his words, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 * He that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape [he that worketh righteously, shalbe exalted,] and he that pleaseth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

28 * Rewardes and gifts blind the eyes of the wise, and maketh them dumme, that they cannot reprove faults.

29 Wisedome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profit is in them both?

30 Better is hee that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisdome.

31 The necessarie patience of him, that followeth the Lord, is better then he that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reprov'd. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

My sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, but pray for the foresinnes [that they may be forgiven thee.]

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou comest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lion, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proude shalbe desolate.

5 * The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, cometh vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed is in the way of sinners: but hee that feareth the Lord, conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen a farre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 * The congregation of the wicked is like towe wrapped together: their ende is a flame of fire to destroy them.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the ende thereof is hell, [darknesse and paines.]

11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord, runneth his owne afflictions thereby: and the increase of wisdome is the end of the feare of God.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that encreaseth bitternesse.

13 The knowledge of the wise shall abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

14 * The inner parts of a foole are like a broken

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise word, he will commend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, hee will disallow it, and cast it behinde his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way: but there is comeliness in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the Congregation, and they shall ponder his words in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisdom vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feete, and like manicles vpon the right arme.

20 A foole listeth vp his voice with laughter, but a wise man doth scarce smile secretly.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewel of gold, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foote is soone in [his neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but hee that is wel nurured, will stande without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for he that is wise, will bee grieved with such dishonour.

25 The lippes of talkers will bee telling such things as pertaine not vnto them, but the words of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When the vngodly curseth Satan, hee curseth his owne soule.

28 A backbiter defileth his own soule, and is hated wherefoeuer he is: [but he that keepeth his tongue, and is discreet, shall come to honour.]

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the fluggard. 12 Np to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience feareth not.

A Slouthfull man is like a filthie stone, which euerie man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to bee compared to the dongue of oxen, and euerie one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euil nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: & the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but shee that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 Shee that is bold, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly:] but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisdom knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole is as one that gleweth a potsherd together, and as he that waketh one that sleepe, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, & haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proud, with hautesnes and foolishnesse they defile the nobilitie of their kinned.

10 Who so telleth a foole of Wisdom, is as a man, which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

11 Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for hee wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.

12 Senen dayes doe men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole, and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no vnderstanding: beware of him, lest it turne thee to paine, and least thou bee defiled when hee shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt find rest, and shalt not receiue sorrow by his foolishnesse.

14 What is heavier then lead? and what other name should a foole haue?

15 Sand and salt, and a lumpe of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly man:]

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot bee loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discreete wisdom, is as a faire plaistering on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are let vp on hie, cannot abide the wind, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 Hee that hurteth the eye, bringeth forth teares, and hee that hurteth the heart bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and he that vpbraideth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sword at thy friend, yet despaire not: for there may bee a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbraying or pride or disclosing of secrets or a traiterous wound doe not let: for by these things euerie friend will depart.

23 Bee faithfull vnto thy friend in his paueritie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie, Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for paueritie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to bee had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euil words [rebukes and threatnings] goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not bee ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though hee should doe me harme: whosoever heareth it, shall beware of him.

26 Who shall set a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisdom vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

abound to my destruction, and lest I fall before mine aduersary, & mine enemies reioice ouer me, whose hope is faile from thy mercy.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, [leau me not in their imagination] neither giue mee a proud looke, but turne away from thy seruants a flour nund.

5 Take from me vaine hope & concupiscence, and reiteine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedines of the bellie, nor lust of the flesh hold me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent nunde.

7 ¶ Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shal speake truth: who so keepeth it, shall not perishe through his lips, [nor be hurt by wicked works.]

8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lips: for the euill speaker and the proud doe offend by them.

9 *Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the Holy One: [for thou shalt not be unpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot be without some skaire, so hee that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not bee faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednesse, and the plague shall neuer goe from his house: when he shall offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if hee sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a worde which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Vile not thy mouth to ignorant rashnes: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 ¶ Remember thy father & thy mother when thou art set among great men, lest thou bee forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and with that thou haddest not bene borne, and curse the day of thy natiuitie.

15 *The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, wil neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, & the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a mind hote as fire that cannot be quenched til it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 [All bread is sweet to a whoremonger: he will not leaue off till he perishe.]

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, *Who seeth me? I am compassed about with darkenes: the walles couer me: no body seeth me: whom need I to feare? the most High will not remember my finnes.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter then the Sun, beholding all the wayes of men, [ & the ground of the deep, ] and considereth the most secrets parts.

20 He knew all things ouer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.

21 * The same man shall bee punished in the streets of the citie, [and shalbe chased like a yong horsefoale,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shalbe taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of euery man, because hee would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shall it goe also with euery wife that leaueh her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 * For first, [shee hath disobeyed the Law of the most High, and secondly, she hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, she hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.]

24 She shall be brought out into the Congregation, and examination shal be made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull report shall she leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him, is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A prayse of wisdom proceeding forth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her works and place where she resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

Wisdom shall prayse her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the mids of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, & triumph before his power.

3 [In the middes of her people shall she bee exalted, and woudered at in the holy assembly.]

4 In the multitude of the chosen she shall be commended, & among such as be blessed she shall be praised, and shall say,]

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.]

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen, and conered the earth as a cloud.

7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the copasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

9 I possessed the waues of the Sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nation, [and with my power haue I troden down the hearts of all, both high and low.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the Creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, & sayd, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.

12 * He created mee from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: * in the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I established in Sion.

13 * In the welbeloued citie gaue he mee rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke root in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on hie like a cedar in Libanus, & as a cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which bee hateful, 7 Of nine things that bee not to be suspected. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

Three things reioyce mee, and by them am I beautified before God and men: * the vnity of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a nan and wife that agree together.

* Gen. 13. 11.
Rom. 12. 10.

2 ¶ Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I viterly abhorre the life of them: * a poore man that is proud: a rich man that is a lyar, and an old adulterer that doeth.

3 ¶ If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 ¶ Oh how pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh how comely a thing is wisdom vnto aged men, and vnderstanding & prudence to men of honour!

6 The crowne of old men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 ¶ There be nine things which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, & the tenth wil I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while hee liueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 ¶ Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him.

* Chap. 14. 1. and
19. 16. item 3. 2.

9 Well is him that findeth prudence, and hee that speaketh in the eares of them that wil heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is he that findeth wisdom! yet is there none about him, that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God,] vnto whom shal he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyned vnto him.

14 [¶ The greatest heauines is the heauines of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue mee any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of theemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, & there is no wrath about the wrath of an ||emie.

Or, woman.
* Prov. 11. 9.

18 * I had rather dwel with a lion and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednes of a woman changeth her face, & maketh her countenance black as || a sacke.

Or, a bema

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her he sigheth sore or he beware.

21 All wickednes is but little to the wickednes of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing vp of a findie way is to the feet of the aged, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.

23 * Stumble not at the beautie of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

* Chap. 43. 2.
2. item 11. 2. and
13. 2.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, she is angry and and impudent and full of reproch.

25 A wicked wife maketh a fory heart, an heauie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake hands and feeble knees, and cannot comfort her husband in heauinesse.

26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a little,] neither giue a wicked woman libertie to go out.

28 If she walke not in thine obedience, [shee shal confound thee in the sight of thine enemies] Cut her oft then from thy flesh. ¶ Giue her, and forsake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the state of three things, and of the fourth. 9 Of the ialous and drunken woman. 9 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which moueth wrath.

Blessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shalbe double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and she shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall bee giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraide of the fourth: Treason in a city, the assembly of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorow and griefe of the heart, is a woman that is ialous ouer another: & she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers wayes: hee that hath her, is as though hee held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as cannot bee tamed, is a great plague: for she cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be known in the pride of her eyes and eye lids.

10 ¶ If thy daughter be not shamefast, holde her straitly, lest shee abuse her selfe through ouermuch liberty.

11 Take heed of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and maruaile not if shee trespass against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, & is thirstie, so shall shee open her mouth, and drinke of euerie next water: by euerie hedge shall shee sit downe, and open her quier against euerie arrow.

13 The grace of a wife, reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is the gift of the Lord, and there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast, faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continent mind.

16 As the Sunne when it riseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlesticke, so is the beautie of a face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feete with a constant mind.

19 [Perpetual are the foundations that be laid vpon a strong rocke: so are the commandements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession thorow all thy fields, sowe it with thine owne seede, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall grow, trusting in the great liberalitie of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a Sow: but the wife that is married, is counted as a tower against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shameles woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dog: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wife of all: but shee that despiseth him, shalbe blased for her pride.

28 A lowd crying woman and a babbler, let her be sought out to driue away the enemies: the mind of euerie man that liueth with such, shalbe conueniant among the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh me angry: A man of warre, that suffereth pouertie, and men of vnderstanding that are not set by, and when one departeth from righteousness vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things, which me thinke to be hard and perillous.] A merchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a victualler is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would bee rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The unconstancie of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be uttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill which turneth vpon himselfe.

Because of pouertie many haue sinned: and * he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

2 As a naile in the wall sticketh fast betweene the ioynts of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the buying.

3 If he hold him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone be ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifteth, the filthinesse remaineth in the sieue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace proueth the potters vessel: * so doth [temptation] trie mens thoughts.

6 * The fruit declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the word [declareth] what man hath in his heart.

7 Prayse no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the trial of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousness, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [and shalt dwell with her, and she shall defend thee for euer: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt find stedfastnesse.]

9 The birds resort vnto their like: so doth the truth turne vnto them that are praised in her.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdom: as for a foole, he changeth as the moon.

12 If thou bee among the vndiscreet, obserue the time, but haunt still the assemblie of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grievous, and their sport sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

14 * The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: and to strue with such, stoppeth the eares.

15 The strife of the proud is blood shedding, and their scouldings are grievous to heare.

16 Who so discovereth secrets, loseth his credit, and findeth no friend after his will.

17 Loue thy friend, and be faithfull vnto him: but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemy, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a bird goe out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for he is too far off: hee is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]

21 As for wounds they may bee bound vp againe, and an euill word may be reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secret of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

22 * He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and he that knoweth him wil let him alone.

23 When thou art present hee will speake sweetly, and praise thy wordes: but at the last hee will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on hie, casteth it vpon his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

26 Who so * diggeth a pit, shal fall therein, [and he that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shal stumble thereon,] and hee that layeth a snare for another, shalbe taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euill, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockery and reproch follow the proud, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lion.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shall bee taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despight and anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Wee ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgive the offence.

13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

HE * that seeketh vengeance shall finde vengeance of the Lord, and hee will surely keepe his sinnes.

2 // Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so shall thy sinnes be forgiven thee also: when thou prayest.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and * desire forgiveness of the Lord?

4 He will shew no mercie to a man which is like himselfe: and will he aske forgiveness of his owne sinnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred [ &amp; aske pardon of God, ] who will intreat for his sinnes?

6 Remember the ende, and let enimitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but perseuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandements: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neighbour: [ consider diligently ] the covenant of the most High, and forgiue his ignorance.

8 * Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angrie man kindleth strife.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

10 * As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is hee inflamed.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheddeth blood: [ a tongue that beareth false witness, bringeth death. ]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shalbe quenched, &amp; both these come out of the mouth.

13 // * Abhor the slanderer &amp; double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace.

14 The double tongue hath disquieted many, and driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houses of great men: [ the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and beene the decay of mightie nations. ]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous woman, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer find rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh marks in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There bee many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept fro an euil tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawn in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brasle.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they bee burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein: and it shal burne them, and no man shalbe able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lion, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Bind vp thy siluer and gold, and weigh thy words in a ballance, and make a doore and a bar, [ and a sure bridle ] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in wait, [ and thy fall be incurable euen vnto death. ]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money, and doe almes. 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

HE that wil shew mercy, lendeth to his neighbour: and he that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandements.

2 Lend to thy neighbor in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour again in due season.

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbors good they humble their voice: but when they should pay again, they prolong the terme, and giue a carelesse answer, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, & reckoneth the other as a thing found: els he deceiueh him of his money, & maketh him an enemy without a cause: he paieth him with cursing and rebuke, & giueth him euil words for his good deed.

7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to bee defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himselfe, and deferre not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandements sake, and turne him not away, because of his povertie.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers & neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 * Bestow the treasure after the commandement of the most High, & it shall bring thee more profite then gold.

12 ¶ Lay vp thine * almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.

13 [A mans almes is as a purse with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward shall it arise, and pay every man his reward vpon his head.]

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mighty.

15 An honest man is surety for his neighbour: but he that is impudent forsaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suerty: for he hath layd his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deed of his surety.

18 The wicked will not become surety: and he that is of an vnthankfull minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promisseth for his neighbour: and when he hath lost his honestie, he will forsake him.]

20 Suretiship hath destroyed many a rich man, and remoued them as the waues of the sea: mighty men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Lord shall fall into suretiship: and he that medleth much with other mens businesse, is entangled in controuersies.

22 ¶ Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

23 * The chiefe thing of life is water, & bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame.

24 ¶ The poore mans life in his owne lodge is better then delicate fare in another mans.

25 Be it little or much, hold thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to go from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou darst not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and feed vnthankful men, and after shalt haue bitter wordes for the same, saying, 28 Come thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feed me of that thou hast ready.

29 Giue place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother commeth to bee lodged, and I haue neede of my house.

30 These things are heauy to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpbraiding of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

2 He that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 He that * teacheth the sonne griueth the enemy, and before his friends he shall reioyce of him.

4 Though his father die, yet is hee as though he were not dead: for hee hath left one behind him that is like him.

5 In his life he saw him, and had ioy in him, and was not sorry in his death, [neither was hee ashamed before his enemies.]

6 Hee left behind him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friend.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is griued at every cry.

8 An vntamed horse will be stubborne, and a wanton child will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, hee shall make thee afraid: and if thou play with him, he shall bring thee to heauinesse.

10 Laugh not with him, lest thou be sorry with him, and lest thou gnash thy teeth in the end.

11 * Giue him no liberty in his youth, & winke not at his folly.

12 Bow downe his necke while he is yong, and beate him on the sides while he is a child, lest hee waxe stubborne, and be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorow to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy child, and be diligent therein, lest his shame griue thee.

14 ¶ Better is the poore being whole and strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body.

15 Health and strength is aboue all gold, and a whole body aboue infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sound body, and no ioy aboue the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [and long rest,] then continuall sicknesse.

18 The good things that are powred on a mouth shut vp, are as messes of meate set vpon a graue.

19 What good doth the offering vnto an idole? for he can neither eate nor smell: so is hee that is persecuted of the Lord, [and beareth the reward of iniquity.]

20 He seeth with his eyes, and groneth like * a gelded man that lieth with a virgin and sigheth.

21 * Giue not ouer thy mind vnto heauinesse, and vex not thy selfe in thine owne counsell.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnesse is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 Loue thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: driue sorow farre from thee: for sorow hath flaine many, and there is no profit therein.

24 Enuie and wrath shorten the life, and carefulesse bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meate and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 Of enuieus iustice. 3 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The praise of a rich man without a fault. 12 Wee ought to steer drunkennesse, and follow sobernesse.

WAking after riches pineth away the body, and the care thereof driueth away sleepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sicknesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest hee is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off he is still poore.

5 Hee that loueth gold shall not be iustified, and he that foloweth corruption shall haue enough thereof.

6 Many are destroyed by the reason of gold, and haue found their destruction before them.

7 It is as a stumbling block vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.

8 Blessed is the rich which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after gold, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]

9 Who is he, and we will commend him? for wonderful things hath he done among his people.

10 Who hath bene tryed thereby and found perfit? let him be an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods be established, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

12 If thou sit at a costly table, open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Beholde much meate.

13 Remember that an euill eye is a shrew: and what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hand wherefoerer it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eat modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not, lest thou be hated.

17 Leave thou off first for natures sake, and be not insatiable, lest thou offend.

18 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

19 Howe little is sufficient for a man well taught? and thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feeleth any paine.]

20 A wholesome sleepe commeth of a temperate belly: he riseth vp in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching and cholerick diseases, and pangs of the belly are with an vn-satiable man.

21 If thou hast bene forced to eate, arise, goe forth, vomit, and then take thy rest: [so shalt thou bring no sicknes to thy body.]

22 My sonne, heare me, and despise mee not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue told thee: in all thy works be quicke, so shall there no sicknesse come vnto thee.

23 Who so is liberal in his meate, men shall blesse him: and the testimony of his honesty shall be belened.

24 But against him that is a niggard of his meate, the whole citie shall murmure: the testimonies of his niggardnes shall be sure.

25 Shew not thy valiantnes in wine: for wine hath destroyed many.

26 The furnace proueth the edge in the tempering: so doeth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkennesse.

27 Wine soberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is overcome with wine?

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [and not for drunkennesse.] Wine measurably drunken and in time, bringeth gladnesse and cheerefulnesse of the mind.

29 But wine drunken with excesse, maketh bitterness of mind with braulings and scoldings.

30 Drunkennesse increaseth the courage of a foole, till hee offend: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

31 Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despitefull words, and presse not vpon him with contrary words.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modesty. 3 Let the ancient speake. 14 To giue thanks after the repast. 15 Of the feare, faith and confidence in God.

IF thou be made the master of the feast, lift not thy selfe vp, but bee among them, as one of the rest: take diligent care for them, and so sit downe.

2 And when thou hast done all thy duety, sit downe, that thou mayest be merie with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behaniour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becometh thee, but with sound iudgement, and hinder not musick.

4 Powre not out words, where there is no audience, and shew not forth wisdom out of time.

5 The consent of musicians at a banquet, is as a signet of carbuncle set in gold.

6 And as the signet of an Emeraule wel trimmed with gold, so is the melodie of musick in a pleasant banquet.

7 [Giue eare, and be stil, and for thy good behaniour thou shalt be loued.]

8 Thou that art yong, speake if neede be, and yet scarcely when thou art twice asked.

9 Comprehend much in few words: [in many things be as one that is ignorant:] be as one that vnderstandeth, and yet hold thy tongue.

10 If thou be among great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightening, and before a shamefast man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the last: but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy pastime, and doe what thou wilt, so that thou doe none euill, or vs proud words.

14 But aboute al things, giue thanks vnto him that hath made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.

15 Who so feareth the Lord, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall finde fauour.

16 He that seeketh the Law shall be filled therewith: but the hypocrite will be offended therat.

17 They that feare the Lord, shall finde that which is righteous, & shall kindle iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsel: but a lewd and proud man is not touched with feare, even when he hath done rashly.

20 [My sonne,] doe nothing without aduise-ment: so shall it not repent thee after the deede.

21 Go not in the way where thou maiest fall, nor where

24 Who so beleueth in || the Lorde, keepeth the commandments: and he that trusteth in the Lord, shall take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 2 The answer of the wife. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter. 23 Of swift seruants.

Here shall no euill come vnto him that || feareth the Lord: but when he is in tentation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wife man hateth not the Law: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a ship in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Law is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answer, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answer.

5 The heart of the foolish is like a cart wheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axeltree.

6 As a wilde horse neyeth vnder every one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornefull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the dayes of the yeeare come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lord hath parted them asunder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solemne feasts.

9 Some of them hath hee chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath he put among the dayes to number.

10 And all men are of the ground, & Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

11 Some of them hath he blessed and exalted, & some of them hath he sanctified, & appropriated to himselfe: but some of them hath he cursed, and brought them low, & put them out of their estate.

12 * As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creator, so that he may reward them as liketh him best.

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the works of || most high thou mayest see || there are euer two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lorde I am increased, and haue filled my wine presse, like a grape gatherer.

16 * Behold, how I haue not laboured only for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge.

17 Heare mee, O yee great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, yee rulers of the Congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne & wife, thy brother and friend, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreat for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldst looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes bee excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt end thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip, and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correction and worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou let thy seruant to labour, thou shalt find rest: but if thou let him go idle, he shall seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whip bowe downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whips and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that he goe not idle: for idlenesse bringeth much euill.

27 Set him to worke, for || belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, || put on more heauy fetters.

28 But be not excessive toward any, and without discretion doe nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithfull seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreate him as thy brother: for thou hast neede of him, as of thy selfe. If thou intreat him euill, and he runne away, wilt thou seeke him?

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Of dreames. 13 The praise of them that feare God. 18 The of-frings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needy. 27 God doth not allow the works of an vnfaithfull man.

The hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, || and dreames make fooles to haue wings.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the winde.

3 Euen so is it with the appearings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be cleansed by the vncleane? or what trueth can be spoken of a liar?

5 Soothsayings, witchcraft, & dreaming is but vanity, and a mind that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Where as such visions come not of the most High to trie thee, set not thy heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceived many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The Law shall be fulfilled without lies, and wisedome is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and he that hath good experience, can talke of wisedome.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth litle, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 Whē I wandred to & fro, I saw many things, & mine vnderstanding is greater thē I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

14 Who so || feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth hee his trust? who is his strength?

16 * For the eies of the Lord haue respect vnto them that loue him: he is their mighty protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heate, and a shadow for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, and an helpe from falling.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lighteneth the eyes: he giueth health, life and blessing.

19 [But the Lord is theirs onely, that patiently bide him in the way of trueth and righteousness.]

20 The most High doeth not allow the offerings of the wicked, neither is he pacified for sin by the multitude of sacrifice.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth the sonne before the father eyes.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore: he y defraudeth him thereof, is a murderer.

23 He that taketh away his neighbours living, slayeth him, and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodshedder.

24 ¶ When one buildeth, & another breaketh downe, what profit haue they then but labour?

25 When one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voyce will the Lord heare?

26 ¶ Hee that walsbeth himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what auaileth his washing?

27 ¶ So is it with a man that fasteth for his sins, and committeth them againe: who will heare his prayer? or what doeth his fasting helpe him?

CHAP. XXXV.

1 ¶ Of true sacrifices. 14. The prayer of the fatherlesse, and of the widow, and him that humbleth himselfe.

¶ Who so keepeth the Lawe, bringeth offerings ynow: he that holdeth fast the commandements, offereth an offering of saluation.

2 He that is thankfull to them that haue well deferred, offereth fine floure: * and he that giueth almes, sacrificeth praise.

3 To depart from euil, is a thankful thing to the Lord, and to forsake vnrighteousnesse, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 ¶ Thou shalt not appeare emptie before the Lord.

5 For all these things are done because of the commandement.

6 ¶ The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweet before the most High.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer bee forgotten.

8 Giue the Lord his honour with a good and liberall eye, and diminish not the first frutes of thine hands.

9 ¶ In all thy gifts shew a ioyful countenance, and dedicate thy tithes with gladnesse.

10 Giue vnto the most High according as he hath enriched thee, * and looke what thine hand is able, giue with a cheerefull eye.

11 For the Lord recompenseth, and will giue thee seven times as much.

12 ¶ Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he will not receiue it, and abstaine from wrongful sacrifices: for the Lord is the iudge, and regardeth no mans person.

13 He accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 He despiseth not the desire of the fatherlesse nor the widow, when she powreth out her prayer.

15 Doth not the teares run down the widowes cheeks? & her cry is against him that causeth the: [for fro her cheeks do they go vp vnto heauen, & the Lord which heareth them, doth accept them.]

16 He y serueth the Lord, shall be accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the clouds.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth thorow the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come neere, and will not depart til the most High haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord wil not be slacke, nor the Almighty wil tary long from them, til he haue smitten in sunder the loynes of the vnnmerciful, and auenged himselfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruell, and broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, till he giue euery man after his workes, and reward them after their deuises, till he haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercie.

19 Oh how faire a thing is mercy in the time of anguish and trouble! It is like a cloud of raine, that commeth in the time of a drought.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 ¶ Prayer to God in the person of all faithfull men, against those that persecute his Church. 22. The praise of a good woman.

¶ Haue mercie vpon vs, O Lorde God of all things, and behold vs, and [shew vs the light of thy mercies.]

2 And send thy feare among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may knowe that there is no God but thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes.]

3 Lift vp thine hand vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs,

5 That they may know thee, as we know thee: for there is none other God, but onely thou, O Lord.

6 Renew the signes, and change the wonders: shew the glory of thine hand, and thy right arme,

7 Raile vp thine indignatio, & powre out wrath: take away the aduersary, and smite the enemye.

8 Make the time short: remember thine othes that thy wonderous workes may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, & let them perish that oppresse the people.

10 Smite in sunder the heads of the princes that be our enemies, & say, There is none other, but we.

11 Gather all the tribes of Iacob together, [that they may knowe that there is none other God but onely thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes] and inherit thou them as from the beginning.

12 O Lord, haue mercie vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel, * whom thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

13 Oh, be mercifull vnto Ierusalem the citie of the Sanctuary, the citie of thy rest.

14 Fil Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witness vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, & raise vp the prophecies that haue bene shewed in thy Name.

16 Reward them that wait for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants according to y * blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of rightousnesse,] that al they which dwell vpo the earth may know that thou art the Lord the eternall God.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beautie of a woman cheereth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenesse, meekenesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

24 He that hath gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begun to get a possession: she is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoyled: and he that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a theefe that is alway ready and wandereth from towne to towne? & likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth, wherefoeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellors. 12 To keepe his companion that feareth God.

Very friend saith, I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

2 Remaineth there not heauinesse vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemy?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceite?

4 * There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, & taketh vp the buckler against the enemy.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy mind, & thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke no counsell at him of whom thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

8 * Euery counsellor praiseth his own counsell: but there is some that counsell for himselfe.

9 Beware of the counsellor, & be aduised afore where to thou wilt vie him: for he will counsell for himselfe, least he cast the lot vpon thee.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsell for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice,] nor of a woman touching her of who she is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a merchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankfulness, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindness, [nor of an vn honest man of honestie,] nor of the slouthful for any labour, nor of a hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But be continuall with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the commaundements of the Lord, whose mind is according to thy minde, and is sory when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans mind is sometime more accustomed to shew more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an hie towre.

25 And aboue all this pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: fowre things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernement ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man wil be wise in words, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all foode.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisdom.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruits of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruits of his wisdom faile not.

23 A wise man shalbe plentifully blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israhel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shal obtaine credite among his people, and his name shall be perpetuall.

26 My sonne, prooue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

28 Be not greedy in all delites, and be not too hastie vpon all meates.

29 * For excesse of meates bringeth sicknesse, and gluttonie commeth into cholericke diseases.

30 By surfet haue many perished: but he that dieteth himselfe prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physition is commendable. 16 To burie the dead. 24 The wisdom of him that is learned.

Honour the Physition with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most High commeth healing, and he shall receiue gifts of the king.

3 The knowledge of the Physition listeth vp his head, and in the sight of great men he shall be in admiration.

4 The Lorde hath created medicines of the earth, and he that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the water made sweet with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof?

6 So he hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might be glorified in his wonderous workes.

A wise man. 16 The works of God. 14. Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill, euill good things are euill.

HE onely that applieth his minde to the Lawe of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the wisdome of all the ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophesies.

2 He keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entreth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the myserie of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 Hee shall serue among great men and appeare before the prince: he shall trauaile through strange countries: for he hath tried the good and the euill among men.

5 He will giue his heart to resort earely vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, & will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his finnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may powre out wise sentences, and giue thanks vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 He shall direct his counsell, & knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

8 Hee shall shewe forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, & his memorie shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 The congregation shall declare his wisdom, and shew it.

11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shall get the same.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the noone.

13 Harken vnto mee, yee holy children, and bring forth fruit, as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field.

14 And giue ye a sweet smell as incense, and bring forth flowers as the lillie: giue a smell & sing a song of praise: blesse the Lord in all his works.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, & shew forth his prayse with the songs of your lips, and with harps, and ye shall say after this manner, 16 All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time conuenient they shall all be sought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselues.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, & none can diminish that which he will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 Hee seeth from euermore to euermore, there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man need not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall run ouer as the streame, and moysten the earth like a flood.

23 As he hath turned the waters into saltnesse, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

he would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their physicke for the prolonging of life.

15 He that sinneth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the physition.

16 My sonne, power forth teares ouer the dead, and begin to mourne, as if thou hadst suffered great harme thy selfe, and then couer his body according to his appointment, and neglect not his buriall.

17 Make a grievous lamentation, & be earnest in mourning, & vse lamentation, as he is worthy, and that a day or two, lest thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

18 For of heauinesse commeth death, and the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heuines heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shalt be likewise, vnto me yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

23 Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 The wisdome of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisdome.

25 How can he get wisdome that holdeth the plough, & he that hath pleasure in the goad, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in his labours, and talketh but of the breed of bullocks?

26 He giueth his mind to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter, & workemaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut, and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselues to counterfaite imagerie, & watch to performe the worke.

28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anvil, and doth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire drieth his flesh, and hee must fight with the heat of the fornace: the noise of the hammer is euer in his eares, & his eyes looke still vpon the thing that hee maketh: hee setteth his mind to make vp his works: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth y wheel about with his feet: he is careful alway at his work, & maketh his worke by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feet he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with lead, & his diligence is to cleanse the ouen.

31 All these hope in their hands, & euery one bestoweth his wisdome in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities be maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsel of the people, neither are they hie in the congregation, neither sitte they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they mainteine the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke & occupation.

25 ¶ For y good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 * The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits y are created for vengeance, which in their rigour lay on sore strokes: in the time of destruction they shew forth their power, and accomplishe the wrath of him that made them.

29 * Fire and haile, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde beasts, and the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sword execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shalbe glad to doe his commandments: and when neede is, they shalbe ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandment.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto mee from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

33 * All the works of the Lord are good, & he giueth euery one in due season, and when neede is:

CHAP. XLI.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous, and prerogative of the feare of God.

Great ¶ trauell is created for all men, and an heauy yoke vpon y sonnes of Adam from the day that they go out of their mothers wombe, till the day y they returne to the mother of al things,

2 Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death,

3 Fro him that sitteth vpon y glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the dust and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blue silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble and vnquietnesse, and feare of death, and rigor, and strife, and in the time of rest the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A litle or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watch-tower in the day: he is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, he awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seien fold to the vngodly:

9 Moreouer, * death, and blood, and strife, and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created, for the wicked, and for their sakes came the * flood also.

11 * All things that are of the earth, shal turne to earth againe: and they that are of the * waters, shall returne into the sea.

12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shall be put away: but y faithfulness shall endure for euer.

13 The substance of the vngodly shalbe dried vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, he reioyceth: but all the transgressors shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vnclane rootes are as vpon the high rocks.

16 Their tender stalke by what water soeuer it be or water banke, it shall be pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlinesse is as a most plentiful garden of pleasure, and mercy endureth for euer.

18 * To labour and to be content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but he that findeth a treasure, is aboue them both.

19 Children, and the building of the citie maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisdom is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noise: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beauty: but a greene feede time rather then them both.

23 A friend and companion come together at opportunity: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends & help are good in the time of trouble: but almes shal deliuer more then them both.

25 Gold and siluer fasten the feete: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches & strength lift vp the mind: but the feare of the Lord is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of y Lord, & it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, lead not a beggars life, for better it were to die then to beg.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he tormenteth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well noutured, wil beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to bee feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heed vnto wisdom. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

¶ Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vex him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needefull, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them y haue bin before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou be against the pleasure of the most High? whether it bee ten or an hundred or a thousand yeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posterity shall haue a perpetuall shame.

8 Woe be vnto you, O yee vngodly, which haue forsaken the Law of the most high God: for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shall be borne to cursing: if ye die, the curse shall be your portion.

10 *All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: so the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shall be put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shall continue & thee about a thousand treasures of gold.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but || a good name endureth euer.

14 My children, keepe wisdom in peace: *for wisdom that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profite is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisdom.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my words: for it is not good in all things to be || ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

17 Bee ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authoritie.

18 Of sinne before the Iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnes before a companion and friend.

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trueth of God and his covenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the bread, or to be reprov'd for giuing or taking,

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot.

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be euill minded towards another mans wife,

22 Or to sollicite any mans maide, or to stand by her bed, or to reproch thy friends with words, 23 Or to vpbraide when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reuile secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well be shamefast, and shalt find fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Law of God must be taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman.

18 God knoweth all things: yea, euery secret of thine heart.

Of these things be not thou || ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person:

2 Of the Law of the most High and his covenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, and of strangers: or of distributing & heritage among friends:

4 To bee diligent to keepe true ballance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sell marchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, & to beate an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, & weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned, and the vnwise, and the aged that contend against the yong: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

9 ¶ The daughter || maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnesse that he hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the youth; lest she should passe the flower of her age: and when she hath an husband, lest she should be hated:

10 In her virginity, lest she should be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and when she is with her husband, lest she misbehaue her selfe: & when she is married, lest she continue vnfruitful.

11 ¶ If thy daughter be vnshamefast, keepe her straightly, lest shee cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the citie, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

12 ¶ Behold not euery bodies beautie, & company not among women.

13 For as the moth commeth out of garments: so doeth wickednesse of the woman.

14 The wickednes of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame and reproch.

15 ¶ I will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appointed that his Saints should declare all his wonderous workes, which the almightie Lorde hath stablished to confirme all things by in his maiestie?

18 He seeketh out the depth, & the heart, & he knoweth their praifes: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 Hee declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the paths of things that are secret.

20 ¶ No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him.

21 He hath garnished the excellent workes of his wisdom, and he is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be minished: he hath no neede of any counseller.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his workes, and to be considered euen vnto the sparks of fire!

23 They liue all, and endure for euer: and whensoever neede is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double, one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25 The one || commendeth the goodnesse of the other, and who can be satisfied with beholding Gods glory?

¶ His hie ornament || the cleere firmament, the beauty of the heauen so glorious to behold,

2 The Sunne also a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth, at his going out, the worke of the most High.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The Sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a fornace with continuall heate: it casteth out the fierie vapours, and with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement he causeth it to run hastily.

6 ¶ The moone also hath he made to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world.

9 It is a canipe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commaundement of the Holy one they continue in their order, and faile not in their watch.

11 ¶ * Looke vpon the raine-bowe, and praise him that made it: very beautiful it is in the brightnesse thereof.

12 * It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the most High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commaundement he maketh the snowe to halte, and sendeth swiftly the lighting of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the fowles.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the cloudes, and broken the haile stones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateh the earth: so doth the storme of the North: the whirlwind also, as birds that flie, scattereth the snow, and the falling downe thereof is as the grasshoppers that light downe.

18 The eye maruellet at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 Hee also powrieth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frozen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the colde North winde bloweth, an yce is frozen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, & clotheh the waters as with a brestplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, & burneth the wilderness, & destroyeth that that is green, like fire.

22 The remedie of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dew commeth vpon the heat, it refresheth it.

23 [By his word he stilleth the winde] by his counsell hee appeaseth the deepe, and planteth ylands therein.

24 They that faile ouer the sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we haere it with our eares, we maruell thereat.

25 For there be strange & wonderous works, diuers maner of beasts, & the creation of whales.

26 Through him are all things directed to a good end, and are established by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, wee cannot attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue we to praise him? for he is aboue all his works.

29 The Lord is terrible, and very * great, and marueilous is his power.

30 Praise the Lord, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doth he farre exceed: exalt him with all your power, and be not weary, yet can yee not attaine vnto it.

31 * Who hath seene him, that he might tell vs? and who can magnifie him as he is?

32 For there are hidde yet greater things then these be, and we haue seene but a few of his works.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wisdom to such as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certain holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

L Et vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowned for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declare propheties.

4 * They gouerned the people by counsell and by the knowledge of learning meet for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences.

5 They inuented the melody of musicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mighty in power, and lined quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, & were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shalbe spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no memoriall, * and are perished as though they had neuer bene, and are become, as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them.

10 But the former were mercifull men, whose righteousness hath not bene forgotten.

11 For whose posterity a good inheritance is reserved, and their seed is contained in the couenant.

12 Their stocke is contained in the couenant, and their posterity after them.

13 Their seed shal remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

15 * The people speake of their wisdom, and the congregation talke of their praise.

16 ¶ * Enoch pleased the Lord God: therefore was he translated for an example of repentance to the generations.

17 ¶ * Noe was found perfit, and in the time of wrath he had a reward: therefore was he left as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came.

18 An euerlasting couenant is made with him, that all flesh should * perish no more by the flood.

19 ¶ Abraham was a * great father of many people: in glory was there none like vnto him.

20 He kept the Law of the most High, & was in couenant with him, & hee set the couenant * in his flesh, and in tentation he was found faithfull.

21 Therefore he assured him by an * othe, that he would blesse the nations in his seed, and that hee would multiply him as the dust of the earth, and exalt his seed as the starres, and cause them to inherit from sea to sea, and from the Riuer vnto the end of the world.

22 * With ¶ Isaac did he confirme likewise for Abraham his fathers sake, the blessing of all men, and the couenant.

23 And caused it to rest vpon the head of ¶ Iacob, and made himself knowne by * his blessings, and gaue him an heritage, & diuided his portions, * and parted them among the twelve tribes.

4 * Hee sanctified him with faithfulness, and meekenesse, and chose him out of all men.

* Exod. 19. 7.

5 He caused him to heare his voice, & brought him into the darke cloud, * and there he gaue him the commandements before his face, euen the Law of life and knowledge, that he might teach Iacob the covenant, and Israel his iudgements.

* Exod. 4. 28.

6 He exalted || Aaron an holy man like vnto him, euen * his brother of the tribe of Leui.

7 An euertlasting covenant made he with him, and gaue him the Priesthood among the people, and made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 He put perfect ioy vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

* Exod. 28. 35.

9 He compassed him about with bells of gold, and with many bells round about, * that when he went in, the sound might be heard, & might make a noyse in the Sanctuary, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people,

| Vrim and Thummim.

10 And with an holy garment, with gold also, and blue filke, and purple, and diuers kinds of works, and with a brestlappe of iudgement, and with the || signes of truth,

11 And with woorkes of scarlet cunningly wrought, and with stones grauen like scales, and set in gold by goldsmiths worke for a memoriall, with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel,

12 And with a crowne of gold vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holinesse, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on, but onely his children, and his childrens children perpetually.

* Leui. 8. 12.

14 Their sacrifices were wholly consumed euery day twise continually.

15 * Moyses filled his hands, and anointed him with holy oile: this was appointed vnto him by an euertlasting covenant, & to his seed, so long as the heauens should remaine, that hee should minister before him, and also to execute the office of the Priesthood, and blese his people in his Name.

16 Before all men liuing the Lord chose him, that he should present offerings before him, and a sweet sauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

* Deut. 17. 10. and 11. 5.

17 * He gaue him also his commandements and authority according to the Lawes appointed, that hee should teach Iacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Law.

* Num. 16. 1, 2.

18 * Strangers stood vp against him, and enuied him in the wilderness, euen the men that tooke Dathans and Abirans part, and the company of Core in fury and rage.

19 This the Lord saw, & it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: he did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fiery flame.

* Num. 17. 8.

20 * But he made Aaron more honourable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eat of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him and to his seed.

* Deut. 12. 12. and 18. 1.

22 * Els had hee none heritage in the land of his people, neither had hee any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

| Phinees.
* Num. 15. 12. 23. 1. Mac. 2. 54.

23 The third in glory is || Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because he had zeale in the feare of the Lord, and stood vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a covenant of peace made with him, that hee should bee the chiefe of the Sanctuary and of his people, and that hee and his posteritie shoulde haue the dignitie of the Priesthood for euer.

25 And according to the covenant made with David, that the inheritance of the kingdom should remaine to his son of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should be to the only sonne of his sonne, & to his seed. God giue vs wisdom in our heart to iudge his people in righteousness, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glory may endure for their posterity.

CHAP. XLVI.

The praise of Iosue, Caleb, and Samuel.

| Iosue || * the sonne of Naue was valiant in the warres, and was the successeur of Moyses in prophesies, who according vnto his name, was a great Sauour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of the enemies that rose vp against them, and to set Israel in their inheritance.

| Iosue.
* Num. 27. 18. Deut. 34. 9. Josh. 1. 2. and 12. 7.

2 * What glory gate hee, when he list vp his hand, and drew out his sword against the cities?

* Josh. 8. 1, 2.

3 Who was there before him, like to him? for he fought the battels of the Lord.

4 * Stood not the Sunne still by his meanes, and one day was as long as two?

* Josh. 10. 12, 13, 14.

5 Hee called vnto the most High gouernour when the enemies pressed vpon him on euery side, and the mighty Lord heard him with the haile stones and with mighty power.

6 He rushed in vpon the nations in battel, and in the * going downe of Bethoron he destroyed the aduersaries, that they might know his weapons, and that he fought || in the sight of the Lord: for he || followed the Almighty.

* Josh. 10. 11.

7 * In the time of Moyses also he did a good worke: he and || Caleb the sonne of Iephune stood against the enemy, and withheld the people from sinne, and appeased the wicked murmuring.

| Or, that the Lord favoured his battel.
| Or, pursued the mighty men.

8 * And of sixe hundred thousand people of foot, they two were preferred to bring them into the heritag, euen into the land that floweth with milke and hony.

9 * The Lord gaue strength also vnto Caleb, which remained with him vnto his olde age, so that he went vp into the hie places of the land, and his seed obtained it for an heritage.

* Josh. 14. 11.

10 That all the children of Israel might see, that it is good to follow the Lord.

11 Concerning the || Iudges, euery one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Lord, their memory be blessed.

| Iudges.

12 Let * their bones flourish out of their place, and their names by succession remaine to them that are most famous of their children.

princes ouer his people.

14 By the Law of the Lord he iudged the congregation, and the Lord had respect vnto Iacob.

15 This prophet was approued for his faithfulness, & he was knowen faithfull in his words and visions.

16 * He called vpon the Lord Almighty, when his enemies pressed vpon him on euery side, when he offered the sucking lambe.

17 And the Lord thundred from heauen, and made his voice to be heard with a great noyse.

18 So hee discomfited the princes of the Tyrians, and all the rulers of the Philistims.

19 * And before his long sleepe he made protestation in the sight of the Lord, and his anointed, that he tooke no substance of any man, no not so much as a shooc, and no man could accuse him.

20 * After his sleepe also he tolde of the Kings death, and from the earth lift he vp his voice, and prophesied that the wickednesse of the people should perish.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, David and Salomon.

After him rose vp || * Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

2 For as the fat is taken away from the peace offering, so was || Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

3 * Hee played with the lions, as with kids, and with beares, as with lambes.

4 * Slew he not a gyant when he was yet but yong, and tooke away the rebuke from the people, when he lift vp his hand with the stone in the sling, to beate downe the pride of Goliath?

5 For hee called vpon the most high Lord, which gaue him strength in his right hand, to slay that mightie warriour, and that hee might set vp the horne of his people againe.

6 * So || hee gaue him the praise of ten thousand, and honoured him with || great praise, and gaue him a crowne of glorie.

7 * For he destroyed the enemies on euery side, and rooted out the Philistims his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sunder vnto this day.

8 In all his workes he praised the holy One, and the most High with honourable words, and with his whole heart hee sung songs, and loued him that made him.

9 * He set fingers also before the altar, and according to their tune he made sweete songs, that they might praise God dayly with their songs.

10 He ordeined to keepe the feast dayes comely, & appointed the times perfectly, that they might praise the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

11 * The Lord tooke away his finnes, and exalted his horne for euer: he gaue him the couenant of the kingdome, & the throne of glorie in Israel.

12 After him rose vp a wife sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.

13 || * Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made all quiet round about, that he might build an house in his Name, and prepare the Sanctuarie for euer.

14 * How wise wast thou in thy youth, and wast filled with vnderstanding as with a flood!

15 Thy mind couered the whole earth, & hath filled it with graue and darke sentences.

16 Thy Name went abroad in the yles, and for thy peace thou wast beloved.

17 * The countries marueiled at thee for thy songs, and proverbs, and similitudes, and interpretations.

18 By the Name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast gathered gold as tinne, and hast had as much siluer as lead.

19 * Thou diddest bow thy loynes to women, and wast overcome by thy bodie.

20 Thou diddest staine thine honour, and hast defiled thy posteritie, and hast brought wrath vpon thy children, and hast felt sorow for thy folly.

21 * So the kingdome was deuided, and Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdome.

22 * Neuerthelesse the Lord left not off his mercie, neither was he destroyed for his workes, neither did hee abolish the posteritie of his elect, nor tooke away the seede of him that loued him, but he left a remnant vnto Iacob, and a roote of him vnto Dauid.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seed he left behind him || Roboam, euen || the foolishnesse of the people, and one that had no vnderstanding, * who turned away the people through his counsell, || and Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat, * which caused Israel to sinne, and shewed Ephraim the way of sinne, 24 So that their finnes were so much increased, that they were driuen out of the land.

25 For they sought out all wickednesse, till the vengeance came vpon them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The prayse of Elias, Eliseus, Ezekias, and Iosias.

Then stood vp || * Elias the Prophet as a fire, and his word burnt like a lampe.

2 He brought a famine vpon them, and by his zeale he diminished them: [for they might not away with the Commandements of the Lord.]

3 By the word of the Lord he shut the heauen, & three times brought hee the fire from heauen.

4 O Elias, how honorable art thou by thy wondrous deeds! who may make his boist to be like thee

5 * Which hast raised vp the dead from death, & by the word of the most High out of the graue:

6 Which hast brought Kings vnto destruction, and the honourable from their seate:

7 Which heardest the rebuke of the Lord in Sinai, * and in Horeb the iudgment of the vengeance:

8 * Which diddest anoint kings that they might || recompence, and Prophets to be thy successors:

9 * Which wast taken vp in a whirle winde of fire, and a charet of fierie horses:

10 Which wast appointed * to reprove in due season, & to pacifie the wrath of the Lords iudgement before it kindled, and to tune the hearts of the fathers vnto the children, and to set vp the tribes of Iacob.

11 Blessed were they that saw thee, and slept in loue: for we shall liue.

12 * When Elias was couered with the storme, || Eliseus was filled with his spirit: while he liued, he was not moued for any prince, neither could any bring him into subiection.

13 Nothing could overcome him, * and after his death his bodie prophesied.

14 Hee did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes marueilous.

15 For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their finnes: * till they were caried away prisoners out of their land, and were scattered through all the earth, so that there remained but a verie few people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid.

19 Then trembled their hearts and hands, so that they sorrowed like a woman in trauell.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is merciful, and lift vp their hands vnto him, and immediately the holy One heard them out of heauen.

21 [He thought no more vpon their sinnes nor gaue them ouer to their enemies,] but deliuered them by the hand of Efaï.

22 ¶ He smote the hoste of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

23 For Ezekias had done the thing that pleased the Lord, and remained stedfastly in the wayes of Dauid his father, as ¶ Efaï the great Prophet, and faithfull in his vision had commanded him.

24 ¶ In his time the Sunne went backward, & he lengthened the Kings life.

25 He law by an excellent Spirit what should come to passe at the last, and he comforted them that were sorrowfull in Sion.

26 Hee shewed what should come to passe for euer, and secret things, or euer they came to passe.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosias, Ezekias, Dauid, Jeremie, Ezechiel, Zorobabel, Iesus, Nehemias, Enoch, Ioseph, Sem and Seth.

THe remembrance of ¶ Iosias is like the composition of the perfume that is made by the art of the Apothecarie, it is sweete as honie in all mouthes, and as musicke at a banquet of wine.

2 He behaued himselfe vprightly in the reformation of the people, and tooke away all abominations of iniquitie.

3 He ¶ directed his heart vnto the Lord, and in the time of the vngodly he established religion.

4 All, except Dauid and Ezechias, and Iosias committed wickednesse: for euen the Kings of Iuda forsooke the Law of the most High, and failed.

5 Therefore he gaue their ¶ home vnto other, and their honour to a strange nation.

6 Hee burnt the elect citie of the Sanctuary, and destroyed the streetes thereof according to the ¶ prophesie of ¶ Ieremias.

7 For they ¶ intreated him euill, which neuertheless was a Prophet, ¶ sanctified from his mothers wombe, that he might roote out and afflicte, and destroy, and he that might also build vp, and plant.

8 ¶ Ezechiel sawe the glorious vision, which was shewed him vpon the chariot of the Cherubims.

9 ¶ For he made mention of the enemies vnder the figure of the raine, & directed them that went right.

10 ¶ And let the bones of the twelue Prophets flourish out of their place, and let their memorie be blessed: for they comforted Iacob, and deliuered them by assured hope.

11 ¶ How shal we praise ¶ Zorobabel, which was as a ring on the right hand!

12 So was ¶ Iesus also the sonne of Iosedec: these men in their time builded the house, and set vp the Sanctuary of the Lord againe, which was prepared for an euerlasting worship.

13 ¶ And among ¶ elect was ¶ Neemias, whose renouance is great, which set vp for vs the walles that were fallen, and set vp the gates & the barres, and laid the foundations of our houses.

14 ¶ But vpon the earth was no man created like ¶ Enoch: for he was taken vp from the earth:

15 Neither was there a like man vnto ¶ Ioseph the gouernour of his brethren, and the vpholder of his people, whose bones were kept.

16 ¶ Sem and ¶ Seth were in great honour among men: and so was ¶ Adam aboute euerie liuing thing in the creation.

CHAP. L.

Of Simon the sonne of Onias. 22 An exhortation to praise the Lord. 27 The author of this booke.

Simon ¶ the son of Onias the hie Priest, which in his life set vp the house againe, and in his dayes established the ¶ Temple,

2 Vnder him was the foundation of the double height laide, and the hie wals that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the brasie was about in measure as the sea.

4 He tooke care for his people that they should not fall, and fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honorable was his conuersation among the people, and when hee came out of the house couered with the vaille!

6 He was as the morning starre in the middes of a cloud, and as the moone when it is full,

7 And as the Sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most High, & as the rainbow that is bright in the faire clouds,

8 And as the flowre of the roses in the spring of the yeere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of Summer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessell of massie gold, set with all maner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire oliue tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree which groweth vp to the clouds.

11 When he put on the garment of honor and was clothed with al beauty, he went vp to the holy altar, & made the garment of holines honourable.

12 When hee tooke the portions out of the Priests hands, hee himselfe stood by the heath of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glorie, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the congregation of Israel.

14 And that he might accomplish his ministerie vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High and Almightie, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, and hee powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good fauour vnto the most high King of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brasen trumpets, and made a great noise to be heard, for a remembrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together hastened, and fell downe on the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God Almighty, and most High.

18 The fingers also sang with their voices, so that the sound was great, and the melodie sweete.

19 And the people praised vnto the Lord most high high with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went he down, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole Congregation of the children of Israel, that they should giue prayse with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his name.

21 He began againe to worship, that he might receiue the blessing of the most High.

22 Now therefore giue praise all ye vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our dayes from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercy,

23 That hee would giue vs inuoluntes of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in old time, 24 That he would confirme his mercy with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two maner of people that mine heart abhorreth, and the third is no people:

26 They that sit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philistims, and the foolish people that dwell in || Sicinus.

27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Sirach, the sonne of Eleazarus of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wisdom of his heart.

28 Blessed is he that exerciseth himselfe therein: & he that layeth vp these in his heart, shalbe wise.

29 For if he do these things, he shalbe strong in all things: for he setteth his steps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisdom to ¶ godly. The Lord be praised for euermore. So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

I Will confesse thee, O Lord and King, and praise thee, O God my Sauour: I wil giue thanks vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserved my body from destruction, & from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered me according to the multitude of thy mercy, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, & out of the hands of such as sought after my life, & from the manifold afflictions which I had,

4 And from the fire that choked mee round about, and from the mids of the fire, that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hell, from an vnclane tongue, from lying words, from false accusation to the King, and from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My soule shall praise the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on euery side, and there was no man to help me: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, O Lorde, and vpon thine actes of old, how thou deliuerest such as waite for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the || enemies.

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord the Father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, & in the time of the proud without help.

11 I will praise thy Name continually, and will sing praise with thanksgiving: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauedst me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks and praise thee, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet young, or euer I went abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countries, and she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioycd in her: my foote walked in the right way, & from my youth vp sought I after her.

16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate much wisdom:

17 And I profited by her: therefore wil I ascribe the glory vnto him that giueth me wisdom.

18 For I am aduised to do thereafter: I wil be ielous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine hands on high, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in pureness: I haue had my heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.

21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath giuen mee a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.

23 Draw neere vnto me, ye vnlearned, & dwell in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are ye slow? and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are very thirsty?

25 I opened my mouth, and said, *Buy her for you without money.

26 Bow down your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: shee is ready that ye may find her.

27 Behold with your eyes, *how that I haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto mee much rest.

28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much gold.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercy of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.

30 Doe your duetie betimes, and hee will giue you a reward at his time.

BARUCH.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captivity of Babylon, which he read before Iechonias and all the people. 10 The Jewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

¶ Nd these are the words of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of ¶ Afadias, the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon,

2 In the fifth yeere, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans took Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

|| Or, Sodi.

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.

6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power,

7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Ioachim the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salom Priest, and vnto the other priests, and to all the people which were with him at Ierusalem,

8 When he had receiued the vessels of the temple of the Lorde, that were taken away out of the temple, to bring them againe into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the moneth || Siuan, to wit, siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Iofias king of Iuda had made,

|| Or, Sibian.

9 After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had led away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his princes, and his nobles prisoners, and the people, and caried them to Babylon.

10 And they sayd, Behold, we haue sent you money, wherewith yee shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, & prepare a || meat offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God,

|| Or, Manna, for Minhab, which was the evening and morning sacrifice.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may bee vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen, 12 And that God would gine vs strength and lighten our eyes, that wee may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne, that wee may long doe them seruice, and finde fauour in their sight.

13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the furie of the Lord and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

14 And reade this booke (which we haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.

* Chap. 3. 6.

15 Thus shall ye say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

16 And to our Kings, & to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, & to our fathers, * Dan. 9. 5.

17 Because wee haue * sinned before the Lord our God,

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkned vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, even vnto this day, we haue bene disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and we haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

* Deut. 28. 15.

20 * Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appoynted by Moyses his seruant at the time that he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day.

21 Neuertheless, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the Prophets, whom he sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed || wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God,

1 The Jewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confission of the Christians. 11 The Jewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 Hee promisseth that he will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a newe and euermorelasting Testament.

Therefore the Lord our God hath performed this word which hee pronounced against vs, and against our Iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our Princes, and against the men of Israel and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things that were * written in the Law of Moyses, * Deut. 28. 59.

3 That some among vs should eat the flesh of his own son, and some the flesh of his own daughter.

4 Moreover, he hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdomes that are round about vs, to be as a reproch and desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them,

5 Thus they are brought beneath and not aboue, because wee haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

6 * To the Lord our God apperteineth righteousness, but vnto vs & to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

* Chap. 1. 19.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue wee not prayed before the Lord, that we might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lord hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his works, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandements of the Lord that he hath giuen vs.

11 * And now, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand and an hie arme, & with signes and with wonders, & with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, * Dan. 9. 19.

12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, & giue vs fauor in the sight of the which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lorde our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Israel and vpon their posteritie.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

17 * Open thine eyes, and behold: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, * giue vnto the Lord neither || praise, nor righteousness.

* Deut. 26. 15.

|| Psal. 115.

praise of righteousness.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatnes of sinne, and he that goeth crookedly and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule will giue thee praise and righteousness, O Lord.

19 For we doe not require mercy in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousness of our fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath & indigna-indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy seruants the Prophets, saying, 21 * Thus sayeth the Lord, Bow downe your shoulders, & serue the king of Babylon: so shal ye remaine in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if yee will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the king of Babylon, 23 I wil cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shall be desolate of inhabitants.

24 But we would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the king of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the words that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophets: namely, that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers should be carried out of their places.

25 And lo, they are cast out to the heat of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great misery with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs, according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercy,

28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou diddest command him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

29 * If ye wil not obey my voyce, then shal this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very few among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I know that they will not heare me: for it is a stiffe-necked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselves, 31 And know that I am I Lord their God: then will I giue them an heart to vnderstand, & eares.

32 And they shall heare, and prayse me in the land of their captiuitie, & thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shal they turne them from their hard backs, and from their euill works: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I wil bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an oath vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and they shall be lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shal be my people: and I will no more driue my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begun for their deliuerance. 2 He prayeth wisdom vnto the people, shewing, that so great aduersities come vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 One by God was the finder of wisdom. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pitie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for euer, & we vtterly perish

4 O Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that wee should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuitie: for we haue considered in our minds all the wickednesse of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, wee are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to bee a reproch and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisdom.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen old in a strange countrey?

11 And are defiled with the dead? & art counted with them that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsake the fountain of wisdom.

13 For if thou hadst walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisdom, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest know also from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with foules of the heauen, that hoarded vp siluer & gold, wherein men trust, and made none end of their gathering?

18 For they that coined siluer, & were so careful of their worke, & whose inuention had none end, 19 Are come to nought, & gone down to hell, and other men are come vp in their steads.

20 When they were yong, they saw the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceived the paths thereof, neither haue their children received it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bene heard of in the lande of Chanaan, neither hath it bene seene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarihes that sought after wisdom vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Nerran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisdom haue knowen the way of wisdom, neither doe they thinke vpon the paths thereof.

24 O Israel, how great is the house of God! & how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none end: it is hie, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the giants, famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, & so expert in waire.

27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, & perished through their own foolishnes.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen to take her, and brought her downe from the cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her rather then fine gold?

31 No

1 Luit. 16. 14.

38.

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is he which hath prepared the earth for euermore, & hath filled it with foure footed beasts.

33 When he sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when he calleth it again, it obeith him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefulnesse they shewe light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Iacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward hee was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Lawe, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof of the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

This is the booke of the commaundements of God, and the Law that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel, we are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which art the memoriall of Israel.

6 Ye are sold to the nations, not for your destruction: but because ye prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For yee haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils, and not to God.

8 Yee haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, and ye haue grieved Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When she saw the wrath coming vpon you, from God, she said, Hearke, ye that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauines.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes & daughters, which the Euerlasting will bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the finnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They would not know his righteousness, nor walke in the wayes of his commaundements: neither did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousness.

14 Come ye, that dwell about Sion, & cal to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes & daughters, which the Euerlasting hath brought vpon the.

15 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language.

16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the yong: these haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing mee alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackcloth of prayer, and so long as I live, I will call vpon the Euerlasting.

21 Be of good comfort, O children: crie vnto God, and he will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation through the Euerlasting, & ioy is come vpon me from the Holy one, because of the mercy which shall quickly come vnto you from our Euerlasting Saviour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping, & mourning: but with ioy and perpetuall gladnesse will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now your neighbors saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glory, and brightnesse from the Euerlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and crie vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your mind to go astray from your God, so endeavour your selues ten times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euerlasting ioy again, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for hee which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is she that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as she reioyced at thy decay, & was glad of thy fall, so shall she be sorry for her own desolation.

34 For I will take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shall be turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come vpon her from Euerlasting, long to endure, and she shall be inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem, look toward the East, and behold the ioy that cometh vnto thee from thy God.

37 Loe, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the word of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof of the Church.

Put off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour, that cometh vnto thee from God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousness, that cometh from God, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Euerlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightness to euerie country vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer.

uer, The peace of righteousness, and the glory of the worship of God.

5 Arise, O Ierusalem, and stand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the East, and behold thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the word of the holy one, reioicing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God wil bring them again vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe every high mountain, & the long enduring rocks, and to fill the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honor of God.

8 The woods and all sweet smelling trees shal ouersadow Israel at the commandement of God.

9 For God shall bring Israel with ioy in the light of his maiestie, with the mercie and righteousness that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPY OF THE EPISTLE THAT Ieremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the king of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

BEcause of the finnes, that yee haue committed against God, ye shall be led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, king of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shall remaine there many yeres, and a long season, euen seuen generations, and after that I will bring you away peaceably from thence.

3 Now shal ye see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of gold, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye see the multitude before them and behind them worshipping them,

5 But say you in your hearts, O Lord, we must worship thee.

6 For mine Angel shalbe with you, and shall care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpeiter, & they themselves are gilded, and laid ouer with siluer: yet they are but lies, & cannot speake.

8 And as they take gold for a maid that loueth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priests themselves conuey away the gold and siluer from their gods, and bestow it vpon themselves.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of gold, and of wood with garments like men,

11 Yet cannot they be preserued from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slay such as offend him.

14 Another hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is hee not able to defend himselfe from battel, nor from the eues: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessel that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feete of those that come in:

17 And as the gates are shut in round about vpon him that hath offended the king: or as one that should be led to be put to death, so the priests keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, and with barres, lest their gods should be spoyled by robbers.

18 They light vp candles before the: yea, more then for themselves, whereof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.

19 They confesse that euen their heartes are gnawen vpon: but when the things, that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, swallowes & birds flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this yee may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the golde that is about them to make them beautiful, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feet, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worth: yea, and they that worship them, are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise vp againe of themselves, neither if one set them vpright, can they moue of themselves, neither if they be bowed downe, can they make themselves streight: but they set gifts before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto the Priests sel them, & abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed, touch their sacrifices: by these things ye may know that they are no gods: feare the not.

29 From whence commeth it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gifts to the gods of siluer, and gold, and wood.

30 And the Priests sit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are shauen, and being bare headed, 31 They roare, and crie before their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The priests also take away of their garments, and cloth their wiues and children.

33 Whether it be euil that one doth vnto them or good, they are not able to recompence it: they can neither set vp a king nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vow vnto them and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mighty.

36 They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his neede.

37 They can shewe no mercie to the widowe, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, gold, and siluer are as stones, that be hewen out of the mountaine, and they they that worship them shall be confounded.

39 How should a man then thinke or say that they are gods?

40 Moreouer the Caldeans themselves dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that can not speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that hee would make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand these things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sense.

Or, brasse.

42 Furthermore y women, girded with coards, sit in the streets, and burne straw.

43 And if one of them be drawn away, and lie with any such as come by, shee casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because she was not so worthily reputed, nor her corde broken.

44 Whatsoeuer is done among the, is lies: how may it then be thought or said, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmiths make them, neither be they any other thing, but euen what the workeman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there commeth any war or plague vpon them, the priestes imagine with themselves where they may hide themselves with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defend themselves from warre nor from plagues?

*Psal. 115. 4.
Ier. 13. 10.

50 For seeing they be but of wood, and of siluer, and of gold, men shall knowe hereafter that they are but lies, and it shall be manifest to all nations & kings, that they be no gods, but the works of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be knownen, that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no king in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserue from iniury, they haue no power, but are as crows betwene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of gold, the priests will escape and saue themselves, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They cannot withstand any King or enemies: how can it then be thought or said that they be gods?

56 Moreouer these gods of wood, of gold, and of siluer can neither defend themselves from theues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their gold and siluer, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselves.

58 Therefore it is better to be a King, & so to shew his power, or els a profitable vessell in an house, whereby he that oweth it, might haue profite, then such false gods: or to bee a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as be therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the sunne, and the moone, & the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessary vses, obey.

60 Likewise also lightning, when it shineth, it is euident: & the wind bloweth in euery country.

61 And when God commandeth the cloudes to goe about the whole world, they do as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hills and woods, it doth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme, nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they be gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor do men good.

64 For so much now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse nor blesse kings:

66 Neither can they shew signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.

67 The beasts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, & do themselves good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no maner of meanes, they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a skarcrow in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of gold:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and gold and siluer are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead bodie that is cast in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightnes, which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they themselves shalbe consumed at the last, and they shalbe a shame to the country.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shalbe far from reproofe.

The song of the three holy children, which followeth

in the third chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound into the midst of the hotte fire fornaue.

C H A P. I.

24 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The cruelty of the King. 48 The flame denoureth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the fornaue. 51 The three children praise the Lord, and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 And they walked in the middes of the flame, praying God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stood vp, & prayed on this maner, & opening his mouth in the mids of fire, said, 26 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be praised and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou hast done vnto vs, & all thy works are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, & vpon Ierusalem, the holy cite of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these things vpon vs, because of our sinnes.

29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing fro thee: in all things haue we trespassed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou hadst commanded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon upon vs, and in every thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the handes of our wicked enemies, and most hatefull traitors, & to an vnrighteous king, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And now we may not open our mouthes: we are become a shame & reproofe vnto thy seruants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy names sake, we beseech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant.

35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake.

36 To whom thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiply their seed as the stars of heauen, & as the sand that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For we, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, & be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our sinnes:

38 So that now we haue neither prince nor prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruits before thee, that we might finde mercie.

39 Neuerthelesse in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rams & bullocks, and as in ten thousand of fat lambs, so let our offering bee in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them that put their trust in thee.

41 And now we folow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnesse, & according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, & giue thy Name the glory, O Lord, 44 That all they which doe thy seruants euil, may be confounded: euen let them bee confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou only art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now the kings seruants that had cast the in, ceased not to make the ouen hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with tow, & with fagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the furnace fourty and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the furnace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went down into the furnace wth them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the furnace.

50 And made in the mids of the furnace like a moist hissing winde, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieved nor troubled them.

51 The these three (as out of one mouth) praised & glorified, & blessed God in the furnace, saying,

52 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praised, and exalted aboute al things for euer, and blessed be thy glorious and holy Name, and praised aboute all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glory, and praised aboute all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed be thou that beholdest the slephts, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and praydest aboute all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed be thou in the glorious Throne of thy kingdome, and praydest aboute all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised aboute all things, & glorified for euer.

57 Al ye works of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboute all things for euer.

58 O heauens, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

59 O Angels of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboute all things for euer.

60 All yee waters that be aboute the heauen, blesse yee the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

61 All yee powers of the Lord, blesse yee the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

62 O sunne and moone, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboute all things for euer.

63 O stars of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

64 Euery showre and dew, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboute all things for euer.

65 All yee windes, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

66 O fire and heate, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

67 O winter and summer, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute al things for euer.

68 O dewes and stormes of snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

69 O frost and cold, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

70 O yce and snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

71 O nights and daies, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

72 O light and darkenesse, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute al things for euer.

73 O lightnings and clouds, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute al things for euer.

74 Let the earth blesse the Lorde: let it praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

75 O mountaines, and hils, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute al things for euer.

76 All things that grow on the earth, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute al things for euer.

77 O fountaines, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

78 O sea and floods, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

79 O whales, and all that moue in the waters, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

80 All ye foules of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute al things for euer.

81 All ye beasts and cattel, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute al things for euer.

82 O children of men, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

83 Let Israel blesse the Lord, praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

84 O Priests of the Lord, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

85 O seruants of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute al things for euer.

86 O spirits and foules of the righteous, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

87 O Saints

Ps. 148. 4.

Or, cold.

Or, after.

87 O Saines and humble of heart, bleſſe ye the Lord : praife him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, & Miſael, bleſſe ye the Lord: praife him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer: for he hath deliuered vs fro the hell, & ſaued vs from the hand of death, and deliuered vs out of the mids of the fornace, and burning flame : euen out of the middes of the fire hath he deliuered vs.

89 Confeſſe vnto the Lord, that he is gracious: for his mercie endureth for euer.

90 All yee that worſhip the Lord, bleſſe the God of gods: praife him, and acknowledge him: for his mercie endureth world without end.

THE HISTORIE OF || SVSANNA,

which ſome ioyn to the end of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

8 The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Suſanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They ſollicite her to wickedneſſe. 23 She chuſeth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 She is accuſed. 45 Daniel dooth deliuer her. 61 The gouernours are put to death.

Here dwelt a man in Babylon called Ioachim.

2 And he tooke a wife, whoſe name was Suſanna, & daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother alſo were godly people, & taught their daughter according to the Law of Moyſes.

4 Now Ioachim was a great rich man and had a faire garden ioyning to his houſe, and to him reſorted the fewes, becauſe he was more honorable then all others.

5 The ſame yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be Iudges, ſuch as the Lord ſpeaketh of, that the iniquity came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which ſeemed to rule the people.

6 Theſe haunted Ioachims houſe, and all ſuch as had any thing to doe in the Law, came thither vnto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noone, Suſanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two Elders ſaw her that ſhe went in dayly and walked, ſo that their luſt was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their mind, and caſt downe their eyes, that they ſhould not ſee heauen, nor remember juſt iudgements.

10 And albeit they both were wounded wth her loue, yet durſt not one ſhew another his griefe.

11 For they were aſhamed to declare their luſt, that they deſired to haue to doe with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to ſee her.

13 And the one ſaid to the other, Let vs goe now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the ſame place, and after that they had asked one another the cauſe, they acknowledged their luſt: then appointed they a time both together when they might find her alone.

15 Now when they had ſpied out a conuenient time, that ſhe went in, as her manner was, with two maidens onely, and thought to waſh herſelfe in the garden (for it was an hote ſeaſon)

16 And there was no body there, ſave the two Elders that had hid themſelves, and watched for her.

17 She ſaid to her maids, Bring me oile & ſoape, and ſhut the garden doores, that I may waſh me.

18 And they did as ſhee bade them, and ſhut the garden doores, and went out themſelues at a backe doore, to ſet the thing that ſhee had commaunded them: but they ſaw not the Elders, becauſe they were hid.

19 Now when the maids were gone forth, the two Elders roſe vp and ranne vnto her, ſaying, 20 Behold, the garden doores are ſhut, that no man can ſee vs, and wee burne in loue with thee: therefore conſent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we wil beare witnes againſt thee, that a yong man was with thee: and therefore thou didſt ſend away thy maidens from thee.

22 Then Suſanna ſighed, & ſaid, I am in trouble on euery ſide: for if I do this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I do it not, I cannot eſcape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, & not doe it, then to ſinne in the fight of the Lord.

24 With that Suſanna cried with a loud voice, and the two Elders cried out againſt her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 ¶ So when the ſeruants of the houſe heard the cry in the garden, they ruſhed in at the backe doore, to ſee what was done vnto her.

27 But whē the Elders had declared their matter, the ſeruants were greatly aſhamed: for there was neuer ſuch a report made of Suſanna.

28 On the morrowe after, came the people to Ioachim her husband, & the two Elders came alſo, full of miſchieuous imagination againſt Suſanna, to put her to death.

29 And ſaide before the people, Send for Suſanna the daughter of Helcias Ioachims wife. And immediatly they ſent.

30 So ſhee came with her father and mother, her children and all her kinred.

31 Nowe Suſanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And theſe wicked men commanded to vncouer her face (for ſhee was couered) that they might ſo be ſatiſfied with her beaurie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders ſtood vp in the mids of the people, and laid their hands vpon her head, 35 Which wept & looked vp toward heauen: for her heart truſted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders ſaid, As we walked in y<sup>e</sup> garden alone, ſhe came in with two maidens, whom ſhe ſent away from her, and ſhut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man which therewas hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then wee which ſtoode in a corner of the garden, ſeeing this wickedneſſe, ranne vnto them, and we ſaw them as they were together.

39 But wee could not holde him: for he was ſtronger stronger then we, and opened the doore, and leaped out.

40 Now when we had taken this woman, we asked her what yong man this was, but she would not tell vs: of these things are we witnesses.

41 Then the assembly beleued them, as those that were the Elders and Iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cried out with a loud voice, & said, O euerglasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afore they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witness against me, & behold, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voice.

45 ¶ Therefore when she was led to be put to death, the Lord raised vp the holy spirit of a yong child, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cried with a loud voice, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and said, What meane these words that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the middes of them, & said, Are ye such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witness against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders saide vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then said Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder one from another, he called one of them and said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, nowe thy finnes which thou hast committed aforetime, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lord saith, * The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay.

54 Now then if thou hast seene her, tel me, vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a lentiske tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verily thou hast lied against thine owne head: for loe, the Angell of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

56 So he put him aside, and commaunded to bring the other, and said vnto him, O thou seed of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beauty hath deceived thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue yee dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Nowe therefore tell me, vnder what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a Prime tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verily thou hast also lied against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cryed with a loud voice, and praised God which saue them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witness by their owne mouth)

62 * And according to the Law of Moyse they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day.

63 Therefore Helcias & his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Ioachim her husband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonesty found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And king Astyages was laid with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

THE HISTORIE OF BEL AND

of the Dragon, which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

Now when king Astyages was laid with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdom.

2 And Daniel did eate at the Kings table, and was honoured above all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day twelue great measures of fine floure, and fourtie sheepe, and sixe great pots of wine.

4 And the king worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: But Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the king said vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and said, Because I may not worship idoles made with haundes, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen & the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then said the king vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? feest thou not how much he eateth and drinketh euery day?

7 Then Daniel smiled & said, O king, be not deceived: for this is but clay within, and brasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the king was wroth, and called for his Priests, and said vnto them, If ye tell me not, who this is that eateth vp these expenses, ye shall die:

9 But if yee can certifie mee that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the king, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Nowe the Priests of Bel were threescore and ten beside their wiues and children:) and the king went with Daniel into the Temple of Bel.

11 So Bel's Priests said, Behold, we will go out, and set thou the meate there, O King, and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet:

12 And to morow when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we will suffer death, or els Daniel that hath lied vpon vs.

13 Now they thought themselves sure inough:

Zz for what more there was gallons, which he made small as handker-

for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout all the Temple, in the presence of the king alone: then went they out and shut the doore, and sealed it with the kings signet, and so departed.

15 Nowe in the night came the Priestes, with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes the king arose, & Daniel with him.

17 And the king said, Daniel, are y<sup>e</sup> seales whole? Who answered, Yea, O king, they be whole.

18 And as soone as hee had opened the doore, the king looked vpon the table, and cried with a loud voice, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the king that he should not goe in, and saide, Behold now the pauement, and marke well whose footsteps are these.

20 And the king said, I see the footsteppes of men, women, and children: therefore the king was angry.

21 And tooke the Priestes, with their wiues, & children, and they shewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore the king slew them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 Moreover in that same place there was a great Dragon, which y<sup>e</sup> Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the king said vnto Daniel, Sayest thou, that this is of brasse also? loe, he liueth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no liuing god: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel vnto the king, I wil worship the Lord my God: for he is the liuing God.

26 But giue me leaue, O king, and I will slay this dragon without sword or staffe. And the king said, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, & fat, and haire, and did seethe them together, and made lumpes thereof: this he put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel said, Behold, whom ye worship.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, & gathered them together against the king, saying, The king is become a Iew: for he hath destroyed Bel, & hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Priestes to death.

29 So they came to the king, and said, Deliuer vs Daniel, or else we will destroy thee, and thine house.

30 Now when the king saw that they pressed fore vpon him, and that necessitie constrained him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them.

31 Who cast him into the Lions denne, where he was sixe dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen Lions, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iurie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made pottage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord said vnto Abbacuc, Goe, cary the meat that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lions denne.

35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I neuer saw Babylon, neither doe I know where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, & bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cried, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then said Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon me, and thou neuer failest them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediatly.

40 Vpon the seuenth day, the king went to be- waile Daniel: and when he came to the denne, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sat in the midst of the Lions.

41 Then cried the king with a loud voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drew him out of the den, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

THE FIRST BOOKE

of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the king of Macedonia. 21 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel made covenants with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subuerteth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 50 Antiochus setteth up idoles.

After that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip went forth of the land of Chetium, and slewed Darius king of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as hee had before in Grecia,

2 He tooke great waies in hand, and wanne strong holds, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorew to the ends of the world, and tooke spoiles of many nations, insomuch that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was heauie.

4 Nowe when hee had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations, and kingdomes, they became tributaries to him.

6 After these things he fell sicke, and knewe that he should die.

7 Then hee called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had bene brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeres when he died.

9 And his seruants reigned euery one in his roume.

10 And they all caused themselves to be crowned ned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednesse increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, euen Antiochus || Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundreth and seuen and thirtieth yeere of the kingdome of the Greekes.

12 In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entised many, saying, Let vs goe, and make a couenant with the heathen, that are round about vs: for since wee departed from them, we haue had much sorow.

13 So this deuise pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready, and went to the king, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen, 16 And made themselves vncircumcised, and forooke the holy couenant, & ioynded themselves to the heathen, and were sold to doe mischief.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, hee went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that he might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mighty company, with chariots, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great nauie, 19 And moued warre against Ptolemeus king of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus won many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoyles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundreth forty and three yeere,

22 And went vp toward Israel and Ierusalem with a mighty people,

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuary, and tooke away the golden altar, & the candlestick for the light, and all the instruments thereof, & the table of the shewbread, & the powring vessels, and the bowles, and the golden basins, and the vaile, and the crownes, and the golden apparell, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 He tooke also the silver and gold, and the precious iewels, and he tooke the secret treasures that he found, and when hee had taken away all, he departed into his owne land, 25 After hee had murdered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes & the Elders mourned: the yong women and the yong men were made feeble, and the beauty of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegrome tooke him to mourning, and shee that sate in the marriage chamber, was in heauinesse.

29 The land also was moued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Iacob was couered with confusion.

30 After two yeeres the king sent his chiefe taxe master into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude, 31 Who spake peaceable words vnto them in deceit, and they gaue credite vnto him.

32 Then he fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when hee had spoyled the citie, he set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the city of Dauid with a great and thicke wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreover they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, & fortified themselves therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons & victuals, and gathered the spoile of Ierusalem, and laid it vp there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare, and were in ambushment for the Sanctuary, and were wicked enemies euen more vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuary, and defiled the Sanctuary, 40 Inimouch that y citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, & it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom she had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wilderness: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, & her honour brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorow.

43 Also the king wrote vnto al his kingdom, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the king.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idols, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the king sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, & to the cities of Iuda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the countrey,

47 And y they should forbid the burnt offerings, and sacrifices, and the || offerings in the Sanctuary,

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feasts,

49 And pollute the Sanctuary & the holy men,

50 And to set vp altars, and groues, and chapels of idols, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beasts,

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannesse, & pollute themselves, that they might forget the Law, and change all the ordinances, 52 And that whosoever would not doe according to the commandement of the king, should suffer death.

53 In like maner wrote he throughout all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And he commanded the cities of Iuda to doe sacrifice, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forooke the Law, and so they committed euill in the land.

56 And they droue y Israelites into secret places, euen wherefoeuer they could flee for succour.

57 The fifteenth day of Chasseu, in the hundreth and five and fourtieth yeere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Iuda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the the streetes they burnt incense.

59 And the bookes of the Law which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whosoever had a booke of the testament found by him, or whosoever consented vnto the Law, the kings commandement was, that they should put him to death by their authority.

61 And they executed these things every moneth vpon the people of Israel that were found in the cities.

62 And in the five and twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commandement, they put certaine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised.

64 And they hanged vp the children at the neckes, and they spoiled their houses, and slew the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in themselves, that they would not eate vncleane things.

66 But chose rather to suffer death, then to be defiled with those meates: so because they would not breake the holy couenant, they were put to death.

67 And this || tyranny was very sore vpon the people of Israel.

C H A P. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy cite. 19 They refuse to doe sacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the Law of God. 33 They are slaine and will not fight againe because of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying, commandeth his sonnes to stick by the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

IN those dayes stoode vp Mattathias the Priest, the sonne of Ioannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Ioarib of Ierusalem, & dwelt in Modin.

2 And he had five sons, Ioanan called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thassi,

4 Iudas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called || Abaron, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphus.

6 Now hee saw the blasphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Ierusalem:

7 And he said, Woe is me: wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy city, & thus to sit still? it is deliuered into the hands of the enemies,

8 And the Sanctuary is in y hands of strangers: her Temple is as a man that hath no renowne.

9 Her glorious vessels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are slaine in the streetes, and her yong men are fallen by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that hath not some possession in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her spoyles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmaid.

12 Behold, our Sanctuary and our beauty, and honour is desolate, & the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, he, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned very sore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the king to the cite of Modin to compell them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.

17 Then spake the Commissioners of the king, and sayd vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in this city, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, & fulfil the kings commandement, as al the heathen haue done, and also the men of Iuda, & such as remaine at Ierusalem: so shalt thou and thy family be in the kings fauour, and thou and thy children shalbe enriched with siluer and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and said with a loud voice, Though all nations that are vnder the kings dominion obey him, and fall away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandements, 20 Yet wil I and my sonnes, and my brethren, walke in the couenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull vnto vs, that we forsake not the Law and the ordinances.

22 We wil not hearken vnto the kings words to transgresse our religion, neither on the right side, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off speaking these wordes, there came one of the Iewes, in the sight of all to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the kings commandement.

24 Now when Mattathias saw it, he was so inflamed with zeale, that his reines shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Law: therefore he ran vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

25 And at the same time hee slew the kings commissioner that compelled him to do sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Law of God, * doing, as Phinees did vnto Zambri the sonne of Salom.

27 ¶ Then cried Mattathias with a loud voice in the city, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the Law, and wil stand by the couenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So hee and his sonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the cite.

29 Then many that || sought after iustice and iudgement,

30 Went downe into the wildernesse to dwell there, both they, and their children and their wiues, and their cattell: for the afflictions increased sore vpon them.

31 ¶ Now when it was told vnto the kings seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Ierusalem in the cite of Dauid, that men had broken the kings commandement, and were gone down into the secret places in the wildernesse,

32 Then many pursued after them: and hauing overtaken them, they camped against them, and let the battel in aray against them on the Sabbath day, 33 And said vnto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and doe according to the commandement of the king, and ye shall liue.

34 But they answered, We wil not goe forth, neither will we doe the kings commandement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any one stone at them, nor stopped the priue places, 37 But said, We wil die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that ye destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus

Or, that liued iustly and uprightly.

38 Thus they gave them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattel, their wines and their children to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And said one to another, If we all do as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our lawes, then shall they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoever shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, wee will fight against him, that we die not all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Asideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, ioyned themselves vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger: but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about, and destroyed the altars, 46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they found within the coasts of Israel.

47 And they pursued after the proud men; and this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recovered the Law out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of Kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drew nere that Mattathias should die, he said vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore my sonnes, be ye zealous of the Law, and giue your liues for the couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what acts our fathers did in their time: so shall ye receiue great honour and an everlasting name.

52 * Was not Abraham found faithfull in temptation, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousness?

53 * Ioseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandment, & was made the Lord of Egypt.

54 * Phinees our father, because he was zealous and feruent, obtained the couenant of the everlasting Priesthood.

55 * Iesus for fulfilling the word, was made the gouernour of Israel.

56 * Caleb, because he bare witnesse before the Congregation, receiued the heritage of the land.

57 * David because of his mercie obtained the throne of the kingdome for euermore.

58 * Elias because he was zealous, and feruent in the Law, was taken vp euen vnto heauen.

59 * Ananias, Azarias and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

60 * Daniel because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lions.

61 And thus ye may consider throughout all ages, that whosoever put their trust in him, shall not want strength.

62 * Feare not ye then the wordes of a fustill man: for his glory is but dung and wormes.

63 To day is he set vp, and to morow hee shall * not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth.

64 Wherefore my sonnes, take good hearts, and shew your selues men for the Law: for by it shall you obtaine glory.

65 And behold, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: giue eare vnto him alway: he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Iudas Maccabeus hath bene mighty and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him bee your captaine, and fight you the battell for the people.

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you all those that oblerue the Law, and shall auenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompenise fully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commandment of the Law.

69 So he blessed them, and was laide with his fathers,

70 And died in the hundreth, fourtie and sixe yeere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Iudas made ruler over the Iewes. 11 Hee killeth Apollonius and Seron the prince of Syria. 44 The confidence of Iudas toward God. 55 Iudas determineth to fight against Lyfias, whom Antiochus had made captaine ouer his hoste.

¶ Then Iudas his sonne, called Maccabeus, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him; and all they that held with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.

3 So he gaue his people great honour: hee put on a breastplate as a gyant, and armed himselfe, and set the battell in aray, and defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his acts he was like a Lion, and as a Lions whelp roaring after the praye.

5 For he pursued the wicked, & sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people,

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble, and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And he grieved diuers kings, but Iacob reioyced by his acts, and his memorial is blessed for euer.

8 He went also thorow the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was he renowned vnto the endes of the earth, and he assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentils, and a great host out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

11 Which when Iudas perceived, hee went forth to meete him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Iudas took their spoiles, and tooke also Apollonius sword, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the armie of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the Congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre, 14 He said, I will get me a name, and will bee glorious in the realme: for I will goe fight with Iudas and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandment.

15 So he made him ready to go vp, & there went with him a mighty hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when hee came neere to the going vp of Bethhoron, Iudas went forth to meet him with a small company.

17 But when they saw the armie comming against them, they said to Iudas, How are we able, being so few, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we be so weary, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then said Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the hands of few, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victory of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength cometh from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruel & proud multitude to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to rob vs.

21 But we doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes, 22 And God himselfe will destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraid of them.

23 And when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his hoste destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them from the going down of Bethhoron vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundred men of them, and the residue fled into the land of the Philistims.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about,

26 So that his fame came vnto the king: for all Gentils could tell of the warres of Iudas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, hee was angry in his mind: wherefore hee sent forth, & gathered all the power of his realme, a very strong army, 28 And opened his treasure, and gaue his hoste a yeres wages in hand, commanding them to be readie for a yere for all occasions.

29 Neuerthelesse, when hee sawe that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the dissension, and plagues that hee had brought vpon the land, in taking away the lawes which had bene of old time,

30 Hee feared lest he should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberalitie hee farre passed the other kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lyfias a noble man & of the kings blood to oversee the kings businesse, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypr, 33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreover, hee gaue him halfe of his hoste and elephants, & gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done.

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and Ierusalem, that he should send an army against them, to destroy and root out the power of Israel and the remnant of Ierusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place.

36 And to set strangers for to inhabite al their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke the halfe of the hoste that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the yere an hundredth fourtie and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorow the hie countreys.

38 Then Lyfias chose Ptolomeus the sonne of Doriminius, & Nicanor, and Gorgias, mighty men, and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them fourtie thousand footmen, and seuen thousand horsemen, to go into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it; as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power: and came and pitched by || Emmaus in the plaine countrey.

41 Now when the marchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much siluer and golde, and seruants, and came into the campe, to buy the children of Israel for slaues, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations ioyned with them.

42 ¶ Now when Iudas and his brethren saw that trouble increased, and that the hoste drewe neere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby hee had commanded to destroy the people, and vterly abolish them, 43 They sayd one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuary.

44 Then the Congregation were soone readie gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercy and compassion.

45 As for Ierusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderness. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuary was troden downe, & the strangers kept the fortresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Iacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered themselues together, and came to Maspha before Ierusalem: for in Maspha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Israel.

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackcloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heads, and rent their clothes,

48 And opened the booke of the law, wherein the heathen sought to paint the likenesse of their idoles, 49 And brought the Priests garments, and the first fruits, and the tithes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cried with a loud voice toward heauen, saying, What shall we doe with these? and whither shall we cary them away?

51 For thy Sanctuary is troden downe and defiled, and thy Priests are in heauines, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come against vs, to destroy vs: thou knowest what things they imagine against vs.

53 How can wee stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cried with a loud voyce.

55 And after this, Iudas ordeined captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thousandes, and captaines ouer hundredes, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houses, or married wiues, or planted vineyards, or were fearefull, that they should returne euery one to his owne house, according * to the Law.

57 So the host remoued, and pitched vpon the Southside of Emmaus.

58 And Iudas said, Arme your selues, and bee valiant men, and be readie against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuarie.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battell, then to see the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuarie.

60 Neuerthelesse as the will of God is in heauen, so be it.

C H A P. II I I I.

1 Iudas goeth against Gorgias which lieth in wait. 14. Hee putteth Gorgias and his host to flight. 28. Lysias invadeth Iudea. 29. But Iudas driueth him out. 43. Iudas purifieth the Temple and dedicateth the altar.

THen tooke Gorgias five thousand foote men, and a thousand of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night,

2 To invade the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the fortresse were his guides.

3 Now when Iudas heard it, he remoued, and they that were valiant men to smite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus,

4 Whiles yet the armie was dispersed from the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Iudas campe: and wen hee found no man there, he sought them in the mountaines: for said he, They flee from vs.

6 But as soone as it was day, Iudas shewed him selfe in the field with three thousand men, which had neither harnesse nor swords in their hands.

7 And they saw that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, and that these were expert men of war.

8 Then said Iudas to the men that were with him, Feare yee not their multitude, neither bee afraid of their assault.

9 Remember, how our fathers were deliuered in the red sea, when Pharaos pursued them with an armie.

10 Therefore now let vs crie vnto heauen, and the Lord will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the couenant of our fathers, and will destroy this hoste before our face this day:

11 So shall all the heathen know, that there is one which deliuereth and saueth Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, and saw them comming against them, 13 And they went out of their tents into the battell, and they that were with Iudas, blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fell by the sword, and they pursued them vnto || Gazeron, and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Azotus, and of Iamnia, so that there were slaine of them about three thousand men.

16 So Iudas turned againe with his hoste from pursuing them,

17 And said vnto the people, Be not greedy of the spoyles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast against your enemies, and ouercome them: then may yee safely take the spoyles.

19 As Iudas was speaking these words, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines,

20 But when Gorgias saw that his were fled, & that Iudas souldiers burnt 5 tents: (for the smoke that was seene, declared what was done)

21 When they saw these things, they were sore afraid, & when they saw also that Iudas & his host were in the field readie to set themselves in aray, 22 They fled euerie one into the land of strangers.

23 So Iudas returned againe to spoile the tents, where he gate much gold and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, and sung Psalmes, and praised toward the heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercie endureth for ever.

25 And so Israel had a great victory in that day.

26 ¶ Now all the strangers that escaped, came, and told Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard these things, was sore afraid, and discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as hee would, neither such things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yere following gathered Lysias threescore thousand chosen foote men, and five thousand horsemen to fight against Ierusalem.

29 So they came into || Idumea, and pitched their tents at || Beth-sura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he saw that mighty army, he praised, and said, Blessed be thou, O Sauour of Israel, * which diddest destroy the assault of the mightie man by the hand of thy seruant Dauid, * & gauest the hoste of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

31 Shut vp this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them bee confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraid, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee: then shal all they that know thy Name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias host, five thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias, seeing his armie put to flight, and the manlinesse of Iudas souldiers, & that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia and gathered strangers, and when hee had furnished his armie, hee thought againe (being prepared) to come against Iudas.

36 Then said Iudas and his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now goe vp to cleanse, and to repaire the Sanctuarie.

37 So all the host gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they saw the Sanctuarie laide waste, and the altar defiled, and the doores burnt vp, and the shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarme with the trumpets, and cried toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commaunded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had cleansed the Sanctuarie.

42 So hee chose Priests that were vndefiled, such as delighted in the Law.

43 And they cleaved the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the altar and burnt offerings, which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, lest it should be a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar,

46 And laid vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a Prophet, to shew what should bee done with them:

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Law, and builded a new altar according to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuary, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also new holy vessels, & brought into the Temple the candlesticke, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlesticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailles, and finished all the workes that they had begun to make.

52 And vpon the fife and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the month of Chisleu, in the hundredth and eight and fortieth yeere they rose vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offered sacrifice according to the Law, vpon the new altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day was it made new with songs, and harps, and lutes, and cymbals.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praying toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnesse, and offered sacrifices of deliuerance and praise, 57 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and shields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was verie great gladnes among the people, and the reproch of the heathen was put away.

59 So Iudas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel, ordeined that the dayes of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the fife and twentieth day of the moneth Chisleu, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with hie wals, and strong towers round about, lest the Gentiles should come and treade it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they let a garison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Iduinea.

C H A P. V.

3 Iudas vanquished the heathen that got about to destroy Israel, and a holpen of his brethren Simon and Jonathan. So hee ouerthreweth the citie of Ephron, because they denied him passage thorow it.

N Owe when the nations round about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuary renewed as afore, they were fore grieved.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Iudas fought against the children of Elau in Iduinea at Arrabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and hee smote them with a great plague, and droue them to straits, and tooke their spoyles.

4 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which had bene a snare and an hindrance vnto the people, when they lay in waite for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towers, and besieged them, and destroyed them vterly, and burnt their towers with fire, with all that were in them.

6 Afterward went he against the children of Ammon, where he found a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So he had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so he discomfited them,

8 And tooke Gazer with the townes thereof, and so turned againe into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castle of Datheman,

10 And sent letters to Iudas, & to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs, 11 And they make them readie for to come, and to take the fortresse, whereunto wee are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

12 Come now therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine.

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are slaine, and they haue taken away their wines, and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galilee, with their clothes rent, which tolde the same tidings, 15 And said, that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of al Galilee of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them.

16 When Iudas, and the people heard these words, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might do for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they besieged.

17 Then said Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren in Galilee, and I and my brother Jonathan will go into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So hee left Iosephus the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to be captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Iudea, 19 And commanded them, saying, Take the ouersight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, vntill we come againe.

20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thousand men to goe into Galile, and to Iudas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galilee, and gaue diners battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And he pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were slain of the heathen almost three thousand men: so he tooke their spoyles.

23 Thus

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galile and in Arbatias, with their wives and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus also, and his brother Jonathan went ouer Iorden, and trauelled three dayes iourney in the wilderness,

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, and told them euerything that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,

26 And how that many of them were besieged in Bosorra, & Bosor, in Aleimis, Chasbon, Maged and Carnaim (all these cities are strong & great)

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, & to morow they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these forts, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Iudas and his host turned in all haste by the way of the wilderness toward Bosorra, and wan the city, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and tooke all their spoile, and set fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night he remoued from thence, and went toward the fortesse.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, behold, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the fort, and had assailed them.

31 When Iudas sawe that the battell was begun, and that the cris of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound, 32 Then he said vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went forth behind them with three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cried with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knew that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and hee smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Maspha, and layd siege vnto it, and wan it, & slew all the males thereof, and spoyled it, and set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went he and tooke Chasbon, Maged, and Bosor, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and hee camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Iudas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word again, saying, Al the heathen that bee round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the host is very great,

39 And hee hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, & they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are readie to come and fight against thee. So Iudas went to meet them.

40 Then Timotheus said vnto the captaines of his host, When Iudas and his host come neere the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shall not be able to withstand him: for he will be too strong for vs.

41 But if he be afrajd, and campe beyond the flood, we wil go ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

42 Now when Iudas came neere to the flood, he caused the gouernors of the people to remaine by the flood, and commanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to y battel.

43 So he went first ouer toward them, & all the people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, & cast away their weapons, and fled into the Temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which city Iudas wan, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Iudas.

45 ¶ Then Iudas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the least vnto the most, with their wives and their children, and their baggage, a very great hoste, to come into the land of Iuda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great city by the way, and strongly defended: they could not passe, neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must go thorow it.

47 But they that were in the city, shut theselues in, & stopped vp the gates with stones: and Iudas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorow your land, that we may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we will but onely go thorow on foote: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Iudas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the hoste, that euery man should assaule it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assaulted the citie all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword, & destroyed it, and tooke the spoile therof, & went thorow y city ouer them that were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Iorden into the great plaine before Bethsan.

53 And Iudas gathered together those that were behind, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorow, till they were come into the land of Iuda.

54 Thus they went vp with ioy and gladnesse vnto mount Sio, where they offred burnt offerings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

55 ¶ Nowe whilst Iudas and Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolemais, 56 Ioseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias the captaines hearing of the valiant acts, and battels which they had atchieued, said, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hoste a commandement and went toward Iamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight against them.

60 And Ioseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Iudea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great overthrow among the people of Israel.

61 Because they were not obedient vnto Iudas and his brethren, but thought to do some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not off y stock of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Iudas, & his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, whersoever their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Iudas forth with his brethren, & fought against the children of Elau in the land toward the South, where he wanne Hebron, and and the townes thereof, and he destroyed the cattel, thereof, & burnt the towres thereof round about.

66 Then remoued he to go into the land of the strangers, and went thorow Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priestes of the cities slaine in the battell, which would shew their valiantnes, and went forth to the battell without counsell: And when Iudas came to Azotus in the strangers land, he brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and took away the spoiles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Iuda.

CHAP. VI.

1. Antiochus willing to take the citie of Elimaïs, is driuen away of the citizens. 8 Hee falleth into sicknesse and dieth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made king. 34 The manner so prouokes elephantis to fight. 43 Eleazarus valiantly killeth. 48 The siege of Sion.

Joseph. Antiq. 12. cap. 19.

NOW when king Antiochus traualled thorow the high countreys, he heard that Elimaïs in the countrey of Persia, was a citie greatly renowned for riches, siluer and gold,

1 And that there was in it a very rich Temple, whereas were coverings of gold, coate armours, and harnesse, which Alexander king of Macedonia the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

2 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoyle it, but he was not able, for the citizens were warned of the matter,

3 And rose vp against him in battell, and hee fled and departed thence with great heauines, and came againe into Babylon.

4 Moreover, there came one which brought him tidings in the country of Persia, that 3 armies that went against the land of Iuda, were driuen away,

5 And that Lyfias which went forth first with a great power, was driuen away of the Iewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoyles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed,

6 And that they had pulled down the abomination, which hee had set vp vpon the altar at Ierusalem, and fenced the Sanctuary with his wals, as it was afore, and Beth-sura his citie.

7 So when the king had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moued: therefore hee laid him downe vpon his bed, and fel sicke for very sorow, because it was not come to passe, as hee had thought,

8 And there continued he many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that he saw he must needs die.

9 Therefore hee sent for all his friends, and said vnto them, The sleep is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

10 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduersitie am I come? and into what floods of misery am I fallē now, whereas aforetime I was in prosperitie, & greatly set by, by reason of my power?

11 And now doe I remember the euils that I haue done at Ierusalem: for I tooke all the vessels of gold and of siluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.

12 I know that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and behold, I must die with great sorow in a strange land.

13 Then called he for Philip, one of his friends, whom he made ruler of all his realme, 14 And gaue him the crowne, & his robe, and the ring, that he should instruct his sonne Antiochus, & bring him vp, til he might reigne himself.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundredeth and fortie and ninth yeere.

17 ¶ When Lyfias knewe that the king was dead, he ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whom he had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator.

18 Now they that were in the castle at Ierusalem, kept in the Israelites round about the Sanctuary, and sought alwayes their hurt, & the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Iudas thought to destroy them, and called al the people together to besiege them.

20 So they came together and besieged them, in the hundredeth and fiftie yeere, and made instruments to shoot, and other engins of warre.

21 But certaine of them that were besieged, gat foorth, (vnto whom some vngodly men of Israel ioyned themselues)

22 And they went vnto the king, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren?

23 We haue bene ready to serue thy father, and to goe forward in those things that he appointed, and to obey his commandements.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and wherefoeuer they found any of vs, they slew them, and spoyled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely layd hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And behold, this day are they besieging the castle at Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuary and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou doest not prevent them quickly, they wil do greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to overcome them.

28 When the king heard this, he was very angry, and called all his friends, the captaines of his armie, and his horsemen, 29 And bands that were hired came vnto him, from the kings that were confederate, and from the yles of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundredeth thousand footemen, and twenty thousand horsemen, and two and thirty elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came thorow Idumea, and drew neere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season, and made engins of war: but they came out and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Iudas from the castle, and remoued the hoste toward Beth-zacarias ouer against the kings campe.

33 So the king arose very early, and brought the armie and his power toward the way of Beth-zacarias, where the army set themselues in aray to the battell, and blew the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberries.

35 And they set the beastes according to the ranges: so that by euery elephant there stood a thousand men armed with coats of maile and belmets of brasie vpon their heads, and vnto euery beast were ordeined fise hundredeth horsemen of the best,

36 Which were ready at all times wherefoeuer the beast was: and wherefoeuer the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towers of wood that couered euery beast, which were fastned theron with instruments, & vpon euery one was two and and thirtie men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the valleys.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shieldes, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lamps of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings armie was spread vpon the high mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noise of their multitude, and the marching of the company, and the rattling of the harness, were astonished: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Iudas and his hoste entred into the battell, and they slewe fixe hundreth men of the kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar the sonne of Abiaron, lawe one of the elephants armed with roiall harness, and was more excellent then all the other beasts, he thought that the king should bee vpon him.

44 Wherefore he ieopardied himselfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetuall name, 45 And ran boldly vnto him through the mids of the hoste, slaying on the right hand and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went he to the elephants feete, and gate him vnder him, and slewe him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him, and there he died.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king, and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the kings armie went vp to meete them toward Ierusalem, and the king pitched his tents in Iudea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreover, the king tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no vitailles there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested,

50 The king tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to keepe it, 51 And besieged the Sanctuary many dayes, and made instruments to shoote, and other engins of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts and slings.

52 ¶ They also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vitailles: for it was the seventh yeere, and then they that were in Iudea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store.

54 So that in the Sanctuarie were fewemen left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euerie man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Nowe when Lyfias heard that Philip (whom Antiochus the king, whiles he liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be King.)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media, and the kings hoste with him, & thought to take vnto him the rule of things, 57 He and his hasted, and were stirred forward by them in the castle to goe and tell the king, and the captaines of the hoste, and to others, saying, We decrease dayly, and our vitailles are but small, and the place that we lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vp vs.

58 Now therefore let vs agree with these men, and take truce with them, & with al their nation, 59 And grant them to liue after their law, as they did afore: for they bee grieved, and doe all these things, because we haue broken their lawes.

60 So the king and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the king and the princes had made an oath vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortresse.

62 And the king went vp to mount Sion: but when he saw that the place was well defended, he brake his oath that hee had made, and commanded to brake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed he in all haste, and returned vnto Antiochia, where hee found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: so hee fought against him, and tooke the citie by force.

C H A P. VII.

1 Demetrius reigned, after hee had killed Antiochus and Lyfias. 5 Hee troubleth the children of Israel through the counsell of certaine wicked persons. 37 The prayer of the Priestes against Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after hee had made his prayer.

IN the hundreth and one and fiftieth yeere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a few men vnto a citie of the sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when hee came into the possession of his fathers kingdome, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lyfias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was told him, he said, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdom,

5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Israel, whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bene the hie Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto the king, saying, Iudas and his brethren haue slaine all thy friends, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore send now some man whom thou trustest, that hee may goe and see all the destruction, which he hath done vnto vs, and to the kings land, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the king chose Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and sent him, 9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom hee made hie Priest, and commanded him to be auenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the land of Iuda, and sent messengers to Iudas and his brethren deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they beleued not their saying: for they saw that they were come with a great hoste.

12 Then a company of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreate of reasonable points.

13 And the Asideans were the first that required peace among the children of Israel.

14 For, said they, He that is a Priest of the seed of Aaron, is come with this army: therefore he wil not hurt vs.

15 Then hee spake vnto them peaceably, and sware vnto them, and sayd, We will doe you no harme, neither your friends.

16 And they beleued him: but hee tooke of them threescore men, & slew them in one day accordingcording to the words that were written,

17 They have cast the bodies of thy Saints, and their blood round about Ierusalem, and there was no man that would bury them.

18 So there came a feare & a trembling among all the people: for they said, There is neither truth nor righteousness in them: for they have broken the appointment and oth that they made.

19 Then Bacchides removed from Ierusalem, and pitched his tent at Beth-zecha, where hee went forth and tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people whom he slew and cast into the great pit.

20 Then committed he the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: so Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus stroue for the Priesthood.

22 And all such as troubled the people, reformed vnto him: inso much that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 Now when Iudas saw al the mischief, that Alcimus and his companie had done among the Israelites more then the heathen, 24 He went forth round about all the borders of Iudea, and punished those that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroad in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus sawe that Iudas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, and knew that he was not able to abide them, he went againe to the king, and accused them of wicked things.

26 Then the king sent Nicanor one of his chiefe princes, which hated Israel deadly, & commanded him that he should destroy the people.

27 So Nicanor came to Ierusalem with a great hoste, and sent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying, 28 Let there bee no warre betweene mee, and you: I will come with few men, to see how you doe, friendly.

29 So he came vnto Iudas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.

30 Neuertheless, it was tolde Iudas, that hee came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore hee feared him, and would see his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceiued that his counsell was bewrayed, they went out to fight against Iudas, beside Carphasalama.

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors hoste about fise thousand men: so they fled vnto the citie of David.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priests with the Elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuarie to salute him peaceably, and to shew him the burnt offering that was offered for the king.

34 But he laughed at them, and mocked them, and counted them prophane, and spake proudly, 35 And swore in his wrath, saying, If Iudas and his hoste bee not deliuered now into mine hands, if ever I come againe in safetie, I will burne vp this house. With that, hee went out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and stood before the altar in the Temple, weeping, and saying,

37 For so much as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this house, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should bee an house of prayer, and petition for thy people,

38 Be auenged of this man and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Ierusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

40 And Iudas pitched in Adasa with three thousand men, where Iudas prayed, saying, 41 O Lord, because the messengers of the king Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forth, and slew an hundredth, fourescore and fise thousand of them.

42 So destroy thou this hoste before vs to day, that all other may know that he hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuarie, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and hee himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Now when his armie saw that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes journey from Adasa vnto Gadera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the townes of Iudea round about, and rushed vpon them, and threw them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoiles and the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hand, which he held vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnes.

49 And they ordeined to keepe yerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the lande of Iuda was in rest a little while.

1 Iudas considering the power and policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutuall friendship betwixt the Iewes.

Iudas heard also the fame of the Romanes, that they were mighty and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all them that came vnto them,

2 And that they were men of great power, and they told him of their battels, and their worthis actes which they did among the Galatians, whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute,

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: how that they had won there the mines of siluer and gold,

4 And that by their counsel, and gentle behaviour they were rulers in every place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited & giuen great ouerthrowes to the kings that came against them, from the vttermost part of the earth, and that others gaue them tribute euerie yeere,

5 Howe they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Peres kings of the Macedonians, and others that arose against them, and how they ouercame them,

6 And how great Antiochus king of Asia that came against them in battell, hauing an hundredth and twentie elephants, with horsemen and charrets, and a very great armie was discomfited by them,

8 Euen the country of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of his best countries, which they tooke of him, and gaue them to king Eumenes.

9 Again when it was told them that the Grecians were coming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a capitaine, which gaue them battell, and slew many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wiues and children, and spoiled them, and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holds, & subdued them to be their bondmen, vnto this day:

11 Moreover, how they destroyed and brought into subiection other kingdomes and yles, whosoever had withstood them:

12 But that they kept amity with their owne friends, and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, inso much that whosoever heard of their renowne, was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, and whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most high authoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them wore a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordeined themselues a counsell, wherein three hundred and twenty men consulted daily, and provided for the common affaires to gouerne them well.

16 And that they committed their gouernment to one man euery yeere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enny among them.

17 ¶ Then Iudas chose Eupolemus the sonne of Iohn, the sonne of Accus, and Iason the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome to make friendship and mutuall fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they sawe that the kingdom of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage.)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the Senate, where they spake and said, 20 Iudas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship, and peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse, & sent to Ierusalem, that they might haue by them a memorial of the peace, and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romans, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea, and by land for euer, and the sword and enemie be from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romans, or any of their friends thorowout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Iewes shal helpe them, as the time shalbe appointed, with all their heart.

26 Also they shal giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheat nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, but they shal keepe their covenants without taking any thing of them.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the nation of the Iewes, the Romans shal helpe them with a good wil, according as the time shalbe appointed them.

28 Neither shal wheat be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, who will keepe these covenants without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these points the one party, or the other wil adde or diminish, they may do it, at their pleasures, and whatsoever they shal adde, or take away, shalbe ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, wee haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore laiest thou thine heauy yoke vpon our friends and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we wil do them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his armie against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slaine. 31 Jonathan is put in the stead of his brother. 47 The battell betwene Jonathan and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the pestilence, and dieth. 68 He commeth vpon Jonathan by the counsel of certaine wicked persons, and is overcome. 70 The truce of Jonathan with Bacchides.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor, and his host had giuen the battell, he sent Bacchides and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his chiefe strength with them.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Mefaloth which is in Arbelis, and wan it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundredth fifty and two yeere, they laied their siege against Ierusalem.

4 But they raied their camp, and came to Beerea, with twenty thousand foot men, and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at Eleasa, and three thousand chosen men with him.

6 And when they sawe that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore afraid, and many conueyed themselues out of the hoste, so that there abode no more of them, but eight hundred men.

7 When Iudas sawe that his hoste failed him, and that he must needs fight, he was sore troubled in mind that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuertheles, he said vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and go vp against the enemies, if peraduenture we may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, We are not able: but let vs rather save our liues: turne backe now, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall we fight against them, that are so few?

10 Then Iudas said, God forbid that we should doe this thing, to flee from them: if our time bee come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

11 Then the host remoued out of the tents, and stood against the, who had diuided their horsemen into two troupes, and they that threw with slings, and the archers marched in the foreward, & they that fought in the foreward, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drew neere on both sides, and blew the trumpets.

13 They

13 They of Iudas side blew the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noise of the armies, and the battel continued from morning to night.

14 And when Iudas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, hee tooke with him all the hardy men, 15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them to mount Azotus.

16 Nowe when they which were of the left wing sawe that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Iudas behind, and them that were with him hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Iudas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Simon tooke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the citie of Modin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, saying, 21 How is the valiant man fallen which deliuered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Iudas, both the battels and the valiant acts that he did, and of his vnworthines, they are not writtē: for they were very many.

23 ¶ Now after the death of Iudas, wicked men came vp in all the coasts of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselves to iniquitie.

24 In those daies was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselves with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Iudas friends, & brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Iudas friends together, and sayd vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Iudas is dead, and there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs, 30 Therefore, this day we chuse thee, that thou mayest be our Prince and captaine in his place, to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Iudas.

32 But when Bacchides knew it, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother, perceiving that, fled into the wilderness of Thecuia with all their company, and pitched their tents, by the water poole of Alphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstoode, hee came ouer Iorden with all his host vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Jonathan sent his brother Iohn, a captaine of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

36 But the children of Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke Iohn, and all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, and brought the bride from Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest Princes of Canaan.

38 Therefore they remembered Iohn their brother, and went vp, and hid themselves vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, & looked, and behold, there was a great noise, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friends and his brethren met them with timbrels, and instruments of musicke, and many weapons.

40 Then Ionathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, and slew many of them; and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoiles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noise of their melody into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Iorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, hee came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his company, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Behold, the battell is before vs, and behind vs, and the water of Iorden on this side and that side, and the marish, and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore crie now vnto heauen, that yee may be deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but hee turned aside from him and reculed.

48 Then Jonathan, and they that were with him, leapt into Iorden, and swummed ouer vnto the further bank: but they other would not passe thorow Iorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Ierusalem, & built vp the strong cities in Iuda, as the castle of Iericho, and Enmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, Pharathon, and Tephro, with high walles, with gates, and with barres.

51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 He fortified also the citie of Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of vitayles.

53 Hee tooke also the chiefest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Ierusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundredth fifty and three yeere, in the second moneth, Alcimus commanded, that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuary should be destroyed, and he pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a palfie, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the king, and so the land of Iuda was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, saying, Behold, Jonathan, & his company dwell at ease, & without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, & we will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Who arose & came with a great hoste, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Iudea, to take Jonathan and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsell was knowen vnto them.

61 And || they tooke fiftie men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednesse, and slew them.

62 ¶ Then Jonathan and Simon with their companie departed vnto || Beth-basin, which is in the wilderness, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his host, & sent word to them that were of Iudea.

64 Then came he & laid siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.

65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went forth into the countrey, and came with a certaine number,

66 And slew || Odomeras and his brethren and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so hee began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also & his company went out of the citie, and burnt vp the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, & discomfited him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsell and iourney was in vaine.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, that gaue him counsell to come inco the countrey, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent Ambassadors vnto him, to intreate of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing he accepted, and did according to his desire, & made an othe, that he would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So he restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforetime out of the lande of Iudea, and so returned & went into his owne land, neither did he come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Machmas, and beganne there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Jonathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warres against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemies and Alexander.

IN the hundreth and threescore yere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemies, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, he gathered an exceeding great host, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathan, with louing words, as though he would prefer him.

4 For he said, We will first make peace with him, before he ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Els he will remember all the euill that wee haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so hee gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an host, & to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commanded the hostages that were in the castle, to be deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Jonathan to Ierusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castle.

8 Therefore they were sore afraid, because they heard that the king had giuen him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castle, deliuered the hostages vnto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and began to build, and repaire the citie.

11 And hee commanded the workemen to build the walles, & the mount Sion round about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castles which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Only at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the Law, and the commandements: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when king Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was told him of the battels and noble acts, which hee and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 He sayd, Might we find such a man? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Vpon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these words, saying,

18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan sendeth salutation.

19 Wee haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordeine thee to be the high Priest of thy nation, and to be called the kings friend: (and he sent him a purple robe, and a crowne of gold) that thou maiest || consider what is for our profit, and keepe friendship toward vs.

21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundred & threescore yere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, hee was marueilous sorie, and said, 23 What haue we done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon he wrote vnto the these words, KING DEMETRIUS vnto the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that yee haue kept your couenant toward vs, & continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, wherof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelitie toward vs, & we will recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And will release you of many charges, and giue you rewardes.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, & free you from the customes of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the third part part the seeds.

30 And from the halfe of the fruit of the trees which is mine owne dutie, I so release them that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the lande of Iuda, or of the three governments which are added thereunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, from this day forth for euermore.

31 Ierusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shalbe holy and free from the tenths and tributes.

32 Also I release the power of the castle which is at Ierusalem, and giue it vnto the hie Priest, & he may set in it such men, as he shal chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreover I freely deliuer every one of the Iewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my realme, and euery one of them shall be free from tributes, yea, euen their cattell.

34 And al the feastes, and Sabbaths, and newe Moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedome, and libertie for all the Iewes in my realme.

35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing, or to vex any of them in any maner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousand of the Iewes shall be written vp in the kings hoste, & haue their wages payed them, as appertaineth to all them that are of the kings armie: and of them shalbe ordeined certayne to keepe the kings strong holds.

37 And some of them shalbe set ouer the kings most secret affaires, and their gouernours & their Princes shalbe of themselves, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the king hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the three governments that are added vnto Iuda from the countrey of Samaria shall be ioyned vnto Iudea, and they shalbe as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais & the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuary at Ierusalem, for the necessary expenses of the holy things.

40 Moreover, I will giue euery yeere fifteene thousand sicles of siluer of the Kings reuenues out of the places appertaining vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not paid for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shall giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the fife thousand sicles of siluer which they received yeerely of the account appointed for the intertainment of the Sanctuary these yeres passed, eue these things shalbe released because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, whosoever they be that flee vnto the Temple at Ierusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indetted to the king for any maner of thing, they shalbe pardoned, and all that they haue in my Realme.

44 For the building also and repairing of the workes of the Sanctuary, expenses shall be giuen of the kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Ierusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holds in Iudea may be built vp, shal also the costs be giuen out of the kings reuenues.

46 But when Ionathan and the people heard these words, they gaue no credit vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembered the great wickednesse that he had done in Israel, and how fore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the first & had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great hoste, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioyned battell, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.

50 So that fore battell continued till the sunne went down, & Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent ambassadours vnto Ptolemais the king of Egypt with these wordes, saying,

52 For so much as I am come againe to my Realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and he and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I bee thy sonne in law, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptolemais the king gaue answere, saying, Happy be the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and fittest in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Now therefore I will fulfill thy writing: but meete me at Ptolemais that wee may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in lawe, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemais went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundreth threescore and two yeere.

58 Where king Alexander met him, and hee gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemais with great glory, as the manner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Ionathan, that he should come and meet him.

60 So hee went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there hee met the two kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and golde, and so their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certayne pestilent fellows of Israel, & wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they should take off the garments of Ionathan, and cloth him in purple, and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him.

63 And said vnto his princes, Go with him into the mids of the citie, & make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any maner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honor according as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honour, and wrote him among his chiefe friends, & made him a Duke, and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Ionathan returned to Ierusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundreth threescore and fife yeere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, hee was very sory, and returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour governour of Cœlosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Iamnia, and sent vnto Jonathan the high Priest, saying, 70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: nowe therefore why doest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Now the if thou trust in thine own strength, come downe to vs into the plaine field, and there let vs trie the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: & they shal tell thee that your foote is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene rwise chased in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footmen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the words of Apollonius, he was moued in his mind: wherefore he chose ten thousand men, and went out of Ierusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Ioppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garison was in Ioppe.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wan Ioppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen, with a great host of foot men, and went toward Azotus, as though he would go forward, and came immediatly into the plaine field, because he had so many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan folowed vpon him to Azotus, and the army skirmished with his arriere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behinde them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knew that there was an ambushment behinde him: and though they had compassed in the hoste, and shot darts at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them, till their horses were weary.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, and set them against the band: but the horses were weary, and he discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the field,

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue themselves.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it, and tooke their spoiles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the host from thence, and camped by Ascalon, where the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Ierusalem, with great spoiles.

88 And when king Alexander heard these things, he began to doe Jonathan more honour, 89 And sent him a collar of golde, as the vse is to be giuen vnto such as are of the kings blood: he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The dissenion betweene Ptolemus and Alexander his sonne in law. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius repurch after the death of Ptolemus. 22 Sion is besieged of Jonathan. 43 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his arrie againe. 54 Tryphon mooueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

And the king of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the sand that lieth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, & went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioynne it vnto his owne realme.

2 Vpon this he went into Syria with friendly words, and was let into the cities, and men came forth to meet him: for king Alexander had commanded them to meet him, because hee was his father in law.

3 Now when he entred into the citie of Ptolemais, he left bands and garisons in euery city.

4 And when he came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heaps of them by the way where hee should passe.

5 And they told the king what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the king held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the king with great honour at Ioppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Ierusalem.

8 So king Ptolemus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander, 9 And sent Ambassadours vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, & I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowne.

13 Then Ptolemus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia, and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was King Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, and Ptolemus brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemus died: and they that were in the holds, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundred threecore and seuen yeere.

20 At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Iudea, to lay siege vnto the castle, which was at Ierusalem, and they made many instruments struments of warre against it.

& & struments

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and told him that Ionathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it, he was angry, and immediately came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Ionathan, that he should lay no more siege vnto it, but that he should meet him and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neuerthelesse when Ionathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it: hee chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, and the Priests, and put himselfe in dainger, 42 And tooke with him siluer and golde, and apparell, & diuers presents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the King, and found fauour in his sight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the king intreated him as his predecessor had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the high Priesthood with all the honourable things, that he had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Ionathan also desired the King, that he would make Iudea free with the three gouernments, and the countrey of Samaria, and Ionathan promised him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the King consented, & gaue Ionathan writing of the same, containing these words.

30 KING DEMETRIUS vnto his brother Ionathan, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

31 We send you here a copy of the letter which we did write vnto our cousin Lathenes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lathenes his father, sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulnessse that our friends the nation of the Iewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towards vs, we are determined to do them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Iudea with the three gouernments, Apherema, & Lydda, & Ramathe (which are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to al them that sacrifice in Ierusalem both concerning the payments which the King tooke yerely aforetime, both for the fruits of the earth, and for the fruits of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenths and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge them of all from hencefoorth.

36 And nothing hereof shalbe reckoned from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that ye make a copy of these things, & deliuer it vnto Ionathan, that it may be set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this when Demetrius the King sawe that his land was in rest, & that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his hoste euery man to his owne place, except certaine bandes of strangers, whom he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherfore all his fathers hoste hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when he saw that all the host murmured against Demetrius, he went to Simalcue the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, 40 And lay fore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers stead: he told him also what great euil Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Ionathan sent vnto King Demetrius to driue them out which were in the castle at Ierusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Ionathan, saying, I will not onely doe these things for thee and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee, and thy nation.

43 Nowe therefore thou shalt doe me a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all mine army is gone from me.

44 So Ionathan sent him threethousand strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the King: wherfore the King was very glad at their coming.

45 But they that were of the citie, euen an hundred & twenty thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the citie, and would haue slaine the king.

46 But the King fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streets of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went abroad thorow the city, 48 And slewe the same day an hundred thousand, and set fire vpon the city, and tooke many spoiles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the citie, and that they theselues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 Grant vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from vexing vs and the city.

51 So they cast away their weapons, & made peace, & the Iewes were greatly honoured before the king, & before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.

52 Then King Demetrius fate in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuerthelesse he dissembled in all that euer he spake, and withdrew himselfe from Ionathan, neither did he reward him according to the benefits which he had done for him, but troubled him very fore.

54 After this returned Tryphon with the yong childe Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, & they fought against him, who fled & turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the beasts, and wanne Antiochia.

57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Ionathan, saying, I appoint thee to be the chiefe Priest, and make thee ruler ouer the foure gouernments, that thou mayest be a friend of the Kings.

58 Vpon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, & gaue him leaue to drinke in gold, and to weare purple, and to haue a collar of gold.

59 He made his brother Simon also captaine from the coastes of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Ionathan went forth, and passed thorow thorow the cities beyond the flood, & all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came to Askalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoyled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, and tooke of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Danaisus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey, 64 Hee came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which hee granted them, and afterward put them from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his hoste came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And beholde, the hosts of the strangers met him in the plaine, and had laid ambushments for him in the mountaines.

69 So that when they came against the, the ambushments rose out of their places & skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Ionathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of Abfalomus, and Iudas the sonne of Calphi the captaines of the hoste.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to follow after all vnto their tents at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Jonathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jonathan smiteth embassadours to Rome. 2 And to the people of Sparta, to renew their comenau of friendship. 23 Jonathan putteth to flight the printes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Jonathan by deceit.

Jonathan now seeing that the time was meete for him, chose certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to establish and renew the friendship with them.

2 He sent letters also vnto the Spartians and to other places, for the same purpose.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and said, Jonathan the high Priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renew friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports, that men should leade them home into the laude of Iuda peaceably.

5 AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians.

6 Jonathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priestes, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from Arius, which then reigned among you, that yee would be our brethren, as the copy hereunder written specifieth.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassadour honorably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue & friendship.

9 But as for vs, we need no such writings: for we haue y holy bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuerthelesse we thought it good to send vnto you, for the renuing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest wee should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore wee remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts and other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And we reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue bene inuironed with great troubles & warres, so that the Kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would wee not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederates and friends in these warres.

15 For wee haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and we are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason, and sent them vnto the Romans, for to renew the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commanded them also to go vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renewing of the brotherhood.

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answere of these things.

19 ¶ And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the king of Sparta sent vnto Onias, 20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the hie Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall doe well, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs wee haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue we comanded to be shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Now when Jonathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore, 25 He went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue them not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And hee sent spies vnto their tents, which came againe, and told him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore when the Sun was gone downe, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuerthelesse Jonathan and his company knewe it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Jonathan followed vpon them, but he could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Jonathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and slew them, and tooke their spoyle.

32 He proceeded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went thorow all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, & came to Ascalon, and to the next holds, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

34 For hee heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Jonathan home, & called the Elders of the people together, & deuised with them for to build vp the strong holds in Iudea, 36 And to make the walles of Ierusalem hie, and to make a great mount betwixt the castle and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might be alone, and that men should neither buy nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the city: for part of the wall vpon the brooke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, & made it strong with gates and barres.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to be crowned when hee had slaine the king Antiochus.

40 But hee was afraid that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Jonathan, and to kill him: so he departed, and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Jonathan forth against him to the battell with fourty thousand choisen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon sawe that Jonathan came with so great an host, he durst not lay hand vpon him,

43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewards, and commanded his men of warre to bee as obedient vnto him as to himselfe,

44 And sayd vnto Jonathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such traueile, seeing there is no warre betweene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so wil I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my coming.

46 Jonathan beleued him, and did as he said, and sent away his host, which went into the land of Iuda, 47 And retained but three thousand with him, whereof hee sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Now assoone as Jonathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, and slew all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen, and horsemen into Galile, & into the great plaine to destroy all Ionathans company.

50 But when they knewe that Jonathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, saw that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them, therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memory from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ After Jonathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 17 Tryphon taking his children, and money for the redemption of Jonathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the Realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 46 He possesseth the tower of Simon. 53 He maketh his sonne John captaine.

Now when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the lande of Iuda, and to destroy it,

2 And saw that the people was in great trembling and feare, he came vp to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Yee know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the Law and the Sanctuary, and the battels, and troubles that wee haue seene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I wil auenge my nation, and the Sanctuary, and our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these wordes, the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Thou shalt be our captaine in stead of Iudas and Jonathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoever thou commandest vs, we will doe.

10 ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making haste to finish the walles of Ierusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent he Jonathan the sonne of Abalomus with a great host vnto Ioppe, which droue them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remooued from Ptolemais with a great army, to come into the land of Iuda, and Jonathan was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at Addidis vpon the open plaine.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stood vp in stead of his brother Jonathan, and that hee would fight against him, he sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Jonathan thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in the Kings account concerning the busines that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundred talents of siluer, and his two sonnes, for hostages, that when he is letten forth, he will not turne from vs, and wee we will send him againe.

17 Neuertheles Simon knew that he dissembled in his words, yet commaunded he the money, and children to be deliuered vnto him, lest he should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel.

18 Who might haue said, Because he sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Ionathan dead.

19 So he sent the children and an hundredth talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Ionathan goe.

20 ¶ After ward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, that leadeth vnto Adora: but wherefoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hosts.

21 Now they that were in the castle sent messengers vnto Tryphon that he should make haste to come by the wilderness, & to send them vittails.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snow, so that he came not because of the snow: but hee remooued and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when hee came nere to Bascama, hee slew Ionathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Ionathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building hie to looke vnto, of hewen stone behind and before,

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for perpetuall memory, and carued ships beside the armes, that they might be seene of men sailing in the sea.

30 This sepulchre which he made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 ¶ Now as Tryphon went forth with the yong king Antiochus, he slew him traiterously, 32 And reigned in his stead, and crowned him selfe king of Asia, and brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castles of Iudea, and compassed them about with hie towers, and great walles, euen with towers, and gates, and barres, and laid vp vittails in the strong holds.

34 Moreouer Simon chose certaine men & sent them to king Demetrius, that he would discharge the land for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the king answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 DEMETRIUS the king vnto Simon the hie Priest, and the friend of kings, and to the Elders and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crowne, and || precious stone that yee sent vnto vs, haue wee receiued, and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers to releafe you of the things wherein we made you free.

38 So the things that we haue graunted you, shall be stable: the strong holdes which ye haue builded, shall be your owne.

39 Also we forgie the oversights, and faulter committed vnto this day, & the crowne tax that ye ought vs: and whereas was any other tribute in Ierusalem, it shalbe now no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to bee written with our men, let them bee written vp, that there be peace betweene vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundred and seuentie yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, and publike instruments, IN THE FIRST yeere of Simon, the hie and chiefe Priest gouernour and prince of the Iewes.

43 In these dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where he set vp an engine of warre, and approched nere the citie, and beat a tower, and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the citie, and there was great trouble in the citie,

45 Insomuch that the people of the citie rent their clothes, and climed vp vpon the walles with their wiues, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, beseeching Simon to graunt them peace, saying,

46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, and would fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and cleansed the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entred thereunto with Psalmes and thanksgiuing.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now when they in the castle at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come forth, nor go into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were famished to death.

50 Insomuch that they besought Simon to make peace with them, which he graunted them, and put them out from thence, and cleansed the castle from filthinesse.

51 And vpon the three and twenty day of the second moneth, in the hundredth seuentie and one yeere, they entred into it with thanksgiuing, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbales, and with viols, and with Psalmes, and songs, because the great enemy of Israel was overcome.

52 And he ordained that the same day should be kept euery yeere with gladnesse.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castle where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that Iohn his sonne was now a man, he made him captaine of all his hosts, and caused him to dwell in || Gazaris.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces. 11 Simon being captaine there is great quietnesse in Israel. 18 The courtiers of friends ship with the Romanes, and with the people of Sparta renewed

IN the hundred seuentie and two yeere gathered king Demetrius his hoste, & departed vnto Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Arsaces the king of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So he went, and ouercame the army of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Arsaces, which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest so long.

as Simon liued for he sought the wealth of his nation, therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to doe him worship alway.

5 Simon also wanne the citie of Ioppe to his great honour to be an haven towne, and made it an entrance vnto the yles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreys.

7 Hee gathered vpon many of their people that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castle, which he cleued from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him.

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruites, and the trees gaue their fruit.

9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted altogether for the common wealth, and the yong men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 Hee provided vitailles for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious fame was renowned vnto the end of the world.

11 He made peace throughout the land, and Israel had perfect mirth and ioy.

12 For euery man sate vnder his vine, and the figge trees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the kings were overcome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: he was diligent to see the Law kept, & he tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuary, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romanes heard, and the Spartians had knowledge, that Jonathan was dead, they were very fory.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made hie Priest in his stead, and how he had wonne the land againe with the cities in it.

18 They wrote vnto them in tables of brasie, to renew the friendship, and bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Jonathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Ierusalem, and this is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent, 20 THE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.

19 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, we were glad of their comming,

22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publike records in this maner, NUMENIUS the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason the Iewes Ambassadours, came vnto vs to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people that the men should be honourably intreated, and that the copy of their ambassage should be registred in the publike records, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of golde of a thousand pound weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstoode, they said, What thanks shall wee recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue established Israel, and overcome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasie, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, In the eight and twentie day of the moneth Elul in the hundredth seuentie and two yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the hie Priest.

28 In Saramel in the great congregation of the Priestes, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the Elders of the countrey, we would signifie vnto you, that many battels haue bene fought in our countrey.

29 Wherein Simon the son of Mattathias (come of the children of Iarib) & his brethren put themselves in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuary, and Law might be maintained, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Jonathan gathered his nation together, and became their hie Priest, and is laid with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inuaded their countrey, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuary.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 Hee fortified also the cities of Iudea, and Beth-sura that lieth vpon the borders of Iudea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garison of the Iewes.

34 And he fortified Ioppe, which lieth vpon the sea, and Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus, (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessary for the reparation thereof.

35 Now when the people saw the faithfulnessse of Simon, and to what glory hee thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, because he had done all these things, and for the vprightnesse, and fidelitie that he had kept to his nation, and that fought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered well by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the citie of Dauid at Ierusalem, where they had made him a castle, out of the which they went, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuary, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it for the assurance of the land, and citie, and raised vp the wallles of Ierusalem.

38 And King Demetrius confirmed him in his hie Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friends, and gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romanes called the Iewes their friends, and confederates, and that they honourably receiued Simons ambassadours,

41 And that the Iewes, and Priests consented, that Simon should be their Prince, and hie Priest perpetually, till God raised vp the true Prophet,

42 And that hee should be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuary, and so set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, and that should make prouision for the holy things,

43 And that he should be obied of euery man, and that all the writings in the countrey should be

be made in his name, and that he should bee clothed in purple, and weare gold.

44 And that it should not be lawfull for any of the people or Priestes to breake any of these things, or to withstand his words, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or be clothed in purple, or weare a collar of gold:

45 And if any did contrarie to these things, or brake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it should bee done to Simon according vnto these words.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the captaine, and the prince of the Iewes, and of the Priestes, and to bee the chiefe of all.

48 And they commanded to set vp this writing in tables of brasse, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuarie in an open place.

49 And that a copie of the same should be laid vp in the treasure, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1. Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Simon. 11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romans write letters vnto kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him breaketh his covenant.

Moreouer king Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the isles of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Containing these words, ANTIOCHVS the king vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vsurped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to challenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared shippes of warre,

4 That I may goe thorow the countrey, and bee auenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

5 Now therefore I doe confirme vnto thee all the liberties wherof al the kings my progenitors haue discharged thee, and all the payments, wherof they haue released thee.

6 And I gaue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stampe within thy countrey,

7 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuarie bee free, and that all the weapons that thou hast prepared, and the fortresse, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine hands shall be thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the king, and all that shalbe due vnto the king, I forgiue it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

9 And when we haue obtained our kingdom, we will giue thee, and thy nation and the Temple great honour, so that your honour shalbe knownen throughout the world.

10 ¶ In the hundreth seuentie and foure yere, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the bands came together vnto him, so that few were left with Tryphon.

11 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but he fled, and came to Dora, which lieth by the sea side.

12 For he saw that troubles were toward him, and that the armie had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundreth and twentie thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So hee compassed the citie about, and the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the citie by land and by sea, in so much that they suffered no man to goe in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Numenius, and his companie from Rome, hauing letters written vnto the kings and countries, wherein were contained these words.

16 LVCIVS the Consul of Rome vnto king Ptolemeus sendeth greeting.

17 The Ambassadors of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friends, and confederates from Simon the high Priest, and from the people of the Iewes to renew friendship, and the bond of loue, 18 Who haue brought a shield of gold weying a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore wee thought it good to write vnto the kings countries, that they should not go about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their countrey, neither to maintaine their enemies against them.

20 And wee were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there be any pestilent fellowes fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, and to Attalus, and to Arathes, and to Arsaces.

23 And to all the countries, as || Sampsames, and to them of Sparta, and to || Delus, and to || Mindus, and to Sycion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lyfia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, & to Phaselis, and to Coos, and to Siden, and to Cortina, and to Gridon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the hie Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the king camped against Dora the second time, euer readie to take it, and made diuers engines for warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither goe in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and gold, and much furniture.

27 Neuerthelesse, he would not receiue them, but brake all the covenant, which hee had made with him afore, and withdrew himselfe from him.

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends to commune with him, saying, Yee withhold Ioppe, and Gazara with the castles that is at Ierusalem, the citie of my Realme.

29 Whose borders yee haue destroyed & done great hurt in the land, & haue the gouernment of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the cities, which yee haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that yee haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea.

31 Or else giue me for them fise hundreth talents of siluer, & for the harme that ye haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fise hundreth talents: If not, wee will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when he saw the honour of Simon, and the cupborde of gold and siluer plate, and so great preparation, he was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, & said vnto him, Wee & & 4. haue have neither taken other towns lands, nor under-holden that which appertained to others, but our fathers heritage which our enemies had wrongfully in possession a certaine time.

34 But when we had occasion, wee recovered the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorow our countrey, yet wil we giue in hundredth talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word,

36 But turned againe angrie vnto the king, and told him all these words, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that hee had seene: and the King was verie angrie.

37 ¶ In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship vnto Orthosias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footmen, and horsemen,

39 And commanded him to remove the hoste toward Iudea, and to build vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the king purified Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, and began to vex the people, and to invade Iudea, and to take the people prisoners, and to slay them.

41 And hee built vp Cedron, where hee set horsemen and garrisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Iudea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

¶ Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hoste is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes in a banquet. 22 Iohn killeth them that be in wait for his life.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13.
chap. 11.

¶ Then came Iohn vp from Gazara, and told Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and said vnto them, I, and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and wee haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am now old, and yee by Gods mercie are of a sufficient age: be yee therefore in stead of me and my brother, and goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen bee with you.

4 So he chose twentie thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine field: and behold, a mightie great hoste came against them both of footmen, and horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when hee saw that the people was afraid to goe ouer the riuer, hee went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed through after him.

7 Then he diuided his men, and set the horsemen as the middle of the footmen.

8 For their enemies horsemen were very many:
but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gaue them to the forresse.

9 Then was Iudas Iohns brother wounded:
but Iohn followed after them, till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled vnto the towers, that were in the fields of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousand men of them: so hee returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

11 ¶ Now in the field of Iericho was Ptolemus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For hee had married the daughter of the hie Priest.)

13 Therefore he waxed proud in his mind, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about thorow the cities of the countrey, & studied carefully for them, he came downe to Iericho with Mattathias, and Iudas his sonnes in the hundredth senentie and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth of Sabar.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a litle hold, called Dochus, which he had built, where hee made them a great banquet, and had hid men there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good cheare, Ptolemus stood vp with his men and tooke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banquet house, and slew him with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby hee committed a great villenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemus these things and sent to the king, that he might send him an hoste to helpe him, and so would deliuer him the coun-trei with the cities.

19 Hee sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take Iohn, and sent letters vnto the captaines to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and gold and rewards.

20 And to Ierusalem hee sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ran before, and told Iohn in Gaza-ra, that his father, & his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemus had sent to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was fore astonished, and laide hands on them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for he knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of Iohn, both of his warres, and of his noble acts (wherein he behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of walles which he made, and other of his deedes,

24 Behold they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

CHAP. I.

An Epistle of the Jewes that dwelt at Jerusalem, sent unto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to give thanks for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24 The prayer of Nehemias.

I He brethren the Jewes which be at Jerusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto the brethren the Jewes, that are throughout Egypt, send salutation and prosperitie.

2 God bee gracious vnto you, and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob his faithfull seruants,

3 And giue you all an heart to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,

4 And open your hearts in the Law, and commandements, and send you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, and be reconciled with you, & neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundreth threescore and ninth yeere, we Jewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violence that came vnto vs in those yeeres, after that Iason and his company departed out of the holy land and kingdome,

8 And burnt the porch, and shed innocent blood: Then we prayed vnto the Lord, and were heard: we offered sacrifices and fine flowre, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.

9 Nowe therefore keepe yee the dayes of the feast of Tabernacles in the moneth Chasseu.

10 ¶ In the hundreth fourescore and eight yere, the people that was in Jerusalem and in Iudea, and the Councell and Iudas, vnto Aristobulus King Ptolemeus master, which is of the stocke of the anointed Priests, and to the Jewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 In so much as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, as though we had overcome the king.

12 For he brought them into Persia by heapes, that fought against the holy citie.

13 For albeit the captaine, and the armie that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Nanea, by the deceite of Naneas Priests.

14 For Antiochus, as though he would dwell with her, came thither, he, & his friends with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowry.

15 But when the Priests of Nanea had layd it forth, and hee was entred with a small companie within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in,

16 And by opening a priuy doore of the vault, they cast stones as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing bruised them in pieces, they cut off their heads and threw them to those that were without.

17 God bee blessed in all things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked.

18 Whereas we are now purposed to keep the purification of the Temple vpon the five & twentie day of the moneth Chasseu, wee thought it necessary to certifie you thereof, that ye also might keepe the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was giuen vs whē Neemias offered sacrifice, after that hee had built the Temple, and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, the Priests which sought the honour of God, tooke the fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollow pit, which was drie in the bottome, and therein they kept it, so that the place was vnknowne vnto euery man.

20 Now after many yeres when it pleased God that Neemias should be sent fro the king of Persia, he sent of the posterity of those Priests, which had hid it to fetch the fire, & as they told vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commanded hee them to draw it vp, and to bring it: and when the things appertaining to the sacrifices were brought, Neemias commanded the Priests to sprinkle the wood, & the things layd thereupon with water.

22 When this was done, and that the time came that the sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that euery man maruelled.

23 Now the Priests and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Ionathan began, and the other answered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Neemias was after this maner, O Lord, Lord God maker of all things, which art faithfull, and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gracious King,

25 Onely liberal, onely iust and almighty, and euerlasting, thou that deliuerest Israel fro all trouble, & hast chosen the fathers, and sanctified them,

26 Receiue the sacrifice for the whole people of Israel, and prelerue thine own portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together that are scattered fro vs: deliuer those that serue among the heathen, looke vpon them which art despised & abhorred, that the heathē may know that thou art our God:

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, & with pride doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people again in thine holy place as Moyses hath spoken.

30 And the Priests sang Psalmes thereunto.

31 Nowe when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commanded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light that shined from the altar.

33 ¶ So when this matter was knowne, it was tolde the king of Persia, that in the place where the Priests, which were led away, had hid fire, there appeared water, wherewith Neemias and his company had purified the sacrifices.

34 The king tried out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the king fauoured, hee gaue and bestowed many gifts.

36 And Neemias called the same place Ephthar, which is to say, Purification: but many men call it Nephthar.

It is found also in the writings of Ieremias the Prophet, that he commanded them which were carried away, to take fire as was declared, and as the Prophet commanded them which were led into captiuitie,

4 It is written also, how the Prophet by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the Tabernacle and the Arke, and to follow him: and when he came vp into the mountain where Moyses went vp, * and saw the heritage of God,

5 Ieremias went forth and found an hollow caue, wherein he laid the Tabernacle & the Arke, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of those that followed him to marke the place, but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Ieremias perceived, he reproued them, saying, As for that place, it shall be vnknewen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercy be shewed.

8 Then shal the Lord shew them these things, and the maiesty of the Lord shall appeare, and the cloud also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as * when Salomon desired, that the place might bee honourably sanctified.

13 These things also are declared in 7 writings and registers of 7 Neemias, and how he made a library, and how he gathered the acts of the kings, and of the Prophets, and the acts of Dauid, & the epistles of the kings, concerning the holy gifts.

14 Euen so Iudas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if yee haue neede thereof, send some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas wee then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you, and ye shall do well if ye keepe the same dayes.

17 We hope also that the God, which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all, and the kingdom, and the Priesthood, and the Sanctuary, 18 * As he promised in the Law, wil shortly haue mercy vpon vs, & gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for hee hath saued vs from great perils, and hath clenfed the place.

19 As concerning Iudas Maccabeus, and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

* 20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne,

21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stood for the Jewes religion: (for though they were but fewe, yet they raune thorow whole countries, and pursued the barbarous armies, 22 And repaired the Temple that was renowned throughout all the world, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was merciful vnto them with all lenitie)

23 Wee will assay to abridge in one volume those things, that Iason the Cyrenian hath declared in five booke.

24 For considering the wonderful number, and the difficulty that they haue that woulde bee occupied in the rehearsal of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 We haue endeouored, that they that would reade, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memorie, and that whosoever read them, might haue profit.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweate and watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens commoditie, hath no small labour: so we also for many mens sakes are very wel content to vndertake this great labour.

28 Leauing to the author the exact diligence of euery particular, we wil labour to go forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For hee that will build a new house, must prouide for 7 whole building, but hee that setteth out the plat, or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof.

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a storie to enter deeply into it, and to make mention of all things, and to bee curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to them that wil shorten it, to vse fewe words, and to auoyde those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we begin the story, adding thus much to our former words, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in words before the story, and to be short in the story.

CHAP. III.

2 Of the honour done vnto the Temple by the kings of the Gentiles.
6 Simon uttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 26 Hee is stricken of God, and healed as the prayer of Onias.

What time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the Lawes were very well kept, because of the godlinesse of Onias the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe that euen the kings did honour that place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts.

3 Inasmuch that Seleucus king of Asia of his owne rents, bare all the costs belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning the 7 iniquitie committed in the citie.

5 And when hee could not overcome Onias, he gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraseas, which then was gouernor of Cæsaryia and Phenice,

6 And tolde him that the treasure in Ierusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that

Or, state and provision.

it were possible that these things might come in to the kings hands.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the King, and shewed him of the money, as it was told him, the King chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commandement, to bring him the foresaid money.

8 Immediately Heliodorus tooke his journey as though he would visit the cities of Cælosyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Ierusalem, & was courteously receiued of the hie Priest into the citie, he declared what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his coming, and asked if these things were so indeede.

10 Then y<sup>e</sup> hie Priest told him that there were such things laid vp by the widowes and fatherles, 11 And that a certain of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundred talents of silver, and two hundred of gold.

12 And that it were altogether vnpossible to doe this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holinesse of the place and Temple, which is honoured thorow the whole world for holinesse and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commandement giuen him, saide that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasury.

14 So he appointed a day, and went in to take order for these things: then there was no small grieve throughout the whole citie.

15 For the Priests fell downe before y<sup>e</sup> altar in the Priests garments, & called vnto heauen vpon him, which had made a Law concerning things giuen to be kept, that they should bee safely preserved for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their hearts for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorow of his mind.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare & trembling of the body, that it was manifest to the that looked vpon him, what sorow he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common praiser because the place was like to come vnto contempne.

19 And the women girt with sackcloth vnder their breasts, filled the streets, and the virgins that were kept in, ran some to the gates, and some to the wals, and others looked out at the windowes.

20 And al held vp their hands toward heauen, and make prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sorts, and the expectation of the hie Priest being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almighty Lord, that hee would keepe safe and sure the things, which were laide vp for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheless the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did he performe.

24 And as he and his souldiers were now there present by the treasure, he that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fel into feare, and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly barbed, and he ran fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his foote, and it seemed that he that fate vpon the horse, had harnesse of gold.

26 Moreover, there appeared two young men, notable in strength, excellent in beautie, and comely in apparell, which stood by him on either side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fel suddenly vnto y<sup>e</sup> ground, and was couered with great darknes: but they that were with him, took him vp, & put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great company, and many souldiers into the said treasure, was borne out: for hee could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did know the power of God manifestly, but hee was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they praised the Lord that had honoured his own place: for the Temple which a litle afore was full of feare & trouble, when the almighty Lord appeared, was filled with ioy & gladnes.

31 Then straightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that he would call vpon the most High to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the hie Priest, considering that the king might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some euil, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Nowe when the hie Priest had made his prayer, the same yong men in the same clothing appeared & stood before Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias the hie Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord granted thee thy life:

34 And seeing that thou hast bene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mightie power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him, which had granted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the king.

36 Then testified he vnto euery man of y<sup>e</sup> great works of God that he had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the king asked Heliodorus, who were meete to bee sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he sayd, 38 If thou hast anyemie or traitour, send him thither, and thou shalt receiue him well scourged if he escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a speciall power of God.

39 For hee that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and he beatech and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasure.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Jason obtineth the office of the high Priest by corrupting the king. 27 And was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias is slaine traitorously by Antiochus.

THis Simon now, of whom we spake afore, being a bewrayer of the money and of his own natural coustrey, reported euill of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the iuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was he bold to call him traitour that was so beneficiall to the citie, & a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that through one that belonged to Simon, murders were were commended.

4 Onias considering the danger of his contention, and that Apollonius, as hee that was the gouernour of Ctesolofyria and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 Hee went to the king not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both priuately and publikely.

6 For hee saw it was not possible except the king tooke order, to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leane off his folly.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Iafon the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull meanes to be hie Priest.

8 For he came vnto the King, and promised him three hundredth and threescore talents of filuer, and of another rent, fourescore talents.

9 Besides this, hee promised him an hundredth and fifty, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, & that they would name them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

10 The which thing when the king had granted, and he had gotten the superiority, hee began immediately to draw his kinmen to the customes of the Gentiles, 11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the Kings, that the Iewes had set vp by Iohn, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their Lawes and polices, and brought vp new statutes, and contrary to the Law.

12 For he presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare hattes.

13 So there began a great desire to follow the manners of the Gentiles, and they tooke vp the fashions of frange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Iafon, not the hie Priest, but the vngodly person, 14 So that the Priests were now no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expenses at the play after the casting of the stone.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glorie of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason wherof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to bee their enemies and punishers, whose custom they folowed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

18 ¶ Now when the games that were vsed euerie five yeere, were played at Tyrus, the king being present,

19 This wicked Iafon sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon the, as though they had bin Antiochians, which brought three hundredth drachmes of filuer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caried them, desired they might not bee bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So he that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were given to the making of gallies.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of king Ptolemus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceived that he was enil affectioned toward his affaires, he sought his owne assurance, & departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Ierusalem, 22 Where he was honourably receiued of Iafon, and of the citie, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great showtings, and so hee went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yeere afterward Iafon sent Menelaus, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the king, and to bring to passe certaine necessarie affaires, whereof hee had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he, being commended to the king, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for he gaue three hundredth talents of filuer more then Iafon.

25 So he gaue the kings letters patents, albeit hee had nothing in himselfe worthie of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

26 Then Iafon, which had deceiued his owne brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the cuntry of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gaue the dominion: but as for the money that he had promised vnto the king, he tooke none order for it, albeit Softratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the king.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lyfimachus in his stead in the Priesthood, and Softratus left Crates which was gouernour of the Cyprians.

30 ¶ Whiles these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallot made an insurrection, because they were giuen to the kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the king in all haste to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus a man of authoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus supposing that he had gotten a conuenient time, stole certain vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some hee sold at Tyrus and in the citie thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, he reprocured him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuary at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when he came to Onias, hee counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hand with an othe: (howbeit he suspect him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so he slew him incontinently without any regard of righteousness.

35 For the which cause not only the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieved, and tooke it heauily for the vnrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the king was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the citie, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorry in his mind, and hee had compassion, and wept because of the modesty & great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, hee took away Andronicus garment of purple, & rent his clothes, & comanded him to be led thoroughout the citie, and in the same place where hee had committed

¶ Or, that hee would write to the Antiochians that were at Ierusalem among them.

¶ Or, buskins in token of wantonnesse as the Gentiles did.

¶ This game was to trie strength by casting a stone that had an hole in the mids, or a piece of metall.

¶ Or, Olympian games, which were games kept euerie fifth yeere.

¶ Or, commendments.

committed the wickednes against Onias, he was slaine as a murderer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserved.

39 ¶ Now when Lyfimachus had done many wicked deedes in the citie through the counsell of Menelaus, & the bruit was spread abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lyfimachus: for he had caried out now much vessell of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lyfimachus armed about three thousand, and began to vse vnlawful power, a certain tyrant being their capitaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they vnderstoode the purpose of Lyfimachus, some gate stons, some great clubs, and some cast handfulls of dust, which lay by, vpon Lyfimachus men, and those that invaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himself they killed besides the treasure.

43 For these causes an accusation was layde against Menelaus.

44 And when the king came to Tyrus, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus being now conuined, promised to Ptolemeus the somme of Dorimenes much money if he would perswade the King.

46 So Ptolemeus went to the king into a court, whereas he was to coole himselfe, and turned the Kings minde.

47 In so much that hee discharged Menelaus from the accusation (notwithstanding he was the cause of all mischief) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Scythians, they should haue bene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they soone punished vniustly, which followed vpon the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickednesse, and ministred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so through the conetousnesse of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authoritie, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

¶ Of the signes and tokens seene in Ierusalem. 6 Of the end and wickednesse of Iason. 11 The pursuit of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spoiling of the Temple. 27 Maccabeus fleeth into the wilderness.

About the same time Antiochus vndertookey his second voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there seene throughout al the citie of Ierusalem, fourtie dayes long, horsemen running in the ayre, with robes of golde, and as bands of speare men,

3 And as troupes of horsemen set in aray, encountering and coursing one against another with shaking of shields & multitude of darts, and drawing of swords, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour seene, and harnessse of all sorts.

4 Therefore euery man prayed that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, & came suddenly vpon the citie, & they that were vpon the wals, being put backe, and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the castel, but Iason slew his owne citizens without mercy, not considering that to haue the aduantage against his kinsmen is greatest disadvantage, but thought that hee had gotten the victory of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet hee gate not the superiority, but at the last received shame for the reward of his treason, and went againe like a vagabond into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this ende of his wicked conuersation, that hee was accused before Areta the King of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie, being pursued of euery man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination, as an enemy of his countrey and citizens, & was driuen into Egypt.

9 Thus he that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.

10 And hee that had cast many out vnburied, was throwen out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 ¶ Nowe when these things that were done, were declared to the King, he thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore hee came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.

12 He commanded his men of warre also, that they should kil, and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses.

13 Thus was there a slaughter of yong men, and olde men, and a destruction of men and women and children, and virgines, and infants were murdered:

14 So that within threedayes were slaine fourescore thousand, and fourtie thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many sold as were slaine.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durst go into the most holy Temple of al the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the Lawes, and to his owne countrey, to be his guide,

16 And with his wicked hands tooke the holy vessels, which other Kings had giuen for the garnishing, glory and honor of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So haucie in his minde was Antiochus, that he considered not, that God was not a litle wroth for the finnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not bene wrapped in many finnes, he, as soone as hee had come, had suddenly bene punished, and put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the King sent to view the treasure.

19 But God hath not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it bee partaker of the benefites of the Lord, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty, so when the great Lorde shalbe reconciled, it shalbe set vp in great worship againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eighteene hundred talents out of the Temple, hee gate him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men saile vpon the dry land, and to walke vpon the sea: such an hie minde had he.

22 But he left deputies to vex the people at Ierusalem:

Or, thus.

rusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in maners more cruell then he that set him there:

23 And at Garizin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more grievous vnto the citizens then the other, and was despitefull against the Iewes his citizens.

24 He sent also Apollonius a cruel prince with an armie of two and twenty thousand, whom he commanded to slay those that were toward mans age, and to sell the women and the yonger sort.

25 So when he came to Ierusalem, hee fained peace, and kept him still vnto the holy day of Sabbath: & then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, he commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slew al them that were gone forth to the shew, and running through the city with his men armed, he murdered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus being as it were the tenth, fled into the wildernes, & liued there in the mountaines with his company among the beasts, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, least they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the Law of God. 4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 18 The grieuous paine of Eleazar.

10r, Antiochia.

Not long after this, sent the King an olde man of Athens, for to compell the Iewes to transgresse the lawes of the fathers, and not to be gouerned by the Law of God,

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, and that of Garizin, according as they did shat dwelt at that place, Iupiter that keepeth hospitalitye.

3 This wicked gouernment was fore and grievous vnto the people.

4 For the Temple was full of dissolution, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, & had to doe with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was ful of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the Law.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keep the Sabbaths, nor to obserue the ancient feastes, nor plainely to confesse himselfe to be a Iew.

7 In the day of the kings birth they were grievously compelled perforce euery moneth to banquet, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of yuie.

8 Moreover through the counsel of Ptolemus, there went out a commandement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like custome, and banquetting should be kept.

9 And who so would not conforme themselves to the maners of the Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present misery.

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcised their sounes, who when they had led round about the citie (the babes hanging at their breastes) they cast them downe headlong ouer the walles.

11 Some that were runne together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discovered vnto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day, they were afraid to helpe themselves.

12 Now I beseech those which read this book, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, 10r, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed.

but that they iudge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnes not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whom he punisheth when they are come to the fulnes of their sinnes.

15 But thus he dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not be heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercy from vs: and though he punish with aduersitie, yet doeth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this hee spoken now for a warning vnto vs, and now wil we come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 Eleazar then one of the principall scribes, an aged man, and of a well fauoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But he desiring rather to die gloriously then to liue with hatred, offered himself willingly to the torment, and spit it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banquet, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him, that hee would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as hee would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the king, euen the flesh of the sacrifice.

22 That in so doing he might be deliuered from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, he would receiue this fauour.

23 But he began to consider discretely, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeres, and the honour of his gray haire, wherunto hee was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childhood, but chiefly the holy Lawe made and giuen by God: therefore hee answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becometh not our age, said he, to dissemble, whereby many yong persons might thinke, that Eleazar being fourescore yere old and ten were now gone to another religion.

25 And so through mine hypocisie (for a little time of a transitorie life) they might be deceived by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine old age.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither aline nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, and will shewe my selfe such as mine age requireth.

28 And so wil leaue a notable example for such as be yong, to die willingly & courageously for the honorable and holy Lawes. And when he had said these words, immediately he went to torment.

29 Nowe they that led him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the words that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as hee was ready to giue the ghost because of the strokes, he sighed, and sayd, The Lord that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that wheras I might haue bene deliuered from death, 10r, so another manner of life.

death, I am scourged, & suffer these fore paines of my body: but in my mind I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this maner ended he his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memoriall of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seven brethren and of their mother

1 T came to passe also, that seven brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the king, against the law, to taste swines flesh, & were tormented with scourges and whips.

2 But one of them which spake first, said thus, What seekest thou? & what wouldest thou know of vs? we are readie to die, rather then to transgresse the lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the king angry, and commanded to heat pannes and caldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he commanded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to slay him, & to cut off the vtmost parts of his body in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Now when he was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to be brought aliuie to the fire, & to frie him in the pan: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the pan, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to die courageously, saying in this maner,

6 The Lord God doth regard vs, and in deed taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses declared in the song wherin he testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this maner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: & when they had pulled the skinne with the haire ouer his head, they asked him, if he would eate, or he were punished in all the members of his body.

8 But he answered in his owne language, and said, No. Wherefore he was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when he was at the last breth, he said, Thou murderer takest this present life from vs, but the king of the world wil raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 ¶ After him was the third had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, hee put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his hands boldly.

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Insomuch that the king and they which were with him, marvelled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Now when he was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like maner.

14 And when he was now ready to die, he said thus, It is better y wee should change this which we might hope for of men, and wait for our hope fro God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterward they brought the fifth also, and tormented him.

16 Who looked vpon the king, and said, Thou hast power among men, and though thou bee a mortall man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, & thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy seede.

18 After him also they brought the sixth, who being at the point of death, said, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondred at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt be vnpunished.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue all other, and worthy of honourable memorie: for when shee saw her seven sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Yea, she exhorted every one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and wisdom, stirred vp her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and sayd vnto them,

22 I cannot tel how ye came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body,

23 But doubtlesse the Creatour of the world, which formed the birth of man, & found out the beginning of all things, wil also of his own mercy giue you breath and life againe, as ye now regard not your owne felues, for his Lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious wordes, while the yongest was yet aliuie, he did exhort him not onely with wordes, but swore also vnto him by an oth, y he would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forsake the lawes of his fathers, and that he would take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the king called his mother, and exhorted that she would counsel the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with many wordes, she promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

27 So shee turned her vnto him, laughing the cruel tyrant to scorne, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue pitie vpon me, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankind made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shew thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in merrey with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these wordes, the yong man said, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the kings commandement: but I will obey the commandement of the Lawe that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

31 And thou that imaginest all mischief against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For wee suffer these things, because of our finnes,

33 But though the liuing Lord be angry with vs a litle while for our chastening and correction, yet will he be reconciled with his owne seruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion & most wicked of all men, list not thy selfe vp in vaine, which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, and liftest thine hands against the seruants of God.

35 For

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a litle paine, are now vnder the diuine couenant of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body and life for the lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he wil soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that he is the onely God, 38 And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grieuously that he was mocked.

40 So hee also died holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all, after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now be enough spoken concerning the bankets and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hosts. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his souldiers to constancy. 20 Nicanor is ouercome. 27 The Iewes giue thanks, after they haue put their enemies to flight, diuiding part of the spoiles vnto the fatherlesse, and vnto the widower. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor flieth vnto Antiochus.

Then Iudas Maccabeus, & they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinsfolks & friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion, and assembled fixe thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that he would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pittie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,

3 And that hee would haue compassion vpon the city that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voice of the blood that cryed vnto him,

4 And that hee would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, & the blasphemies committed against his name, and that hee would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned vnto mercy.

6 Therefore he came at vnwares, & burnt vp the townes & cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially hee vsed the nights to make such assaults, insomuch that the bruit of his manlinesse was spread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philip saw that this man increased by litle and litle, and that things prospered with him for the most part, he wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Cælosyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the kings businesse.

9 Then sent he speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twentie thousand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the king, of two thousand talents, which the Romans should haue, to be taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking the to buy Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell fourescore and ten for one talent: but he considered not y vengeance of almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knew of Nicanors coming, hee tolde them that were with him, of the comming of the armie.

13 Now were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousness of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other sold all that they had left, and besought the Lord together, to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had folde them, or euer he came nere them.

15 And though he would not doe it for their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and gloriou Name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about fixe thousand, exhorting them not to be afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the iniury that they had vniuently done to the holy place, & the cruelty done to the citie by derision, & the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they, said he, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a beck can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreouer he admonished them of the help that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundred and fourescore and siue thousand vnder Senacherib, 20 And of the battel that they had in Babylon against the Galathians, how they came in al to the battel eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were astonished, the eight thousand slew an hundred & twenty thousand through the help that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had receaued many benefits.

21 Thus when hee had made them bolde with these words, and ready to die for the lawes & the countrey, he deuised his army into foure parts, 22 And made his owne brethren captains ouer the army, to wit, Simon, and Ioseph, and Ionathan, giuing ech one fifteene hundred men.

23 And when Eleazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the foreward, ioyned with Nicanor.

24 And because the Almighty helped them, they slew aboue nine thousand men, and wounded and maimed the most part of Nicanors host, and so put all to flight, 25 And tooke the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoiled the enemies, and kept the Sabbath, giuing thanks, and praising the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercy.

28 And after the Sabbath, they distributed the spoiles spoiles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, & diuided the residue among themselves and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the merciful Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward, with one consent they fell vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and slew about twenty thousand, and wan his strong holds, and diuided great spoiles, and gaue an equal portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Moreover, they gathered their weapons together, & layed them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoiles to Ierusalem.

32 They slewe also Philarches a most wicked person, which was with Timotheus, & had vexed the Iewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feast of Victory in their countrey, they burnt Calisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a little house: so he receiued a reward meete for his wickednesse.

34 And that most wicked Nicanor, which had brought a thousand merchants to buy the Iewes, 35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lorde brought downe of them whom hee thought nothing, inso much that he put off his glorious raiment, and fled ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his hoste.

36 Thus he that promised to pay tribute to the Romans, by meanes of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a defender, & for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to spoile Persopolis, is put to flight. 5 As he persecuteth the Iewes, he is stricken of the Lord. 13 The feared repentance of Antiochus. 18 He dieth miserably.

At the same time came Antiochus againe with dishonour out of the countrey of Persia.

2 For when he came to Persopolis, and went about to rob the Temple, and to subdue the citie, the people ran in a rage to defend themselves with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he vnderstood the things that had come to Nicanor, and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume hee thought to impute to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his charret man to driue continually, & to dispatch the iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had said thus in his pride, I will make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, whē I come thither.

5 But the Lord almighty, and God of Israel, smote him with an incurable and inuisible plague: for as soone as he had spoken these words, a paine of the bowels, that was remediless, came vpon him, and fore torments of the inner parts,

6 And that most iustly: for he had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit he would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breaking out fire in his rage against the Iewes, and commanded to haste the iourney: but it came to passe that he fell downe from the charret that ran swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus hee that a litle afore thought hee might command the floods of the sea (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) & to weigh the high mountaines in the ballance, was now cast on the ground, and caried in an horseritter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God.

9 So that the wormes came out of the body of this wicked man in abundance: and whiles he was aliue, his flesh fell off for paine and torment, and all his army was grieved at his smell.

10 Thus no man could beare, because of his stinke; him that a litle afore thought he might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then he began to leaue off his great pride, and selfe-will, when he was plagued and came to the knowledge of himself by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when he himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, he sayd these words, It is meet to be subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortal, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lord, who would now haue no mercy on him, 14 And sayd thus, that he would set at liberty the holy city vnto the which he made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whom he had iudged not worthy to be buried, but would haue cast them out with their children to be deuoured of the fowles and wild beasts) hee would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And whereas hee had spoyled the holy Temple afore, he would garnish it with great gifts, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that he would also become a Iew himselfe, and goe thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health, he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder written, containing the forme of a supplication.

19 ¶ THE KING and Prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens wisheth much ioy, and health, and prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things goe after your mind, I giue great thanks vnto God, hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lie sick, yet I am mindful of your honour, and good will, for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Persia, and fell into a fore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safety of all,

22 Not distrusting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sicknesse.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the hie countreys, he appointed who should succeed him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tidings were brought that were grievous, they in the land might know to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Againe.

25 Again, when I ponder how that the gouernours that are borderers, and neighbours vnto my kingdome, wait for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, Thane ordeined that my sonne Antiochus shall be king; whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the high prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore I pray you, and require you to remember the benefits that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that every man will be faithfull vnto me and to my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle, & louing vnto you according vnto my mind.

28 ¶ Thus the murderers and blasphemers suffered most grievously, and as he had increased o-ther men, so he died a miserable death in a strange country among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, caried away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Judas Maccabeus taketh the cite and the temple. 10 The acts of Eupator. 16 The Iewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus invadeth Iudea, with whom Judas someth battell. 26 Five men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine.

Maccabeus now and his company, through the helpe of the Lord, wan the temple and the city againe,

2 And destroyed the altars, and chappels, that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And censed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense, two yeeres and sixe moneths after, and set forth the lamps, and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, & besought the Lord that they might come no more into such troubles, but if they finned any more against him, that he himselfe would chasten them with mercie, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemous and barbarous nations.

5 Now vpon the same day that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was censed againe, euen the five and twentie day of the same moneth, which is Chasseu.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnes as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembering, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and dennes like beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery yeere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus, called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Now wil we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the wars that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdome, he made one Lyfias, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phenice, and Caelosyria, ruler over the affaires of the realme.

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron purposed to doe iustice vnto the Iewes, for the wrong that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause he was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitor, because he had left Cyprus, that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that he was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poisoned himselfe, and died.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, he entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Iewes.

15 Moreouer, the Idumeans that helde the strong holds, which were meet for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by recenning them that were driuen from Ierusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus made prayers, and besought God that he would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them sore, that they wan the places, and slewe all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and slew no lesse then twenty thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castles, hauing all manner of things conuenient to sustaine the siege, 19 Maccabeus left Simon, & Ioseph, and Zachheus also, and those that were with them, which were enow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessary.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnesse, were intreated for money (through certaine of those that were in the castle) and tooke seueenty thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, he called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men that they had sold their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he slew them when they were couit of treason, and immediately wan the two castles:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the wars that he tooke in hand, he slew in the two castles moe then twenty thousand.

24 Now Timotheus whom the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered an army of strangers of all sorts, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to win Iury by strength.

25 But when he drew neere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth.

26 And fel downe at the foot of the altar, and besought the Lord to be mercifull vnto them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and to be an aduersary to their aduersaries, * as the Law declar-eth.

27 So after the prayer, they tooke their weapons, & went on further from their city, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke heede to themselves.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victory, victory, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauē fine comely men vpon horses with bridles of gold, and two of them led the Iewes.

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and conered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darts, and lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindness, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of foote men twentie thousand and five hundred, and sixe hundred horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, hee fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong holde, wherein Chereas was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his company laid siege against y<sup>e</sup> fortresses with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible words.

35 Neuertheless vpon the || fifth day in the morning, twentie yong men of Maccabeus company, whose hearts were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wall, and with bolde stomacks smote downe those that they met.

36 Others also that climed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, set fire vpon the towers, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and received the rest of the army, and tooke the citie.

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Chereas his brother with Apolophanes.

38 When this was done, they praised the Lord with Psalmes, and thanksgiving, which had done so great things for Israel, and giuen them the victory.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lysias goeth about to overcome the Iewes. 8 Succour is sent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lysias vnto the Iewes. 20 The letter of King Antiochus vnto Lysias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romans to the Iewes.

Very shortly after this, Lysias the kings steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke sore displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the horsemen, he came against the Iewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple would he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for he would sell the Priests office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, & in his fourescore elephants,

5 He came into Iudea, & drew neere to Bethsura, which was a castle of defence, five furlongs from Ierusalem, and layd fore siege vnto it.

6 But when Maccabeus, and his company knew that he besieged the holds, they, and all the people made prayers with weeping, and teares before the Lord, that he would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would iopard themselves together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a couragious minde.

8 And as they were there besides Ierusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white clothing, shaking his hartesse of golde.

9 Then they praised the mercifull God: all together, and tooke heart, in so much that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruell beasts, & to breake downe walles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was mercifull vnto them, 11 And running vpon their enemies like lions, they slew eleuen thousand footemen, and sixeteene hundred horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, and Lysias himselfe fled away shamefully, and so escaped.

13 Who as he was a man of vnderstanding, considering what losse he had had, and knowing, that the Hebrues could not be overcome, because the Almighty God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised, that hee would content to all things which were reasonable, and perswade the King to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lysias requests, hauing respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoever Maccabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Iewes, the King granted it.

16 For there were letters writen vnto the Iewes from Lysias containing these woordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greeting,

17 Iohn and || Abesalotn, which were sent from you, deliuered mee the things that you demaund by writing, and required mee to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meete to be reported to the King himselfe, I haue declared, and he granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if ye behaue your selues as friends toward his affaires, hereafter also I will endeavour my selfe to doe you good.

20 A concerning these things, I haue giuen commandement to these men, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare you well, the hundredth and eight and fourtie yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

22 ¶ Now the Kings letters contained these words, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated vnto y<sup>e</sup> gods, our wil is, that they which are in our Realme, liue quietly, that euery mā may apply his own affaires.

24 Wee vnderstand also that the Iewes would not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that wee would suffer them to liue after their owne Lawes:

25 Wherefore our minde is: that this nation shall bee in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to send vnto them & grant them peace, that when they are certified did of our mind, they may be of good comfort, and cheerfully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the Kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, And to the rest of the Iewes, Gndeth greeting.

28 If ye fare well, we haue our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs, that your desire was to returne home, and to apply your owne businesse.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, we giue them frelibertie, vnto the thirte day of the moneth of || Panthicus,

31 That the Iewes may vse their owne maner of liuing and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any maner of wayes to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare yee well: the hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romanes also sent a letter containing these wordes, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and Titus || Manilius ambassadours of the Romanes, vnto the people of the Iewes send greeting.

35 The things that Lysias the Kings kinsman hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which he shall report vnto the King, send hither some with speed, when ye haue considered the matter diligently, that we may consult thereupon as shall be best for you: for we must goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and send some men that we may know your minde.

38 Farewell: this hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, and fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

1 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 2 The wicked deeds of Iohn of Toppe against the Iewes. 3 Indus is awayed of them. 4 He setteth fire in the haue of Iamnia. 5 The pursuie of the Iewes against Timotheus. 6 Timotheus is taken and let goe unhurt. 7 Indus pursueth Gorgias.

When those couenants were made, Lysias went vnto the King, and the Iewes tilled their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus and Apollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Ieronimus, and also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wiues and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduise of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspect nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then two hundreth of them.

5 Now when Iudas knew of this cruelty shewed against his nation, hee commanded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, he went soorth against the murderers of his brethren, and set fire in the haue by night, and burnt the ships, and those that fled thence, he slew.

7 And when the city was shut vp, he departed as though hee would come againe, and roote out all them out of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when he perceived that the Iammites were minded to do in like maner vnto the Iewes, which dwelt among them,

9 He came vpon the Iammites by night, and set fire in the haue with the nauie, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundreth and fourtie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iourney toward Timotheus, about five thousand men of foote and five hundreth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas through the helpe of God: the || Nomades of Arabia being ouercome, besought Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certaine cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

12 And Iudas thinking that they should in deed be profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon they shooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas also assaulted a city called Caspis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kindes of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in store of vittails, that they were the slacker in their doings, reuiling them that were with Iudas, and reproching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such wordes as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeu souldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which without any || instruments, or engins of warre, did cast downe the walles of Iericho, in the time of Iesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles,

16 And tooke the city by the wil of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, insomuch that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flow with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seuen hundreth and fiftie furlong, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes that are called Tubieni.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for hee was departed from thence and had done nothing, and had left a garison in a very strong hold.

19 But Dositheus, and Sosipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forth, and slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortresse, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, and ranged his armie by bandes, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundreth and twenty thousand men of foot, and two thousand and five hundreth horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas comming, hee sent the women and children, and the other baggage afore vnto a fortresse called Carnion (for it was hard to besiege, and vncasie to come vnto because of the straites on all sides.)

22 But when Iudas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, and a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things, insomuch that they fleeing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne swords.

23 But Iudas was very earnest in pursuing, and slew flew those wicked men : yea, he flew thirty thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the hands of Dosithæus, and Sosipater, whom hee befought with much craft to let him goe with his life, because hee had many of the Iewes parents and the brethren of some of them, which, if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when hee had assured them with many wordes, and promised that he would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus toward Carnion, and Atargation, and flew five & twenty thousand persons.

27 And after that hee had chased away and slaine them, Iudas remoued the hoste toward Ephrona strong citie, wherein was Lysias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong yong men kept the walles defending them mightily: there was also great preperation of engines of war, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lorde, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slewe five and twentie thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis which lyeth sixe hundred furlongs from Ierusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified, that the Scythopolitans dealt louingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie, 31 They gaue them thanks, desiring them to be friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Ierusalem, as the feast of the weekes approched.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea :

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foote and foure hundred horsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a fewe of the Iewes were slaine, 35 And Dosithæus one of the Baccenors, which was on horsebacke and a mighty man, tooke Gorgias, and layd hold of his garment, and drew him by force, because he would haue taken the wicked man aliue: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Marisa.

36 And when they that were with Eserim, had foughten long, and were weary, Iudas called vpon the Lorde, that he would shew himselfe to be their helper, and captaine of the field.

37 And then he began in his owne language, and sung Psalmes with a loude voyce, in so much that straightwaies he made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the seventh day came, they cleaued themselves (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessitie required, Iudas and his companie came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to bury them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Nowe vnder the coates of euery one, that was slaine, they found iewels that had bene consecrate to the idoles of the Iammites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Lawe. Then euery man sawe, that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

41 And so euery man gaue thanks vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And they gaue themselves to praier, and befought him, that they should not vterly bee destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that, noble Iudas exhorted the people to keepe themselves from sinne, for so much as they sawe before their eyes the things which came to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine, 43 And hauing made a gathering through the company, sent to Ierusalem about two thousand drachines of siluer, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well, and honestly, that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if hee had not hoped, that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had bene superfluous, and vaine, to pray for the dead.

45 And therefore he perceived, that there was great fauour layd vp for those that died godly. (It was an holy, and a good thought.) So he made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might bee deliuered from sinne.

owne infirmitie, desirith pardon, if he haue not attained to that he should. And it seemeth that this Iudas the Cyrenian, out of whom hee took this abridgement, is Iosaph Ben Gorion, who hath written in Hebrew five booke of these matters, and increasing this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, Lib. 3. chap. 19. for it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes, even to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporah was so proued that women might minister the Sacrament, Exod. 4. 25. or the example of Razai that one might kill himselfe, when this author so much commendeth, Chap. 14. 4. 1.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The coming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator moueth his souldiers vnto prayer. 15 Hee killeth fourtenc thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodochus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

1 N the hundredth fourty and nine yere it was told Iudas, that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Iudea,

2 And Lysias the steward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundredth and ten thousand men of foote of the Grecians, and five thousand horsemen, and two and twentie Elephants, and three hundred charets set with hookes.

3 Menelaus also ioined himself with them, and with great deceite encouraged Antiochus, not for the safegarde of the countrey, but because hee thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of Kings moued Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Lysias informed the King that this man was the cause of all mischief, so that the King commaunded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death, as the manner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a tower of fifty cubits high, ful of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned round, and on euery side it rowled downe into the ashes :

6 And there whosoever was condemned offsceriledge, or of any other grieuous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Menelaus should want buriall.

8 For because he had committed many finnes by the altar, whose fire and ashes were holy: hee himselfe also died in the ashes.

9 ¶ Nowe the King raged in his minde, and came

From this verse to the ende of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certaine doctrine can be gathered thereby. came to show himselfe more cruell vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, hee commaunded the people to call vpon the Lorde night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, he would now helpe them, when they should bee put from their Law, from their countrey, and from the holy Temple.

11 And that hee would not suffer the people, which a litle afore began to reconer, to be blubdred vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this altogether, and besought the Lord for mercie with weeping, and fasting, and falling downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themselves ready.

13 And hee being apart with the Elders, tooke counsell to goe forth, afore the King brought his host into Iudea, and should take the city, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lorde of the world, he exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the cite, their countrey, and the common wealch, and camped by Modin.

15 And to giuing his souldiers for a watchword, The victory of God, hee picked out the manliest yong men, & went by night into the kings campe, and slew of the host fourteene thousand men, and the greatest Elephant with all that sate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble in the camp, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 Now when the King had tasted the manlinesse of the Iewes, hee went about to take the holdes by policie, 19 And marched toward Beth-sura, which was a strong hold of the Iewes: but hee was chafed away, hurt, and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessary.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes host, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore he was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the king commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and took truce with them, departed, and ioyned battel with Iudas, who ouercame him.

23 But when he vnderstood that Philip (whom he had left to be ouerseer of his businesse at Antiochia) did rebel against him, he was astonished, so that hee yeelded himselfe to the Iewes, and made them an oath to doe all things that were right, and was appeased toward them, and offered sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentleness to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.

25 Neuerthelesse, when he came to Ptolemais, the people of the cite were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieved, they would that he should breake the covenants.

26 Then went Lyfias vp into the iudgment seat, and excused the fact as well as he could, and perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe to Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings iourney, and his returne.

1 Demetrius moued by Alcimus, sent Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 2 Nicanor maketh a campe with the Iewes. 3 Which he yet breaketh through the motion of the King. 4 Nicanor commaundeth Reza to be taken, who slayeth himselfe.

After three yeeres was Iudas informed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and manie by the hauen of Tripolis.

2 When he had wonne the countrey, and slaine Antiochus and his Lieutenant Lyfias.

3 Now Alcimus which had bene the hie Priest, and wilfully defiled himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes hee could saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar.

4 He came to king Demetrius in the hundreth fiftie and one yere, presenting vnto him a crowne of golde, and a Palme, and of the boughes, which were vsed solemnly in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when hee had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what deuises or counsels the Iewes leane vnto.

6 To the which he answered, The Iewes that becalled Asideans, whose captaine is Iudas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the Realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the high Priesthood) am nowe come hither.

8 Partly, because I was well affectioned vnto the Kings affaires, and secondly, because I sought the profite of mine owne citizens: for all our people through their rashnesse, are not a litle troubled.

9 Wherefore, O King, seeing thou knowest all these things, make prouision for the countrey, and our nation which is abused, according to thine owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When hee had spoken these wordes, other friends also hauing euill will at Iudas, set Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediatly called for Nicanor the ruler of the Elephants, and made him captaine ouer Iudea, 13 And sent him forth, commanding him to slay Iudas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus high Priest of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fled out of Iudea from Iudas, came to Nicanor by flockes, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Nowe when the Iewes heard of Nicanors coming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselves with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appointed himselfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defend his owne position with euident tokens.

16 So at the commaundement of the captaine, they remooued straightwayes from thence, and came came to the towne of Desan, 17 Where Simon Iudas brother had ioyned battel with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Neuertheles Nicanor hearing the manlines of them that were with Iudas, and the boldest strokes that they had for their countrey, durst not proue prone the matter with bloodshedding.

19 Wherefore he sent Pefidonius, || Theodosius, and || Matthias before, to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long aduifement thereupon, and the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one mind, and confented to the couenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they set for euery man his stoole.

22 Neuerthelesse, Iudas commanded certaine men of armes to wait in conuenient places, lest there should suddenly arise any euill through the enemies: and so they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

24 He || loued Iudas, and fauoured him in his heart.

25 He prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so he married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betwixt them, and vnderstanding the couenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and told him that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hand, and ordeined Iudas, a traitour to the realme, to be his successour.

27 Then the king was displeased, & by the reports of this wicked man, he wrote to Nicanor, saying, that he was very angy for the couenants, commanding him that he should send Maccabeus in all haste prisoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When these things came to Nicanor, he was astonished and foregrieved, that he should breake the things wherein they had agreed, seeing that that man had committed no wickednesse.

29 But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the king, he sought craftily to accomplish it.

30 Notwithstanding, when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor began to be rough vnto him, & that he intreated him more rudely then hee was woont, he perceiued that such rigour came not of good, & therefore he gathered a few of his men, and withdrew him selfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that hee was pre-uented by Maccabeus worthy policy, came into the great and holy Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offering their vsuall sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they sware that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought,

33 Hee stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an oth in this manner, If ye wil not deliuer me Iudas as a prisoner, I wil make this Temple of God a plaine field, and will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these wordes he departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this maner,

35 Thou, O Lorde of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stop all the mouthes of the vnihteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a loue of the city, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

38 For this man aforesayd, when the Iewes were minded to keepe themselves vndefiled and pure, being accused to bee of the religion of the Iewes, did offer to spend his body and life, with all constancy, for the religion of the Iewes.

39 So Nicanor, willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Iewes, sent about fise hundred men of warre to take him.

40 For he thought by taking him, to doe the Iewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his castle, and would haue broken the gates by violence, and commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was ready to be taken on eu-ery side, he || fell on his sword,

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselke into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthy for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding, what time as he missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently between the doores, he ran boldly to the wal, and cast himselke downe manfully among the multitude,

44 Which conueyed themselues lightly away, and gaue place, so that he fell vpon his belly.

45 Neuerthelesse, while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, hee rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very fore wounded, yet he ran thorow the midst of the people,

46 And gate him to the top of an high rocke:
so when his blood was vtterly gone, he tooke out his owne bowels with both his hands, and threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lorde of life and spirit, that he would restore them againe vnto him: and thus he dyed.

hands to bee cut off, and his tongue to bee giuen vnto the foules 39 The author excuseth himselfe.

NOW when Nicanor knew that Iudas and his company were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come vpon them,
vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuerthelesse, the Iewes that were compelled to goe with him, said, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day, that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demanded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they said, There is a liuing Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seuenth day to be kept,

5 Then he sayd, And I am mighty vpon earth to command them for to arme themselves, and to performe the kings businesse. Notwithstanding, he could not accomplish his wicked enterprife.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, pur-posed to set vp a memoriall of the victory obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had euer sure confidence and a perfect hope that the Lord would help him,

8 And exhorted his people not to be afraid at the comming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to trust nowe also, that they should haue the victorie by the Almightye.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the Law and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had woonne afore, and so made them more willing,

10 And stirred vp their hearts, & shewed them also the deceitfulness of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus he armed euery one of them, not with the assurance of shields and speares, but with wholesome words and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthy to be beleened, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And this was his vision. He thought that he sawe Onias (which had bene the hie Priest, a vertuous and agood man, reuerent in behaviour, and of sober conuersation, wellspoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of godlinesse from a child) holding vp his hands towards heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie aboue him.

14 And Onias spake, & saide, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy city, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.

15 He thought also that Ieremias held out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a sword of gold: and as he gaue it he spake thus,

16 Take this holy sword, a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wound the aduersaries.

17 And so being comforted by the wordes of Iudas, which were very sweet & able to stir them vp to valiantnesse, and to encourage the hearts of the yong men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageously to set vpon them, & manfully to assaile them, and to try the matter hand to hand, because the city and the Sanctuary and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues, & children, & brethren and kinsfolks, they set lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Againe, they that were in the city, were careful for the army that was abroad.

20 Now whiles they all waited for the trial of the matter, and the enemies now met with them, and the host was set in aray, and the beasts were separated into conuenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings:

21 Maccabeus considering the comming of the multitude, & the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beasts, held vp his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victory commeth not by the weapons, but that he giueth the victory to them that are worthy, as seemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer hee sayd after this manner, O Lord, thou that didst fend thine Angel in the time of Ezechias king of Iudea, who in the hoste of Sennacherib slew an hundred foure score and fift thousand,

23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, O Lord of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let them be discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these wordes he made an end.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drewe neere, with trumpets and shoutings for ioi.

26 But Iudas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountred with the enemies, 27 So that with their hands they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and slew no lesse then fise and thirtie thousand men: for through the presence of God they were wonderously comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with ioi, they vnderstood that Nicanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shout and a cry, praying the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer the chiefe defender of his citicens both in body and minde, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commanded to smite off Nicanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.

31 And when he came there, he called all them of his nation, and set the Priestes by the altar, and sent for them of the castle, 32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemor, which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almighty with proud brags.

33 He caused the tongue also of wicked Nicanor to be cut in litle pieces, and to be cast vnto the fowles, & that the rewards of his madnesse should be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euery man prayed toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 He hanged also Nicanors head vpon the hie castle, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a common decree, that they would in no case suffer this day, without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feast should be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the cite in possession. And here will I also make an end.

39 If I haue done well, and as the story required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtful to drink wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant, and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the story. And here shalbe the end.

to the diligent Reader.

Eare Christian Reader, to the intent that thou mightest the better enioy the benefit of these notes or expositions vpon the New Testament: I thought it not amisse to declare vnto thee the vse of the same. And first, forasmuch as the quotations or citing of places of the Scriptures in the margent which direct to other places, containing like phrase or sense, haue bene so placed, that none without great labour could finde out the texts alledged, I haue made these fixe seuerall figures or marks, ♦ ♦ * * *, and haue set them atwell in the margent as in the text, so that thou mayest easily finde that which thou desirest. For example, in the first worde of the first Chapter of Matthew is placed this first marke ♦: looke out the like marke in the margent, and there thou shalt finde Luke 3. 23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew: and so likewise thou shalt find in the residue. But if many quotations belong to one place, word, or sentence, the first is onely marked, and those that follow vnmarked, appertaine to the same. And if it fall out that there be more then fixe directions in one columnne, then is the first repeated againe, and the residue following in order as at the beginning: as it appeareth in the first columnne of Matthew, where both in the text and margent also, they are all two times set downe, and the foure first repeated againe.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmeticke, as 1. 2. 3. 4. &c. thorow out the Euangelists and Acts, declare the effect or summe of the doctrine contained betweene one of the sayd figures, and the next that followeth: as for example, from the figure 1. in the first line and first word of Matthew vnto the figure 2. in the 18. vers. of the same Chapter, the doctrine there gathered is set downe in the margent in this sort: 1 Iesus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the stocke of David as God promised. And in the Epistles in like sort they declare the method and arte which the Apostles vse, and how euery argument or reason dependeth one vpon another: these figures are begunne againe at the beginning of euery Chapter.

Lastly, the Notes which goe by order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text, with the like answering vnto them in the margent, serue to expound and lighten the darke wordes and phrases immediatly following them. As in the first line and second worde, the letter, a, being referred vnto a, directly against him in the margent, sheweth that this worde, Booke, signifieth A rehearfall as the Hebrewes vse to speake: as Genes. 5. 1. The booke of the generations. These letters beginne at the beginning of euery Chapter, continuing vnto z. and so beginning againe with a, if there be so many Notes that they doe exceede in number the letters of one Alphabet. This haue I faithfully done for thy commoditie, reape thou the fruit, and giue the prayse to God.

Farewell.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO S. MATTHEW.

CHAP. I.

That Iesus is that Messias, the Saviour, promised to the Fathers, 18 The nativitie of Christ.

He <sup>a</sup> booke of the <sup>b</sup> generation of Iesus Christ the sonne of Dauid, the <sup>c</sup> sonne of Abraham.

2 <sup>a</sup> Abraham begate Isaac. And Isaac begate Jacob. And Jacob begate Iudas and his brethren.

3 <sup>a</sup> And Iudas begate Phares, and Zara of Thamar. And Phares begate Esion. And Esion begate Aram.

4 And Aram begate Aminadab. And Aminadab begate Naasson. And Naasson begate Salmon.

5 And Salmon begate Booz of Rachab. And Booz begate Obed of Ruth. And Obed begate Jesse.

6 And Jesse begate Dauid the King. And Dauid the King begate Solomon of her that was the wife of Vrias.

7 And Solomon begate Roboam. And Roboam begate Abia. And Abia begeth Asa.

8 And Asa begate Iosaphat. And Iosaphat begate Ioram. And Ioram begate Hozias.

9 And Hozias begate Ioatham. And Ioatham begate Achaz. And Achaz begate Ezekias.

10 And Ezekias begate Manasses. And Manasses begate Amon. And Amon begate Iosias.

11 And Iosias begate Iakim. And Iakim begate Iechonias and his brethren about the time they were caried away to Babylon.

12 And after they were caried away into Babylon, Iechonias begate Salathiel. And Salathiel begate Zorobabel.

13 And Zorobabel begate Abiud. And Abiud begate Eliachim. And Eliachim begate Azor.

14 And Azor begate Zadoc. And Zadoc begate Achim. And Achim begate Eliud.

15 And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Iacob.

16 And Iacob begate Ioseph husband of Mary, of whom was borne Iesus, that is called Christ.

17 So <sup>a</sup> all the generations from Abraham to Dauid, are fourteene generations. And from Dauid vntill they were caried away into Babylon, fourteene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon vntill Christ, fourteene generations.

18 Now the birth of Iesus Christ was thus. When as his mother Mary was betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, shee was found with child of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Ioseph her husband being a iust man, and not willing to make her a publicke example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But while he thought these things, behold, the Angel of the Lorde appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph, the sonne of Dauid, feare not to take Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the holy Ghost.

21 And shee shall bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iesus: for hee shall save his people from their finnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lorde, by the Prophet, saying,

23 Behold, a virgine shall be with child, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.

24 Then Ioseph being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lorde had intoynd him, and tooke his wife.

25 But he knew her not, till she had brought forth her first borne sonne, and hee called his name Iesus.

For vnderstand also that a thing should not come to passe in time to come, no children till her death day, 2. Sam. 6. 23. And in the last Chapter of this Gospellist: I am with you till the end of the world.

CHAP. II.

The wise men, who are the first fruits of the Gentiles, worship Christ.
14 Ioseph fleeth into Egypt with Iesus and his mother. 16 Herod sleigheth the children.

When Iesus then was borne at Bethlehem in Iudea, in the dayes of Herod the king, behold, there came Wisemen from the East to Hierusalem,

2 Saying, Where is that King of the Iewes that is borne? for we haue seene his starre in the East, and are come to worship him.

3 When king Herod heard this, he was troubled, and all Hierusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the chief Priestes and Scribes of the people, hee asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 And they sayd vnto him, At Beth-leem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 And thou Beth-leem in the land of Iuda, art not the least among the Princes of Iuda: for out of thee shall come the gouernour that shall feede my people Israel.

7 Then Herod priuily called the Wise men, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

8 And sent them to Beth-leem, saying, Goe, and search diligently for the babe: and when ye haue found him, bring mee word againe, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 So when they had heard the king, they departed: and loe, the starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came and stood ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they saw the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy.

11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Mary his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, of gold, and frankincense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were warned of God in a dreame, that they should not go againe to Herod, they returned into their countrye another way.

For though thou be a small towne, yet shalt thou see very firmans of the birth of the Messias, who shall bee borne in thee. That shall rule and gouerne the Kings: they are fully called feeders and shepherds of the people. A kinde of humble and lowly reuerence. The rich and costly presents, which they brought him. God warned and told them of it, when as they asked it not.

austeritie of life caused all men to cast their eyes vpon him, prepareth the way for Christ following fast on his heeles, as the Prophet Esaie foretold and delivereth the summe of the Gospell, which in short space after should be deliuered more fully.

13 ¶ After their departure beholde, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, laying, Arise, and take the babe & his mother, and flee into Egypt, & be there till I bring thee word:
for Herod will seeke the babe, to destroy him.

14 So he arose and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt.

15 And was there vnto the death of Herod, that that might bee fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, laying, Out of Egypt haue I called my sonne.

16 ¶ Then Herod, seeing that he was mocked of the Wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent foorth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth-leem, and in all the coasts thereof from two yeres old and vnder, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wise men.

17 Then was that fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet Ieremias, saying,

18 ¶ In Rhama was a voyce heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they were not.

19 And when Herod was dead, beholde, an Angel of the Lorde appeareth in a dreame to Io-seph in Egypt,

20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and goe into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babes life.

21 Then hee arose vp, and tooke the babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.

22 But when he heard that Archelaus did reigne in Iudea in stead of his father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dreame, he turned aside into the parts of Galile,

23 And went and dwelt in a citie called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, which was, That hee should be called a Nazarite.

CHAP. III.

1 Iohn preacheth, 4 His apparell and meate, 5 Hee baptizeth 8 The fruites of repentance, 10 The axe at the route of the tree, 12 The fenne and the chaffe, 13 Christ is baptizd.

And in those dayes, Iohn the Baptist came and preached in the wilderness of Iudea.

2 And said, Repent: for the kingdome of heauen is at hand,

3 For this is he of whom it is spoken by the Prophet Esaia, saying, The voyce of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare yee the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

4 ¶ And this Iohn had his garment of camels haire, and a girdle of a skinne about his loynes:
his meate was also locusts and wilde hony.

5 ¶ Then went out to him Ierusalem and all Iudea, and all the region round about Iordan,

6 And they were baptizd of him in Iordan, confessing their sinnes.

7 ¶ Now when hee saw many of the Pharises, and of the Sadduces come to his baptisme, he said vnto them, ¶ O generation of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the anger to come?

8 ¶ Bring forth therefore fruit worthy amendment of life,
9 ¶ And thinke not to say with your selues,
¶ We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able euen of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.
10 And now also is the axe put to the root of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.
11 ¶ In deede I baptize you with water to amendment of life, but hee that cometh after me is mightier then I whose shoes I am not worthy to beare, hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.
12 ¶ Which hath his fanne in his hand, and will make cleane his floore, and gather his wheate into his garner, but will burne vp the chaffe with vnquenchable fire.
13 ¶ ¶ Then came Iesus from Galile to Iordan vnto Iohn to be baptizd of him.
14 But Iohn earnestly put him backe, saying, I haue neede to be baptizd of thee, and comest thou to me?
15 ¶ Then Iesus answering, sayd to him, Let bee nowe: for thus it becommeth vs to fulfill all righteousnesse. So he suffered him.
16 And Iesus when hee was baptizd, came straight out of the water. And lo, the heauens were opened vnto him, & Iohn saw the Spirit of God descending like a done, and lighting vpon him.
17 ¶ And loe, a voyce came from heauen, saying, ¶ This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

and of the Sadduces come to his baptisme, he said vnto them, ¶ O generation of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the anger to come?

8 ¶ Bring forth therefore fruit worthy amendment of life,

9 ¶ And thinke not to say with your selues,
¶ We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto
you, that God is able euen of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

10 And now also is the axe put to the root of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

11 ¶ In deede I baptize you with water to amendment of life, but hee that cometh after me is mightier then I whose shoes I am not worthy to beare, hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

12 ¶ Which hath his fanne in his hand, and will make cleane his floore, and gather his wheate into his garner, but will burne vp the chaffe with vnquenchable fire.

13 ¶ ¶ Then came Iesus from Galile to Ior-

thou to me?

15 ¶ Then Iesus answering, sayd to him, Let bee
nowe: for thus it becommeth vs to fulfill all righteousnesse. So he suffered him.

16 And Iesus when hee was baptizd, came straight out of the water. And lo, the heauens were opened vnto him, & Iohn saw the Spirit of God descending like a done, and lighting vpon him.

17 ¶ And loe, a voyce came from heauen, saying, ¶ This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

healeth the diseased.

Then ¶ was Iesus led aside of the Spirit into the wilderness, to be tempted of the deuill.

2 And when he had fasted fortie dayes, and fortie nights, he was afterward hungry.

3 Then came to him the tempter, and sayd, If thou be the Sonne of God, commaund that these stones be made bread.

4 But he answering, said, It is written, ¶ Man shall not liue by bread onely, but by euery word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

5 Then the deuill tooke him vp into the holy citie, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple,

6 And said vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe: for it is written, ¶ that he will giue his Angels charge ouer thee, and with their hands they shall lift thee vp, left at any time

11 * Then the deuill left him: and behold, the Angels came, and ministred vnto him.

12 ¶ And when Iesus had heard that Iohn was committed to prison, he returned into Galile.

13 And leauing Nazareth, went and dwelt in d. Capernaum, which is nere the sea in the borders of Zabulon and Nephtholim, 14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Elaias the Prophet, saying,

15 * The lande of Zabulon, and the lande of Nephtholim by the way of the sea, beyond Iordan, f Galile of the Gentiles:

16 The people which sate in darkenesse, sawe great light: and to them which sate in the region and shadow of death, light is risen vp.

17 * From that time Iesus began to preach, & to say, Amend your liues: for the kingdome of heauen is at hand.

18 ¶ And Iesus walking by the sea of Galile, saw two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers.)

19 * And he said vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.

20 And they straightway leauing the nets, followed him.

21 And when he was gone forth from thence, he sawe other two brethren, Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother in a ship with Zebedeus their father, mending their nets, and he called them.

22 And they without tarying, leauing the ship and their father, followed him.

23 So Iesus went about all Galile, teaching in the Synagogues, & preaching the Gospel of the k kingdome, & healing euery sicknesse, and euery disease among the people.

24 And his fame spread abroad thorow all Syria: and they brought vnto him all sicke people, that were taken with diuers diseases & tormentes, and them that were possessed with deuils, & those which were lunatike, and those that had the p palseie: and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galile, and Decapolis, and Hiemsalep, and Iudea, and from beyond Iordan.

And when he saw the multitude, he went vp into a mountaine: and when he was set, his disciples came to him.

1 And hee opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,

3 * Blessed are the poore in spirit, for theirs is the kingdome of heauen.

4 * Blessed are they that mourne: for they shall be comforted.

5 * Blessed are the meeke: for they shall inherite the earth.

6 * Blessed are they which hunger and thirst for righteousnesse: for they shall be filled.

8 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

9 Blessed are the peace makers: for they shall be called the children of God.

10 Blessed are they * which suffer persecution for righteousnesse sake, for theirs is the kingdome of heauen.

11 * Blessed shall ye be when men reuile you, and persecute you, and say all manner of euil against you for my sake, fully.

12 Reioyce and be glad, for great is your reward in heauen: for to persecuted they the Prophets which were before you.

18 * For truly I say vnto you, Till heauen and earth perish, one iote or one tittle of the Law shall not escape, till all things be fulfilled.

19 * Whosoever therefore shall breake one of these least commandements, and teach men so, hee shall be called the least in the kingdome of heauen: but whosoever shall obserue and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdome of heauen.

20 For I say vnto you, except your righteousnesse exceede the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharises, ye shall not enter into the kingdome of heauen.

CHAP. V.

Who are blessed. 13 The Apostles are the salt and light of the world. 14 The citie set on an hill. 15 The candle. 16 Good works. 19 The fulfilling of Christs Commandment. 21 What killing is. 23 Reconciliation is before sacrifice. 27 Adultery. 29 The plucking out of the eye. 30 Cutting off of the hand. 31 The bill of diuorcement. 33 Not to sweare. 43 To love our enemies. 48 Perseuerance.

He speaketh of the iudgement of God, and of the difference of times, & therefore applieth his wordes to the forme of euill iudgements which were then vsed.

Of that iudgement which was vsed by three men, who had the bearing and deciding of money matters, and such other small causes.

By that iudgement which stood of 23. Iudges, who had the bearing and deciding of weightie affaires, and matters of life and death: as the high chiefe iudges of all, were to the number of 71. which had the bearing of most weightie affaires, as the matter of a whole tribe or of a high Priest, or of a false prophet.

In where we read here, Hell, it is in the text is Gheenna, which is an Hebrew word made of two, and is as much to say, as the valley of Sion, which otherwise the Hebrewes called Topheth: it was a place where the Jews were wont most cruelly to sacrifice their children to false gods, whereupon it was taken for a place appointed to torment the reprobates in. Jerem. 7.31.

The tenes used foure kindes of punishments, before their governments was taken away by Herode, hanging, beheading, stoning, and burning: this it is that Christ sheweth at, because burning was the greatest punishment, therefore in that he maketh mention of iudgement, a council, and a fire, he sheweth that some times are worse then other some, but yet they are all such that we must giue an account for them, and shall be punished for them.

22 But I say vnto you, whosoever is angry with his brother vnadvisedly, shall be culpable & of iudgement. And whosoever sayth vnto his brother, Raca, shall be worthy to be punished by the Council. And whosoever shall say, Foole, shall be worthy to be punished with hell fire.

23 If then thou bring thy gift to the altar, & there remembre that thy brother hath ought against thee, 24 Leave there thine offering before the altar, and goe thy way: first bee reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 Agree with thine aduersarie quickly, whilst thou art in the way with him, least thine aduersarie deliuer thee to the Iudge, and the Iudge deliuer thee to the sergeant, and thou bee cast into prison.

26 Verely I say vnto thee, thou shalt not come out thence, till thou hast payed the vtmost farthing.

27 Ye haue heard that it was said to them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adulterie.

28 But I say vnto you, that whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her, hath committed adulterie with her already in his heart.

29 Wherefore if thy right eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

30 Also if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

31 It hath bene sayd also, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him giue her a bill of diuorcement.

32 But I say vnto you, whosoever shall put away his wife (except it be for fornication) catcheth her to commit adulterie: & whosoever shall marrie her that is diuorced, committeth adulterie.

33 Again, ye haue heard that it was said to them of old time, Thou shalt not forswear thy selfe, but shalt performe thine othes to the Lord.

34 But I say vnto you, Swear not at all, neither by heauen, for it is the throne of God:

35 Nor yet by the earth, for it is his footstool: neither by Hierusalem: for it is the citie of the great King.

36 Neither shalt thou sweare by thine head, at, because burning was the greatest punishment, therefore in that he maketh mention of iudgement, a council, and a fire, he sheweth that some times are worse then other some, but yet they are all such that we must giue an account for them, and shall be punished for them.

The contentious Pharisee taught that God was appeased by the sacrifices appointed in the Lawe, which they themselves deuoured. But Christ on the contrary side denieth that God accepteth any mans offerings, vntill hee seeketh satisfaction to his brother whom hee hath offended: and sayeth moreouer, that they that are stubborn and stiff necked despise of their brethren, shall neuer escape the wrath and curie of God, before they haue made full satisfaction to their brethren.

He applieth all this speech to the state of his time, when as there was an altar standing in Hierusalem: and therefore they are very foolish, that gather hereupon, that we must build altars, and use sacrifices: but they are more fooles, which drawe that to purgatorie, which is spoken of peace making an amenable one with another. Luke 12.58. Cus off all cause of enmities.

Thou shalt be dead with all to the vtmost extremitie.

He is taken for an adulterer before God, whosoever he be, that commeth a woman: and therefore we must keepe our eyes chaste, and all the members we haue, yea, and we must eke haue all occasions which might moue vs to euill, howe eare iotter it cost vs.

Exod. 20.14. Rom. 13.9. Chap. 18.8.9. Marke 9.47. Hee nameth the right eye and the right hand, because the parties of the right side of our bodie are the chiefest, and readiest to commit any wickedness.

because thou canst not make one haire white or blacke.

37 But let your communication bee: Yea, yea: Nay, nay. For whatsoeuer is more then these, commeth of euill.

38 Ye haue heard that it hath bene said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth.

39 But I say vnto you, Resist not euill: but whosoever shall smite thee on the right ckeek, turne to him the other also.

40 And if any man wil sue thee at the law, and take away thy coate, let him haue thy cloke also.

41 And whosoever will compell thee to goe a mile, goe with him twaine.

42 Giue to him that asketh, and from him that would borrow of thee, turne not away.

43 Ye haue heard that it hath bin said, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy.

44 But I say vnto you, Loue your enemies: blefse them that curse you: doe good to them that hate you, and pray for them which hurt you, and persecute you.

45 That ye may be the children of your father that is in heauen: for he maketh his sunne to arise on the euill, and the good, and sendeth raine on the iust and vniust.

46 For if ye loue them, which loue you, what reward shall you haue? Doe not the Publicanes euen the same?

47 And if ye be friendly to your brethren only, what singular thing doe ye? doe not euen the Publicanes likewise?

48 Ye shall therefore be perfite, as your Father which is in heauen, is perfite.

Take heed that ye giue not your almes before men, to be seene of them, or else ye shall haue no reward of your Father which is in heauen.

Therefore when thou giuest thine almes, thou shalt not make a trumpet to bee blown before thee, as the hypocrites do in the Synagogues and in the streets, to be praised of men, Verely I say vnto you, they haue their reward.

But when thou doest thine almes, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth,

That thine almes may be in secret, and thy Father that seeth in secret, hee will reward thee openly.

1. cor. 4.13. 10. A double moun: the one relation of relation, that children must be like their father.

Father knoweth whereof ye haue neede, before ye a ke of him.

9 After this maner therefore pray ye, ♦ Our Father which art in heauen, hallowed bee thy Name.

10 Thy kingdome come. Thy will be done euen in earth, as it is in heauen.

11 Giue vs this day our dayly bread.

12 And forgie vs our dettes, as wee also forgiue our detters.

13 And leade vs not into temptation, but deliuer vs from euill: for thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glory for euer. Amen.

14 ¶ For if ye doe forgiue men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgiue you.

15 But if yee doe not forgiue men their trespasses, no more will your Father forgiue you your trespasses.

16 Moreouer, when ye fast, looke not fowre as the hypocrites: for they disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Verely I say vnto you, that they haue their reward.

17 But when thou fastest, anoynt thine head, and wash thy face, 18 That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.

19 ¶ Lay not vp treasures for your selues vp on the earth, where the mothe & canker corrupt, and where theues digge through and steale.

20 ¶ But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the mothe nor canker corrupteth, and where theues neither digge through nor steale.

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 ¶ The light of thy body is the eye: if then thine eye be single, thy whole body shalbe light.

23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy body shalbe darke. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkenesse, how great is that darkenesse?

24 ¶ No man can serue two masters: for either hee shall hate the one, and loue the other, or els he shall leane to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

25 ¶ Therefore I say vnto you, be not careful for your life, what ye shall eate, or what ye shall drinke: nor yet for your body what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth then meate? and the body then raiment?

26 Behold the fowles of the heauen: for they sowe not, neither reape, nor cary into the barnes: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are yee not much better then they?

27 Which of you by taking care is able to adde one cubite vnto his stature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Learne how the Lilies of the field doe growe: they are not wearied, neither spin:

29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

30 Wherefore if God so clothe the graske of the field which is to day, and to morow is cast into the ouen, shal he not doe much more vnto you, O ye of little faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shal we eate? or what shal we drinke? or wherewith shall we be clothed?

32 (For after all these things seeke the Gentiles) for your heavenly Father knoweth, that ye haue neede of all these things.

33 But seeke yee first the kingdome of God, and his righteounesse, and all these things shalbe ministred vnto you.

34 Care not then for the morow: for the morow shall care for it selfe: the day hath enough with his owne griefe.

CHAP. VII.

¶ We may not giue iudgement of our neighbour, 6 Nor cast that which is holy vnto dogs. 13 The broad and strait way. 15 False prophets. 18 The tree and fruit. 24 The house built on a rocke, 26 and on the sand.

Iudge not, that ye be not iudged,

2 For with what iudgement ye iudge, ye shalbe iudged, and with what measure ye mete, it shalbe measured vnto you againe.

3 And why seekest thou the mote, that is in thy brothers eye, and perceuest not the beame that is in thine owne eye?

4 ¶ Or how sayest thou to thy brother, Suffer me to cast out the mote out of thine eye, and behold, a beame is in thine owne eye?

5 Hypocrite, first cast out that beame out of thine owne eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brothers eye.

6 ¶ Giue ye not that which is holy to dogs, neither cast yee your pearles before swine, lest they tread them vnder their teete, and turning againe, all to rent you.

7 ¶ Aske, and it shalbe giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

8 For whosoever asketh, receiueth: and hee that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shalbe opened.

9 For what man is there among you, which if his sonne aske him bread, would giue him a stone?

10 Or if he aske fish, will he giue him a serpent?

11 If ye then, which are euil, can giue to your children good gifts, how much more shall your Father which is in heauen, giue good things to them that aske him?

12 ¶ Therefore whatsoever yee would that men should doe to you, euen so doe ye to them: for this is the Law and the Prophets.

13 ¶ Enter in at the strait gate: for it is the wide gate, and broad way that leadeth to destruction: and many there be which goe in thereat, 14 Because the gate is strait, and the way narrow that leadeth vnto life, and fewe there bee that finde it.

15 ¶ Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheepes clothing, but inwardly they are rauenous wolues.

16 Ye shall know them by their fruits. ♦ Doe men gather grapes of thornes? or figs of thistles?

17 So euery good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and a corrupt tree bringeth forth euill fruit.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth euill fruit; neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 ¶ Euery tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

20 Therefore by their fruites yee shall know them.

1 The Leper cleaſed. 5 The Centurions faith. 11 The calling of the Gentiles, 12 and caſting out of the Jewes. 14 Peters mother in law healed. 19 A Scribe deſirous to follow Chriſt. 23 The tempeſt on the ſea. 28 Two poſſeſſed with deuils cured. 32 The deuils got into ſwine.

NOW when hee was come downe from the mountaine, great multitudes followed him.

2 ¶ And loe, there came a Leper and worſhipped him, ſaying, Maſter, if thou wilt, thou canſt make me cleane.

3 And Ieſus putting forth his hand, touched him, ſaying, I will, be thou cleane: and immediatly his leproſie was cleaſed.

4 Then Ieſus ſaid vnto him, See thou tell no man, but goe, and ſhew thy ſelfe vnto the Prieſt, and offer the gift that Moſes commaunded, for a witneſſe to them.

5 ¶ When Ieſus was entred into Capernaum; there came vnto him a Centurion, beſeeching him,

6 And ſaid, Maſter, my ſeruant lyeth ſicke at home of the palſie, and is grievouſly pained.

7 And Ieſus ſayd vnto him, I will come and heale him.

8 But the Centurion answered, ſaying, Maſter, I am not worthy that thou ſhouldeſt come vnder my rooſe: but ſpeake the word only, and my ſeruant ſhalbe healed.

9 For I am a man alſo vnder the authority of another, and haue ſouldiers vnder me: and I ſay to one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and hee cometh: and to my ſeruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

10 When Ieſus heard that, he marvelled, and ſaid to them that followed him, Verely I ſay vnto you, I haue not found ſo great faith, euē in Iſrael:

11 But I ſay vnto you, that many ſhall come from the Eaſt and Weſt, and ſhal ſit downe with Abraham, and Iſaac, and Iacob, in the kingdome of heauen.

12 And the children of the kingdome ſhall be caſt out into vtter & darkeneſſe: there ſhall be weeping and gnawing of teeth.

13 Then Ieſus ſayd vnto the Centurion, Goe thy way, and as thou haſt beleued, ſo be it vnto thee. And his ſeruant was healed the ſame houre.

14 ¶ And when Ieſus came to Peters houſe, he ſaw his wifes mother laid downe, and ſicke of a feuer.

15 And he touched her hand, and the feuer left her: ſo ſhe aroſe, and miniſtered vnto them.

16 ¶ When the Euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were poſſeſſed with deuils: and he caſt out the ſpirits with his word, and healed all their ſicke.

17 That it might be fulfilled, which was ſpoken by Iſaias the Prophet, ſaying, He tooke our infirmities, and bare our ſickneſſes.

18 ¶ And when Ieſus ſaw great multitudes of people about him, he commaunded them to goe d ouer the water.

19 ¶ Then came there a certaine Scribe, and ſayd vnto him, Maſter, I wil follow thee whithersoever thou goeſt.

20 But Ieſus ſayd vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen haue neſtes, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to reſt his head.

21 ¶ And another of his diſciples ſaid vnto him, Maſter, ſuffer mee firſt to goe, and burie my father.

22 But Ieſus ſayde vnto him, Follow me, and let the dead bury their dead.

23 ¶ And when he was entred into the ſhip, his diſciples followed him.

24 And behold, there aroſe a great tempeſt in the ſea, ſo that the ſhip was couered with waue: but he was aſleepe.

25 Then his diſciples came, and awoke him, ſaying, Maſter, ſaue vs: we periſh.

26 And he ſayd vnto them, Why are ye fearful, O yee of little faith? Then he aroſe, and rebuked the windes and the ſea: and ſo there was a great calme.

27 And the men marvelled, ſaying, What man is this, that both the winds and the ſea obey him?

28 ¶ 7 And when he was come to the other ſide into the cuntry of the Gergelenes, there met him two poſſeſſed with deuils which came out of ſe graues very fierce, ſo that no man might goe by that way.

29 And behold, they cryed out, ſaying, Ieſus the Sonne of God, what haue wee to doe with thee? Art thou come hither to torment vs before the time?

30 Now there was farre off from them, a great herde of ſwine feeding.

31 And the deuils beſought him, ſaying, If thou caſt vs out, ſuffer vs to goe into the herde of ſwine.

32 And he ſaid vnto them, Goe. So they went out and departed into the herde of ſwine: and behold, the whole herd of ſwine ran headlong into the ſea, and died in the water.

33 Then the herdmen fled: and when they were come into the citie, they told all thiſs, and what was become of them that were poſſeſſed with the deuils.

34 And behold, all the citie came out to meete Ieſus: and when they ſaw him, they beſought him to depart out of their coaſts.

1 One sicke of the palse is healed. 5 Remission of finnes. 9 Matthew called. 10 Sinners. 17 New wine. 18 The rulers daughter raised. 20 A woman healed of a bloody issue. 28 Two blinde men by faith receive sight. 32 A dumbe man possessed is healed. 37 The bariste and workemen.

Then hee entred into a ship, and passed ouer, and came into his owne citie.

2 And loe, they brought to him a man sicke of the palse layed on a bed. And Iesus seeing their faith, sayd to the sicke of the palse, Sonne, bee of good comfort: thy finnes are forgiven thee.

3 And beholde, certaine of the Scribes sayd with themselves, This man blasphemeth.

4 But when Iesus saw their thoughts, he sayd, Wherefore thinke ye euil things in your hearts?

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy finnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that yee may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgive finnes (then sayd hee vnto the sicke of the palse,) Arise, take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

7 And hee arose, and departed to his owne house.

8 So when the multitude saw it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giuen such authoritie to men.

9 ¶ And as Iesus passed forth from thence, he saw a man sitting at the custome, named Matthew, and sayd to him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him.

10 And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at meate in his house, beholde, many Publicanes and sinners that came thither, sate down at the table with Iesus and his disciples.

11 And when the Pharises saw that, they sayd to his disciples, Why eateth your master with Publicanes and sinners?

12 Nowe when Iesus heard it, hee sayd vnto them, The whole neede not the Physician, but they that are sicke.

13 But goe ye and learne what this is, I will haue mercie, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

14 ¶ Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why doe we and the Pharises fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

15 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber mourne as long as the bridegrome is with them? but the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast.

16 Moreover, no man pieceth an old garment with a piece of new cloth: for that that should fill it vp, taketh away from the garment, and the breach is worse.

17 Neither doe they put new wine into olde vessels: for then the vessels would breake, and the wine would be spilt, and the vessels should perish: but they put new wine into new vessels, and so are both preferred.

18 ¶ While hee thus spake vnto them, beholde, there came a certaine ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is now deceased: but come and lay thine hand on her, and she shall liue.

19 And Iesus arose and followed him with his disciples.

20 (And behold, a woman which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres, came behind him, and touched the hemme of his garment.

21 For she said in her selfe, If I may touch but his garment onely, I shall be whole.

22 Then Iesus turned him about, and seeing her, did say, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole at that same moment.)

23 Nowe when Iesus came into the Rulers house, and sawe the minstrels and the multitude making noyse, 24 He said vnto them, Get you hence: for the maid is not dead, but sleepech. And they laughed him to scorne.

25 And when the multitude were put forth, hee went in and tooke her by the hand, and the mayd arose.

26 And this brute went throughout all the land.

27 ¶ And as Iesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O sonne of Dauid, haue mercie vpon vs.

28 And when he was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Iesus sayde vnto them, Beleue yee that I am able to doe this? And they sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord.

29 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it vnto you.

30 And their eyes were opened, and Iesus gaue them great charge, saying, See that no man know it.

31 But when they were departed, they spread abroad his fame thorowout all that land.

32 ¶ And as they went out, beholde, they brought to him a dumbe man possessed with a deuill.

33 And when the deuill was cast out, the dumbe spake: then the multitude marueiled, saying, The like was neuer seene in Israel.

34 But the Pharises sayd, ¶ He casteth out deuils, through the prince of deuils.

35 ¶ And Iesus went about all cities and townes, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the kingdome, and healing euery sicknesse and euery disease among the people.

36 ¶ But when hee saw the multitude, hee had compassion vpon them, because they were dispersed, and scattered abroad, as sheepe hauing no shepheard.

37 Then sayd hee to his disciples, Surely the harvest is great, but the labourers are few.

38 Wherefore pray the Lord of the harvest, that hee would send forth labourers into his harvest.

3 Philip and Bartholomew: Thomas, and Matthew that Publicans: Iames the sonne of Alphaeus, and Lebbeus whose surname was Thaddeus.
4 Simon the Cananite, and Iudas the scariot, who also betrayed him.
5 These twelue did Iesus send forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into the cities of the Samaritans: enter ye not:
6 But goe rather to the lost sheepe of the house of Israel.
7 And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdome of heauen is at hand.
8 Heale the sicke: cleanse the lepers: raise vp the dead: cast out the deuils. Freely ye haue recei-ued, freely giue.
9 Possesse not golde, nor siluer, nor money in your girdles, 10 Nor a scrip for the iourney, neither two coats, neither shooes nor a staffe: for the workman is worthy of his meate.
11 And into whatsoever citie or towne ye shall come, enquire who is worthy in it, and there abide till ye go thence.
12 And when ye come into an house, salute the same.
13 And if the house be worthy let your peace come vpon it: but if it be not worthy, let your peace returne to you.
14 And whosoever shall not receiue you, nor heare your words, when ye depart out of that house, or that citie, shake off the dust of your feete.
15 Truly I say vnto you, it shall bee easier for them of the land of Sodom and Gomorrha in the day of iudgement, then for that citie.
16 Behold, I send you as sheepe in the middles of the wolues: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and innocent as doves.
17 But beware of men, for they will deliuer you vp to the Councils, and will scourge you in their Synagogues.
18 And ye shall be brought to the gouernours and kings for my sake, in witnesse to them, and to the Gentiles.
19 But when they deliuer you vp, take no thought how or what yee shall speake: for it shall bee giuen you in that houre, what yee shall say.
20 For it is not ye that speake, but the spirit of your Father which speaketh in you.
21 And the brother shall betray the brother to death, and the Father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.
22 And yee shall bee hated of all men for my Name: but he that endureth to the end, he shall be saved.
23 And when they persecute you in this citie, flee into another: for verely I say vnto you, yee shall not goe ouer all the cities of Israel, till the Sonne of man be come.
24 The disciple is not aboue his master, nor the seruant aboue his Lord.
25 It is enough for the disciple to be as his master, and the seruant as his Lord. If they haue called the master of the house Beelzebub, how much more them of his household?
26 Bring to an end, that is, you shall not haue gone thorow all the cities in Israel, and preached in them. 1. Luke 24. 40. 44. 45. 46. and 47. 26. 48. Chap. 12. 24.

26 Feare them not therefore: for there is nothing couered, that shall not be disclosed, nor hid, that shall not be knowne.
27 What I tel you in darkenes, that speake ye in light: and what ye heare in the eare, that preach ye on the houses.
28 And feare ye not them which kill the bodie, but are not able to kill the soule: but rather feare him, which is able to destroy both soule and body in hell.
29 Are not two sparowes sold for a farthing, and one of them shal not fall on the ground without your Father?
30 Yea, and all the haire of your head are numbered.
31 Feare ye not therefore, yee are of more value then many sparowes.
32 Whosoever therefore shall confesse mee before men, him wil I confesse also before my Father which is in heauen.
33 But whosoever shall denie me before men, him wil I also denie before my Father which is in heauen.
34 Thinke not that I am come to sende peace into the earth, but the sword.
35 For I am come to set a man at variance against his father, & the daughter against her mother, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.
36 And a mans enemies shall be they of his owne household.
37 Hee that loueth father or mother more then me, is not worthie of me. And he that loueth sonne, or daughter more then me, is not worthie of me.
38 And he that taketh not his crosse, and fol-loweth after me, is not worthie of me.
39 He that will finde his life, shall lose it:
and he that loseth his life for my sake, shall finde it.
40 Hee that receiueth you, receiueth mee:
and hee that receiueth me, receiueth him that sent me.
41 Hee that receiueth a Prophet in the name of a Prophet, shall receiue a Prophets reward: and hee that receiueth a righteous man, in the name of a righteous man, shall receiue the reward of a righteous man.
42 And whosoever shall giue vnto one of these little ones to drinke a cup of colde water onely, in the name of a disciple, verely I say vnto you, he shall not lose his reward.

6 And blessed is he that shall not be offended in me.

7 And as they departed, Iesus beganne to speake vnto the multitude, of Iohn, What went ye out into the wilderness to see? a reede shaken with the winde?

8 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they that weare soft clothing, are in kings houses.

9 But what went ye out to see? A Prophet? Yea, I say vnto you, and more then a Prophet.

10 For this is he, of whom it is written, & Beholde, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verely I say vnto you, Among them which are begotten of women, arose there not a greater then Iohn Baptist: notwithstanding, he that is the least in the kingdom of heauen, is greater then he.

12 And from the time of Iohn Baptist hitherto, the kingdom of God suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force.

13 For all the Prophets and the Lawe & prophesied vnto Iohn.

14 And if ye will receiue it, this is that Elias, which was to come.

15 ¶ He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

16 ¶ But whereunto shall I liken this generation? It is like vnto little children which sit in the markets, and call vnto their fellowes, 17 And say, We haue piped vnto you, and yee haue not daunced; wee haue mourned vnto you, and yee haue not lamented.

18 For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a deuill.

19 The Sonne of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold a glutton and a drinker of wine, a friend vnto Publicanes and sinners: & but wisdome is justified of her children.

20 ¶ Then began hee to vpbraide the cities, wherein most of his great workes were done, because they repented not.

21 Woe be to thee Chorazin: Woe be to thee Bethsaida: for if the great workes which were done in you, had bene done in Tyrus and Sidon, they had repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.

22 But I say to you, It shall be easier for Tyrus and Sidon at the day of iudgement, then for you.

23 And thou, Capernaum, which art lifted vp vnto heauen, shalt be brought downe to hell: for if the great workes, which haue bene done in thee, had bene done among them of Sodom, they had remained vnto this day.

24 But I say vnto you, that it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodom in the day of iudgement, then for thee.

25 ¶ At that time Iesus answered, and sayd, I giue thee thanks, O Father, Lord of heauen and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and men of vnderstanding, and hast opened them vnto babes.

26 It is so, O Father, because thy good pleasure was such.

27 ¶ All things are giuen vnto me of my Father: and no man knoweth the Sonne, but the Father: neither knoweth any man the Father, but the Sonne, and he to whom the Sonne wil reueale him.

28 Come vnto mee, all ye that are wearie and laden, and I will ease you.

29 Take my yoke on you, and learne of mee: that I am meeke and lowly in heart: and ye shall finde rest vnto your soules.

30 ¶ For my yoke is easie, & my burden light.

CHAP. XII.

1 The disciples plucke the eares of corne. 2 Mercie, sacrifice. 3 The withered hand is healed. 4 We must doe good on the Sabbath. 5 The possessed is holpen. 6 A kingdom di- uided. 7 Sinne, blasphemy. 8 The good or euill tree. 9 Vi- pers. 10 The Renters. 11 The Quene of Saba. 12 The true mother and brethren of Christ.

At that time Iesus went on a Sabbath day through the corne, and his disciples were an hungred, and began to plucke the eares of corne and to eate.

2 And when the Pharises saw it, they sayde vnto him, Behold, thy disciples doe that which is not lawfull to doe vpon the Sabbath.

3 But he sayd vnto them, ¶ Haue ye not read what Dauid did when he was an hungred, & they that were with him?

4 How hee went into the house of God, and did eate the shewbread, which was not lawfull for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but onely for the Priests?

5 Or haue ye not read in the Law, how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priestes in the Temple breake the Sabbath, and are blamelesse?

6 But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.

7 Wherefore if yee knew what this is, & I will haue mercy and not sacrifice, yee would not haue condemned the innocents.

8 For the sonne of man is Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

9 ¶ And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue:

10 And behold, there was a man which had his hand dried vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.

11 And he said vnto the, What man shall there be among you, if hath a sheepe, & if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pit, doth not take it & lift it out?

12 How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore, it is lawfull to doe well on a Sabbath day.

13 Then sayd he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 ¶ Then the Pharises went out, and consulted against him, how they might destroy him.

15 But when Iesus knew it, he departed thence, & great multitudes followed him, & he healed the al,

16 And charged them in threatening wise, that they should not make him known,

17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying, 18 ¶ Behold my seruant whom I haue chosen, my beloued in whom my soule deliteth: I will put my Spirit on him, and he shall shew iudgement to the Gentiles.

19 Hee shall not strue, nor cry, neither shall any man heare his voyce in the streetes.

20 A bruised reede shall hee not breake, and smoking flaxe shall hee not quench, till he bring forth iudgement vnto victory.

21 And in his Name shall the Gentiles trust.

22 ¶ Then was brought to him one possessed with a deuill, both blind and dumme, and he healed him, so that hee which was blinde and dumme, both spake and saw.

Is not this that sonne of Dauid?

but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

25 ¶ But Iesus knew their thoughts, and said to them, Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, is brought to nought, and euery city or house diuided against it selfe, shall not stand.

26 So if Satan cast out Satan, hee is diuided against himselfe: how shall then his kingdome endure?

27 Alas, if I through Beelzebub cast out deu-ils, by whom doe your children cast them out?
Therefore they shall be your iudges.

28 But if I cast out deuils by ¶ Spirit of God, then is the kingdome of God come vnto you.

mans house and spoyle his goods, except he first bind the strong man, and then spoyle his house?

30 He that is not with mee, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

31 ¶ Wherefore I say vnto you, Euery sinne and blasphemie shall be forgiven vnto men: but the blasphemie against the holy Ghost shall not be forgiven vnto men.

32 And whosoever shall speake a word against the sonne of man, it shall be forgiven him: ¶ but whosoever shall speake against the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come.

33 Either make the tree good, and his fruite good: or els make the tree euill, and his fruite euill:
for the tree is knowen by the fruite.

34 ¶ O generations of vipers, how can you speake good things, when ye are euill? For of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.

35 A good man out of ¶ good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good things: & an euill man out of an euill treasure, bringeth forth euill things.

36 But I say vnto you, that of euery idle worde that men shall speake, they shall giue account thereof at the day of iudgement.

37 For by thy wordes thou shalt be iustified, and by thy wordes thou shalt be condemned.

38 ¶ ¶ Then answered certain of the Scribes and of the Pharises, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee.

39 But he answered and said to them, An euill and adulterous generation seeketh a signe, but no signe shall be giuen vnto it, saue that signe of the Prophet Ionas.

40 ¶ For as Ionas was three dayes and three nights in the whales belly: so shall the sonne of man be three dayes and three nights in the heart of the earth.

41 ¶ The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgement iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for shee came from the vtmost parts and behold, a greater then Salomon is here.

43 ¶ ¶ Now when the vnclane spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh throughout dry places, seeking rest, and findeth none.

44 Then hee sayeth, I will returne into mine house from whence I came: and when he is come, he findeth it empty, swept and garnished.

45 ¶ Then he goeth, & taketh vnto him seuen other spirits worse then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: ¶ and the end of that man is worse then the beginning. Euen so shall it be with this wicked generation.

46 ¶ ¶ While he yet spake to the multitude, behold, his mother, and his brethren stood without, desiring to speake with him.

47 Then one sayd vnto him, Beholde, thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to speake with thee.

48 But he answered, and sayd to him that told him, Who is my mother? & who are my brethren?

49 ¶ And he stretched forth his hand toward his disciples, & said, Behold my mother & my brethre.

50 For whosoever shall doe my Fathers will which is in heauen, the same is my brother and sister and mother.

C H A P. XIII.

1 The parable of the Sower. 11 and 34. Why Iesus spake in parables. 18 The exposition of the parable. 24 The parable of the tares. 31 Of the mustard seed. 33 Of the leaven. 44 Of the hidden treasure. 45 Of the pearle. 47 Of the draw net cast into the sea. 53 Christ is not received of his countrey men the Nazarites.
¶ He ¶ same day went Iesus out of the house, and fate by the sea side.

2 ¶ And great multitudes resorted vnto him, so that he went into a ship, and fate downe: and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sow.

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the foules came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stonie ground, where they had not much earth, & anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne was vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.

7 And some fel among thornes, & the thornes sprung vp, and choked them.

8 Some againe fel in good ground, & brought forth fruit, one came an hundred fold, some sixtie fold, and another thirty fold.

9 He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 ¶ ¶ Then the disciples came, and said to him,
Why speakest thou to them in parables?

11 ¶ And he answered and said vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you to knowe the secrets of the kingdom of heauen, but to the it is not giuen.

12 ¶ For whosoever hath, to him shall be giuen, and he shall haue abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away, euen ¶ he hath.

13 Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seeing, doe not see: and hearing, they heare not, neither vnderstand.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophesie of E-saies, which prophesie sayeth, ¶ By hearing ye shall heare, and shall not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceiue.

15 For this peoples heart is waxed fat, & their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they haue winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should vnderstand with their hearts, and should returne, that I might heale them.

16 ¶ But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare.

17 ¶ For verely I say vnto you, that many Prophets, and righteous men haue desired to see those things which ye see, and haue not seene them: and to heare those things which ye heare, & haue not heard them.

18 ¶ Hearre yee therefore the parable of the Sower.

19 Whensoever any man heareth the word of that kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, that e- uill one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart: and this is hee which hath receiued the seed by the way side.

20 And hee that receiued feede in the stonie ground, is he which heareth the word, and incon- tinently with ioy receiueith it,

21 Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and du- reth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or perfection commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And hee that receiued the feede among thornes, is hee that heareth the worde: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he is made vnfruitfull.

23 But he that receiued the feede in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and vnder- standeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundred folde, some sixtie folde, and some thirtie folde.

24 ¶ Another parable put hee fourth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vn- to a man which sowed good feed in his field.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemy and sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the housholder, and sayde vnto him, Master, sowedst thou not good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And he said vnto them, Some enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants sayd vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe and gather them vp?

29 But he sayd, Nay, lest while ye goe about to gather the tares, yee plucke vp also with them the wheate.

30 Let both grow together vntil the haruest, and in time of haruest I will say to the reapers, Ga- ther ye first the tares, & binde them in sheaves to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barn.

31 ¶ Another parable he put fourth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vn- to a graine of mustard seede, which a man taketh and soweth in his field:

32 Which in deed is the least of all seeds: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbs, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

33 ¶ Another parable spake hee to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three pecks of meale, till all be leauened.

34 ¶ All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not vnto them, 35 That it might bee fulfilled, which was spo- ken by the Prophet, saying, * I will open my mouth in parables, and wil vtter the things which haue bene kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of that field.

37 ¶ Then answered he, and said to them, Hee that soweth the good feede, is the Sonne of man, 38 And the field is the world, and the good feede are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of that wicked one.

39 And the enemy that soweth them, is the deuill, and the haruest is the ende of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shal it be in the end of this world.

41 The Sonne of man shall send forth his An- gels, and they shal gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which doe iniquitie, 42 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire. There shalbe wailing and gnashing of teeth.

43 ¶ Then shal the iust men shine as the sunne in the kingdome of their father. Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44 ¶ Again, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treasure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, he hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth, and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

45 ¶ Again, the kingdome of heauen is like to a merchant man that seeketh good pearles, 46 Who hauing found a pearle of great price, went and sold all that he had and bought it.

47 ¶ Again, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a draw net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kinds of things.

48 Which, when it is full, men draw to land, and sit and gather the good into vessels, and cast the bad away.

49 So shal it be at the end of the world. The Angels shal goe fourth, and seuer the bad from a- mong the iust,

50 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shalbe wailing, and gnashing of teeth.

51 ¶ Iesus sayd vnto them, Vnderstand yee all these things? They sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord.

52 Then sayd he vnto them, Therefore euery Scribe which is taught vnto the kingdome of hea- uen, is like vnto an housholder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things both new and old.

53 ¶ And it came to passe, that when Iesus had ended these parables, he departed thence,

54 ¶ And came into his owne countrey, and taught them in their Synagogue, so that they were astonished, and sayde, Whence commeth this wise- dome and great works vnto this man?

55 Is not this the carpenters sonne? Is not his mother called Marie, and his brethren Iames and Ioses, and Simon, and Iudas?

56 And are not his sisters all with vs? Whence then hath he all these things?

57 And they were offended with him. Then Iesus said to them, * A Prophet is not without honour, saue in his owne countrey, and in his owne house.

58 And he did not many great works there, for their vnbeliefs sake.

¶ Though there be many made of the will to be saved, yet they are referred to hearing without understanding. For whether the feare be retained in the heart or no, yet he that soweth, soweth in the heart.

d A spirit, as it is here taken, is that which a man imagineth to himselfe in his minde, persuading himselfe that he seeth something, and feeleth nothing.

And laid vnto his servants. This is that Iohn Baptist: he is risen againe from the dead, and therefore great workes are wrought by him.

For Herod had taken Iohn, and bound him, and put him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philips wife.

For Iohn said vnto him, It is not lawfull for thee to haue her.

And when he would haue put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a Prophet.

But when Herods birth day was kept, the daughter of Herodias danced before them, and pleased Herod.

Wherefore he promised with an oth, that he would giue her what ouer she would aske.

And she being before instructed of her mother, sayd, Giue mee here Iohn Baptists head in a platter.

And the King was fory: neuertheless, because of his othe, and them that sate with him at the table, he commanded it to be giuen her.

And sent, and beheaded Iohn in the prison.

And his head was brought in a platter, and giuen to the mayd, and shee brought it vnto her mother.

And his disciples came, and tooke vp the body, and buried it, and went, and told Iesus.

And when Iesus heard it, hee departed thence by shippe into a desert place apart. And when the multitude had heard it, they followed him on foote out of the cities.

And Iesus went forth & saw a great multitude, and was moued with compassion toward them, and he healed their sicke.

And when euen was come, his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the time is already past: let the multitude depart, that they may goe into the townes, and buy them victualles.

But Iesus said to them, They haue no neede to goe away: giue ye them to eate.

Then saide they vnto him, We haue here but five loaves, and two fishes.

And he said, Bring them hither to me.

And hee commanded the multitude to sit downe on the grasse, & tooke the five loaves and the two fishes, and looked vp to heaven, and blessed, and brake, and gaue the loaves to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

And they did all eate, and were full, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, twelve baskets full.

And they that had eaten, were about five thousand men, beside women and little children.

And straightway Iesus compelled his disciples to enter into a ship, and to goe ouer before him, while he sent the multitude away.

And as soone as he had sent the multitude away, he went vp into a mountaine alone to pray: and when the euening was come, hee was there alone.

And the ship was now in the middes of the sea, and was tossed with waues: for it was a contrary wind.

And in the fourth watch of the night, Iesus went vnto them, walking on the sea.

And when his disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a spirit, and cried out for feare.

But straightway Iesus spake vnto them, saying, Bee of good comfort, It is I: bee not afraid.

Then Peter answered him, and sayd, Master, if it be thou, bid mee come vnto thee on the water.

And he sayd, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water, to goe to Iesus.

But when he sawe a mightie winde, he was afraid: and as hee began to sinke, he cried, saying, Master, saue me.

So immediatly Iesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said to him, O thou of little faith, wherefore diddest thou doubt?

And as soone as they were come into the ship, the winde ceased.

Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the Sonne of God.

And when they were come ouer, they came into the land of Gennezaret.

And when the men of that place knewe him, they sent out into all that countrey round about, and brought vnto him all that were sicke,

And besought him, that they might touch the hemme of his garment onely: and as many as touched it were made whole.

Then came to Iesus the Scribes and Pharises, which were of Ierusalem, saying,

Why doe thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread.

But he answered and said vnto them, Why doe yee also transgresse the commandment of God by your tradition?

For God hath commanded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: and hee that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

But yee say, c Whosoever shall say to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by mee, thou mayest haue profit,

Though hee honour not his father, or his mother, shall be free: thus haue yee made the commandment of God of no authority by your tradition.

O hypocrites, Esaias prophesied well of you, saying,

This people draweth neere vnto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with the lips, but their heart is farre off from me.

But in vaine they worship me, teaching for doctrines, mens precepts.

Then hee called the multitude vnto him, and said to them, Heare and vnderstand.

I beseeue vpon the Temple, it is thy profit, for it is as good, as if I sayd: this, for (as the Pharisees of our time say) it shall be meritorious for thee: for vnder this saluatiō of religion, they raked all to themselves, as though that bee that had giuen us thing in the Temple, had done the dutie of a child. d You made it of no power and authority as much as lay in you: for otherwise the commandments of God stand fast in the Church of God, in despite of the world and Satān. 3 The same men are condemned for hypocrisie and superstition, because they made the kingdom of God to stand in outward things. 4 I say. 29. 13. 4 Christ teacheth vs that hypocrisie of false teachers which decide our souls, is not to bee borne withall, no not in indifferent matters: and there is no reason why their ordinarie vocation should blind our eyes: otherwise we are like to perish with them.

11 ¶ That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which cometh out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 ¶ Then came his disciples, and saide vnto him, Perceiuest thou not, that the Pharisees are offended in hearing this saying?

13 But he answered and sayd, ¶ Every plant which mine heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted vp.

14 Let them alone, they bee the blinde leaders of the blinde: and if the blinde leade the blinde, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 ¶ Then answered Peter, and said to him, Declare vnto vs this parable.

16 Then said Iesus, Are ye yet without vnderstanding?

17 Perceiue ye not yet, that whatsoever entred into the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which proceed out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of the heart come euil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, flanders.

20 These are the things which defile the man: but to eate with vnwashed hands defileth not the man.

21 ¶ And Iesus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And beholde, a woman of Cananite came out of the same coasts, & cryed, saying vnto him, Haue mercy on me, O Lord, the sonne of Dauid: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuill.

23 But hee answered her not a word. Then came to him his disciples, and besought him, saying, Send her away, for she cryeth after vs.

24 But he answered, and said, I am not sent, but vnto the lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

25 Yet she came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, helpe me.

26 And he answered, and said, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to whelpes.

26 But she sayd, Truth, Lord: yet in deepe the whelpes eat of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto her, O woman, great is thy faith: bee it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ So Iesus went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galilee, and went vp into a mountaine and sate downe there.

30 And great multitudes came to him, hauing with them, halt, blinde, dumme, h maimed, and many other, and cast them downe at Iesus feete, and he healed them.

31 In so much that the multitude wondered, to see the dumme speake, the maimed whole, the halt to goe, and the blinde to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 ¶ Then Iesus called his disciples vnto him, and said, I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue continued with me already three dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and I wil not let them depart fasting, least they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples sayd vnto him, Whence should wee get so much bread in the wilderness, as should suffice so great a multitude?

34 And Iesus said vnto them, How many loaves haue ye? And they said, Seuen, & few little fishes.

35 Then hee commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground.

36 And tooke the seuen loaves, and the fishes, and gaue thanks, and brake them, and gaue to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

37 And they did all eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, seuen baskets full.

38 And they that had eaten, were foure thousand men, beside women, and little children.

39 Then Iesus sent away the multitude that tooke ship, and came into the parts of Magdala.

¶ Then came the Pharisees and Sadduces, and did tempt him, desiring him to shew them a signe from heauen.

2 But he answered, and said vnto them, When it is euening, yee say, Faire weather, for the skie is red.

3 ¶ And in the morning ye say, To day shall be a tempest: for the skie is red and lowning. O hypocrites, ye can discerne the face of the skie, and can ye not discern the signes of the times?

4 ¶ The wicked generation, and adulterous seeketh a signe, but there shall no signe be giuen it, but that signe of the Prophet Ionas: so hee left them, and departed.

5 ¶ And when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread with them.

6 Then Iesus said vnto them, Take heede and beware of the leauen of the Pharisees & Sadduces.

7 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is because we haue brought no bread.

8 But Iesus knowing it, said vnto them, O ye of little faith, why reason yee thus among yourselves, because you haue brought no bread?

9 Doe ye not yet perceiue, neither remember the 5 fine loaves, when there were 5 fine thousand men, and how many baskets tooke ye vp?

10 Neither the seuen loaves when there were 4 foure thousand men, and howe many baskets tooke ye vp?

11 Why perceiue ye not that I said not vnto you concerning bread, that yee should beware of the leauen of the Pharisees and Sadduces?

12 Then vnderstood they that he had not said that they should beware of the leauen of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees, and Sadduces.

13 ¶ Nowe when Iesus came into the coastes of Cesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom doe men say that I, the sonne of man am?

14 And they said, Some say, Iohn Baptist: and some Elias: and others, Ieremias, or one of the Prophets.

15 He sayd vnto them, But whom say ye that I am?

16 Then Simon Peter answered, & said, Thou art that Christ, the sonne of the liuing God.

polle money?
25 He said, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Iesus preuented him, saying, What thinkest thou, Simon? Of whom doe the Kings of the earth take tribute, or polle money? of their children, or of strangers?
26 Peter said vnto him, Of strangers. Then said
Iesus vnto him, Then are the children free.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The greatest in the kingdom of God, 5 To receive a little child.
6 To giue offence. 7 Offences. 9 The putting out of the eye.
10 The Angels. 12 The lost sheepe. 15 The telling of ones his fault. 17 Excommunication. 21 Wee must alwayes pardon the brother that repenteth. 23 A parable of the King that sakereth an account of his seruants.

¶ The same time the disciples came vnto Iesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen?

2 ¶ And Iesus called a little childe vnto him, and set him in the mids of them,

3 And said, Verely I say vnto you, except yee be conuerted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdome of heauen.

4 Whosoever therefore shal humble himselfe as this little childe, the same is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen.

5 And whosoever shall receiue one such little childe in my Name, receiue me.

6 ¶ But whosoever shall offend one of these little ones which beleue in me, it were better for him, that a millstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

7 ¶ Woe be vnto the world because of offences: for it must needs bee that offences shall come, but woe be to that man by whom the offence commeth.

8 ¶ Wherefore, if thy hand or thy foote cause thee to offend, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life, halt, or maimed, then hauing two hands, or two feet, to be cast into everlasting fire.

9 And if thine eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out, and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, then hauing two eyes to be cast into hell fire.

10 ¶ See that yee despise not one of these little ones: for I say vnto you that in heauen their Angels alwayes behold the face of my Father which is in heauen.

11 For the Sonne of man is come to saue that which was lost.

12 How thinke yee? If a man haue an hundred sheepe, and one of them be gone astray, doeth hee not leaue ninetie and nine, and goe into the mountaines, and seeke that which is gone astray?

13 And if so be that he find it, verely I say vnto you, hee reioyceth more of that sheepe, then of the ninetie and nine which went not astray:

14 So is it not the wil of your Father which is in heauen, that one of these little ones should perish.

15 ¶ Moreover, if thy brother trespass against thee, goe and tell him his fault betwene thee and him alone: if hee heare thee, thou hast wonne thy brother.

16 But if he heare thee not, take yet with thee one or two, that by the mouth of two or three witnesses, every word may be confirmed.

17 ¶ And if he refuse to heare them, tell it vnto the Church: and if hee refuse to heare the Church also, let him be vnto thee as an heathen man, and a Publicane.

18 Verely I say vnto you, Whatsoever yee binde on earth, shall bee bound in heauen: and whatsoever ye loole on earth shall be loosed in heauen.

19 Again, verely I say vnto you, that if two of you shall agree in earth vpon any thing whatsoever they shall desire, it shal be giuen them of my Father which is in heauen.

20 For where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the mids of them.

21 ¶ Then came Peter to him, and said, Master, how oft shall my brother sinne against mee, and I shall forgive him? vnto seven times?

22 Iesus said vnto him, I say not to thee, Vnto seven times, but, Vnto seuentie times seuen times.

23 Therefore is the kingdome of heauen likened vnto a certaine King, which would take an account of his seruants.

24 And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought vnto him, which ought him ten thousand talents.

25 And because hee had nothing to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and his children, and all that he had, and the debt to be paid.

26 The seruant therefore fell downe, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, refrain thine anger toward me, and I will pay thee all.

27 Then that seruants lord had compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt.

28 But when the seruant was departed, he found one of his fellowe seruants which ought him an hundred pence, and he layed hands on him, and threatled him, saying, Pay me that thou owest.

29 Then his fellowe seruant fell downe at his feete, and besought him, saying, Refraine thine anger toward me, and I will pay thee all.

30 Yet he would not, but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.

31 And when his other fellow seruants saw what was done, they were very fory, and came, and declared vnto their lord all that was done.

32 Then his lord called him vnto him, & said to him, O euil seruant, I forgave thee all that debt because thou prayedst me.

33 Oughtst not thou also to haue had pitie on thy fellow seruant, euen as I had pitie on thee?

34 So his lord was wroth, and deliuered him to the tormentours, till he should pay all that was due to him.

CHAP. XIX.

The sick are healed. 3 and 7 A bill of divorcement. 12 Eunuches. 13 Children brought to Christ. 17 God onely good. The Commandments must be kept. 21 A perfect man 23 A rich man. 26 Salva: ion cometh of God. 27 To leave all and follow Christ.

And it came to passe, that when Iesus had finished these sayings, he departed fro Galile, and came into the coasts of Iudea beyond Iordan.

2 And great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there.

3 ¶ Then came vnto him the Pharises tempting him, and saying to him, Is it lawfull for a man to put away his wife vpon euery occasion?

4 And he answered and said vnto them, Haue ye not read, that he which made them at the beginning, made them male and female,

5 And said, For this cause shall a man leaue father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife, and they which were two, shalbe one flesh?

6 Wherefore they are no more twaine, but one flesh. Let not man therefore put asunder that, God hath coupled together.

7 ¶ They said to him, Why did then Moses command to giue a bill of divorcement, and to put her away?

8 He saide vnto them, Moses because of the hardnesse of your heart, suffered you to put away your wiues: but from the beginning it was not so.

9 I say therefore vnto you, that whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for whoredome, and marry another, committeth adulterie: and whosoever marieth her which is diuorced, doeth commit adulterie.

10 Then said his disciples to him, If the matter be so betweene man and wife, it is not good to marry.

11 ¶ But he said vnto them, All men cannot receiue this thing, save they to whom it is giuen.

12 For there are some eunuches, which were so borne of their mothers belly: and there be some eunuches, which be gelded by men: and there be some eunuches, which haue gelded themselves for the kingdome of heauen. He that is able to receiue this, let him receiue it.

13 ¶ ¶ Then were brought vnto him little children, that he should put his hands on them and pray: and the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Iesus said, Suffer little children, and forbid them not to come to mee: for of such is the kingdome of heauen.

15 And when he had put his handes on them, he departed thence,

16 ¶ ¶ And behold, one came and said vnto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I doe, that I may haue eternall life?

17 And he said vnto him, Why callest thou me good, there is none good but one, euen God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keepe the Commandments.

18 He said vnto him, Which? And Iesus said, ¶ These, Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness.

19 Honour thy father and mother: and, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

20 The yong man said vnto him, I haue obserued these things from my youth. What lacke I yet?

21 Iesus said vnto him, If thou wilt be perfect, goe, sell that thou hast, & giue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, and follow me.

22 And when the yong man heard that saying, hee went away forowfull: for hee had great possessions.

23 ¶ Then Iesus said vnto his disciples, Verely I say vnto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdome of heauen.

24 And againe I say vnto you, It is easier for a camel to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

25 And when his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saved?

26 And Iesus beheld them, & said vnto them, With men this is impossible, but with God all things are possible.

27 ¶ Then answered Peter, and said to him, Behold, we haue forsaken all, and followed thee: what therefore shall we haue?

28 ¶ And Iesus said vnto them, Verely I say to you, that when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his Maiestie, ye which followed me in the regeneration, shall sit also vpon twelue thrones, and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel.

29 And whosoever shall forsake houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my Names sake, he shall receiue an hundred fold more, and shall inherite euertlasting life.

30 ¶ But many that are first, shalbe last, and the last shalbe first.

31 To haue begun wel, and not to continue vnto the end, doth but also hurteth very much.

Labourers hired into the vineyard. 15 The euill eye. 17 Hee foretelleth his passion. 20 Zebedee sonnes. 22 The cup. 23 Christ is our minister. 30 Two blind men.

¶ Or the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine housholder, which went out at the dawning of the day to hire labourers into his vineyard.

2 And he agreed with the labourers for a penie a day, and sent them into his vineyard.

3 And he went out about the third houre, and saw other standing idle in the market place,

4 And saide vnto them, Goe yee also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, I will giue you: and they went their way.

5 Againe he went out about the sixth & ninth houre, and did likewise.

6 And hee went about the eleventh houre, and found other standing idle, & said vnto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle?

7 They saide vnto him, Because no man hath hired vs. Hee saide to them, Goe yee also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, that shall ye receiue.

8 ¶ And when euen was come, the master of the vineyard said vnto his steward, Call the labourers, & giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first.

9 And they which were hired about the eleventh houre,

21 And Iesus answered and sayd vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, if ye haue faith, & I doubt not, ye shall not only doe that, which I haue done to the figtree, but also if ye say vnto this moun- taine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, it shall be done.

22 And whatsoever ye shall aske in prayer if ye beleue, ye shall receiue it.

23 And when he was come into the Tem- ple, the chiefe Priestes, and the Elders of the people came vnto him, as hee was teaching, and sayd, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authority?

24 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, I also will aske of you a certaine thing, which if ye tell me, I likewise will tell you by what authority I doe these things.

25 The baptisme of Iohn, whence was it? from heauen, or of men? Then they reasoned among themselves, saying, If wee shall say, From heauen, he will say vnto vs, Why did yee not then beleue him?

26 And if we say, Of men, we feare the multi- tude, for all hold Iohn as a Prophet.

27 Then they answered Iesus, and said, We can not tell. And he said vnto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I doe these things.

28 But what thinke yee? A certaine man had two sonnes, and came to the elder, and sayde, Sonne, goe and worke to day in my vineyard.

29 But hee answered, and said, I will not: yet afterward he repented himselfe, and went.

30 Then came he to the second, and said like- wise. And he answered, and said, I will, Sir: yet he went not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the wil of the father? They sayd vnto him, The first. Iesus sayd vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, that the Publica- nes and the harlots goe before you into the kingdome of God.

32 For Iohn came vnto you in the way of righteousnesse, and yee beleued him not: but the Publicanes and the harlots beleued him, and ye, though ye saw it, were not moued with repen- tance afterward, that ye might beleue him.

33 Heare another parable, There was a certaine housholder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and made a wine- presse therein, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

34 And when the time of the fruit drew neere, he sent his seruants to the husbandmen to receiue the fruits thereof.

35 And the husbandmen tooke his seruants, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned an- other.

36 Again he sent other seruants, moe then the first: and they did the like vnto them.

37 But last of all hee sent vnto them his owne sonne, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen saw the sonne, they sayd among themselves, This is the heire: come, let vs kil him, & let vs take his inheritance.

39 So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

40 When therefore the Lorde of the vineyard shall come, what will hee doe to those husband- men?

41 They sayd vnto him, Hee will cruelly de- stroy those wicked men, and will let out his vine- yard vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliuer him the fruits in their seasons.

42 Iesus said vnto them, Read yee neuer in the Scriptures, The stone which the builders re- fused, the same is made the head of the corner?

This was the Lords doing, and it is marueilous in our eyes.

43 Therefore I say vnto you, The kingdome of God shall be taken from you, and shalbe giuen to a nation, which shall bring forth the fruits thereof.

44 And whosoever shall fall on this stone, he shall bee broken: but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will dash him in pieces.

45 And when the chiefe Priestes and Pharises had heard his parables, they perceiued that hee spake of them.

The parable of the marriage. 9 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 The wedding garment, faith. 16 Of Celars tribute. 23 They question with Christ touching the resurrection. 32 God of the living. 36 The greatest commandment 37 To love God. 39 To love our neighbour. 42 Iesus reasoneth with the Pharises touching the Iustitia.

Then Iesus answered, and spake vnto them againe in parables, saying,

The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a cer- taine King which married his sonne,

And sent forth his seruants, to call them that were bidde to the wedding, but they would not come.

4 Again he sent forth other seruants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I haue pre- pared my dinner: mine oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready: come vnto the marriage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his merchandise.

6 And the remnant tooke his seruants, and intreated them sharply, and slew them.

7 But when the king heard it, he was wroth, and sent forth his warriours, and destroyed those murderers, and burnt vp their citie.

8 Then sayd hee to his seruants, Truly the wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

9 Go yee therefore out into the hie wayes, and as many as ye find, bid them to the marriage.

10 So those seruants went out into the high wayes, and gathered together all that euer they found, both good and bad: so the wedding was furnished with ghefts.

11 Then the king came in, to see the ghefts, and saw there a man which had not on a wedding garment.

12 And he said vnto him, Friend, how camest thou in hither, and hast not on a wedding garment? And he was speechlesse.

13 Then said the King to the seruants, Bind him hand and foote, take him away, and cast him into utter darkenesse: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

14 For many are called, but few chosen.

15 Then went the Pharises and tooke counsell how they might tangle him in talke.

16 And they sent vnto him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, Master, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God truly, neither carest for any man: for thou considerest not the person of men.

17 Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to giue tribute vnto Cesar, or not?

18 But Iesus perceiued their wickednesse, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shewe mee the tribute money. And they brought him a penny.

20 And hee said vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription?

21 They saide vnto him, Cefars. Then said he vnto them, Giue therefore to Cesar, the things which are Cefars, & giue vnto God, those things which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, they marueiled, and left him, and went their way.

23 The same day, the Sadduces came to him, (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him,

24 Saying, Master, Moses said, If a man die, hauing no children, his brother shall marrie his wife by the right of alliance, and raise vp seede vpon his brother.

25 Nowe there were with vs seuen brethren, and the first married a wife, and deceased: and hauing no issue, left his wife vnto his brother.

26 Likewise also the second, and the third, vnto the seuenth.

27 And last of all the woman died also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? for all had her.

29 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Ye are deceived, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the resurrection they neither marrie wiues, nor wines are bestowed in marriage, but are as the Angels of God in heauen.

31 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not read what is spoken vnto you of God, saying, 32 I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing.

33 And when the multitude heard it, they were astonished at his doctrine.

34 But when the Pharises had heard, that hee had put the Sadduces to silence, they assented together.

35 And one of them, which was an expounder of the Lawe, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying,

36 Master, which is the great commandment in the Law?

37 Iesus said to him, Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy mind.

38 This is the first and the great commandment.

39 And the second is like vnto this, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

40 On these two commandments hangeth the whole Law and the Prophets.

41 While the Pharises were gathered together, Iesus asked them, 42 Saying, What thinke ye of Christ? whose sonne is he? They said vnto him, Dauids.

43 He said vnto them, How then doeth David in spirit, call him Lord, saying, 44 The Lord saide to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool?

45 If then David call him Lord, how is he his sonne?

46 And none could answere him a word, neither durst any from that day forth aske him any more questions.

10 And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.

11 And many false prophets shall arise, & shall deceive many.

12 And because iniquitie shall be increased, the loue of many shall be colde.

13 ¶ But he that endureth to the end, he shall be saved.

14 And this Gospel of the kingdom shall be preached through the whole world, & then shall the end come.

15 ¶ When ye therefore shall see the abomination of desolation spoken of by Daniel the Prophet, set in the holy place (let him that readeth consider it)

16 Then let them which be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines.

17 Let him which is on the house toppe, not come downe to fetch any thing out of his house.

18 And hee that is in the field, let not him returne backe to fetch his clothes.

19 And wo shall be to them that are with child, and to them that give sucke in those dayes.

20 But pray that your flight bee not in the winter, neither on the Sabbath day.

21 For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not from the beginning of the world to this time, nor shall be.

22 And except those dayes should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but for the elects sake those dayes shall be shortened.

23 ¶ Then if any shall say vnto you, Loe, here is Christ, or there, beleuee it not.

24 For there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall shew great signes and wonders, so that if it were possible, they should deceive the very elect.

25 Behold, I haue told you before.

26 Wherefore if they shall say vnto you, Behold, he is in the desert, goe not forth: Behold, he is in the secret places, beleuee it not.

27 For as the lightning cometh out of the East, and is seene into the West, so shall also the coming of the Sonne of man be.

28 ¶ For where soeuer a dead carke is, thither will the Eagles be gathered together.

29 ¶ And immediately after the tribulations of those dayes, shall the sunne be darkened, and the moone shall not giue her light, and the starres shall fall from heauen, and the powers of heauen shall be shaken.

30 And then shall appeare the signe of the Sonne of man in heauen: and then shall all the kindreds of the earth mourne, and they shall see the Sonne of man come in the cloudes of heauen with power and great glory.

31 ¶ And he shall send his Angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect, from the foure windes, and from the 32 ¶ Now learne the parable of the figge tree: when her bough is yet tender, and it putteth forth leaues, ye know that sommer is neere.

33 So likewise ye, when ye see all these things, know that the kingdom of God is neere, euen at the doores.

34 Verely I say vnto you, this generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.

35 ¶ Heauen and earth shall passe away: but my wordes shall not passe away.

36 ¶ But of that day & houre knoweth no man: no not the Angels of heauen, but my Father only.

37 But as the dayes of Noe were, so likewise shall the coming of the Sonne of man be.

38 ¶ For as in the dayes before the flood, they did eate and drinke, marrie, and giue in marriage, vnto the day that Noe entred into the Arke, 39 And knew nothing till the flood came, and tooke them all away, so shall also the coming of the Sonne of man be.

40 ¶ Then two shall be in the fields, the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be refused.

41 ¶ Two women shall be grinding at the mill: the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be refused.

42 ¶ Watch therefore: for yee knowe not what houre your master will come.

43 ¶ Of this bee sure, that if the good man of the house knewe at what watch the thiefe would come, he would surely watch, and not suffer his house to be digged through.

44 Therefore be ye also ready: for in the houre that ye thinke not, will the Sonne of man come.

45 ¶ Who then is a faithfull seruant and wise, whom his master hath made ruler ouer his household, to giue them meate in season?

4 But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.

5 Now while the bridegrome taried long, all b slumbered and slept.

6 And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegrome commeth: goe out to meet him.

7 Then all those virgins arole and trimmed their lampes.

8 And the foolish said to the wise, Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so, lest there will not be ynough for vs and you: but goe ye rather to them that sell, & buy for your selues.

10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrome came: and they that were ready, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

11 Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

12 But he answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, I know you not.

13 Watch therefore: for ye know neither the day, nor y<sup>e</sup> houre, when the Sonne of mā wil come.

14 For the kingdome of heauen is as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his seruants, and deliuered to them his goods.

15 And vnto one he gaue fīue talents, and to another two, and to another one, to euery man after his own ability, and straightway went from home.

16 Then he that had receiued the fīue talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other fīue talents.

17 Likewise also he that receiued two, he also gained other two.

18 But hee that receiued that one, went and digged in the earth, and hid his masters money.

19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came hee that had receiued fīue talents, and brought other fīue talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me fīue talents: behold, I haue gained with them other fīue talents.

21 Then his master sayd vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in litle, I wil make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy.

22 Also hee that had receiued two talents, came, and sayd, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me two talents: behold, I haue gained two other talents more.

23 His master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant, and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in litle, I wil make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy.

24 Then hee that had receiued the one talent, came, and sayd, Master, I knew that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawedst not:

25 I was therefore afraid, and went, & hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne.

26 And his master answered, and said vnto him, Thou euil seruant, and slothfull, thou knewest that I reape where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.

27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming should I haue receiued mine owne with vantage.

28 Take therefore the talent from him, and give it vnto him which hath ten talents.

29 For vnto euery man that hath, it shall be giuen, and he shall haue abundance, and from him that hath not, euen that hee hath shall be taken away.

30 Cast therefore that vnprofitable seruant into viter & darknesse: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

31 And when the Sonne of man commeth in his glory, and all the holy Angels with him, then shall he sit vpon the throne of his glory,

32 And before him shall be gathered all nations, and he shall separate them one from another as a shepherd separateth the sheepe from the goats.

33 And hee shall set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goats on the left.

34 Then shall the king say to them on his right hand, Come ye blessed of my Father: take the inheritance of the kingdome prepared for you from the foundation of the world.

35 For I was an hungred, and yee gaue mee meate: I thirsted, and yee gaue me drinke: I was a stranger, and yee tooke me in vnto you.

36 I was naked, and yee clothed mee: I was sicke, and yee visited me: I was in prison, and yee came vnto me.

37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or athirst, and gaue thee drinke?

38 And when saw we thee a stranger, & tooke thee in vnto vs? or naked, and clothed thee?

39 Or when saw we thee sicke, or in prison, and came vnto thee?

40 And the King shall answer, and say vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, in as much as yee haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, ye haue done it to me.

41 Then shall he say to them on the left hand, Depart from me ye cursed, into euerlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuill and his angels.

42 For I was an hungred, and yee gaue me no meate: I thirsted, and yee gaue me no drinke:

44 Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sicke, or in prison, and did not minister vnto thee?

45 Then shall he answer them, and say, Verely I say vnto you, in as much as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me.

4 And consulted together that they might take Iesus by subtilty, and kill him.

5 But they sayd, Not on the <sup>a</sup> feast day, lest a ny vtore be among the people.

6 ¶ <sup>3</sup> And when Iesus was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper, 7 ¶ There came vnto him a woman, which had a <sup>c</sup> boxe of very costly oyntment, and powred it on his head, as he sate at the table.

8 And when his <sup>d</sup> disciples sawe it, they had indignation, saying, What needeth this <sup>e</sup> wastef?

9 For this ointment might haue bene sold for much, and bene giuen to the poore.

10 ¶ And Iesus knowing it, sayd vnto them, Why trouble yee this woman? for shee hath wrought a good worke vpon me.

11 ¶ For yee haue the poore alwayes with you, but me shall ye not haue alwayes.

12 For <sup>f</sup> in that she powred this ointment on my body, she did it to burie me.

13 Verely I say vnto you, wheresoeuer this Gospel shalbe preached throughout al the world, there shall also this that she hath done, be spoken of for a memoriall of her.

14 ¶ Then one of the twelue, called Iudas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe Priests, 15 And sayd, What will ye giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? And they appointed vnto him thirtie <sup>g</sup> pieces of siluer?

16 And from that time, he sought opportunitie to betray him.

17 ¶ Now <sup>g</sup> on the first day of the feast of vneleuened bread, the disciples came to Iesus, saying vnto him, Where wilt thou that wee prepare for thee to eat the Passeouer?

18 And he sayd, Goe ye into the citie to such a man, and say to him, The Master saith, My time is at hand: I will keepe the Passeouer at thine house with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did as Iesus had giuen charge, and made ready the Passeouer.

20 ¶ So when the euen was come, hee <sup>h</sup> sate downe with the twelue.

21 And as they did eat, he sayd, ¶ Verely, I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorrowfull, and began euery one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master?

23 And hee answered and sayd, ¶ Hee that i dipeth his hand with mee in the dish, hee shall betray me.

24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is writen of him: but wo be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good forthat man, if he had neuer bene borne.

25 Then Iudas <sup>k</sup> which betrayed him, answered, and sayd, Is it I, master? He sayd vnto him, Thou hast sayd it.

26 ¶ <sup>7</sup> And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had <sup>l</sup> blessed, he brake it, and gaue it to his disciples, and sayd, Take, eate: <sup>m</sup> this is my body.

27 Also he tooke the cup, and when he had giuen thanks, he gaue it to them, saying, Drinke ye <sup>n</sup> all of it.

28 ¶ For this is my blood of the <sup>p</sup> new Testament that is shed for many, for the remission of finnes.

29 I say vnto you that I will not drinke henceforth of this fruit of the vine vntil that day, when I shal drinke it new with you in my Fathers kingdom.

30 And when they had sung <sup>q</sup> a Psalm, they went out into the mount of Olues.

31 ¶ <sup>4</sup> Then sayd Iesus vnto them, All yee shall be offended by me this night: for it is writen, I: wil smite the shepherd, and the sheepe of the flocke shalbe scattered.

32 But <sup>r</sup> after I am risen againe, I will goe before you into Galile.

33 But Peter answered, and sayd vnto him, Though that all men should be offended by thee, yet will I neuer be offended.

34 ¶ Iesus sayd vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denie me thrise.

35 Peter sayd vnto him, Though I should die with thee, I will in no case denie thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.

36 ¶ <sup>9</sup> Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, and layd vnto his disciples, Sit yee here, while I goe and pray yonder.

37 And he tooke vnto him Peter, and the two sonnes of Zebedee, and began to waxe sorrowfull, and <sup>s</sup> grievously troubled.

38 ¶ Then sayd Iesus vnto them, My soule is very heauie, <sup>t</sup> euen vnto the death: tarie yee here, and watch with me.

39 So he went a litle further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, <sup>u</sup> let this <sup>v</sup> cup passe from mee: neuerthelesse, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 ¶ After, hee came vnto the disciples, and found them asleepe, and said to Peter, What, could ye not watch with me one houre?

<sup>k</sup> Whose head was about washing else but to betray him.

<sup>l</sup> Marke saith, Had giuen thanks: and therefore blessing is not a consecrating, with a censuring kinde of murmuring and force of words: and yet the bread and the wine are changed, not in nature, but in quality: for they become vndoubted tokens of the body and blood of Christ, not of their owne nature or force of words, but by Christ his institution, which must be received and layd forth as a frith may find, what to lay hold on, both in the word & in the elements.

<sup>m</sup> This is a figurative speech, which is called Metonymia: that is to say, the putting of one name for another: by calling the bread his body, which is the figure and sacrament of his body: & yet notwithstanding it is so a figurative and changed kinde of speech, as the faithful do receive Christ indeed with all his gifts (though by a spiritual mean) and become one with him.

<sup>n</sup> Therefore they which tooke away the cup from the people did against Christ his institution.

<sup>o</sup> To wit, this cup or wine is my blood sacramentally, as Luke 22. 20.

<sup>p</sup> Or, covenant; that is to say, whereby the new league and covenant is made, for in making of leagues, they used powring of wine, and shedding of blood.

<sup>q</sup> When they had made an ende of their solemn singing, which some thinke was fixe Psalmes, beginning at the 112. to the 117.

<sup>r</sup> Christ being more carefull of his disciples then of himselfe, forewarneth them of their flight, and putteth them in better comfort.

<sup>v</sup> The word which hee useth, signifieth great sorrow, and marvellous and deadly griefe: which sting, as it becometh the truth of mans nature, which sheweth death as a thing that entred in against nature, so it is the neth that though Christ were voyde of sinne, yet hee sustained this horrible punishment, because he felt the wrath of God kindled against vs for sinne, which hee reuenged and punished in his person.

<sup>w</sup> Christ a true man, going about to suffer the punishment which was due vnto vs, for forsaking God, is forsaken of his owne: he hath a terrible conflict with the horror and feare of the curse of God: out of which hee escapeth a conquerour, causeth vs not to be afraid any more of death.

 42 Again he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup cannot passe away from me, but that I must drinke it, thy will be done.
 43 And hee came and found them asleepe againe, for their eyes were heauy.
 44 So he left them, and went away againe, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.
 45 Then came he to his disciples, and sayd vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: beholde, the houre is at hand, and the Sonne of man is giuen into the hands of sinners.
 46 Rise, let vs go: beholde, he is at hand that betrayeth me.
 47 And while he yet spake, loe, Iudas one of the twelue came, and with him a great multitude with swords and stauces, from the hie Priests and Elders of the people.
 48 Now he that betrayed him had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kisse, that is he, lay hold on him.
 49 And forthwith he came to Iesus, and sayd, God saue thee, Master, and kissed him.
 50 Then Iesus sayde vnto him, Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they, and layd hands on Iesus, and tooke him.
 51 And beholde, one of them, which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and stroke a seruant of the hie Priest, and smote off his eare.
 52 Then sayd Iesus vnto him, Put vp thy sword into his place: for all that take the sword, shall perish with the sword.
 53 Either thinkest thou, that I cannot now pray to my Father, and hee will giue me more then twelue legions of Angels?
 54 How then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?
 55 The same houre sayd Iesus to the multitude, Yee be come out as it were against a thiefe, with swords and stauces to take mee: I fate daily teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.
 56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled. Then all the disciples forsooke him, and fled.
 57 And they tooke Iesus, and led him to Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.
 58 And Peter followed him afarre off vnto the hie Priests hall, and went in and fate with the seruants to see the end.
 59 Nowe the chiefe Priests and the Elders, and all the whole Council sought false witness against Iesus, to put him to death.
 60 But they found none, and though many false witnesses came, yet found they none: but at the last came two false witnesses, 61 And sayd, This man sayde, I can destroy the Temple of God, and builde it in three dayes.
 62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and sayd to him, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witness against thee?
 63 But Iesus helde his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and sayd to him, I charge thee sweare vnto vs by the liuing God, to tell vs, If thou be that Christ the Sonne of God, or no.

64 Iesus sayd to him, Thou hast sayd it: neuertheless I say vnto you, Hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man sitting at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of the heauen.
 65 Then the hie Priest sent his clothes, saying, He hath blasphemed, What haue we any more neede of witnesses? behold, now yee haue heard his blasphemie.
 66 What thinke ye? They answered, and sayd, He is guiltie of death.
 67 Then spat they in his face, and buffeted him, and other smote him with rods, 68 Saying, Prophesie to vs, O Christ, Who is he that smote thee?
 69 Peter fate without in the hall, and a maide came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galile:
 70 But hee denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.
 71 And when hee went out into the porch, another maide saw him, and sayd vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazareth.
 72 And againe he denied with an othe, saying, I know not the man.
 73 So after a while came vnto him they that stood by, and sayd vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speech bewrayeth thee.
 74 Then began hee to curse himselfe, and to sweare, saying, I know not the man. And immediately the cocke crew.

C H A P. XXVII.

1 He is delivered bound to Pilate. 2 Judas hangeth himselfe. 3 Pilates wife. 4 Barabbas is asked. 5 Pilate washeth his hands. 6 Christ is crowned with thornes. 7 Hee is crucified. 8 Reulid. 9 He giueth up the ghost. 10 He is buried. 11 The soldiers watch him.
 12 When the morning was come, all the chiefe Priests, and the Elders of the people tooke counsell against Iesus, to put him to death, 13 And led him away bound, and deliuered him vnto Pontius Pilate the gouernour.
 14 Then when Iudas which betrayed him, saw that he was condemned, he repented himselfe, and brought againe the thirtie peces of siluer to the chiefe Priests, and Elders, 15 Saying, I haue sinned, betraying the innocent blood. But they sayd, What is that to vs? see thou to it.
 16 And when he had cast downe the siluer peces in the Temple, he departed, and went, and hanged himselfe.
 17 And the chiefe Priests tooke the siluer peces, and sayd, It is not lawfull for vs to put them into the treasure, because it is the price of blood.
 18 And they tooke counsell, and bought with them a potters field for the buriall of strangers.
 19 Wherefore that field is called, The field of blood, vntill this day.

by Jeremias the Prophet, saying, ¶ And they tooke thirty silver pieces, the price of him that was valued, who they of the children of Israel valued.

10 And they gaue them for the potters field, as the Lord appointed me.)

11 ¶ And Iesus stood before the gouernour, and the gouernour asked him, saying, Art thou that King of the Iewes? Iesus sayde vnto him, Thou sayest it.

12 And when hee was accused of the chiefe Priests, and Elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then sayd Pilate vnto him, Hearst thou not how many things they lay against thee?

14 But he answered him not to one word, in so much that the gouernour marueiled greatly.

15 ¶ Now at y<sup>e</sup> feast the gouernour was wont to deliuer vnto the people a prisoner whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner called Barabbas.

17 When they were then gathered together, Pilate sayd vnto them, Whether will ye that I let loose vnto you Barabbas, or Iesus which is called Christ?

18 (For he knew well, that for enuie they had deliuered him.)

19 Also when hee was set downe vpon the iudgement seat, his wife sent to him, saying, Haue thou nothing to do with that iust man: for I haue suffered many things this day in a dreame by reason of him.)

20 ¶ But the chiefe Priests and the Elders had perwaded the people that they should aske Barabbas, and should destroy Iesus.

21 Then the gouernour answered, and sayde vnto them, Whether of the twaine wil ye that I let loose vnto you? And they sayd, Barabbas.

22 Pilate said vnto them, What shal I do then with Iesus, which is called Christ? They all sayd to him, Iet him be crucified.

23 Then sayd the gouernour, But what euill hath he done? Then they cried the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

24 ¶ When Pilate saw that he auailed nothing, but that more tumult was made, hee tooke water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this iust man: looke you to it.

25 Then answered all the people, & said, His blood be on vs, and on our children.

26 Thus let he Barabbas loose vnto them, and scourged Iesus, and deliuered him to be crucified.

27 ¶ Then the souldiers of the gouernour tooke Iesus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band,

28 ¶ And they stripped him, and put about him a skarlet robe,

29 And platted a crowne of thornes, and put it vpon his head, and a reede in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God saue thee, King of the Iewes,

30 And spitted vpon him, and tooke a reede, and smote him on the head.

31 Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne rayment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32 ¶ And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his crosse.

33 ¶ And when they came vnto y<sup>e</sup> place called Golgotha (y<sup>e</sup> is to say, the place of dead mens skulls)

34 ¶ They gaue him vinegar to drinke, mingled with gall: and when hee had tasted thereof, hee would not drinke.

35 ¶ And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did cast lots, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, ¶ They diuided my garments among them, and vpon my vesture did cast lots.

36 And they sate and watched him there.

37 ¶ They set vp also ouer his head his cause written, THIS IS IESVS THE KING OF THE IEWES.

38 ¶ And there were two thieues crucified wth him, one on the right hand, & another on the left.

39 ¶ And they that passed by, reuiled him, wagging their heads, 40 And saying, ¶ Thou that destroyest the Temple, and buidest it in three dayes, saue thy selfe: if thou be the Sonne of God, come downe from the crosse.

41 Likewise also the hie Priests mocking him, with the Scribes, and Elders, and Pharises, sayd, 42 He saued others, but hee cannot saue himselfe: if he be the king of Israel, let him now come downe from the crosse, & we wil beleue in him.

43 ¶ Hee trusted in God, let him deliuer him now, if hee will haue him: for hee sayd, I am the Sonne of God.

44 The selfe same thing also the thieues which were crucified with him, cast in his teeth.

45 ¶ Now fro the sixth houre was there darkness ouer all the land, vnto the ninth houre.

46 And about the ninth houre Iesus cried wth a loud voice, saying, ¶ Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? y<sup>e</sup> is, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

47 And some of them that stood there, when they heard it, sayd, This man calleth ¶ Elias.

48 And straightway one of them raune, and tooke a sponge, and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke.

49 Other sayd, Let bee: let vs see if Elias will come and saue him.

50 ¶ Then Iesus cryed againe with a loude voyce, and yeldd vp the ghost.

51 ¶ And behold, ¶ the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottome, and the earth did quake, & the stones were clouen.

52 And the graues did open themselves, and many bodies of the Saints, which slept, arose, 53 And came out of the graues after his resurrection, and went into the holy city, and appeared vnto many.

54 When the Centurion, and they that were with him, watching Iesus, saw the earthquake, and the things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truly this was the Sonne of God.

55 ¶ And many women were there, beholding him afarre off, which had followed Iesus from Galile, ministring vnto him.

56 Among whom was Marie Magdalene, and ¶ They compelled Simon to beare his burden some crosse, whereby it appeareth that Iesus was so sore handled before, that hee fainted by the way, and was not able to beare his crosse thorow: for Iohn writeth that hee did beare the crosse, so wit as the beginning.

11 Then there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

12 ¶ And immediatly the Spirit driueth him into the wilderneffe.

13 And hee was there in the wilderneffe fourtie dayes, and was tempted of Satan: he was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministred vnto him.

14 ¶ Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching the Gospel of the kingdome of God.

15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleue the Gospel.

16 ¶ And as he walked by the sea of Galile, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea, (for they were fishers.)

17 Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you to be fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 ¶ And when hee had gone a little further thence, hee saw Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the shippe with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 ¶ So they entred into Capernaum: and straightway on the Sabbath day hee entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonied at his doctrine, for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 ¶ And there was in their Synagogue a man in whom was an vnclane spirite, and hee cried out, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue we to do with thee, O Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou art, euen that holy One of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vnclane spirite tare him, and cried with a loud voyce, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, so that they demanded one of another, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for hee commandeth euen the foule spirits with authority, and they obey him.

28 And immediatly his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile.

29 ¶ And as soone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with Iames and Iohn.

30 And Simons wiues mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they told him of her.

31 And hee came and tooke her by the hand, and lifted her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and she ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, at what time the Sunne setteth, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with deuils.

33 And the whole citie was gathered together at the doore.

34 And he healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and hee cast out many deuils, and suffred not the deuils to say that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed carefully after him.

37 And when they had found him, they sayd vnto him, All men seeke for thee.

38 Then he said vnto them, Let vs go into the next townes, that I may preach there also: for I came out for that purpose.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galile, and cast the deuils out.

40 ¶ And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeled downe vnto him, and sayd to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make mee cleane.

41 And Iesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I will be thou cleane.

42 And as soone as he had spoken, immediatly the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

43 And after he had giuen him a straight commandement, he sent him away forthwith, 44 ¶ And sayd vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing those things which Moyses commanded, for a testimoniall vnto them.

45 But when he was departed, hee began to tel many things, and to publish the matter: so that Iesus could no more openly enter into the city, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from euery quarter.

3 and 4 One sicke of the palsey, hauing his finnes forgiven him, is healed. 14 Mathew is called. 19 Fastings and afflictions are foretold. 23 The Disciples plucke the eares of corne. 26 The shewbread.

After a few dayes, he entred into Capernaum againe, and it was noyed that hee was in the house.

2 And anon many gathered together, insomuch, that the places about the doore could not receiue any more: and he preached the word vnto them.

3 And there came vnto him, that brought one sicke of the palsey, borne of foure men.

4 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncouered the rooffe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed, wherein the sicke of the palsey lay.

5 Now when Iesus saw their faith, he sayd to the sicke of the palsey, Sonne, thy finnes are forgiven thee.

6 And there were certaine of the Scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

7 Why doeth this man speake such blasphemies? who can forgive finnes, but God onely?

8 And immediatly, when Iesus perceived in his spirit, that thus they reasoned with themselues, he sayd vnto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

9 Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palsey, Thy finnes are forgiven thee? or to say, Arise, take vp thy bed, and walke?

10 But that yee may know, that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgive finnes, he sayd vnto the sicke of the palsey, 11 I say vnto thee, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and get thee hence into thine owne house.

12 And by and by hee arose, and tooke vp his bed,

15 ¶ And it came to paſſe, as Ieſus ſate at table in his houſe, many Publicanes and ſinners ſate at table alſo with Ieſus, and his diſciples. for there were many that followed him.

16 And when the Scribes & Pharifees ſaw him them, The whole haue no neede of the Phyſician, but the ſicke. 4 I came not to call the righteous, but the ſinners to repentance.

18 ¶ And the diſciples of Iohn, and the Phathy diſciples faſt not?

19 And Ieſus ſaid vnto them, Can the children

And ¶ he entred againe into the Synagogue, and there was a man which had a withered hand.

2 And they watched him, whether he would heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might ac-cuſe him.

3 Then hee ſayd vnto the man which had the withered hand, Ariſe: ſtand forth in the middes.

4 And hee ſayd to them, Is it lawfull to doe a good deed on the Sabbath day, or to doe euill? to ſaue the life, or to kill? But they held their peace.

5 Then he looked round about on them an-gerly, mourning alſo for the hardneſſe of their hearts, and ſayd to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he ſtretched it out: and his hand was reſtored as whole as the other.

6 ¶ And the Pharifees departed, and ſtraightway gathered a counsell with the Herodians a-gainſt him, that they might deſtroy him.

7 But Ieſus auoyded with his diſciples to the ſea: and a great multitude folowed him from Galilee, and from Iudea,

8 And from Ieruſalem, and from Idumea, and beyond Iordan: and they that dwelled about Tyruſ & Sidon, when they had heard what great things hee did, came vnto him in great number.

9 And hee commaunded his diſciples, that a little ſhip ſhould waite for him, becauſe of the multitude, leſt they ſhould throng him.

10 For hee had healed many, inſomuch that they preſſed vpon him to touch him, as many as had plagues.

CHAP. IIII.

4 The parable of the sower, 14 And the meaning thereof. 18 The candle. 21 The candle. 26 Of him that loveth, & then sleepeth. 31 The graine of mustard seed. 38 Christ sleepeth in the ship.

¶ And he began againe to teach by the sea side, and there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that hee entred into a ship, and fate in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the land.

2 And hee taught them many things in parables, and said vnto them in his doctrine,

3 Hearken: Behold, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the fowles of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp.

5 And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But as soone as the Sunne was vp, it was burnt vp, and because it had not root, it withered away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruit.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and did yelde fruit that sprang vp, and it grew, and it brought forth, some thurtie fold, some sixtie fold, and some an hundred fold.

9 Then he said vnto them, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when hee was alone, they that were about him with the twelve, asked him of the parable.

11 And he said vnto them, To you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are without, all things bee done in parables, 12 That they seeing, may see, and not discern: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their finnes should be forgiven them.

13 Againe he said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? how then should ye vnderstand all other parables?

14 The sower soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receiue the seede by the wayes side, in whom the word is sown:

but when they haue heard it, Satan commeth immediately, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receiue the seede in stony ground, are they which when they haue heard the word, straightwayes receiue it with gladnesse.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themselves, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediately they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the seede among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued seed in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, and bring forth fruit: one cometh thurtie, an other sixtie, and some an hundred.

21 ¶ Also hee sayd vnto them, ¶ Commeth the candle in, to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlestick?

22 ¶ For there is nothing hid, that shal not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shal come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 ¶ And he sayd vnto them, Take heed what ye heare. ¶ With what measure you mete, it shal be measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shal more be giuen.

25 ¶ For vnto him that hath, shal it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shal be taken away, euen that he hath.

26 ¶ Also he sayd, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seed in the ground, 27 And he should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the seed should spring and grow vp, hee not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth forth fruit of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full cometh in the eares.

29 And as soone as the fruit sheweth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.

30 ¶ He sayd moreover, Whereunto shal wee liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shal we compare it?

31 It is like a graine of mustard seede, which when it is sown in the earth, is the least of all seeds that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sown, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the fowles of the heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And with many such parables he preached the word vnto them, as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake hee nothing vnto them: but hee expounded all things to his disciples apart.

35 ¶ Nowe the same day when euen was come, he sayd vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, and tooke him as he was in the shippe, and there were also with him other little ships.

37 And there arose a great storme of winde, and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And hee was in the sterne asleepe on a pillow:

2 One possessed is healed. 7 The deuill acknowledgeth Christ. 9 A Legion of deuils 13 entred into swine. 22 Iairus daughter. 25 A woman is healed of a bloody issue. 26 Physicians. 34 Faith. 39 Sleep.

And <sup>a</sup> they came ouer to the other side of the sea into the country of the Gadarens.

2 And when hee was come out of the shippe, there met him incontinently out of the graues, a man <sup>b</sup> which had an vnclane spirit:

3 Who had his abiding among the graues, and no man could bind him, no not with chaines;

4 Because that when hee was often bound with fetters and chaines, hee plucked the chaines asunder, and brake the fetters in pieces, neither could any man tame him.

5 And alwayes both night and day he cryed in the mountaines, and in the graues, and strooke himselfe with stones.

6 And when he saw Iesus afarre off, he ranne, and worshipped him,

7 And cryed with a loude voyce, and sayde, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the Sonne of the most High God? I will that thou sweare to me by God, that thou torment me not.

8 (For hee sayd vnto him, Come out of the man, thou vnclane spirit.)

9 And he asked him, What is thy name? and he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for wee are many.

10 And hee <sup>d</sup> prayed him instantly, that hee would not fend them away out of the country.

11 Now there was there in the mountaines a great heard of swine feeding.

12 And al the deuils besought him, saying, Send vs into the swine, that we may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Iesus gaue them leaue. Then the vnclane spirits went out and entred into the swine, and the heard ranne headlong from the high banke into the sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were choked vp in the sea.

14 And the swineheards fled, and told it in the cite, and in the country, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and saw him that had bene possessed with the deuill, and had the legion, sit both clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

16 And they that saw it, told them, what was done to him that was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that he would depart from their coasts.

18 And when hee was come into the ship, hee that had bene possessed with the deuill, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Iesus would not suffer him, but sayd vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and shewe them what great things the Lorde hath done vnto thee, and howe hee hath had compassion on thee.

20 So hee departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done to him: and all men did maruella.

21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered together to him, and hee was neere vnto the sea,

22 ¶ And behold, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Iairus: and when he saw him, he fell downe at his feete, 23 And besought him instantly, saying, My little daughter lieth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine hands on her, that she may be healed and liue.

24 Then he went with him, and a great multitude followed him and thronged him.

25 ¶ And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres,

16 And had suffered many things of many Physicians, and had spent all that she had, and it auailed her nothing, but she became much worse.

27 When she had heard of Iesus, shee came in the prease behind, and touched his garment.

28 For she said, If I may but touch his clothes, I shall be whole.

29 And straightway the course of her blood was dried vp, and shee felt in her body, that shee was healed of that plague.

30 And immediatly when Iesus did know in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, hee turned him round about in the prease, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples sayd vnto him, Thou seest the multitude throng thee, and sayest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And he looked round about to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for shee knew what was done in her, and shee came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole trueth.

34 And he sayd to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: go in peace, and be whole of thy plague.

35 While hee yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which sayd, Thy daughter is dead, why diseatest thou the matter any further?

36 ¶ Assoone as Iesus heard that word spoken, he sayd vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely beleue.

37 And he suffered no man to follow him: saue Peter and Iames, and Iohn the brother of Iames.

38 So hee came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and saw the tumult, and thena that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And hee went in, and said vnto them, Why make ye this trouble, and weepe? the child is not dead, but sleepeth.

40 ¶ And they laugh him to scorne: but hee put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the child, and them that were with him, and entred in where the child lay,

41 And tooke the child by the hand, and sayd vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Maiden, I say vnto thee, arise.

42 And straightway the mayden arose, and walked: for she was of the age of twelue yeeres, and they were astonied out of measure.

2 Christ preaching in his countrey, by ouer contemne him. 6 The vnbeliefe of the Nazarenes. 7 The Apostles are sent. 13 They cast out deuils: they anoynt the sicke with oyle. 14 Herodians opinion of Christ. 18 The cause of Iohns imprisonment. 22 Dauncing. 27 Iohn beheaded. 29 buried. 30 The Apostles returne from preaching. 34 Christ teacheth in the desert. 37 Hee feedeth the people with five loaves. 48 The Apostles are troubled on the sea. 56 The sicke that touch Christes garment, are healed.

And he departed thence, and came into his owne countrey, and his disciples followed him.

2 And when the Sabbath was come, he began to teach in the Synagogue, and many that heard him, were astonished, and saide, From whence hath this man these things? and what wisdom is this that is giue vnto him, that euen such a great works are done by his hands?

3 Is not this that carpeater Maries sonne, the brother of Iames and Ioses, and of Iuda and Simon? and are not his b sisters here with vs? And they were offended in him.

4 And Iesus saide vnto them, A Prophet is not without honour, but in his owne countrey, and among his owne kinned, and in his owne house.

5 And he could there doe no great workes, saue that he laid his hands vpon a few sicke folke, and healed them.

6 And he marvelled at their vnbeliefe, and went about by the townes on euery side, teaching.

7 ¶ And hee called vnto him the twelue, and began to send them forth two and two, and gaue them power ouer vnclene spirits,

8 ¶ And commaunded them that they should take nothing for their journey, saue a staffe onely: neither scrip, neither bread, neither money in their girdles:

9 But that they should be shod with sandals, and that they should not put on two coates.

10 And hee saide vnto them, Where soeuer yee shall enter into an house, & there abide till ye depart thence.

11 ¶ And whosoever shall not receiue you, nor heare you, when ye depart thence, shake off the dust that is vnder your feete, for a witnesse vnto them. Verely I say vnto you, It shalbe easier for Sodome, or Gomorrhah at the day of Iudgement, then for that citie.

12 ¶ And they went out, and preached, that men should amend their liues.

13 And they cast out many deuils: and they anoynted many that were sicke, with oyle, and healed them.

14 ¶ Then King Herod heard of him (for his Name was made manifest) and said, Iohn Baptist is risen againe from the dead, and therefore great workes are wrought by him.

15 Other said, It is Elias: and some said, It is a Prophet, or as one of those Prophets.

16 ¶ So when Herod heard it, he said, It is Iohn whom I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.

17 For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philips wife, because he had married her.

18 For Iohn said vnto Herod, ¶ It is not lawfull for thee to haue thy brothers wife.

19 Therefore Herodias laid wait against him, and would haue killed him, but she could not:

20 For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that hee was a iust man, and an holy, and reuerenced him, and when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him gladly.

21 But the time being conuenient, when Herod on his birthday made a banquet to his princes and captaines, and chiefe estates of Galilee:

22 And the daughter of the same Herodias came in, and danced, and pleased Herod, and them that sate at table together, the King said vnto the maid, Aske of me what thou wilt, and I will giue it thee.

23 And hee sware vnto her, Whatsoener thou shalt aske of me, I will giue it thee, euen vnto the halfe of my kingdome.

24 ¶ So she went forth, and said to her mother, What shall I aske? And she said, Iohn Baptists head.

25 Then shee came in straightway with haste vnto the King, and asked, saying, I would that thou shouldst giue me euen now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptiste.

26 Then the King was very sory: yet for his othes sake, and for their sakes which sate at table with him, he would not refuse her.

27 And immediatly the King sent the hangman, and gaue charge that his head should be brought in. So he went and beheaded him in the prison, 27 And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the maide, and the maide gaue it to her mother.

29 And when his disciples heard it, they came and tooke vp his body, and put it in a tombe.

30 ¶ And the Apostles gathered themselues together to Iesus, and tolde him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

31 ¶ And he saide vnto them, Come ye apart into the wilderness, and rest a while: for there were many commers and goers, that they had not leasure to eate.

32 ¶ So they went by ship out of the way into a desert place.

33 But the people saw when they departed, and many knew him, and ran afoote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him.

34 ¶ Then Iesus went out, & saw a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like sheepe which had no shepheard: and he began to teach them many things.

35 ¶ And when the day was now farrespent, his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and now the day is faire passed.

36 Let them depart, that they may go into the countrey and to townes aboet, and buy them bread: for they haue nothing to eate.

37 But he answered, and said vnto them, Giue ye them to eate. And they said vnto him, Shall we goe and buy two hundred peniworth of bread, and giue them to eate?

Luke 9. 13. John 6. 9

Word for word, by banks, after the manner of the Hebrewes, who haue no distributions, as Chapter 6. 7. Now he calleth the rowes of the fifters, bankes.

The word signifieth, the beds in a garden, and is a word for word, by beds and beds, meaning thereby that they sate downe in rowes one by another, as beds in a garden.

7. The fullall seruants of God alter their little labour, as a subiect to a great tempest, which Christ doeth so moderate being present in power, although absent in body, that hee bringeth them to an happye hauen, at such time and by such means as they looked not for: A liuely image of the Church tossed to and fro in this world.

¶ Matth. 14. 23. John 6. 15.

7 They were so farre from leauing to be amazed, when they knew that it was no spirit, that they were much more astonished then euer they were before, when they saw the winde and the sea obey his commandment. ¶ Either they perceived not, or had not well considered that miracle of the five loaves in so much that that vertue of Christ was no liſt strange to them, but if they had not bene present at that miracle which was done but a little before. ¶ Marke 14. 34. 8 Christ being reſected in his owne countrey, and arriuing vpon a sudden amongst them of whom he was not looked for, is receiued to their profite. ¶ Or the hemme of the garments.

1 None doe more resist the wisdom of God, then they that should be wisest, and that vpon a scale of their owne traditions: for men doe not please themselves more in any thing then in superstition, that is to say, in a worship of God fondly deuised of themselves.

38 ¶ Then hee said vnto them, How many loaues haue ye? goe and looke. And when they knew it, they said, Five, and two fishes.

39 So hee commaunded them to make them all sit downe by companies vpon the greene graſſe.

40 Then they sate downe by rowes, by hundreds, and by fifties.

41 And he tooke the five loaues, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and gaue thanks, and brake the loaues, and gaue them to his disciples to set before them, and the two fishes he diuided among them all.

42 So they did all eate, and were satisfied.

43 And they tooke vp twelue baskets full of the fragments, and of the fishes.

44 And they that had eaten, were about five thousand men.

45 ¶ And straightway he caused his disciples to goe into the shippe, and to goe before vnto the other side vnto Bethsaida, while he sent away the people.

46 Then assoone as he had sent them away, he departed into a mountaine to pray.

47 ¶ And when euen was come, the shippe was in the mids of the sea, and hee alone on the land.

48 And he saw them troubled in rowing, (for the wind was contrary vnto them) and about the fourth watch of the night, hee came vnto them, walking vpon the sea, and would haue passed by them.

49 And when they saw him walking vpon the sea, they supposed it had bene a spirit, and cried out.

50 For they all saw him, and were fore afraid: but anon he talked with them, & said vnto them, Be ye of good comfort: it is I, be not afraid.

51 Then he went vp vnto them into the ship, and the wind ceased, and they were much more amazed in themselves, and marueiled.

52 For they had not considered the matter of the loaues, because their hearts were hardened.

53 ¶ And they came oue, and went into the land of Genesareth, and arriued.

54 ¶ So when they were come out of the ship, straightway they knew him, 55 And ranne about through all that region round about, and began to cary hither & thither in conches all that were sicke, where they heard that he was.

56 And witherſoeuer hee entred into townes, or cities, or villages, they layde their sicke in the streetes, and prayed him that they might touch at the least the edge of his garment. And as many as touched him, were made whole.

CHAP. VII.

2 The Apostles are found fault with, for eating with vnwaſhen hands. 4 The Pharisees traditions about washings. Hypocrites. 8 Mens traditions more set by then Gods. 10 Parents must be honoured. 14 The things that doe in deede defile a man. 25 The woman of Canaan. 32 The deſſe dumme man is healed.

¶ Then he gathered vnto him the Pharisees, and certaine of the Scribes which came from Hierusalem.

¶ And that vpon a scale of their owne traditions: for men doe not please themselves more in any thing then in superstition, that is to say, in a worship of God fondly deuised of themselves.

2 And when they sawe some of his disciples eate meate with common hands, (that is to say, vnwaſhen) they complained.

3 (For the Pharisees, and all the Iewes, except they wash their hands oft, eate not, holding the traditions of the Elders.

4 And when they come from the market, except they wash, they eate not: and many other things there be, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cups, and pots, and of brassen vessels, and of beds)

5 Then asked him the Pharisees and Scribes, Why walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eate meate with vnwaſhen hands?

6 ¶ Then hee answered and saide vnto them, Surely ¶ Elay hath prophesied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth mee with lippes, but their heart is farre away from me.

7 But they worship me in vaine, teaching for doctrines the commandements of men.

8 ¶ For ye lay the Commandement of God apart, & obserue the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and of cups, and many other such like things ye doe.

9 ¶ And he said vnto them, Well ye reiect the commaundement of God, that yee may obserue your owne tradition.

10 For Moses said, ¶ Honour thy father and thy mother: and ¶ Whoſoeuer shall speake euil of father or mother, let him die the death.

11 But yee say, If a man say to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue pronte, he shall be free.

12 So ye suffer him no more to doe any thing for his father or his mother, 13 Making the word of God of none authority, by your tradition which ye haue ordeined: and ye doe many such like things.

14 ¶ Then he called the whole multitude vnto him, and said vnto them, Harken you all vnto me, and vnderstand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entreteth into him: but the things which proceed out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when hee came into an house, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he said vnto them, What are ye without vnderstanding also? Doe yee not know that whatſoeuer thing from without entreteth into a man, cannot defile him, 19 Because it entreteth not into his heart, but into the belly, & goeth out into the draught which is the purging of all meates?

20 Then he said, That which commeth out of man, that defileth man.

21 ¶ For from within, euen out of the heart of men proceed euill thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, 22 Thefts, couetouſneſſe, wickedneſſe, deceit, vnclaunneſſe, a wicked eye, backebiting, pride, foolishneſſe.

23 All theſe euil things come from within, and defile a man.

24 ¶ And from thence he arose, and went into the borders of Tyrus and Sidon, and entered into an house, and would that no man should haue known: but he could not be hid.

25 For a certaine woman, whose little daughter had an vnclane spirit, heard of him, and came, and fell at his feete, 26 (And the woman was a<sup>m</sup> Greeke, a<sup>n</sup> Syrophenissian by nation) and shee besought him that hee would cast out the deuill out of her daughter.

27 But Iesus sayde vnto her, Let the children first be fedde: for it is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it vnto whelpes.

28 Then shee answered, and sayde vnto him, p<sup>r</sup> Truth, Lord: yet in deed the whelpes eate vnder the table of the childrens crummes.

29 Then he sayd vnto her, For this saying goe thy way: the deuill is gone out of thy daughter.

30 And when shee was come home to her house, she found the deuill departed, & her daughter lying on the bed.

31 ¶ And he departed againe from the coasts of Tyrus and Sidon, and came vnto the sea of Galilee, through the middes of the coastes of Decapolis.

32 And they brought vnto him one that was deafe and stumbrd in his speach, and prayed him to put his hand vpon him.

33 Then hee tooke him aside from the multitude, and put his fingers in his eares, and did spit, and touched his tongue.

34 And looking vp to heauen, hee sighed, and said vnto him, Ephphata, that is, Be opened.

35 And straightway his eares were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and hee spake plaine.

36 And he commanded them that they should tell no man: but howe much soeuer hee forbade them, the more a great deale they published it,

37 And were beyond measure astonied, saying, ¶ Hee hath done all things well: he maketh both the deafe to heare, and the dumbe to speake.

CHAP. VIII.

The miracle of the seuen loaves. 11 The leues seeke signes. 15 To beware of the leauen of the Pharisees 22 A blinde man healed. 27 The peoples sundry opinions of Christ. 29 The Apostles acknowledge Christ. 31 Hee foretelleth his death. 33 Peter, Satan. 35 To saue and lose the life. 38 To be ashamed of Christ.

¶ In those dayes, when there was a very great multitude, and had nothing to eate, Iesus called his disciples to him, and said vnto them,

2 I haue compassion on the multitude, because they haue now continued with mee three dayes, and haue nothing to eate.

3 And if I send them away fasting to their own houses, they would faint by the way: for some of them came from farre.

4 Then his disciples answered him, Whence can a man satisfie these with bread here in the wilderness?

5 And hee asked them, How many loaves haue ye? And they sayd, Seuen.

6 Then hee commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground: and hee tooke the seuen loaves, and gaue thanks, brake them, and gaue to his disciples to set before them, and they did set them before the people.

7 They had also a few small fishes: and when he had giuen thanks, he commanded them also to be set before them.

8 So they did eat, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the broken meate that was left, seuen baskets full.

9 (And they that had eaten were about foure thousand) so he sent them away.

10 ¶ And anon hee entred into a ship with his disciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanutha.

11 ¶ And the Pharisees came forth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a signe from heauen, and tempting him.

12 Then hee sighed deeply in his spirit, and sayd, Why doeth this generation seeke a signe? Verily I say vnto you, a signe shall not be giuen vnto this generation.

13 ¶ So he left them, and went into the ship againe, and departed to the other side.

14 ¶ And they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them, but one loafe.

15 ¶ And he charged them, saying, Take heede and beware of the leauen of the Pharisees, and of the leauen of Herod.

16 ¶ And they reasoned among themselues, saying, It is because we haue no bread.

17 And when Iesus knew it, he said vnto them, Why reason you thus, because yee haue no bread? perceiue ye not yet, neither vnderstand? haue yee your hearts yet hardened?

18 Haue ye eyes, and see not? and haue yee eares, and heare not? and doe ye not remember?

19 ¶ When I brake the fise loaves among fise thousand, how many baskets full of broken meate tooke ye vp? They said vnto him, Twelue.

20 And when I brake seuen among foure thousand, how many baskets of the leauings of broken meate tooke ye vp? And they said, Seuen.

21 Then hee sayd vnto them, ¶ How is it that ye vnderstand not?

22 ¶ And hee came to Bethsaida, and they brought a blinde man vnto him, and desired him to touch him.

23 Then he tooke the blind by the hand, and led him out of the towne, and spat in his eyes, and put his hands vpon him, and asked him, if he saw ought.

24 And he looked vp, and said, If I see men: for I see them walking like trees.

25 After that, hee put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him looke againe. And hee was restored to his sight, and saw euery man afarre off clearly.

26 ¶ And he sent him home to his house, saying, Neither goe into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne.

27 ¶ And Iesus went out, and his disciples into the townes of Cefarea Philippi. And by the way hee asked his disciples, saying vnto them, Whom doe men say that I am?

28 And they answered, Some say, Iohn Baptist: and some, Elias: and some, one of the Prophets.

29 And he sayd vnto them, But whom say yee that I am? Then Peter answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou art that Christ.

30 ¶ And he sharply charged them, that concerning him they should tell no man.

31 Then hee began to teach them that the sonne of man must suffer many things, and should be reprobued of the Elders, and of the hie Priests, and of the Scribes, and be slaine, and within three dayes rise againe.

32 And hee spake that thing boldly. Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him.

33 Then hee turned backe and looked on his things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

34 And hee called the people vnto him with his disciples, and said vnto them, Whofoeuer will follow me, let him forsake himselfe, and take vp his crosse, and follow me.

35 For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the Gospels, he shall save it.

36 For what shall it profit a man though he should win the whole world, if he lose his soule?

37 Or what exchange shall a man giue for his soule?

38 For whosoever shall be ashamed of mee, and of my wordes among this adulterous and sin-full generation, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed also, when hee commeth in the glory of his Father with the holy Angels.

CHAP. IX.

1 Christ transfiguration. 7 Christ must be heard. 11 Of Elias and Iohn Baptist. 14 The possessed was healed. 23 Faith can doe all things. 31 Christ foretelleth his death. 33 Who is greatest among the Apostles. 36 Christ taketh a child in his armes. 42 To offend. 50 Salt, Peace.

1 And hee said vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death till they have leeene the kingdom of God come with power.

2 And sixe dayes after, Iesus taketh vnto him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and carieth them vp into an hie mountaine out of the way alone, and his shape was changed before them.

3 And his raiment did shine, and was very white as snow, so white as no fuller can make vp-on the earth.

4 And there appeared vnto them Elias with Moses, and they were talking with Iesus.

5 Then Peter answered, and said to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs make also three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 Yet hee knewe not what hee said: for they were afraid.

7 And there was a cloud that shadowed them, and a voice came out of the cloude, saying, This is my beloued Sonne: heare him.

8 And suddenly they looked round about, and saw no more any man save Iesus only with them.

9 And as they came down from the moun-taine, hee charged them, that they should tell no man what they had seene, saue when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe.

10 So they kept that matter to themselves, and demanded one of another, what the rising from the dead againe should meane.

11 Also they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, that Elias must first come?

12 And he answered, and said vnto them, Elias verily shall first come, and restore all things: and as it is written of the Sonne of man, hee must suffer many things, and be set at nought.

13 But I say vnto you, that Elias is come, (and they haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would)
as it is written of him.

14 And when hee came to his disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were amazed, and ranne to him, and saluted him.

16 Then he asked the Scribes, What dispute you among your selues?

17 And one of the company answered, and said, Master, I haue brought my sonne vnto thee, which hath a dumbe spirit:

18 And wheresoeuer hee taketh him, he feareth him, and he someth, and gnasheth his teeth, and pineth away: and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast them out, and they could not.

19 Then he answered him, & said, O faithles generation, how long now shall I be with you! how long now shall I suffer you! Bring him vnto me.

20 So they brought him vnto him: and as soon as the spirit saw him, hee tare him, and hee fell downe on the ground wallowing and foming.

21 Then he asked his father, How long time is it since he hath bene thus? And he said, Of a child.

22 And oft times he casteth him into the fire, and into the water to destroy him: but if thou canst do any thing, helpe vs, and haue compassion vpon vs.

23 And Iesus said vnto him, If thou canst beleeue it, all things are possible to him that be-leeueth.

24 And straightway the father of the child crying with teares, said, Lord, I beleeue: helpe my vnbeleefe.

25 When Iesus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked y vnclene spirit, saying vnto him, Thou dumbe and deafe spirit, I charge thee come out of him, & enter no more into him.

26 Then the spirit cried, and rent him sore, and came out, and he was as one dead, in so much that many said, He is dead.

27 But Iesus tooke his hand, and lift him vp, and he arose.

28 And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly, Why could not we cast him out?

29 And he said vnto them, This kind can by no other means come forth, but by prayer & fasting.

30 And they departed thence, and went together through Galilee, and hee would not that any should haue knowen it.

31 For he taught his disciples, and said vnto them, The Sonne of man shall bee deliuered into the hands of men, & they shall kill him, but after that he is killed, he shall rise againe the third day.

32 But they vnderstoode not that saying, and were afraid to aske him.

33 After, he came to Capernaum: and when he was in the house, hee asked them, What was it that ye disputed among you by the way?

34 And they held their peace: for by the way they reasoned among themselves, who should bee the chiefeft.

35 And hee sate downe and called the twelue, and sayd to them, If any man desire to be first, the same

37 Whosoever shall receiue one of such little children in my Name, receiueth me: and whosoever receiueth mee, receiueth not mee, but him that sent me.

38 ¶ Then Iohn answered him, saying, Master, wee sawe one casting out deuils by thy Name, which followeth vs, and we forbade him, because he followeth vs not.

39 ¶ But Iesus said, Forbid him not: for there is no man that can doe a miracle by my Name, that can lightly speake euill of me.

40 For whosoever is not against vs, is on our part.

41 ¶ And whosoever shall giue you a cup of water to drinke for my Names sake, because yee belong to Christ, verely I say vnto you, hee shall not lose his reward.

CHAP. X.

9 The wife, onely for fornication, is to be put away. 13 Little children are brought to Christ. 17 A rich man asketh Iesus, how he may possesse eternall life. 28 The Apostles forsake all things for Christs sake. 33 Christ foresheweth his death. 35 Zebedeus his sonnes request. 46 Blinde Bartimaeus healed.

And he arose from thence, and went into the coastes of Iudea by the furre side of Iordan, and the people resorted vnto him againe, and as he was wont, he taught them againe.

2 Then the Pharises came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and tempt him.

3 And hee answered, and saide vnto them, What did Moses command you?

4 And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away.

5 ¶ Then Iesus answered and said vnto them, For the hardnesse of your heart hee wrote this precept vnto you.

¶ But he shall receiue an hundred fold, now

6 But at the beginning of the creation God made them male and female:

7 ¶ For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife.

8 And they twaine shall be one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

9 ¶ Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let not man separate.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And he said vnto them, ¶ Whosoever shall put away his wife and marry another, committeth adulterie against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, she committeth adulterie.

13 ¶ Then they brought little children to him, that he should touch them, and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus saw it, he was displeased, and saide to them, Suffer the little children to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

15 Verely I say vnto you, Whosoever shall not receiue the kingdome of God as a litle child, he shall not enter therein.

16 And he tooke them vp in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, and blessed them.

17 ¶ And when he was gone out on the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I doe, that I may possesse eternall life?

18 Iesus saide to him, Why callest thou mee good? there is none good but one, euen God.

19 Thou knowest the comandements. ¶ Thou shalt not commit adulterie. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witnesse. Thou shalt hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, & saide to him, Master, all these things I haue obserued from my youth.

21 And Iesus looked vpon him, and loued him, and saide vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee. Goe and sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, followe me, and take vp the crosse.

22 But he was sad at that saying, and went away sorrowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and saide vnto his disciples, How hardly doe they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his disciples were afraid at his words. But Iesus answered againe, and saide vnto them, Children, howe hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God!

25 It is easier for a camell to goe through the eye of an needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more astonied, saying with themselves, Who then can be saved?

27 But Iesus looked vpon them, and saide, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 ¶ Then Peter began to say vnto him, Lo, we haue forsaken all, and haue followed thee.

29 Iesus answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospels,

32 ¶ 2<sup>d</sup> And they were in the way going vp to Hierusalem, and Iesus went before them, and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Iesus tooke the twelue againe, and began to tell them what things should come vnto him,

33 Saying, Beholde, we goe vp to Ierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered vnto the hie Priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles, 34 And they shall mocke him, and scourge him, and spit vpon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise againe.

35 ¶ 3<sup>d</sup> Then Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedeus came vnto him, saying, Master, & we would that thou shouldst doe for vs that we desire.

36 And he said vnto them, What would yee I should doe for you?

37 And they said vnto him, Grant vnto vs, that we may sit, one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Iesus said vnto them, Yee knowe not what ye aske. Can ye drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, & be baptized with the baptisme that I shall be baptized with?

39 And they sayd vnto him, We can. But Iesus said vnto them, Yee shall drinke in deede of the cup that I shall drinke of, and bee baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shall be baptized:

40 But to sit at my right hand and at my left, is not mine to giue, but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdaigne at Iames and Iohn.

42 8 But Iesus called them vnto him, and said to them, * Ye know that they which are princes among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercise authoritie ouer them.

43 But it shal not be so among you, but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your seruant.

44 And whosoever will be chiefe of you, shall be the seruant of all.

45 For euen the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ransom of many.

46 ¶ 4th Then they came to Iericho: and as he went out of Iericho with his disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimeus the sonne of Timeus, a blinde man, sat by the wayes side, begging.

47 And when he heard that it was Iesus of Nazareth, he began to cry, and to say, Iesus the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because he should hold his peace: but he cried much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

49 Then Iesus stood stil, and commanded him to be called: and they called the blind, saying vnto him, Be of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his cloke, and rose, and came to Iesus.

51 And Iesus answered, & said vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And the blinde said vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight.

52 Then Iesus said vnto him, Go thy way: thy faith haue saued thee. And by and by he receiued his sight, and followed Iesus in the way.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ entred into Hierusalem riding on an asse. 13 The fruitlesse figge tree cursed. 15 Sellers and buyers are cast out of the Temple. 23 The force of faith. 24 Faith in prayer. 25 The brothers offences must be pardoned. 27 The Priests aske by what authoritie he wrought those things that he did. 30 Whence Iohn baptismed was.

And 4th when they came nere to Hierusalem, to Bethphage and Bethania vnto the mount of Oliues, he sent forth two of his disciples,

2 And said vnto them, Goe your wayes into that towne that is ouer against you, and assoone as ye shall enter into it, yee shall finde a colt tied, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him.

3 And if any man say vnto you, Why doe ye this? Say that the Lorde hath neede of him, and straightway he will send him hither.

4 And they went their way, and found a colt tied by the doore without, in a place where two wayes met, and they loosed him.

5 Then certaine of them that stoude there, said vnto them, What doe ye loosing the colt?

6 And they said vnto them, as Iesus had commanded them: So they let them goe.

7 ¶ 5th And they brought the colt to Iesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sate vpon him.

8 And many spread their garments in the way: other cut downe branches off the trees, & strawed them in the way.

9 And they that went before, and they that followed, cryed, saying, Hosanna: a blessed be he that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

10 6 Blessed be the kingdome that commeth in the Name of the Lorde of our father Dauid: Hosanna, O thou which art in the highest heauens.

11 7 So Iesus entred into Hierusalem, and into the Temple: and when hee had looked about on all things, and now it was eueniug, he went forth vnto Bethania with the twelue.

12 8 And on the morrowe when they were come out from Bethania, he was hungry.

13 9 And seeing a figge tree a farr off, that had leaues, he went to see if hee might finde any thing thereon: but when he came vnto it, hee found nothing but leaues: for the time of figges was not yet.

14 Then Iesus answered, and said to it, Neuer man eate fruite of thee hereafter while the word standeth: and his disciples heard it.

15 ¶ 6th And they came to Ierusalem, and Iesus went into the Temple, and began to cast out them that solde and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that sold doves.

16 Neither would hee suffer that any man should cary a vessel through the Temple.

17 And he taught, saying vnto them, Is it not written, * Mine house shall be called the house of prayer vnto all nations? * but you haue made it a denne of theeues.

18 And the Scribes and hie Priestes heard it, and sought how to destroy him: for they feared him, because the whole multitude was astonied at his doctrine.

19 But when euen was come, Iesus went out of the citie.

26 For if you will not forgive, your Father which is in heauen, will not pardon you your trespasses.

27 ¶ Then they came againe to Hierusalem: and as hee walked in the Temple, there came to him the hie Priests, & the Scribes, and the Elders, 28 And sayd vnto him, By what authoritie doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie, that thou shouldest doe these things?

33 Then they answered, and sayd vnto Iesus, We cannot tell. And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Neither will I tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the vineyard. 10 Christ the stone refused of the Iewes. 13 Of tribute to bee giuen to Cesar. 18 The Sadduces denying the resurrection. 28 The first commandment. 31 To loue God and the neighbour is better then sacrifices. 36 Christ Dauides sonne. 38 To beware of the Scribes and Pharises. 42 The poore widow.

And he began to speake vnto them in a parable, ¶ A certaine man planted a vineyard, & compassed it with an hedge, and digged a pit for the winepresse, and built a tower in it, & let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange country.

2 And at the time, he sent to the husbandmen a seruant, that hee might receiue of the husbandmen of the fruit of the vineyard.

3 But they tooke him, and beat him, and sent him away emptie.

4 And againe they sent vnto him another seruant, and at him they cast stones, and brake his head, and sent him away shamefully handled.

5 And againe he sent another, & him they slew, and many other beating some, and killing some.

6 Yet had hee one sonne, his deare beloued: him also he sent the last vnto them, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

7 But the husbandmen sayde among themselues, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

8 So they tooke him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.

9 What shall then the Lord of the vineyard doe? He will come and deströy these husbandmen, and giue the vineyard to others.

10 Haue ye not read so much as this Scripture? ¶ The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner.

11 This was done of the Lord, and it is maruellous in our eyes.

12 Then they went about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceiued that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

13 ¶ And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharises, & of the Herodians, that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they said vnto him, Master, we know that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truely, Is it lawfull to giue tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Should wee giue it, or should we not giue it? but he knew their hypocrisie, and sayd vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a penie, that I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and he said vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription? and they sayd vnto him, Celsars.

17 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Giue to Cesar the things that are Celsars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they marueiled at him.

18 ¶ Then came the Sadduces vnto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, ¶ Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, and leaue no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

20 There were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and when he died, left no issue.

21 Then the second tooke her, & he died, neither did he yet leaue issue, and the third likewise.

22 So those seuen had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall she be of them? for seuen had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered and said vnto them, Are yee not therefore deceiued, because yee know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marrie, nor wiues are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue ye not read in the booke of Moses, how in the bush God spake vnto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob?

27 God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing. Ye are therefore greatly deceiued.

28 ¶ Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them disputing together, and perceiuing that hee had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 Iesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, ¶ Heare, Israel, The Lord our God is the onely Lord.

31 And the second is like that, is, 4. Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other commandment greater then these.

32 Then that Scribe said vnto him, Well, Master, thou hast said the trueth, that there is one God, and that there is none but he,

33 And to loue him with all the heart, & with all the vnderstanding, and with all the soule, and with all the strength, and to loue his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 Then when Iesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said vnto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdome of God. And no man after that durst aske him any question.

35 ¶ And Iesus answered & said teaching in the Temple, How say the Scribes that Christ is the sonne of Dauid?

36 For Dauid himselfe said by the holy Ghost, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstoole.

37 Then Dauid himselfe calleth him Lord: by what meanes is he then his sonne? and much people heard him gladly.

43 Then he called vnto him his disciples, and said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that this poore widow hath cast more in, then all they which haue cast into the treasure.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the destruction of Ierusalem. 9 Persecutions for the Gospel. 10 The Gospel must be preached to all nations. 26 Of Christs coming to iudgement. 33 We must watch and pray.

And ¶ as he went out of the Temple, one of his disciples sayd vnto him, Master, see what manner stones, & what manner buildings are here.

2 ¶ Then Iesus answered, and said vnto him, Seest thou these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone vpon a stone, that shall not be thrown downe.

3 And as he sate on the mount of Oliues, ouer against the Temple, Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew asked him secretly, 4 Tell vs, when shall these things bee? and what shall be the signe when all these things shall be fulfilled?

5 And Iesus answered them, and began to say, Take heede lest any man deceiue you.

6 For many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many.

7 Furthermore when ye shall heare of warres, and rumours of warres, be yee not troubled: for such things must needs be: but the end shall not be yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation, & kingdome against kingdome, and there shall be earthquakes in diuers quarters, and there shall be famine and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorowes.

9 But take yee heede to your selues: for they shall deliuer you vp to the Councils, and to the Synagogues: ye shall be beaten, and brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimoniall vnto them.

10 And the Gospel must first be published among all nations.

11 ¶ But when they leade you, and deliuer you vp, be not careful before hand, neither studie what ye shall say: but what is giuen you at the same time, that speake: for it is not you that speake, but the holy Ghost.

12 Yea, and the brother shall deliuer the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

13 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Names sake: but whosoever shall endure vnto the end, he shall be saued.

14 ¶ Moreover, when ye shall see the abomination of desolation (spoken of by Daniel the Prophet) set where it ought not, (let him that readeth, consider it) then let them that be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines, 15 And let him that is vpon the house, not come downe into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch any thing out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the field, not turne backe againe to take his garment.

17 Then woe shall be to them that are with child, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes.

18 Pray therefore that your flight bee not in the winter.

19 For those dayes shall be such tribulation, as was not fro the beginning of the creation which God created vnto this time, neither shall be.

20 And except that the Lorde had shortened those dayes, no flesh should be saued: but for the elects sake, which he hath chosen, he hath shortened those dayes.

21 Then if any man say to you, Lo, here is Christ, or loe, he is there, belecue it not.

22 For false Christs shall rise, and false prophets, and shall shew signes and wonders, to deceiue if it were possible the very elect.

23 But take yee heede: behold, I haue shewed you all things before.

24 ¶ Moreover in those dayes, after that tribulation, the sunne shall waxe darke, & the moone shall not giue her light, 25 And the starres of heauen shall fall: and the powers which are in heauen, shall shake.

26 And then shall they see the Sonne of man, coming in the cloudes, with great power and glory.

27 ¶ And he shall then send his Angels, & shall gather together his elect from the foure windes, and from the vtmost part of the earth to the vtmost part of heauen.

28 Now learne a parable of the figge tree. When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaues, ye know that sonner it neere.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Priestes conspiracie against Christ. 2 The woman pouring oyle on Christs head. 3 The preparing of the Pasche. 4 The institution of the Supper. 5 Christ deliuered into the hands of men. 6 Iudas betrayeth him with a kisse. 7 Christ is before Caiaphas. 8 Peters denials.

And two dayes after followed the feast of the Pasche, and of vneleuened bread: and the hie Priests & Scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

1 But they sayd, Not in the feast day, lest there be any tumult among the people.

2 And when he was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as hee sate at table, there came a woman hauing a box of ointment of Spikenard, very costly, and she brake the boxe, and powred it on his head.

3 Therefore some disdained among themselves, and said, To what end is this waste of ointment?

4 For it might haue bene solde for more then three hundred pence, and bene giuen vnto the poore, and they murmured against her.

5 But Iesus sayd, Let her alone: Why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

6 For yee haue the poore with you alwayes, and when ye will ye may doe them good, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

7 She hath done that she could: she came aforehand to anoint my body to the burying.

8 Verely I say vnto you, wheresoeuer this Gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shall be spoken of in remembrance of her.

9 Then Iudas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went away vnto the hie Priests, to betray him vnto them.

10 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would giue him money: therefore he sought how hee might conueniently betray him.

11 Nowe the first day of vneleuened bread, when they sacrificed the Pasche, Iesus being made subject to the Lawe for vs, doeth celebrate the Pasche according to the Lawe, and sheweth by a miracle the which that notwithstanding hee in the flesh shall straightway suffer, yet that he is God: That is, upon which day, and at the turning of the same day, which was the beginning of the effluence, Look Matt. 26. 17. They used to sacrifice. d This is spoken thus, by the figure Metonymia, which is a small sacrifice, and by the Pasche means the Paschal Lamb.

his disciples sayd vnto him, Where wilt thou that wee goe and prepare, that thou mayest eate the Pasche?

12 Then he sent forth two of his disciples, and sayd vnto them, Goe ye into the citie, and there shall a man meet you bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

13 And whithersoever he goeth in, say ye to the good man of the house, The Master sayeth, Where is the lodging where I shall eat the Pasche with my disciples?

14 And he will shew you an vpper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it ready for vs.

15 So his disciples went forth, and came to the citie, and found as he had said vnto them, and made ready the Pasche.

16 And at euen he came with the twelve.

17 And as they sate at table and did eate, Iesus sayd, Verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me, which eateth with me.

18 Then they began to bee forowfull and to say to him one by one, Is it I? And another, Is it I?

19 And he answered and said vnto them, It is one of the twelve that sitteth with mee in the platter.

20 Truly the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whome the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if hee had neuer bene borne.

21 And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when hee had giuen thanks, he brake it and gaue to them, and said, Take, eat, this is my body.

22 Also hee tooke the cup, and when hee had giuen thanks, gaue it to them: and they all dranke of it.

23 And he said vnto them, This is my blood of that new Testament which is shed for many.

24 Verely I say vnto you, I wil drinke no more of the fruit of the vine vntil that day, that I drink it new in the kingdom of God.

25 And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out to the mount of Oliues.

26 Then Iesus sayd vnto them, All yee shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

27 But after that I am risen, I wil go into Galilee before you.

28 And Peter sayd vnto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I.

29 Then Iesus said vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, this day, euen in this night before the cocke crow twice, thou shalt denie me thrise.

30 But he said more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not denie thee: likewise also said they all.

31 After they came into a place named Gethsemane: then he said to his disciples, Sit ye here, till I haue prayed.

32 And hee tooke with him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and he beganne to be troubled, and in great heavinesse, 33 And said vnto them, My soule is very heauie, vnto the death: tarry here, and watch.

34 So he went forward a litle, and fell downe on the ground, & prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

36 And

The latter day is not curiously to be searched for, which the Father alone knoweth: but let vs rather see how it shall come vpon vs.

36 And he said, * Abba, Father, all things are possible unto thee: take away this cup from me: neuertheless not that I will, but that thou wilt be done.

37 Then he came, and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldst not thou watch one houre?

38 Watch yee, and pray, that ye enter not into tentation: the spirit indeede is ready, but the flesh is weake.

39 And againe he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.

49 I was daily with you, teaching in the Temple, and ye tooke me not: but this is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

50 Then they all forsooke him, and fled.

51 And there followed him a certaine yong man, clothed in linnen vpon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.

52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 So they led Iesus away to the hie Priest, and to him came together all the hie Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him as farre off, euen into the hall of the hie Priest, and sate with the seruants, and warmed himselfe at the fire.

55 And the hie Priests, and all the Councill sought for witnesse against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare false witnesse against him, but their witnesse agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certaine, and bare false witnesse against him, saying, 58 We heard him say, * I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three dayes I will build another, made without hands.

59 But their witnesse yet agreed not together.

60 Then the hie Priest stood vp amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these beare wit-nesse against thee?

61 But he helde his peace, and answered nothing. Againe the hie Priest asked him and sayd vnto him, Art thou that Christ the sonne of the Blessed?

62 And Iesus said, I am he, * and ye shall see the Sonne of man sit at the right hande of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of heauen.

63 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, and sayd, What haue we any more neede of witness?

64 Ye haue heard the blasphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to be worthe of death.

65 And some began to spit at him, and to couer his face, and to beate him with fists, and to say vnto him, Prophecie. And the sergeants smote him with their rods.

66 And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the mailes of the hie Priest.

67 And when she saw Peter warming himselfe, she looked on him, and said, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth.

68 But he denied it, saying, I know him not, neither wot I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cocke crew.

69 Then a maide saw him againe, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 But he denied it againe: and anon after, they that stood by, saide againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galile, and thy speech is like.

71 And he began to curse, and sweare, saying, I know not this man of whom ye speake.

72 Then the second time the cocke crew, and Peter remembered the worde that Iesus had said vnto him, Before the cocke crow twise, thou shalt denie mee thrise, and weighing that with himselfe, he wept.

CHAP. XV.

1. Of the things that Christ suffered vnder Pilate. 11. Barabban is preferred before Christ. 15. Pilate deliuereth Christ to be crucified. 17. He is crowned with thorne. 19. They spit on him, and mocke him. 21. Simon of Cyrene carrieth Christs crose. 27. Christ is crucified betwene two thieves. 28. He is nailed at 37. He giueth vp the ghost. 43. Ioseph burieh him.

And anon in the dawning, the hie Priests held a Councell with the Elders, & the Scribes, and the whole Councill, and bound Iesus, and led him away, and deliuered him to Pilate.

2 Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And he answered, and said vnto him, Thou sayest it.

3 And the hie Priests accused him of many things.

4 Wherefore Pilate asked him againe, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witnesse against thee.

5 But Iesus answered no more at all, so that Pilate marueiled.

6 Now at the feast, Pilate did deliuer a prisoner vnto them, whomsoever they would desire.

7 Then there was one named Barabbas, which was bound with his felowes, that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murther.

8 And the people cryed aloud, and began to *full for them to put any man to death, for all causes of life and death were taken away from them, first by Herode the great, and afterward by the Romanes, about forty yeeres before the destruction of the Temple, and therefore they deliuer Iesus to Pilate. * Mat. 27. 12. Luke 23. 18. Iohn 18. 39. b. Used Pilate to deliuer.*

*Of God, who is most worthe of all praise? * Mat. 24. 19.*

*15. Christ suffering all kind of oppression for our sakes, getteth out halting glory to them that beleene in him. * Mat. 26. 69. Luke 22. 55. Iohn 8. 25.*

*16. An horrible example of the frailties of man together with a most comfortable example of the mercy of God, who giueth the spirit of repentance and faith to his elect. * Mat. 26. 71. Luke 12. 58.*

*p. If we compare the Evangelists diligently together, we shall perceiue that Peter was known of many through the mindeless violence yee, and in Luke, when the second denial is spoken of, there is a man servant mentioned, and not a maide. * Mat. 26. 75. Iohn 13. 38.*

\ Mat. 27. 1. Luke 22. 68. Iohn 18. 19.*

1. Christ being bound before the iudgement seat of an earthly iudge, in open assembly is condemned as guilty vnto the death of the crose, not for his owne sinnes, (as appeareth by the Iudges owne words) but for all ones, that were most guilty creatures being deliuered from the guiltinesse of our sinnes, might be iudged before the iudgement seat of God, euen in the open assembly of the Angels.

a. It was not law-

deliue

Christ going about to take away the sin of men, who went about to charge the throne of God himselfe, is condemned as one that haied after the kingdome, and smitten with a little blow of a hand, that we on the other side, who shall indeed be small kings, might receive the crowne of glory at Gods owne hand. Math. 27.32. Ier. 23.6.

The rage of the wicked hath no measure, but in the same season, even the weakest of Christ, being in paine under the heauie burden of the crosse, doeth manifestly shew that a lambe is led to be sacrificed. Math. 27.33. Ioh. 19.17.

Christ is led out of the wals of the city Ierusal. m, into a foule place of dead mens carcases, as a man most vnclean, not touching himselfe, but touching our sinnes, which were layd vpon him, to the end that we, being made cleane by his blood, might be brought into the heauenly Sanctuary.

Luke 23.34. Christ hang: th vpon the crosse, and as the wicked carrie that euer was, most vily reprooued: that we being clothed with his righteousness & blessed with his aucte, and sanctified by his precious oblation, may be taken vp into heauen. Rom. 8.3. Ioh. 1.19.

How angry God was against our sinne, which he punished in our fardis, his Sonne, is appeareth by this horrible darknesse.

By this worde, lambe meaneth Palestina: for that the strangeresse of the wonder, is so much the more set forth in that, that at the fall of the Passouer, and in the full moone, when the Sonne shined ouer all the rest of the world, and at midday, that corner of the world, wherein so wicked an act was committed, was ouercome with most grosse darknesse.

desire that he would doe as he had euer done vnto them.

9 Then Pilate answered them, & sayd, Will ye that I let loose vnto you the King of the Iewes?

10 For he knew that the high Priests had deliuered him of enuie.

11 But the high Priests had mooued the people to desire that he would rather deliuer Barabbas vnto them.

12 And Pilate answered, and said againe vnto them, What will ye then that I doe with him, whom ye call the King of the Iewes?

13 And they cried againe, Crucifie him.

14 Then Pilate said vnto them, But what euill hath he done? And they cried the more feruently, Crucifie him.

15 So Pilate willing to content the people, loosed them Barabbas, and deliuered Iesus, when he had scourged him, that he might be crucified.

16 Then the fouldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band,

17 And clad him with purple, and platted a crowne of thornes, and put it about his head, 18 And began to salute him, saying, Haile, King of the Iewes.

19 And they smote him on the head with a reede, and spat vpon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reuerence.

20 And when they had mocked him, they took the purple off him, and put his owne clothes on him, and led him out to crucifie him.

21 And they compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the countrey, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse.

22 And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens sculles.

23 And they gaue him to drinke wine mingled with myrthe: but he receiued it not.

24 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for them, what euery man should haue.

25 And it was the third houre when they crucified him.

26 And the title of his cause was written above, THAT KING OF THE IEVVES.

27 They crucified also with him two theues, the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.

28 Thus Scripture was fulfilled, which saith, And he was counted among the wicked.

29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Hey, thou that destroyest the Temple, & buildest it in three dayes, 30 Saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse.

31 Likewise also euen the hie Priests mocking, sayd among themselves with the Scribes, He saued other men, himselfe he cannot saue.

32 Let Christ the King of Israel now come downe from the crosse, that we may see, and beleue. They also that were crucified with him, reuiled him.

33 Now when the sixth houre was come, darkenesse arose ouer all the lande vntill the ninth houre.

And at the ninth houre, when the Sonne shined ouer all the lande, and at midday, that corner of the world, wherein so wicked an act was committed, was ouercome with most grosse darknesse.

34 And at the seventh houre Iesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eloï, Eloï, Iamma-sabach-thani? which is by interpretation, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, sayd, Behold, he calleth Elias.

36 And one ranne, and filled a sponge full of vineger, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke, saying, Let him alone: let vs see if Elias will come, and take him downe.

37 And Iesus cried with a loud voice, and gaue vp the ghost.

38 And the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottonie.

39 Now when the Centurion, which stood ouer against him, saw that he thus crying gaue vp the ghost, he said, Truly this man was the Sonne of God.

40 There were also women which beheld afarre off, among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of Iames the lesse, and of Ioses, and Salome, 41 Which also when he was in Galilee, followed him, and ministred vnto him, and many other women which came vp with him vnto Hierusalem.

42 And now when the night was come (because it was the day of the preparation that is before the Sabbath)

43 Ioseph of Arimathea, an honorable counsellour, which also looked for the kingdome of God, came, and went in boldly vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus.

44 And Pilate marueiled, if hee were already dead, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether he had bene any while dead.

45 And when he knew the truth of the Centurion, he gaue the body to Ioseph:

46 Who bought a linnen cloth, and tooke him downe, and wrapped him in the linnen cloth, and layed him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rocke, and rolled a stone vnto the doore of the sepulchre:

47 And Marie Magdalene, and Marie Ioses mother, beheld where he should be layed.

into counsell by Pilate. If we consider what danger Ioseph cast shall perceiue how bolde he was.

CHAP. XVI.

Of Christes resurrection. 9 Hee appeareth to Marie Magdalene and others. 15 He sendeth his Apostles to preach. 19 His ascension.

And when the Sabbath day was past, Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of Iames and Salome, brought sweete oyntments, that they might come and anoynt him.

2 Therefore early in the morning, the first day of the weeke, they came vnto the sepulchre, when the Sonne was now risen.

3 And they sayd one to another, Who shall roll vs away the stone from the doore of the sepulchre?

4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one)

5 So they went vnto the sepulchre, and saw a young man sitting at the right side, clothed in a long white robe: & they were sore troubled.

6 But he said vnto them, Be not so troubled: ye seeke Iesus of Nazareth, which hath bene crucified: he is risen, he is not here: behold the place where they put him

Christ striding mightily with Satan, with sinne, and with death, all three armed with the horrible curse of God: cruelly tormented in body hanging vpon the crosse, and in soule plunged in the depth of hell, yet he rideth himselfe, crying with a mighty voyce, and notwithstanding the wound which he received of death, in that that he died, yet by finding both things above, and things beneath, by renting of the vaile of the Temple, and by plucking out of them which murdered him, he sheweth evidently vnto the rest of his enemies which are as yet obstinate, and mocke at him, that he shall be knowne put of hand to be conquerour and Lord of all.

 they were afraide.
 9 ¶ And when Iesus was risen againe, early the first day of the weeke, hee appeared first to

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO LUKE.

CHAP. I.

1 Lukes Preface. 5 Zacharias and Elisabet. 15 What an one John should be. 20 Zacharias stricken dumbe, for his incredulity. 26 The Angel salueth Mary, and foretelleth Christs nativity. 39 Mary visiteth Elisabet. 46 Marias song. 68 The song of Zacharias, shewing that the promised Christ is come.
 76 The office of Iohn.

In as much as many haue taken in hand to set forth the storie of those things, whereof wee are fully perswaded,

2 As they haue deliuered them vnto vs, which from the beginning saw them their selues, and were ministers of the word,

3 It seemed good also to me (most noble Theophilus) as soone as I had searched out perfectly all things from the beginning, to write vnto thee thereof from point to point,

4 That thou mightest acknowledge the certainty of those things whereof thou hast bene instructed.

5 In the first time of Herod king of Iudea, there was a certaine Priest named Zacharias, of the house of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabet.

6 Both were iust before God, and walked in all the commandements and ordinances of the Lord, without reproofe.

¶ Knowledge of those things which before thou knewest but meanly. 2 Iohn who was appointed, and appointed to be herald of Christ, coming of the stocke of Aaron, and of two famous and blameless parents, by his wedded in his conception, which was against the course of nature, a double miracle, to be end that men should be more readily flied vp to the hearing of his preaching, according to the forewarning of the Prophets. ¶ Word for word, in the dayes: so speake the Hebrewes giuing us to understand, how short and fraile a thing the power of promises is. ¶ Herod the great. ¶ Chron. 24. 1. ¶ For the posteritie of Aaron was diuided into courses.
 ¶ The true markes of righteousness, to be liked and allowed of in the iudgement of God.
 ¶ Lined, so speake the Hebrewes, for our life in as a way wherein we must walke, untill we come to the marke. ¶ In all the morall and ceremoniall law. ¶ Whom no man could iustly reprove: now so it is, that the sinners of iustification are set forth here, and was the cause, which is faith only, and nothing else.

7 And they had no childe, because that Elisabet was barren: and both were well stricken in age.

8 And it came to passe, as hee executed the Priests office before God, as his course came in order,

9 According to the custome of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when he went into the Temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, while the incense was burning.

11 Then appeared vnto him an Angel of the Lord, standing at the right side of the Altar of incense.

12 And when Zacharias saw him, hee was troubled, and feare fell vpon him.

13 But the Angel sayd vnto him, Feare not,
 Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elisabet shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn.

14 And thou shalt haue ioy and gladnesse, and many shall reioyce at his birth.

15 For hee shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall neither drinke wine, nor strong drinke: and hee shall be filled with the holy Ghost, euen from his mothers wombe.

16 And many of the children of Israel shall he turne to their Lord God.

17 For he shall go before him in the spirit and power of Elias, to turne the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdome of the iust men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

18 Then Zacharias said vnto the angel, Where-mie, taking the spirit, for the gift of the spirit, as you would say, the cometh of the cause. ¶ By the figure Synecdoche, he sheweth that all kindes of enuities, which rise to breede great troubles and troubles among men, ¶ Wisdome and goodnesse are two of the chiefest causes which make men to reuerence and honour their parents.

¶ Exod. 30. 7.
 ¶ The Temple was one, and the Court another, for Zacharias went out of the Court or outward court, where all the people were,
 and therefore he sayd to be without into the Temple.
 ¶ Leuit. 16. 17.

 and when you see them, you know the

 ¶ If you be spoken by the figure Metonymy, cause, for that shall as hee find take away
 all kindes of enuities, which rise to breede great troubles and troubles among men, ¶ Wisdome and goodnesse are two of the chiefest causes which make men to reuerence and honour their parents.

¶ Luke commendeth the witnesses that saw this history.
 a Many took it in hand, but did not performe: Luke wrote his Gospel before Matthew and Marke.
 b Luke was not an eye witness, and therefore it was not hee to whom the Lord appeared when Cleopas saw him: and he was taught not only by Paul, but by others of the Apostles also.
 c It is most mightie, and therefore Theophilus was a very honourable man, and in place of great dignity.
 d Luke began his Gospel a great deale farther off, then the other did.
 e Haue fuller knowledge of those things which before thou knewest but meanly.

by shall I know this? for I am an olde man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angel answered, and sayd vnto him, I am Gabriel: that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speake vnto thee, and to shewe thee these good tidings.

20 And behold, thou shalt be dumbe, and not be able to speake, vntill the day that these things bee done, because thou beleuest not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marvelled that he taried so long in the Temple.

22 And when hee came out, hee could not speake vnto them: then they perceiued that hee had seene a vision in the Temple: for hee made signes vnto them, and remained dumbe.

23 And it came to passe, when the dayes of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his owne house.

24 And after those dayes, his wife Elisabet conceived, and hid her selfe nine moneths, saying,

25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with mee, in the dayes wherein he looked on me, to take from mee my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ And in the sixt moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, 27 ¶ To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the y house of Dauid, and the virgins name was Marie.

28 And the Angel went in vnto her, and sayd, Haile thou that art freely beloued: the Lord is with thee: a blessed art thou among women.

29 And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and thought what manner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel sayd vnto her, Feare not, Marie: for thou hast found fauour with God.

31 ¶ For loe, thou shalt conceive in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, and shalt call his Name Iesus.

32 He shall be great, and shall be called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lord God shall giue vnto him the throne of his father Dauid.

33 ¶ And hee shall reigne ouer the house of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdom shall be none ende.

34 Then sayd Marie vnto the Angel, How shall this be, seeing I know not man?

35 And the Angel answered, and said vnto her, The holy Ghost shall come vpon thee, and the power of the most High shall ouershadde thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be borne of thee, shall be called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy cousin Elisabet, she hath also conceived a sonne in her olde age: and this is her sixth moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing be vnpossible.

38 Then Marie said, Behold the seruant of the Lord: be it vnto mee according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

h is the meaning of it: how shall thou bee, for seeing I shall bee Christ's mother, I am very iure, I shall not know any man: for the godly virgin had learned by the Prophets, that the Messias should be borne of a virgin. g That is, the holy Ghost shall cause thee to conceive by his mighty power. h That pure thing and voyde of all spot of concupiscence: for he that was to take away sinne, must needs be voyde of sinne. k Though Elisabet were of the tribe of Levi, yet shee might bee Marias cousin: for whereas it was forbidden by the Law, for maidens to be married to men of other tribes, this could not let, but that the Law might take them wnes out of any tribe: for the Lewites had no portion allotted them, when the land was diuided among the people. l This is now the sixt moneth from the time when she conceived.

39 ¶ And Marie arose in those dayes, and went into the hill country with haste to a citie of Iuda, 40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabet.

41 And it came to passe, as Elisabet heard the salutation of Marie, the babe sprang in her belly, and Elisabet was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And she cried with a loud voyce, and said, Blessed art thou among women, because the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence cometh this to mee, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For loe, as soone as the voyce of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my belly for ioy, 45 And blessed is shee that beleued: for those things shall be performed, which were told her from the Lord.

46 ¶ Then Marie said, My soule magnifieth the Lord,

47 And my spirite reioycest in God my Saviour.

48 For hee hath looked on the poore degree of his seruant: for behold, from hencefoorth shall all ages call me blessed,

49 Because he that is mighty hath done for me great things, and holy is his Name.

50 And his mercy is from generation to generation on them that feare him.

51 ¶ He hath shewed strength with his arme: he hath scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.

52 Hee hath put downe the mightie from their seats, and exalted them of low degree.

53 Hee hath filled the hungry with good things, and sent away the rich empty.

54 ¶ He hath vpholden Israel his seruant, to be mindfull of his mercy, 55 ¶ As hee hath spoken to our fathers, to wit, to Abraham and his seed) for euer.

56 ¶ And Marie abode with her about three moneths: after, she returned to her owne house.

57 ¶ Now Elisabets time was fulfilled, that she should be deliuered, and she brought forth a sonne.

58 And her neighbours and cousins heard tell how the Lord had shewed his great mercie vpon her, and they reioyced with her.

59 And it was so that on the eighth day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias, after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and sayd, Not so, but he shall be called Iohn.

61 And they sayd vnto her, There is none of thy kindred that is named with this name.

62 Then they made signes to his father, how he would haue him called.

63 So he asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn, and they marvelled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediatly, and his tongue, and he spake and praised God.

65 Then feare came on all them that dwelt neere vnto them, and all these words were noised abroad thorowout all the hill country of Iudea.

the holy Ghost, and prophesied, saying,

68 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, because he hath g visited h and h redeemed his people,

69 h And hath raised vp the i home of saluation vnto vs, in the house of his seruant Dauid,

70 As he spake by the mouth of his holy Prophets, which were since the world began, saying,

71 That hee would send vs deliuerance from our enemies, & from the hands of all that hate vs.

72 That he might shew mercy towards our fathers, and k remember his holy couenant, spirit, and was in the wilderness, til the day came that he should shew himselfe vnto Israel.

C H A P. II.

1 Augustus Cesar taxeth all the world. 7 Christ is borne. 13 7 the Angels sing. 21 Christ is circumcised. 22 Marie purified. 23 Simeon taketh Christ in his arms. 29 Hee sing. 36 Anne the Prophetesse. 40 The child is found. 46 Iesus dis-puteth with the doctours.

And it came to passe in those dayes, that there came a decree from Augustus Cesar, that all the should be b taxed.

3 (This first taxing was made when Cyrenius was gouernour of Syria.)

3 Therefore went all to bee taxed, euery man to his owne citie.

4 And Ioseph also went vp from Galile out of a citie called Nazareth, into Iudea, vnto e the citie of h David, which is called Bethleem (because he was of the house and lineage of David.)

5 To be taxed with Mary that was giuen him to wife, which was with childe.

6 And so it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accomplished that she should bee
deliuered,

7 And shee brought forth her first begotten sonne, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and layd him in a cratch, because there was no roome for them in the Inne.

8 ¶ And there were in the same countrey shepherds, a abiding in the fieldes, and keeping watch by night over their flocke.

9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord e came vp-on them, and the glory of the Lord shone about them, and they were sore afraid.

10 Then the Angel sayd vnto them, Be not afraid: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great ioy, that shall be to all the people,

11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the citie of Dauid, a Sauour, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this shall be a signe vnto you, Yee shall finde the babe swaddled, and laid in a cratch.

13 And straightway there was with the Angel a multitude of heavenly souldiers, praising God, and saying,

14 Glory be to God in the high h heavens, and peace in earth, and towards men g good will.

15 And it came to passe when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the shepherds sayd one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-leem, and see this thing that is come to passe, which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs.

16 So they came with haste, and found both Mary and Ioseph, and the babe layd in the cratch.

17 And when they had seene it, they published abroade the thing that was tolde them of that childe.

18 And all that heard it, wondered at the things which were tolde them of the shepherds.

19 But Mary kept all those sayings, & pondred them in her heart.

20 And the shepherds returned glorifying and praising God, for all that they had heard & seene, as it was spoken vnto them,

21 ¶ And when the eight dayes were accomplished, that they should circumsise the childe, his name was then called h Iesus, which was named of the Angel, before he was conceived in the wombe.

22 ¶ And when the dayes of h her purification, after the Law of Moyse, were accomplished, they brought him to Hierusalem, to present him to the Lord,

23 (As it is written in the Lawe of the Lord, ¶ Euery man childe that first openeth the wombe, shall be called holy to the Lord)

24 And to giue an oblation, ¶ as it is comanded in the law of the Lord, a paire of turtle doves, or two yong pigeons.

25 ¶ And behold, there was a man in Hierusalem, whose name was Simeon: this man was iust, and feared God, and waited for the consolation of Israel, and the i holy Ghost was vpon him.

26 And it was declared to him from God by the holy Ghost, that hee should not see death, before he had seene that Anointed of the Lord.

27 And he came by the motion of the spirit into the Temple, and when the k parents brought in the babe Iesus, to doe for him after the custome of the Law,

28 Then he tooke him in his armes, and praised God, and sayd,

29 Lord, now I lettest thou thy seruant depart in peace, according to thy m word,

30 For n mine eyes haue seene thy o saluation,

31 Which.

32 ¶ And so he speaketh, as it was commonly taken. 1 Lettest mee depart out of this to be ioyed to my father. m As thou promisedst mee. n That is, for I haue with my very eyes: for he saw before in minde, as it is sayd of Abraham, He saw my day, and reioyced. o That whereupon thy saluation is contained.

a The Angels thereunto declare to poore shepherds (seeking regarding the pride of the high-
ty) the Godhead and office of the childe lying in

31 Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people, 32 A light to be crucified to the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel.

33 And Ioseph and his mother marvelled at those things, which were spoken touching him.

34 And Simeon blessed them, and sayde vnto Mary his mother, Beholde, this child is appointed for the fall and rising againe of many in Israel, & for a signe which shall be spoken against,

35 (Yea and a sword shall pierce through thy soule) that the thoughts of many hearts may be opened.

36 And there was a Prophetesse, one Anna the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser, which was of a great age, after she had liued with an husband seven yeeres from her virginitie:

37 And she was widow about fourescore and foure yeeres, and went not out of the Temple, but serued God with fastings & prayers night and day.

38 She then comming at the same instant vpon them, confessed likewise the Lord, and spake of him to all that looked for redemption in Hierusalem.

39 And when they had performed all things, according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee to their owne citie Nazareth.

40 And the child grew, and waxed strong in Spirit, and was filled with wisdom, and the grace of God was with him.

41 ¶ Now his parents went to Hierusalem, every yeere, at the feast of the Pascheuer.

42 And when he was twelue yeere olde, and they were come vp to Hierusalem, after the custome of the feast,

43 And had finished the dayes thereof, as they returned, the child Iesus remained in Hierusalem, and Ioseph knew not, nor his mother, 44 But they supposing that he had bene in the company, went a dayes journey, and sought him among their kinsfolke, and acquaintance.

45 And when they found him not, they turned backe to Hierusalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to passe three dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the mids of the doctours, both learning them, and asking them questions.

47 And all that heard him, were astonished at his understanding and answers.

48 So when they saw him, they were amazed, and his mother said vnto him, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? behold, thy father and I haue sought thee with very heauy hearts.

49 Then sayde he vnto them, How is it that ye sought me? knewe yee not that I must goe about my fathers businesse?

50 But they vnderstood not the word that hee spake to them.

51 Then hee went downe with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subiect to them: and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart.

52 And Iesus increased in wisdom, and stature, and in fauour with God and men.

CHAP. I.III.

4 Iohn exhorteth to repentance 15 His testimony of Christ. 20 Herod putteth him in prison. 21 Christ baptised. 23 His pedigree.

Now in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being gouernour of Iudea, and Herod being Tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip Tetrarch of Iudaea, and of the countrey of Traconitis, and Lyfanius the Tetrarch of Abilene,

2 ¶ When Annas and Caiaphas were the hie Priests the word of God came vnto Iohn, the sonne of Zacharias in the wilderness.

3 And hee came into all the coastes about Iorden, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of sinnes,

4 As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Elisha the Prophet, which saith, The voyce of him that crieth in the wilderness is, Prepare yee the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

5 Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low, and crooked things shall be made straight, and the rough wayes shall be made smooth.

6 And all flesh shall see the saluation of God.

7 Then said hee to the people that were come out to be baptised of him, O generations of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring forth therefore frutes woorthy amendment of life, and beginne not to say with your selues, We haue Abraham to our Father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

9 Nowe also is the axe layde vnto the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, shall be hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

10 ¶ Then the people asked him, saying, What shall we doe then?

11 And he answered, and said vnto them, He that hath two coates, let him part with him that hath none: And hee that hath meate, let him doe likewise.

12 Then came there Publicanes also to be baptised, and sayde vnto him, Master, what shall we doe?

13 And he sayd vnto them, Require no more then that which is appointed vnto you.

14 The souldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we doe? And he sayd vnto them, Doe violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely, and be content with your wages.

15 As the people waited, and all men mused in their heartes of Iohn, if hee were not that Christ, 16 Iohn answered, and sayde to them all, I indeed baptize you with water, but one stronger then I, cometh, whose shoes latchet I am not worthy to vnloose: he will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

17 Whose fanne is in his hand, and hee will make cleane his floore, and will gather the wheat into his garner, but the chaffe will hee burne vp with fire that neuer shall be quenched.

18 Thus then exhorting with many other things he preached vnto the people.

19 But when Herod the Tetrarch was rebuked of him, for Herodias his brother Philips wife, and for all the euils which Herod had done, 20 He added yet this aboue all, that he shut vp Iohn in prison.

21 ¶ Now it came to passe, as all the people were baptised, and that Iesus was baptised and did pray, that the heauen was opened:

22 And the holy Ghost came downe in a bodily shape like a dove vpon him, and there was a

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of Christs temptation, and fasting. 16 Hee teacheth in Nazareth to the great admiration of all. 24 A Prophet that teacheth in his owne countrey is contemned. 33 One possessed of the deuill is cured. 38 Peters mother-in-law is healed, 40 and diuers sick persons are restored to health. 41 The deuill acknowledgeth Christ.

And Iesus full of the holy Ghost returned from Iordan, and was led by that Spirit into the wilderness,

2 ¶ And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the deuill, and in those dayes he did eate nothing, but when they were ended, hee afterward was hungry.

3 ¶ Then the deuill said vnto him, If thou bee the sonne of God, commaund this stone, that it be made bread.

4 But Iesus answered him, saying, It is written, ¶ That man shall not liue by bread onely, but by every word of God.

5 Then the deuill tooke him vp into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, in the twinkeling of an eye.

6 And the deuill sayde vnto him, All this power will I giue thee, and the glory of those kingdomes: for that is deliuered to mee: and to whomsoeuer I will, I giue it.

7 If thou therefore wilt worship mee, they shall be all thine.

8 But Iesus answered him, and sayde, Hence from me, Satan: for it is written, ¶ Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone thou shalt serue.

9 Then hee brought him to Hierusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple, and sayde vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence,

10 For it is written, ¶ That hee will giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee:

11 And with their handes they shall lift thee vp, least at any time thou shouldest dash thy foot against a stone.

12 And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, It is said, ¶ Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the deuill had ended all the temptation, he departed from him for a little season.

14 ¶ And Iesus returned by the power of the spirit into Galilee: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region round about.

15 For hee taught in their Synagogues, and was honoured of all men.

16 ¶ And hee came to Nazareth where hee had bene brought vp, and (as his custome was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stode vp to reade.

17 And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Esaias: and when hee had opened the booke, he found the place, where it was written,

18 ¶ The Spirit of the Lord is vpon mee, because he hath anointed mee, that I should preach the Gospel to the poore: hee hath sent mee, that I should heale the broken hearted, that I should preach deliuerance to the captiues, & recovering of sight to the blinde: that I should set at libertie them that are bruised:

19 And that I should preach the acceptable yeere of the Lord.

20 And hee closed the booke, and gaue it againe to the minister, and satte downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him.

21 Then he began to say vnto them, This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 ¶ And all bare him wimes, and wondered at the gracious words, which proceeded out of his mouth, and said, Is not this Iosephs sonne?

23 Then hee sayd vnto them, Ye will surely say vnto me this Prouerbe, Physician heale thy selfe: whatsoeuer wee haue heard done in Capernaum, doe it here likewise in thine owne countrey.

24 And hee sayd, Verily I say vnto you, ¶ No Prophet is accepted in his owne countrey.

25 But I tell you of a trueth, many widowes were in Israel in the dayes of Elias, when heauen was shut three yeeres and fixe moneths, when great famine was throughout all the land:

26 But vnto none of them was Elias sent, saue into Sarepta, a citie of Sidon, vnto a certaine widow.

28 Then all that were in the Synagogue, when they heard it, were filled with wrath, 29 And rose vp, and thrust him out of the citie, and led him vnto the edge of the hill, whereon their citie was built, to cast him downe headlong.

30 But hee passed through the mids of them, and went his way, 31  $\phi$  And came downe into Capernaum a citie of Galile, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes.

32 And they were astonied at his doctrine: for his word was with authoritie.

33 And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a spirit of an vnclane deuill, which cried with a loud voice, 34 Saying, Oh, what haue we to do with thee, thou Iesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy vs? I know who thou art, euē the Holy one of God.

35 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, & come out of him. Then the deuill throwing him in the middes of them, came out of him, and hurt him nothing at all.

36 So feare came on them all, and they spake among themselves, saying, What thing is this? for with authoritie and power hee commandeth the foule spirits, and they come out?

37 And the fame of him spred abroad through out all the places of the countrey round about.

38  $\phi$  And he rose vp, and came out of the Synagogue, & entred into Simons house. And Simons wifes mother was taken with a great feuer, and they required him for her.

39 Then he stood ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and it left her, and immediatly she arose, and ministred vnto them.

40 Now at the Sunne setting, all they that had sicke folkes of diners diseases, brought them vnto him, and he laid his hands on euery one of them, and healed them.

41  $\phi$  And deuils also came out of many, crying, & saying, Thou art that Christ that Sonne of God: but he rebuked them, and suffered them not to say that they knew him to be that Christ.

42 And when it was day, he departed, & went forth into a desert place, and the people sought him, and came to him, & kept him that he should not depart from them.

43 But hee sayd vnto them, Surely I must also preach the kingdome of God to other cities: for therefore am I sent.

44 And hee preached in the Synagogues of Galile.

Then  $\phi$  it came to passe, as the people  $\phi$  preached vpon him to heare the word of God, that he stood by the lake of Genesaret,

2 And sawe two ships stand by the lakes side, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.

3 And he entred into one of the ships, which was Simons, & required him that he would thrust off a litle from the land: and hee sat downe, and taught the people out of the ship.

4 Now when he had left speaking, he saide vnto Simon, Lanch out into the deepe, and let downe your nets to make a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and said vnto him, Master, we haue trauailed fore all night, & haue taken nothing: neuerthelesse at thy word I will let downe the net.

6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.

7 And they beckened to their parteners, which were in the other ship, that they should come and helpe them, who came then, and filled both the ships, that they did sinke.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it he fel downe at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, goe from me: for I am a sinfull man.

9 For hee was vtterly astonied, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they tooke.

10 And so was also Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon. Then Iesus said vnto Simon, Feare not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the ships to land, they forsooke all, and followed him.

12  $\phi$  Now it came to passe, as he was in a certaine citie, beholde there was a man full of leprosie, and when he saw Iesus, he fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I wil, be thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosie departed from him.

14 And he commanded him that he should tel it no man: but, Goe, fasth he, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for the cleansing, as  $\phi$  Moyses hath commanded, for a witnes vnto them.

15 But so much more went there a fame abroad of him, & great multitudes came together to heare, & to be healed of him of their infirmities.

16 But he kept himselfe apart in the wilderness, and prayed.

17  $\phi$  And it came to passe, on a certaine day, as he was teaching, that the Pharises and doctours of the Law sat by, which were come out of euerie towne of Galile, and Iudea, and Hierusalem, and the power of the Lord was in him, to heale them.

18 Then behold, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palsey, and they sought meanes to bring him in, & to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in, because of the preasse, they went vp on the house, and let him downe through the tiling, bed and all, in the mids before Iesus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he sayd vnto him, Man, thy finnes are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharises began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive finnes, but God onely?

22 But when Iesus perceiued their reasoning, he answered, and said vnto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy finnes are forgiven thee; or to say, Rise and walke?

25 And immediatly hee rose vp before them, and tooke vp his bed whereon he lay, and departed to his owne house, praying God.

26 And they were all amazed, & prayed God, and were filled with feare, saying, Doubtlesse we haue seene strange things to day.

27 ¶ And after that he went forth and saw a Publicane called Leui, sitting at the receite of custome, and said vnto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose vp, and followed him.
29 Then Leui made him a great feast in his owne house, where there was a great companie of Publicanes, and of other that late at table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes and Pharises among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eate yee and drinke ye with Publicanes and sinners?

31 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, They that are whole, neede not the Phisician, but they that are sicke.

32 ¶ I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ Then they saide vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn fast often, and pray, and the disciples of the Pharises also, but thine eate and drinke?

34 ¶ And hee said vnto them, Can ye make the children of the wedding chamber to fast, as long as the bridegrome is with them?

35 But the dayes will come, euen when the bridegrome shall be taken away from them: then shall they fast in those dayes.

36 Again he spake also vnto them a parable, No man putteth a piece of a newe garment into an olde vesture: for then the new renteth it, and the piece taken out of the newe, agreeth not with the olde.

37 Also no man powreth new wine into olde vessels: for then the new wine will breake the vessels, and it will run out, and the vessels will perish.

38 But newe wine must be powred into newe vessels: so both are preferred.

39 Also no man y drinketh old wine, straightway desireth new: for he faith, The olde is more profitable.

tooke, and ate the shewbread, and gaue also to them which were with him, which was not lawfull to eate, but for the Priests only?

5 And he said vnto them, The Sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day.

6 ¶ It came to passe also on another Sabbath, that hee entred into the Synagogue, and taught, and there was a man, whose right hand was dried vp.

7 And the Scribes and Pharises watched him, whether he would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might find an accusation against him.

8 But hee knewe their thoughts, and saide to the man which had the withered hand, Arise, and stande vp in the middes, And hee arose, and stood vp.

9 Then said Iesus vnto them, I will aske you a question, Whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to do good, or to do euil? to saue life, or to destroy?

10 And he behelde them all in compasse, and said vnto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And hee did so, and his hand was restored againe, as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madnesse, and communed one with another, what they might doe to Iesus.

12 ¶ And it came to passe in those daies, that he went into a mountaine to pray, and spent the night in prayer to God.

13 And when it was day, he called his disciples, and of them he chose twelue which also hee called Apostles:

14 (Simon whom hee named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, Iames and Iohn, Philip and Bartlemew, 15 Matthew and Thomas: Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon called Zelous, 16 Iudas Iames brother; and Iudas Iscariot, which also was the traitor)

17 Then he came downe with them and stood in a plaine place with the company of his disciples and a great multitude of people out of all Iudea, and Hierusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyrus and Sidon, which came to heare him, and to bee healed of their diseases:

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude fought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all:

20 ¶ And he lifted vp his eyes vpon his disciples, and saide, Blessed be ye poore: for yours is the kingdome of God.

21 ¶ Blessed are yee that hunger now: for yee shall be satished: ¶ blessed are yee that weepe now: for ye shall laugh.

22 ¶ Blessed are yee when men hate you, and when they separate you, and reuile you, and put out your name as euill, for the Sonne of mans sake.

23 Reioyce yee in that day, and be glad: for beholde, your reward is great in heauen: for after this manner their fathers did to the Prophets.

24 But woe be to you that are riche: for yee haue receiued your consolation.

25 ¶ Woe be to you that are full: for yee shall hunger. Woe be to you that now laugh: for yee shall waile and weepe.

26 Woe be to you when all men speake wel of you: for so did their fathers to the false prophets.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the Centurions seruant. 9 The Centurions faith. 11 The widows sonne raised from death at Nain. 9 Iohn sendeth his disciples to Christ. 33 His peculiar kind of living. 37 The faithfull woman washeth Iesus feete.

¶ When ¶ he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, hee entred into Capernaum.

2 And a certaine Centurions seruant was sicke and ready to die, which was deare vnto him.

3 And when hee heard of Iesus, hee sent vnto him the Elders of the Iewes, beseeching him that he would come, and heale his seruant.

4 So they came to Iesus, and besought him instantly, saying that hee was woorthy that hee should doe this for him:

5 For he loueth, sayd they, our nation, and he hath built vs a Synagogue.

6 Then Iesus went with them: but when hee was now not farre from the house, the Centurion sent iunto him, saying vnto him, Lord, trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter vnder my roofo:

7 Wherefore I thought not my selfe worthy to come to thee: but say the word, and my seruant shall be whole.

8 For I likewise am a man set vnder authority and haue vnder me souldiers; and I say vnto one, Goe, and hee goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

9 When Iesus heard these things, hee marueiled at him, and turned him, and said to the people that followed him, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, no not in Israel.

10 And when they that were sent turned backe to the house, they found the seruant that was sicke, whole.

11 ¶ And it came to passe the day after, that he went into a citie called Nain, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.

12 Now when hee came neere to the gate of the citie, behold, there was a dead man caried out, who was the onely begotten sonne of his mother, which was a widow, and much people of the citie was with her.

13 And when the Lord saw her, hee had compassion on her, and sayd vnto her, Weepe not.

14 And hee went and touched the coffin (and they that bare him, stood still) and he sayd, Yong man, I say vnto thee, Arise.

15 And hee that was dead, sat vp, and began to speake, and hee deliuered him to his mother.

16 Then there came a feare on them all, and they glorified God, saying, A great Prophet is risen among vs, and God hath visited his people.

17 And this rumour of him went forth throughout

19 So Iohn called vnto him two certaine men of his disciples, and sent them to Iesus, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall wee wait for another?

20 And when the men were come vnto him, they sayd, Iohn Baptift hath sent vs vnto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall wee wait for another?

21 And <sup>b</sup> at that time, hee cured many of their sicknesses, and plagues, and of euill spirits, and vnto many blind men he gaue sight freely.

22 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Goe your wayes and shew Iohn, what things yee haue seene and heard: that the blind see, the halt goe, the lepers are cleansed, the deafe heare, the dead are raised, and the poore receiue the Gospel.

23 And blessed is he, that shal not be offended in me.

24 <sup>4</sup> And when the messengers of Iohn were departed, hee began to speake vnto the people, of Iohn, What went yee out into the wilderness to see? A reede shaken with the wind?

25 But what went yee out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? behold, they which are gorgeously appparelled, and liue delicately, are in kings courts.

26 But what went ye forth to see? A Prophet? yea, I say to you, and greater then a Prophet.

27 This is he of whom it is written, * Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

28 For I say vnto you that there is no greater Prophet then Iohn, among them that are begotten of women: neuertheless, he that is least in the kingdome of God, is greater then he.

29 Then all the people that heard, and the Publicanes <sup>c</sup> iustified God, being baptized with the baptisme of Iohn.

30 But the Pharises and the expounders of the Law despised the counsell of God <sup>d</sup> against themselves, and were not baptized of him.

31 * <sup>5</sup> And the Lord said, Whereunto shall I liken the men of this generation? and what thing are they like vnto?

32 They are like vnto little children sitting in the market place, and crying one to another, and saying, We haue piped vnto you, and yee haue not danced: we haue mourned to you, and yee haue not wept.

34 The Sonne of man is come, and eateth, and drinketh: and yee say, Behold, a man which is a glutton, and a drinker of wine, a friend of Publicanes and sinners:

35 But wisdom is iustified of all her children.

36 * <sup>6</sup> And one of the Pharises desired him that hee would eate with him: and hee went into the Pharises house, and sate downe at table.

37 And beholde, a woman in the citie, which was a sinner, when shee knewe that Iesus sate at table in the Pharises house, she brought a boxe of ointment.

38 * And shee stoode at his feete behind him weeping, and began to wash his feete with teares, and did wipe them with the haire of her head, and kissed his feete, and anointed them with the ointment.

39 <sup>7</sup> Now when the Pharise which bade him, saw it, he spake within himself, saying, If this man were a Prophet, hee would surely haue knownen who, and what maner of woman this is which toucheth him: * for she is a sinner.

40 <sup>8</sup> And Iesus answered and sayd vnto him, Simon, I haue somewhat to say vnto thee. And he said, Master, say on.

41 There was a certaine lender which had two detters: the one ought fise hundreth pence, and the other fifty:

42 When they had nothing to pay, he forgave them both: Which of them therefore, tell me, will loue him most?

43 Simon answered, and said, I suppose that he, to whom he forgave most. And he said vnto him, Thou hast truly iudged.

44 Then he turned to the woman, and said vnto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entred into thine house, and thou gauest mee no water to my feete: but shee hath washed my feete with teares, and wiped them with the haire of her head.

45 Thou gauest me no kisse: but shee sinces the time I came in, hath not ceased to kisse my feet.

46 Mine head with oyle thou didst not anoint: but she hath anointed my feet with ointment.

47 Wherefore I say vnto thee, many finnes are forgiven her: <sup>f</sup> for shee loued much. To whom a little is forgiven, he doth a little.

48 And he said vnto her, Thy finnes are forgiven thee.

vp, and bare fruite, an hundreth folde. And as he said these things, he cryed, Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

9 Then his disciples asked him, demanding what parable that was.

10 And he said, Vnto you it is giuen to know the secrets of the kingdome of God, but to other in parables, that when they see, they should not see, and when they heare, they should not vnderstand.

11 ¶ The parable is this, The seede is the word of God :

12 And they that are beside the way, are they that heare : after ward cometh the deuill, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, lest they should beleue, and be saued.

13 But they that are on the stones, are they which when they haue heard, receiue the worde with ioy : but they haue no rootes : which for a while beleue, but in the time of temptation goe away.

14 And that which fel among thornes, are they which haue heard, and after their departure are choked with cares and with riches, and voluptuous liuing, and bring forth no fruit.

15 But that which fel in good ground, are they which with an honest and good heart heare the word, and keepe it, and bring forth fruit with patience.

16 ¶ No man when hee hath lighted a candle, couereth it vnder a vessell, neither putteth it vnder the bed, but setteth it on a candlesticke, that they that enter in, may see the light.

17 For nothing is secret, that shall not be euident : neither any thing hidde, that shall not be known, and come to light.

18 ¶ Take heed therefore how ye heare : for whosoever hath, to him shalbe giuen : and whosoever hath not, from him shalbe taken euen that which it seemeth that he hath.

19 ¶ Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come neere to him for the preale.

20 And it was told him by certaine which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, and would see thee.

21 But he answered, and said vnto them, My mother and my brethren are these which heare the word of God, and doe it.

22 ¶ And it came to passe on a certaine day, that he went into a ship with his disciples, and he said vnto them, Let vs goe ouer vnto the other side of the lake. And they lanchd forth.

23 And as they sailed, hee fell asleepe, and there came downe a storme of winde on the lake, and they were filled with water, and were in iopardie.

24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. And he arose, and rebuked the winde, and the waues of water : and they ceased, and it was calme.

25 Then he saide vnto them, Where is your faith? and they feared, & wondered among themselves, saying, Who is this that commandeth both the windes and water, and they obey him !

26 ¶ So they sayled vnto the region of the Gadarenes, which is ouer against Galile.

27 ¶ And as hee went out to lande, there met him a certaine man out of the citie, which had deuils long time, and he ware no garment, neither abode in house, but in the graues.

28 And when he sawe Iesus, he cryed out, and fell downe before him, and with a loud voice said, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the sonne of God the most High ? I beseech thee torment me not.

29 For he commanded the foule spirit to come out of the man : (for oft times hee had caught him : therefore he was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters : but he brake the bands, and was caried of the deuill into wildernesses.)

30 Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and he said, Legion, because many deuils were entred into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not command them to goe out into the deepe.

32 And there was thereby an heard of many swine feeding on an hill : and the deuils besought him, that hee would suffer them to enter into them. So he suffered them.

33 Then went the deuils out of the man, and entred into the swine : and the heard was caried with violence from a steepe downe place into the lake, and was choked.

34 When the heardmen sawe what was done, they fled : and when they were departed, they told it in the citie and in the country.

35 Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Iesus, and found the man, out of whom the deuils were departed, sitting at the feete of Iesus, clothed, and in his right mind : and they were afraid.

36 They also which saw it, told them by what meanes he that was possessed with the deuill, was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the countrey about the Gadarenes, besought him that hee would depart from them : for they were taken with a great feare : and he went into the ship, and returned.

38 Then the man, out of whom the deuils were departed, besought him that hee might bee with him : but Iesus sent him away, saying, 39 Returne into thine owne house, and shewe what great things Iesus hath done to thee. So he went his way, and preached throughout all the citie, what great things Iesus had done vnto him.

40 ¶ And it came to passe, when Iesus was come againe, that the people receiued him : for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ And beholde, there came a man named Iairus, and hee was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fell downe at Iesus feete, and besought him that hee would come into his house.

42 For hee had but a daughter onely, about twelue yeeres of age, and she lay a dying (and as he went, the people thronged him.)

43 And a woman hauing an issue of blood, twelue yeeres long, which had spent all her substance vpon physicians, and could not bee healed of any :

44 When she came behind him, she touched the hemme of his garment, and immediatly her

46 And Iesus said, Some one hath touched me: for I perceiue that vertue is gone out of me.

47 When the woman sawe that shee was not hid, she came trembling, and fell downe before him, and told him before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediatly.

48 And hee saide vnto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith haue saued thee: goe in peace.)

49 While hee yet spake, there came one from the ruler of the Synagogues house, which said to him, Thy daughter is dead: discease not the Master.

50 When Iesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Feare not. beleue onely, and shee shall bee saued.

51 And when he went into the house, he suffered no man to goe in with him, saue Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and the father and mother of the maide.

52 And all wept, and sorowed for her: but he said, Weepe not: for she is not dead, but sleepeth.

53 And they laugh him to scorne, knowing that she was dead.

54 So he thrust them all out, and tooke her by the hand, and cried, saying, Maid, arise.

55 And her spirit came againe, and she rose straightway: & he commanded to giue her meat.

56 Then her parents were astonied: but hee commanded them that they should tell no man what was done.

Then called he his twelue disciples together, and gaue them power and authoritie ouer all deuils, and to heale diseases.

2 And hee sent them forth to preach the kingdome of God, and to cure the sicke.

3 And hee saide to them, Take nothing to your iourney, neither stauces, nor scrippe, neither bread, nor filuer, neither haue two coates a piece.

4 And whatsoeuer house ye enter into, there abide, and thence depart.

5 And how many soeuer wil not receiue you, when ye goe out of that citie, shake off the verie dust from your feete for a testimonie against them.

6 And they went out, and went through euery towne preaching the Gospel, and healing euery where.

7 Nowe Herod the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and he doubted, because that it was said of some, that Iohn was risen againe from the dead.

8 And of some, that Elias had appeared: and of some, that one of the olde Prophets was risen againe.

9 Then Herod said, Iohn haue I beheaded: who then is this of whom I heare such things? & he desired to see him.

10 And when the Apostles returned, they tolde him what great things they had done. Then hee tooke them to him, and went aside into a solitarie place, neere to the citie called Bethsaida.

11 But when the people knewe it, they followed him: and he receiued them, and spake vnto them of the kingdome of God, & healed them that had neede to be healed.

12 And when the day began to weare away, the twelue came, & said vnto him, Send the people away, that they may goe into the townes and villages round about, and lodge, and get meate: for we are here in a desert place.

13 But he sayd vnto them, Giue yee them to eate. And they saide, Wee haue no more but five loaves and two fishes, except we should goe and buy meate for all this people.

14 For they were about five thousand men. Then hee saide to his disciples, Cause them to sit downe by fifties in a company.

15 And they did so, and caused all to sit downe.

16 Then he tooke the five loaves, and the two fishes, & looked vp to heauen, and blessed them, and brake, and gaue to the disciples, to set before the people.

17 So they did al eate, and were satisfied: and there was taken vp of that remained to them, twelue baskets full of broken meate.

18 And it came to passe, as hee was alone praying, his disciples were with him: and he asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and said, Iohn Baptist: and others say, Elias: and some say, that one of the old Prophets is risen againe.

20 And he said vnto them, But whom say yee that I am? Peter answered, and said, That Christ of God.

21 And he warned and commanded them that they should tell that to no man, 22 Saying, The sonne of man must suffer many things, and be reprooued of the Elders, and of the hie Priests and Scribes, and be slaine, and the third day rise againe.

23 And he said to them all, If any man wil come after mee, let hem denie himselfe, and take vp his crosse gdaily, and follow me.

24 For whosoever wil saue his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall saue it.

25 For what aduantage it a man, if hee win the whole world, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe?

26 For whosoever shall be ashamed of mee, and of my words, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed, when hee shall come in his glorie, and in the glory of the Father, and of the holy Angels.

27 And I tell you of a suretie, there be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the kingdome of God.

28 ¶ And it came to passe about an eight dayes after those wordes, that he tooke Peter and Iohn, and Iames, and went vp into a mountaine to pray.

29 And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 And beholde, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elias:

31 Which appeared in glory, and tolde of his departing, which he should accomplish at Hierusalem.

32 But Peter & they that were with him, were heauy with sleepe, & when they awoke, they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to passe, as they departed from him, Peter said vnto Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias, and wist not what he said.

34 Whiles hee thus spake, there came a cloude and ouersadowed them, and they feared when they were entering into the cloude.

35 ¶ And there came a voice out of the cloude, saying, This is that my beloued Sonne, heare him.

36 And when the voyce was past, Iesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and tolde no man in those dayes any of those things which they had seene.

37 ¶ And it came to passe on the next day, as they came downe from the mountaine, much people met him.

38 ¶ And behold, a man of the company cryed out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my sonne: for he is all that I haue.

39 And loe, a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he cryeth, and he teareth him, that he forsooth, and hardly departeth from him, when he hath bruised him.

40 Now I haue besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Iesus answered and said, O generation faithlesse, & crooked, how long now shal I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy sonne hither.

42 And whiles he was yet comming, the deuil rent him, and tare him: and Iesus rebuked the vn-cleane spirit, and healed the childe, and deliuered him to his father.

43 ¶ And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God: and while they all wondered at all things which Iesus did, he sayd vnto his disciples, 44 ¶ Marke these wordes diligently: * for it shall come to passe, that the sonne of man shall be deliuered into the hands of men.

45 But they vnderstood not that worde: for it was hid fro them, so that they could not perceiue it: and they feared to aske him of that word.

46 ¶ Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should be the greatest.

47 When Iesus sawe the thoughts of their hearts, he tooke a litle child, and set him by him, 48 And said vnto them, Whosoever receiuet this litle childe in my Name, receiuet mee: and whosoever shall receiue mee, receiuet him that sent me: for he that is least among you all, he shal be great.

49 ¶ 10 And Iohn answered and sayd, Master, wee saw one casting out devils in thy Name, and wee forbade him, because hee followeth thee not with vs.

50 Then Iesus said vnto him, Forbid yee him not: for he that is not against vs, is with vs.

51 ¶ And it came to passe, when the dayes were accomplished, that hee should be receiued vp, hee seled himselfe fully to goe to Hierusalem, 52 And sent messengers before him: and they went and entred into a towne of the Samaritans, to prepare him lodging.

53 But they would not receiue him, because his behauiour was as though hee would goe to Hierusalem.

54 ¶ And when his disciples, Iames and Iohn saw it, they said, Lord, wilt thou that wee commaund, that fire come downe from heauen, and consume them, euen as Elias did?

55 But Iesus turned about, and rebuked them, and said, Ye know not of what spirit ye are.

56 For the Sonne of man is not come to destroy mens liues, but to saue them. Then they went to another towne.

57 ¶ And it came to passe that as they went in the way, a certaine man said vnto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whithersoever thou goest.

58 And Iesus said vnto him, The Foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen nestes, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to lay his head.

59 ¶ But he sayd vnto another, Follow mee. And the same said, Lord, suffer me first to goe and bury my father.

60 And Iesus said vnto him, Let the dead bury their dead: but goe thou, and preach the kingdome of God.

61 ¶ Then another said, I will follow thee, Lord: but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at mine house.

62 And Iesus said vnto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh backe, is apt to the kingdome of God.

¶ The calling of God ought to be preferred, without all consideration that we owe to men. ¶ Who notwithstanding that they 14 Therefore it shall be easier for Tyrus, and Sidon, at the iudgement, then for you.

15 And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted to heauen, shalt be thrust downe to hell.

16 ¶ He that heareth you, heareth me: and he that despiseth you, despiseth mee: and he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me.

17 ¶ And the seuentie turned againe with ioy, saying, Lord, euen the deuils are subdued to vs through thy Name.

18 And he sayd vnto them, I saw Satan, like lightning, fall downe from heauen.

19 Behold, I giue vnto you power to tread on Serpents, and Scorpions, and ouer all the power of the enemye, and nothing shall hurt you.

20 Neuerthelesse, in this reioyce not, that the spirits are subdued vnto you: but rather reioyce, because your names are written in heauen.

21 ¶ That same houre reioyced Iesus in the spirit, and said, I confesse vnto thee, Father, Lord of heauen & earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and vnderstanding, and hast reueiled them to babes: euen so, Father, because it so pleased thee. ¶

22 All things are giuen mee of my Father: and no man knoweth who the Sonne is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, saue the Sonne, and he to whom the Sonne will reueile him.

24 For I tellyou that many Prophets & Kings haue desired to see those things, which ye see, and haue not seene them: and to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not heard them.

25 ¶ Then beholde, a certaine Lawyer stood vp, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I doe to inherite eternall life?

28 Then he said vnto him, Thou hast answered right: this doe, and thou shalt liue.

29 But he willing to iustifie himselfe, sayd vnto Iesus, Who is then my neighbour?

30 And Iesus answered, and sayd, A certaine man went downe from Hierusalem to Iericho, and fell among theeues, and they robbed him of his rayment, and wounded him, and departed, leauing him halfe dead.

31 Now so it fell out, that there came downe a certaine Priest that same way, and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise also a Leuite, when hee was come neere to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 Then a certaine Samaritan, as he iourneyed, came neere vnto him, and when hee saw him, he had compassion on him.

34 And went to him, & bound vp his wounds, and powred in oyle and wine, and put him on his owne beast, and brought him to an Inne, and made prouision for him.

35 And on the morow when he departed, he tooke out two pence, and gaue them to the host, and sayd vnto him, Take care of him, and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompense thee.

36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fell among the theeues?

37 And he said, He that shewed mercy on him. Then said Iesus vnto him, Go, and doe thou likewise.

38 ¶ Now it came to passe, as they went, that he entred into a certaine town, and a certain woman named Martha, receiued him into her house, 39 And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Iesus feet, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was combred about much seruing, and came to him, and sayd, Master, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serue alone? bid her therefore that she helpe me.

41 And Iesus answered, and said vnto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many things:

42 But one thing is needfull, Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

CHAP. XI.

1 He teacheth his Apostles to pray. 14 The damme deuill driueth out. 17 A woman of the company lifteth up her voyce.

29 The Jewes require signes. 37 He being fasted of the Pha-rise, reprooueth the outward show of holinesse.

And so it was, that as he was praying in a certaine place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said vnto him, Lord, teach vs to pray, as Iohn also taught his disciples.

2 And he said vnto them, When ye pray, say, Our father which art in heauen, hallowed be thy Name: Thy kingdom come: Let thy wil be done, euen in earth, as it is in heauen:

3 Our dayly bread giue vs for the day:

4 And forgive vs our finnes: for euen we forgive euery man that is indebted to vs: And leade vs not into temptation: but deliuer vs from euil.

5 ¶ Moreouer he said vnto them, Which of you

¶ Leuit. 19. 18.

¶ Mat. 6. 9. 1 A forme of our prayer.

you shall haue a friend, and shall goe to him at midnight, and say vnto him, Friend, lend mee three loaues?

6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to me, and I haue nothing to set before him:

7 And hee within should answere, and say, Trouble me not: the doore is now shut, and my children are with mee in bed: I cannot rise and giue them to thee.

8 I say vnto you, Though he would not arise and giue him, because he is his friend, yet doubtles because of his importunitie, hee would rise and giue him as many as he needed.

9 * And I say vnto you, Aske, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

10 * For euery one that asketh, receiueith: and hee that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

11 * If a sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a father, will hee giue him a stone? or if he aske a fish, will hee for a fish giue him a serpent?

12 Or if hee aske an egge, will hee giue him a scorpion?

13 If yee then which are euill, can giue good gifts vnto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them that desire him?

14 * Then hee cast out a deuill which was dumbe: and when the deuill was gone out, the dumbe spake, and the people wondred.

15 * But some of them sayd, * He casteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of the deuils.

16 And others tempted him, seeking of him a signe from heauen.

17 * But he knew their thoughts, and sayd vnto them, * Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be defolate, and an house diuided against an house, falleth.

18 So if Satan also be diuided against himselfe, how shall his kingdome stand, because ye say that I cast out deuils * through Beelzebub?

19 If I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your iudges.

20 But if I by the finger of God cast out deuils, doubtlesse the kingdome of God is come vnto you.

21 When a strong man armed keepeth his palace, the things that he possesseth, are in peace.

22 But when a stronger then hee commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him: hee taketh from him all his armour wherein hee trusted, and diuideth his spoiles.

23 * He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

24 * When the vnclane spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh thorow dry places, seeking rest: and when he findeth none, he saith, I will returne vnto my house whence I came out.

25 And when he commeth, he findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then goeth hee, and taketh to him seuen other spirits worse then himselfe: and they enter in, and dwell there: * so the last state of that man is worse then the first.

27 * And it came to passe as hee sayd these things, a certaine woman of the company lifted vp her voyce, and sayd vnto him, Blessed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But hee sayd, Yea, rather blessed are they that heare the word of God, and keepe it.

29 * And when the people were gathered thicke together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: they seeke a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen them, but the signe of * Ionas the Prophet.

30 For as Ionas was a signe to the Nineuites: so shall also the Sonne of man bee to this generation.

31 * The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement with the men of this generation, and shall condemne them: for shee came from the vtmost parts of the earth to heare the wisdome of Salomon, and beholde, a greater then Salomon is here.

32 The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for they * repented at the preaching of Ionas: and beholde, a greater then Ionas is here.

33 * No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a priuie place, neither vnder a bushell: but on a candlesticke, that they which come in, may see the light.

34 * The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is thy whole bodie light: but if thine eye be euill, then thy bodie is darke.

35 Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkened.

36 If therefore thy whole body shall be light, hauing no part darke, then shall all be light, euen as when a candle doth light thee with the brightnesse.

37 * And as he spake, a certaine Pharise besought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sate downe at the table.

38 And when the Pharise saw it, he marueiled that he had not first washed before dinner.

39 * And the Lord said to him, In deede yee Pharises make cleane the outside of the cup, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of rauening and wickednesse.

40 Ye fooles, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within also?

41 Therefore, giue almes of those things which you haue, and beholde, all things shall be cleane vnto you.

42 * But woe be to you, Pharises: for yestie the mynt and the rew, and all manner herbes, and passe ouer iudgement and the loue of God: these ought ye to haue done, and not to haue left the other vndone.

43 * Woe be to you, Pharises: for ye loue the vppermost seates in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 * Woe be to you, Scribes and Pharises hypocrites: for ye are as graues which appeare not, and the men that walke ouer them, perceiue not.

45 * Then answered one of the Lawyers, and sayd vnto him, Master, thus saying, thou puttest vs to rebuke also.

46 And he sayd, Woe be to you also, yee Lawyers: * for ye lade men with burthens grievous 15 Hypocrites honour theſe ſaints when they are dead, when they moſt cruelly perſecuted, when they were alive.

¶ Mat. 23. 29.

¶ When you perſecute Gods ſer- uants like mad men, ſuch as your fathers did, ſtough you colour it with a pre- ſence of godliſſe, yet not with ſtan- ding, in that you beautifie the ſepul- chres of the Pro- phets, what doe you ſeek glory in your fathers cruelty, and ſet up monuments (as it were) in glory and triumph of ſin. ¶ They ſhall fo- rowe them and trouble them that as length they ſhall baniſh them.

¶ Mat. 16. 5.

¶ The faithfull teachers of Gods word, which are appointed by him for his people, muſt both take god heed of them, which corrupt the puritie of doctrine with goodly gloſe, and alſo take paines through the helpe of God, to ſet forth ſincere doctrine, openly and without feare.

¶ Although hypo- crites haue princes to execute their cruelty, yet there is no cauſe why we ſhould be afraid of them the leaſt ſore that may bee, ſeing they can do nothing, but what pleaſeth God, and God will not any thing that may be againſt the ſaluation of his elect. ¶ He warneth them of dangers that preſently hang ouer their heads, for thoſe that come upon the ſudden, doe make the greater wound. ¶ 1 Sam. 14. 45. alſo 27. 34. ¶ Chap. 9. 26. mat. 10. 32. mar. 8. 38. 2 Tim. 1. 12. ¶ Great is the reward of a conſtant confeſſion: and horrible is the puniſhment of the denying of Chriſt, yea im- poſſible to be called backe againe ſhall the puniſhment be, if vpon ſet purpoſe, both with mouth and heart we blaſpheme a know- ingly.

to be borne, and ye your ſelues touch not the bur- dens with one of your fingers.

47 ¶ Wo be to you: ¶ for you build the ſepul- chres of the Prophets, & your fathers killed them.

48 Truly ¶ yee beare witneſſe, and allow the deedes of your fathers: for they killed them, and ye build their ſepulchres.

49 Therefore ſaid the wiſedome of God, I wil ſend them Prophets and Apoſtles, and of them they ſhall ſlay, and ¶ perſecute away, 51 From the blood of ¶ Abel, vnto the blood of ¶ Zacharias which was ſlaine betwene the al- tar and the Temple: verely I ſay vnto you, it ſhall be required of this generation.

52 ¶ Wo be to you, Lawyers: for ye haue ¶ ta- ken away the key of knowledge: ye entred not in your ſelues, and them that came in, ye forbade.

53 ¶ And as hee ſayd theſe things vnto them, the Scribes and Pharisees began to vrge him fore, and to ¶ prouoke him to ſpeake of many things, 54 Laying waite for him, and ſeeking to catch ſome thing of his mouth, whereby they might ac- cuſe him.

2 The leauen of the Pharisees ¶ Who is to bee feared, 8 To conſiſſe Chriſt, 17 The parable of the rich man whoſe land was very fertile. 22 Not to care for earthly things, 31 but to ſeek the kingdom of God. 39 The ſheep in the night. 51 Debate for the Goſpels ſake.

IN ¶ the meane time, there gathered together ¶ an innumerable multitude of people, ſo that they trode one another: and hee began to ſay vn- to his diſciples firſt, Take heed to your ſelues of the leauen of the Pharisees, which is hypocriſie.

2 ¶ For there is nothing couered, that ſhall not be reuealed: neither hidde, that ſhall not bee knowne.

3 Wherefore whatſoeuer yee haue ſpoken in darkeneſſe, it ſhall be heard in the light: and that which ye haue ſpoken in the eare, in ſecret places, ſhall be preached on the houſes.

4 ¶ And I ſay vnto you, my friends, bee not afraid of them that kill the bodie, and after that are not able to doe any more.

5 But I will ¶ forewarne you, whom ye ſhall feare: feare him, which after hee hath killed, hath power to caſt into hell: yea, I ſay vnto you, him feare.

6 Are not ſiue ſparowes bought for two far- things, and yet not one of them is forgotten be- fore God?

7 ¶ Yea, and all the haires of your head are numbred: feare not therefore: ye are more of va- lue then many ſparowes.

8 ¶ Alſo I ſay vnto you, Whoſoeuer ſhall

¶ we ſhould be afraid of them the leaſt ſore that may bee, ſeing they can do nothing, but what pleaſeth God, and God will not any thing that may be againſt the ſaluation of his elect. ¶ He warneth them of dangers that preſently hang ouer their heads, for thoſe that come upon the ſudden, doe make the greater wound. ¶ 1 Sam. 14. 45. alſo 27. 34. ¶ Chap. 9. 26. mat. 10. 32. mar. 8. 38. 2 Tim. 1. 12. ¶ Great is the reward of a conſtant confeſſion: and horrible is the puniſhment of the denying of Chriſt, yea im- poſſible to be called backe againe ſhall the puniſhment be, if vpon ſet purpoſe, both with mouth and heart we blaſpheme a know- ingly.

confeſſe me before men, him ſhall the Sonne of man confeſſe before the Angels of God.

9 But he that ſhall denie me before men, ſhall be denied before the Angels of God.

10 ¶ And whoſoeuer ſhall ſpeake a word a- gainſt the Sonne of man, it ſhall be forgiven him: but vnto him that ſhall blaſpheme the holy Ghoſt, it ſhall not be forgiven.

11 ¶ And when they ſhall bring you vnto the Synagogues, and vnto the rulers and Princes, take no thought how, or what thing ye ſhall anſwere, or what ye ſhall ſpeake.

12 For the holy Ghoſt ſhall teach you in the ſame houre, what ye ought to ſay.

13 ¶ And one of the companie ſayd vnto him, Maſter, bid my brother diuide the inheritance with me.

14 And he ſayd vnto him, Man, who made me a iudge, or a diuider ouer you?

15 Wherefore he ſayd vnto them, Take heed, and beware of ¶ couetouſneſſe: for though a man haue abundance, yet his life ſtanderh not in his riches.

16 ¶ And hee put forth a parable vnto them, ſaying, The ¶ ground of a certaine rich man brought forth fruits plenteouſly.

17 Therefore he ¶ thought with himſelfe, ſay- ing, What ſhall I doe, becauſe I haue no roome where I may lay vp my fruits?

18 And he ſaid, This wil I doe, I wil pull down my barnes, and builde greater, and therein will I gather all my fruits, and my goods.

19 And I wil ſay to my ſoule, Soule, thou haſt much goods layd vp for many yeeres: lue at eate, eate, drinke, and ¶ take thy paſtime.

20 But God ſaid vnto him, O foolle, this night wil they fetch away thy ſoule fro thee: then whoſe ſhall thoſe things be which thou haſt prouided?

21 So ¶ he that gathereth riches ¶ to himſelfe, and is not rich in God.

22 ¶ And he ſpoke to his diſciples, ¶ Therefore I ſay vnto you, ¶ Take no thought for your life, what ye ſhall eat: neither for your bodie, what ye ſhall put on.

23 The life is more then meate: and the body more then the raiment.

24 Conſider the rauens: for they neither ſowe nor reape: which neither haue ſtorehouſe nor barnes, & yet God feedeth them: how much more are ye better then ſoules?

25 And which of you with taking thought, can add to his ſtature one cubite?

26 If ye then be not able to doe the leaſt thing, why take ye thought for the remnant?

27 Conſider the lilies how they grow: they la- bour not, neither ſpinne they: yet I ſay vnto you, that Salomon himſelfe in all his royaltie was not clothed like one of theſe.

28 If then God ſo clothe the graſſe which is to day in the field, & to morow is caſt into the oven, how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

29 Therefore aſke not what ye ſhall eate, or what ye ſhall drinke, neither ¶ hang you in ſuſpenſe.

30 For all ſuch things the people of the world ſeek for: and your Father knoweth that ye haue need of theſe things.

¶ fooliſh and pining carefullneſſe of men for this life. ¶ Mat. 6. 25. 1 Pet. 5. 7. ¶ plal. 55. 22. ¶ A Metaphore taken of things that hang in the ayre, for they that are carefull for this worldly life, and hang upon the arme of man, haue alwayes waivering and doubting minde, ſuging ſome times this way, and ſometimes that way.

31 But rather seeke ye after the kingdome of God, and all these things shall be cast vpon you.

32 Feare not, little flocke: for it is your Fathers pleasure to giue you the kingdome.

33 ¶ Sell that ye haue, and giue it almost make you bagges which waxe not old, a treasure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no thiefe commeth, neither moth corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your hearts be also.

35 ¶ Let your loines bee girded about, and your lights burning,

36 And ye your selues like vnto men that wait for their master, when hee will returne from the wedding, that when he commeth and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediately.

37 Blessed are those seruants, whom the Lord when hee commeth shall finde waking: verely I say vnto you, hee will gird himselfe about, and make them to sit downe at table, and will come forth, and serue them.

38 And if hee come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall finde them so, blessed are those seruants.

39 Now vnderstand this, that if the good man of the house had knowne at what houre the thiefe would haue come, he would haue watched, and would not haue suffered his house to be digged thorow.

40 Be yee also prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when yee thinke not.

41 Then Peter sayd vnto him, Master, tellest thou this parable vnto vs, or euen to all?

42 And the Lord said, Who is a faithful steward and wife, whom the master shall make ruler ouer his household, to giue them their portion of meate in season?

43 Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when he commeth, shall finde so doing.

44 Ofa truch, I say vnto you, that hee will make him ruler ouer all that he hath.

45 But if that seruant say in his heart, My master doeth deferre his coming, and shall begin to smite the seruants, and maidens, and to eate and drinke, and to be drunken,

46 The master of that seruant will come in a day when hee thinketh not, and at an houre when hee is not ware of, and will cut him off, and giue him his portion with the vnbeleuers.

47 ¶ And that seruant that knew his masters will, and prepared not himselfe, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

48 But hee that knew it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes: for vnto whomsoever much is giuen, of him shall be much required, and to whom men much commit, the more of him will they aske.

49 ¶ I am come to put fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it be already kindled?

50 Notwithstanding I must be baptized with a baptisme, and how am I grieved, till it be ended?

51 ¶ Think ye that I am come to giue peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

52 For from henceforth there shall be fire in one house diuided, three against two, and two against three.

53 The father shall be diuided against the son, and the sonne against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother in law against her daughter in law, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

54 ¶ Then sayd he to the people, When yee see a cloud arise out of the West, straightway ye say, A showre commeth: and so it is.

55 And when ye see the South wind blow, ye say, that it will be hote: and it commeth to passe.

56 Hypocrites, yee can discerne the face of the earth, and of the skie: but why discerne yee not this time?

57 ¶ Yea, and why iudge ye not of your selues what is right?

58 ¶ While thou goest with thine aduersary to the ruler, as thou art in the way, giue diligence in the way, that thou mayest bee deliuered from him, lest he draw thee to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer thee to the payler, and the payler cast thee into prison.

59 I tell thee, thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast payed the vtmost mite.

¶ Here were certaine men present at the same season, that shewed him of the Galileans, whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.

2 And Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Suppose ye, that these Galileans were greater sinners then all the other Galileans, because they haue suffered such things?

3 I tell you, nay: but except yee amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

4 Or thinke you that those eightene, vpon whom the tower in Siloam fell, and slew them, were sinners aboue all men that dwell in Hierusalem?

5 I tell you, nay: but except yee amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

6 ¶ He spake also this parable, A certaine man had a figge tree, planted in his vineyard: and hee came and sought fruit thereon, and found none.

7 Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, this three yeeres haue I come and sought fruit of this fig tree, and finde none: cut it downe: why keepeth it also the ground barren?

8 And he answered, and said vnto him, Lord, let it alone this yere also, till I digge round about it, and dung it.

9 And if it beare fruit, well: if not, then after thou shalt cut it downe.

10 ¶ And hee taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.

11 And beholde, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmities eightene yeeres, and was bowed together, and could not lift vp her selfe in any wise.

12 When Iesus saw her, he called her to him, and sayd to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thy disease.

diarly she was made straight againe, and glorified God.

14. 4 And the ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Iesus healed on the Sabbath day, and sayde vnto the people, There are fixe dayes in which men ought to worke: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then answered him the Lord, and said, Hypocrite, doeth not ech one of you on the Sabbath day loose his ox or his asse from the stall, and leade him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, loe, eightene yeeres, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when he sayd these things, all his aduersaries were ashamed: but all the people reioycied at all the excellen things that were done by him.

18 ¶ Then sayd he, What is the kingdome of God like? or whereto shall I compare it?

19 It is like a graine of mustard seed, which a man tooke & sowed in his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree, and the fowles of the heauen made nests in the branche thereof.

20 ¶ And againe he said, Whereunto shal I liken the kingdome of God?

21 It is like leauen, which a woman tooke, and luid in three pecks of flowre, till all was leuened.

22 ¶ And hee went thorow all cities and townes, teaching, and iourneying towards Hierusalem.

23 Then sayd one vnto him, Lord, are there few that shal be sau'd? And he sayd vnto them, 24 Striue to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say vnto you, will seeke to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the doore, and yee begin to stand without, & to knocke at the doore, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs, and he shall answer and say vnto you, I know you not whence ye are,

26 7 Then shal ye begin to say, We haue eaten and drunke in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streetes.

27 ¶ But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are: depart from me, all ye workers of iniquitie.

28 There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when yee shall see Abraham and Isaac, and Iacob, and all the Prophets in the kingdome of God, and your selues thrust out at doores.

29 Then shall come many from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at Table in the kingdome of God.

30 ¶ And behold, there are last, which shal be first, and there are first, which shal be last.

31 The same day there came certaine Pharisees, and sayd vnto him, Depart, and goe hence: for Herod will kill thee.

32 Then sayd he vnto them, Goe yee and tell that foxe, Behold, I cast out devils, and wil heale still to day, and to morow, and the third day I shall be perfected.

33 Nevertheless I must walke to day, and to morow, & the day following: for it cannot be that a Prophet should perish out of Hierusalem.

34 ¶ O Hierusalem, Hierusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them that are sent to thee, how often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the henne gathereth her brood vnder her wings, and ye would not!

35 Beholde, your house is left vnto you desolate: and verely I tell you, ye shall not see me vntill the tyme come that ye shall say, Blessed is hee that commeth in the name of the Lord.

3 Then Iesus answering, spake vnto the Lawyers and Pharisees, saying, Is it lawful to heale on the Sabbath day?

4 And they held their peace. Then he tooke him, and healed him, and let him goe.

5 And answered them, saying, Which of you shall haue an asse, or an ox fallen into a pit, and wil not straightway pull him out on the Sabbath day?

6 And they could not answer him againe to those things.

7 ¶ Hee spake also a parable to the ghefts, when hee marked how they chose out the chiefe roomes, and sayd vnto them,

8 When thou shalt be bidden of any man to a wedding, set not thy selfe downe in the chiefe place, lest a more honourable man then thou bee bidden of him,

9 And he that bade both him and thee, come, and say to thee, Giue this man room, and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest room:

10 ¶ But when thou art bidden, goe and sit downe in the lowest room, that when hee that bade thee, commeth, he may say vnto thee, Friend, sit vp higher: then shalt thou haue worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.

11 ¶ For whosoever exalteth himselfe, shal be brought low, and he that humbleth himselfe, shal be exalted.

12 ¶ Then said he also to him that had bidden him, When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinfmen, nor thy rich neighbours, lest they also bid thee againe, and a recompense be made thee.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poore, the maimed, the lame, and the blinde, 14 And thou shalt be blessed, because they can not recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the iust.

15 ¶ Now when one of them that sate at table heard these things, he said vnto him, Blessed is he that eateth bread in the kingdome of God.

16 Then sayde he to him, A certaine man made a great supper, and bade many,

17 And sent his seruant at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.

18 ¶ But they all with one minde began to make excuse: The first sayde vnto him, I haue bought a farme, and I must needs goe out and see it: I pray thee haue me excused.

5. As often as people, and a strong agreed upon before, for though they alledge several excuses, yet all of them agree in this, that they have their excuses that they may not come to supper.

20 And another sayd, I haue married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So the seruant returned; and shewed his master these things. Then was the goodman of the house angrie, and sayd to his seruant, Goe out quickly into the streets and lanes of the citie, and bring in hither the poore, & the maimed, and the halt, and the blinde.

22 And the seruant sayd, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is roome.

23 Then the master sayd to the seruant, Goe out into the hie wayes, and hedges, and compelel them to come in, that mine house may bee filled.

24 For I say vnto you, that none of those men which were bidden, shall taste of my supper.

25 Nowe there went great multitudes with him, and he turned and sayd vnto them, 26 ¶ If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters: yea, and his owne life also, he cannot be my discipule.

27 ¶ And whosoever beareth not his crosse, and commeth after me, cannot be my discipule.

28 For which of you minding to builde a towre, sitteth not downe before, and counteth the cost, whether hee haue sufficient to performe it,

29 Left that after he hath layed the foundation, and is not able to performe it, all that behold it, begin to mocke him, 30 Saying, This man began to build, and was not able to make an end?

31 Or what King going to make war against another King, sitteth not downe first, and taketh counsell, whether hee be able with ten thousand to meete him that commeth against him with twenty thousand?

32 Or els while hee is yet a great way off, hee sendeth an ambassage, and desireth peace.

33 So likewise, whosoever hee be of you, that forsaketh not all that he hath, hee cannot bee my discipule.

34 ¶ Salt is good: but if salt haue lost his sauiour, wherewith shall it be salted?

35 It is neither meete for the land, nor yet for the dunghil, but men cast it out. He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

CHAP. XV.

¶ The parable of the lost sheepe, 8 Of the groate, 11 And of the prodigall sonne.

¶ Then ¶ resorted vnto ¶ him ¶ all the Publicanes and sinners, to heare him.

2 Therefore the Scribes and Pharises murmured, saying, Hee receiueeth sinners, and eateth with them.

3 Then spake he this parable to them, saying,

4 ¶ What man of you hauing an hundreth sheepe, if hee lose one of them, doeth not leaue ninetie and nine in the wildernesse, and goe after that which is lost, vntill he finde it?

5 And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders with ioy.

6 And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friendes and neighbours, saying vnto them, Reioice with me: for I haue found my sheepe which was lost.

7 I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shall bee in heauen for one sinner that conuerteth, more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which need none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman hauing ten groates, if shee lose one groate, doeth not light a candle, and sweepe the house, and seeke diligently till shee finde it?

9 And when she hath found it, she calleth her friends, and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with me: for I haue found the groat which I had lost.
